THE KNOW-IT-ALL — this driver is good, in his own estimation. He knows just what the other driver is going to do, just how fast he can stop, just how much room he needs to cut in on another car. But the only way this over-confident jerk escapes painful disillusionment is that the really good drivers give him a wide berth.

THE SWASHBUCKLER — this fellow thinks he expresses his masculinity or somthing by living dangerously behind the wheel. He believes that he who hesitates is lost, and that his luck will hold forever.

THE SOREHEAD — this fellow is just plain hostile. He drives with a chip on his shoulder and is ready to lock fenders for any real or imagined wrong. He's sore at everyone, and very brave while surrounded by a steel automobile with the windows rolled up.

THE SHOW-OFF — this is the exhibitionist. He's graduated from no hands on a bike to no sense at the wheel. He just wants people to admire his flashy performance, but most other drivers are too busy getting out of his way.

A heel at the wheel gets by because the good drivers give him the margin of safety he fails to give himself. But the heavy Fourth of July traffic will reduce that margin. Watch it!

That Buyer's Market

An organization of sales executives recently met in Chicago to discuss current marketing problems. A typical panel discussion was entitled, "How to Increase Retail Sales in a Buyer's Market."

This has a great significance to the consumer as well as to the people who have goods to sell. For it reflects a remarkable change that has taken place in a few years. When World War II ended, there were severe shortages of goods of all kinds — today there is an abundance of practically everything and in some fields supply is heavily in excess of the demand.

Such a change could only occur in an economy based solidly on the free, competitive market. Manufacturers and retailers have never worked harder to please the consumer — with better products, more varied products, lower prices, improved service and guarantees, and all the other inducements that people look for. And the result is that the average man's paycheck is going farther and the dollar has taken on a healthier complexion.

We are the best fed, best clothed, best housed people on earth. We have more goods and services of every kind — and we regard as virtual necessities commodities which are the luxuries of the wealthy in most other countries. Thank competition on the producing and distributing levels for that.

Letter To The Editor

June 28, 1954

Editor of Herald:

In answer to the inquiry in last week's Herald, re: Dr. Murray:

"No one seems to know his background — why he came to Tecumseh, and what his interest is in trying to promote this program, Fluoridation."

Dr. Murray was born in New York City, the oldest of four children. His father, Dr. Robert Murray, Sr., practiced dentistry there until his retirement in 1942, when the family moved to Elmira, New York where they still reside. His mother was a school teacher before her marriage.

Dr. Murray attended Fordham University and Holy Cross college. In 1945, during his first year at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry, he became acquainted with Tecumseh. He was deeply impressed with the beauty of the town, the friendliness of its people, and the great progress of its industry. He considered Michigan to be the outstanding state in the country in dental and medical health teaching and practice. For these reasons he determined to make Tecumseh his home. Throughout his four years as a Navy dentist, he was continual booster of Tecumseh and its people.

Soon after he started his practice in Tecumseh, Fluoridation of the water became an issue. As a dentist, he felt bound to promote any public health advance which would contribute to the better dental health of the community.

As a father, and vitally interested in all children, he felt that fluoridation of the water supply would save them much of the dental discomfort and expense which plague their parents.

It was with the greatest disappointment and shock, that he saw this viltal public health measure become a political football, and a clash of personalities, and its ensuing defeat at the polls.

His letter to Mr. Timby was an effort to prevent any similar occurrence in Palo Alto, California.

Dr. Murray has been unselfishly of his time and effort in aiding the Fluoridation Facts Committee and other projects to promote civic improvement. He is one of the most honest, sincere, and outstanding men I have ever met. I know, I married him.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. R. J. Murray

Edna C. Wixson Buried in Ferndale

Edna Chase Wixson, wife of Claude Wixson of Ferndale, died suddenly last Friday morning. Mrs. Chase was born in Tecumseh, in February, 1883, the daughter of the late Daniel and Elizabeth Montague Chase. Her home was in Tecumseh until her marriage, 35 years ago.

Mrs. Wixson is survived by her husband; three daughters, Mrs. Greta Miller, Ferndale, Mrs. Gayle Smelt, Farmington and Mrs. Dorothy Jenkins, Kalamazoo; two sons Raynor and Kenneth, both of Ferndale; two sisters, Miss Myra and Miss Elizabeth Chase and one brother, Comfort Chase of Tecumseh.

Funeral services for Mrs. Wixson were held in Ferndale, Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. and burial was also in that city.

Here's a sound bit of advice from The Man Next Door in the Better Homes and Gardens: "The best social-security number you can have is the number on the front door of a home you have worked to own."

Older couples recognize that a home of their own is important — 69% of those over 65 own a home, as against 54% of families of all ages.

A home, free and clear, is the ideal of nearly every American family. Yet, unfortunately, many families never take the first step. You should start buying a house while you are young enough to get it paid for from future earnings.

The easiest way to acquire this recognized standard of security — a home — is by making a down payment. The regular monthly payments are usually no more — often less — than rent. But slowly and surely, every month, your "equity" increases until after a period of years, your home is fully paid for. Except for saving for the down payment, the process is practically painless!

Start now on the path to a secure retirement. Buy a home of your own — your only Real Security.

Dr. A. J. Phelan Wed Saturday

The marriage of two of Tecumseh's most recent citizens took place last Saturday morning when A. J. Phelan, M.D. of Trenton, Mich., and Elizabeth Rose VanLerberghe of Romeo spoke their marriage vows in St. Clement Church, Romeo.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Phelan of Trenton, is a graduate of Wayne University College of Medicine, has been a medical officer in the U.S. Navy for three years and has just completed ten months of residenceship at Bon Secours hospital at Grosse Pointe.

The new Mrs. Phelan, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry VanLerberghe of Romeo, is a registered nurse.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. John McMillen at 10 o'clock, the attendants being the bride's sister, Joan Reich as maid of honor, Miss Donna Klein, bridesmaid and James R. and Donald Phelan as best man and usher.

The bride's gown was of white nylon net over candlelite taffeta and her flowers, white roses on a white prayer book, while her attendants wore dresses of ice blue taffeta under white lace and carried white roses.

Mrs. VanLerberghe wore deep rose chiffon for her daughter's wedding. The groom's mother's gown was of ice blue silk. Both had corsages of pink carnations.

A reception for 300 guests was held at the Whittier Hotel, in Romeo, from three to six in the afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Phelan will live in a new home they have built at 405 Seneca street, Tecumseh, after July 15.

Floyd Bryans Mark 40th Anniversary

One hundred and thirty-five friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan attended an open house at their W. Logan street home, Sunday afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 7 p.m. The occasion was the 40th anniversary of their marriage and the house was filled with flowers sent with the best wishes of their many friends.

They were assisted in receiving by their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bryan, whose daughter, Ruth Ann registered the guests and by Mr. Bryan's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kerr of Durand.

Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Frederick Bryan cut and served the decorated wedding cake and the groom's cake was served by Mrs. Lillian Hoagland. Mrs. Lillian Owen officiated at the punch bowl, while others who assisted in the dining room were Mrs. Claire Beland, Miss Ellen Snedicor, Mrs. Lulu McConnell and Miss Bessie VanAntwerp.

Among those from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. Mahlon Reynolds and two granddaughters from Durand, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Orr and three children of Plymouth, Mrs. Clarence Allison and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Colgrove of Eaton Rapids, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Osburn, Ypsilanti and Mrs. Lottie Lampkin and Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Berry, Blissfield.

Mrs. Bryan was the former Phoebe Knight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knight of Jackson and she and Floyd Bryan were married June 25, 1914, at her parent's home by the Rev. William Hartzog, a former pastor of Tecumseh Baptist church.

The Bryans observed their twenty-fifth anniversary 20 years ago in a joint celebration with Mr. and Mrs. Claire Beland, Mr. and Mrs. Dean VanValkenburg and the Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Brazee at the home of the Belands.

ASSEMBLY OF GOD BIBLE SCHOOL HAD ENROLLMENT OF 149

The Rev. D. L. McPherson of the Assembly of God reports that the Vacation Bible School conducted at their church from June 14 to 25 was a great success. 149 enrolled in the school, whose theme was "The Christian Way of Life." Offerings totaling $60 were received during the two weeks.

On Thursday, June 24, closing day of the school, a picnic was attended by nearly 200 people and the church was filled Friday evening for the awarding of diplomas and prizes and for a two hour program and candlelight service. Wilma Hamill of Detroit directed the school and planned the program.

METHODIST SEMINAR TO BE HELD JULY 8

A division of the Ann Arbor District Seminar of the Methodist church will meet in Tecumseh, Thursday, July 8. The meeting will be called to order at 9:45 a.m. and will continue until 3:15 p.m. A dollar luncheon will be served at noon. All officers of the Women's Society of Christian Service have been asked to attend as this is the annual officers' training school day. The chairman reports that more volunteers are needed to assist in the kitchen and dining room for the seminar luncheon. Those willing to assist may call Mrs. Walter Beck, phone 849.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Disciplined desire enables God to reveal to us his will for our lives. Penitence is essential to receptivity. A humble and contrite heart is open to God's guidance. Self-centeredness is death, so Jesus urged drastic surgery of desire. In vivid imagery he called for the elimination of sinful attitudes and actions, "cut off your hand, pluck out your eye," in order to stop offenses.

As we endeavor to find out what God wants us to do, we should spend ample time in self-examination, confession and petition for forgiveness. A cleansing exercise is to ask God to help us to see ourselves as we are seen by divine vision. It is helpful to enumerate our weaknesses and sins as we become aware of them in the hour of prayer, to list them one by one in utmost detail.

Stark contrast should be established between what we actually are and what God wants us to be. Unhurried reflection on the character of our Lord deepens humility and intensifies contrition. So easily we excuse ourselves when comparisons are made with other individuals, but when we measure ourselves by the stature of Christ, we become sick at heart over our low aim and meager achievements.

In the hour when are stricken with penitence, let us realize that God has a higher way of life for us and is eager to provide guidance and to bestow power. As we turn to him in humility of spirit and with deep yearning, he is able to flash before our eyes a vision of what we may become.

Through daily disciplines we needed to be kept mindful of the painful contrast between what we are and what we should be, and thus be impelled to diligence in pruning certain desires and in nurturing other impulses. Saturation of our thoughts with the mind of Christ is the most invigorating of all spiritual disciplines.

Take It Easy Swimming

Planning on visiting the beach this weekend?

If you do, the Health Department advises to take it easy when swimming, boating or even when the children are wading.

Summer vacationers often forget that water can be dangerous. Yet, records on file in the Michigan Department of Health show:

—There were 309 drowning deaths in Michigan in 1953

—Of these, 84 were water craft accidents

—The remaining 225 were other types of drownings

An the summer months of June, July and August accounted for 189, or 60 per cent, of the 309 drowning deaths.

But if you remember a few simple rules, it can do much to cut down swimming accidents.

Don't go into the water:

—If it is unfamiliar water, and especially if you like to dive. The water may be shallower than you think, and it may hide dangerous rocks.

—If you can't swim well. Overestimating strength and skill is frequent and can be fatal.

—If you are alone. Even good swimmers have cramps.

—If it is after dark. Not being able to see — or be seen — may mean disaster.

The 1953 drownings were widely scattered as to place. Eight occurred in the home, two on the farm, 13 in mines and quarries, seven in parks and other types of playgrounds, six were not specified and 189 deaths couldn't be classified as to place.

Looking at the statistics from the standpoint of age and sex, young men and boys should be especially careful because:

—The majority drowned were males

—The five to nine-year-olds recorded the most deaths followed by the ten to fourteen age group

—There were 28 drownings recorded in the five years and under group.

Altogether, there were 41 accidents suffered in the five to nine age group and of those who drowned, 31 were males and 10 females. In the ten to fourteen age group, there were 40 drownings recorded of which 32 were males and eight females.

Also in the high accident groups were the fifteen to nineteen-year-olds with 35 drownings recorded for 1953, all males; and the twenty to twenty-four age group with 24 deaths recorded, 20 males and 4 females. Of the 28 drownings recorded in the five years and under age group, 20 were males and 8 females.

After twenty-four the drowning death rate begins to decline until it reaches the low of one death (male) in the seventy-five to seventy-nine age group, the last group for which any drowning deaths were recorded.

Odd Fellows Receive Awards

The Britton I.O.O.F. held a special meeting Friday evening. After a short business session the men retired to the dining room where Grand Master Russell McKenzie of East Tawas gave an interesting talk on "The Six Great Programs of Odd Fellowship.

Grand Master McKenzie awarded builder's pins to Pirl Robinson and George Brablec and a 45 year pin to Ben J. Beasley, the only living charter member of the Britton lodge.

Talks were given by Grand Warden Gus Klein of Detroit and Grand Herald Thomas Pugsley of Detroit, who awarded bowling trophies to Dan Linn and Raymond Auten. Mr. Beasley also spoke of his years of Odd Fellowship."

A potluck supper was served by the Rebekahs who were guests for the evening.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL HAS BANQUET

Seventy-two children and their teachers attended the Vacation Bible School banquet held at the Congregational Christian church Friday noon.

The tables, decorated by the children, were attractive in pink and white centered with bowls of pink roses and candles. Place cards were also made by the children.

The beginners played band music, nursery children represented flowers which Bobby Schrader and Ronnie Heiden put to sleep and Susan Bottorff sang to them. The nursery boys had a train. The Primary and Junior groups had a TV panel, "I Have A Secret." The Intermediates presented a short comedy skit, "A Court of Public Relations." The mothers served the banquet.

Mrs. Bert Moore is a patient in the University hospital, Ann Arbor, having entered Thursday.

Mrs. Neal Judkins and children Gary and Pamela spent all of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hartley and family of Elyria, Ohio.

BOOK SHELVES
Library

By Mrs. Conrad Fosbender

Just a reminder for the boys and girls of the storyhour here at the library every Wednesday at 2:30. The stories this coming Wednesday will be "Popcorn Dragon" and "Musicians of Bremen." We will be looking forward to seeing you Wednesday along with the others who came to storyhour last week.

Two new mysteries are among the new fiction books at the library. They are, "Prey For Me" by Brad Ward's, "Marshall of Medicine Bend" and "Law Man" by Leighton Lee represent the new westerns.

David Dodge has given us an exciting novel in "Lights of Skaro," the adventure of an American correspondent and his escape from the Balkans to freedom, and "Five Against The House."

Two books which will be of particular use to club and committee members are "Robert's Rules of Order," giving parliamentary procedure, and Herbert Prochnow's "Toastmaster's Handbook," which covers such things as planning and publicizing an event, anecdotes, introductions and much more. "Put Your Money to Work For You" by N. H. Mager is a practical guide to all fields of investment for every income bracket. "We Adopted a Daughter" by Harry Bell is an intimate account of learning to be a father.

"Song of Ruth" by Frank Slaughter is an excellent story based on the story of Ruth in the Bible. "Desperate Hours" by Joseph Hayes is the story of three escaped convicts who hold a family captive, It is a story of suspense and drama. The story of a returned nurse from Korea is told in Ethel Hamill's, "Nurse Comes Home."

Ruth Randall's "Mary Lincoln, Biography of a Marriage" gives a new picture of one of America's most controversial women. "Lost Dutchman Mine" by Sims Ely is the story of hidden treasure in the mountains of Arizona. "Forty Plus and Fancy Free" by Emily Kimbrough is the story of youthful grandmothers romping through Europe.

"Aircraft of the World" by William Green has many illustrations showing every aircraft in flight today with details and performance data. For the man around the house, "Practical Carpentry" by Floyd Mix, a cyclopedia of building information.

Apiary Inspectors Begin Work

Apiary inspectors of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, who check for the disease American foulbrood in the 60 bee-populated counties in the state, are starting work in northern counties after having been at work in lower counties for several weeks.

The Michigan beekeeping industry produces from 8 million to 15 million pounds of honey annually and about 250,000 pounds of beeswax with a market value of 1½ to 2 million dollars.

Of even greater value to the state's economy is the pollinating value of bees to fruit and seed crops worth more than $52 million, according to Don Barrett, chief apiarist in the Michigan Department of Agriculture, who has charge of foulbrood inspections now in progress.

During early spring months many inspections were made by Barrett's men of bee colonies brought into fruit growing sections of the state to aid pollination of 232,000 acres of fruit trees and small fruits.

Much progress has been made in stamping out foulbrood since the statewide inspection was inaugurated in 1927. At that time complete inspection of all colonies showed one out of every four to be either infected or dead. As a result of destroying diseased colonies and disinfecting all used equipment, foulbrood has been cut to 1.9 percent last year. Twenty-seven counties and several large areas are entirely free of disease.

Co-operating with the Michigan Department of Agriculture in its bee disease control program are 57 of the 60 counties in the state having bees. These 57 counties for several years have given financial assistance. This together with state funds has in most instances provided for complete inspection service.

know the SCORE and you'll get a FORD

V-8 POWER	Ford alone, in the low-price field, offers a V-8 engine. Ford's 130-h.p. Y-block V-8 gives you the smoothest, most agile "Go" in its field. It's the most modern engine in the industry!
TREND-SETTING STYLING	Ford's clean modern styling is changing the trend for the entire industry. Gone are the bumps and bulges which "date" so many of the other makes. Ford styling is out front to stay!
BALL-JOINT SUSPENSION	Only Ford, in its field, offers Ball-Joint Front Suspension. No competitive car (without it) can ride so smoothly and handle so easily. Because Ford has it now—Ford will be worth more later!
MOST ADVANCED AUTOMATIC IN FIELD	Fordomatic Drive* is the only "automatic" in the low-price field that gives you the smoothness of a torque converter plus the "Go" and savings of an automatic intermediate gear.
BIGGEST CHOICE	You can have just the kind of car you want in a Ford. For Ford offers you a choice of 14 body styles in either V-8 or Six models. Ford's choice is unmatched by any other car at any price.
MOST VISIBILITY IN FIELD	Ford has the most windshield area . . . the most rear window area (full wrap-around on all closed models) . . . the most total glass area in its field. This adds to your safety . . . driving enjoyment, too.
MOST ADVANCED POWER ASSISTS IN FIELD	Ford's power assists* are the finest . . . include: power steering (cuts up to 75% of effort), power brakes (cut up to 1/3 of effort), power windows (on all 4), and a 4-way power front seat.
HIGHER TRADE-IN VALUE	Surveys prove Ford retains a greater proportion of its original cost at resale than any other car. This is another sample of the greater value Ford offers over competitive makes.
BEST DEALS IN 30 YEARS	Come in! Get the full score today. Ford's the winner on "deals," too. Your present car will never be worth more in trade. And you'll discover there never was a better time to deal than right now!

If you want to be sure your family gets needed hospital care . . . without financial risk to you . . .

Get protection that pays

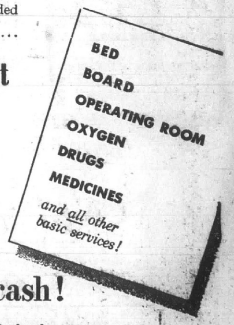
HOSPITAL SERVICES

rather than limited cash!



Unlike plans that give you limited cash to pay your hospital bill (with no assurance that you'll get enough cash!), BLUE CROSS pays in hospital services themselves!

With 1 in 3 families facing hospital bills each year, you can easily see the importance of having hospital bill protection! And it's just as important to have enough protection! But what kind provides enough?

Is it the kind that pays limited dollars . . . with no guarantee that the dollars you get will cover the hospital services you need? (You seldom know in advance which services you'll need, or how much they'll cost!)

Or is enough protection the kind that pays in hospital services themselves? This is the whole idea of Blue Cross!

How Blue Cross protects you

When you have to go to a hospital, just present your Blue Cross - Blue Shield Identification Card. It's an A-1 credit rating at any Blue Cross participating hospital, good for all the basic hospital services you need. And every enrolled member in your family is protected equally . . . at over 200 Blue Cross participating hospitals in Michigan, with 99% of the general hospital beds in the state.

How Blue Shield protects you

Rarely would you have a hospital bill without having a doctor bill. Ask your doctor ahead of time what his charge will be. Almost always, he can tell you. Still, protection against doctor bills is an important safeguard for your savings . . . and here is where Blue Shield comes in.

Blue Shield offers two basic plans—one, a straight surgical plan, the other, a medical-surgical plan. Under either plan, Blue Shield pays generous specific amounts directly to your doctor for thousands of surgical procedures. And, in non-surgical cases, under the medical-surgical plan, Blue Shield pays liberal amounts for your doctor's visits to you in the hospital. Often the doctor's full bill is covered.

How to get Blue Cross - Blue Shield

Ask your employer, your union representative, your Farm Bureau or Grange how you can get low-cost group enrollment. A company with as few as five employees may qualify as a group. And small groups can have just as much protection as large groups, at the same low cost . . . mere pennies a day! Write or phone your nearest Blue Cross - Blue Shield office.

Your ticket to worry-free recovery!

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall
And Clayton Ingerson

Backyard gardeners have a couple of friends to help battle plant diseases and insects. They are "all-purpose" dust and "all-purpose" spray.

Extension specialists in horticulture, plant pathology and entomology at Michigan State College point out that the new mixtures contain insecticide, miticide and fungicide in varying combinations. Methoxychlor, malathion, ferbam and rotenone are some of the chemicals used.

Although operators of large acreages may find it more to their advantage to treat individually for certain troubles, the "all-purpose" sprays or dusts solve the problems of the small garden.

Spraying, perhaps for fruits, or dusting, in some cases handier for gardens, should be repeated every week or two up until two weeks before harvesting, the specialists suggest. Rotenone is a good insect killer for use on beans and leafy greens where a poisonous residue might be bad for human eating the vegetables.

Most people sow root crops—beets, carrots, radishes and turnips—so thick that the vegetables are stunted or grotesque in shape.

You may be planning on "thinning them later" but it's tough to do when the roots get crowded and the soil gets dry. Beets and turnips need about three inches of row space and carrots need about an inch. If a gardener keeps a close watch, he can thin radishes to about an inch of row space by taking out a few to eat every few days.

A grain-protection program for Michigan and 11 other states is covered in regional bulletin NC-49, now available from the Bulletin Office at Michigan State College or from your county agricultural agent.

"Control of Stored Grain Insects in the North Central States" recommends: Store grain in a well-built, isolated granary in dry a condition as possible. Clean dry grain and feed out of bins and buildings and apply residual spray to ceilings, walls and floors at least two weeks before storing feed or grain.

Fumigate any old grain that cannot be removed, apply protective powders to newly harvested wheat and fumigate unprotected small grains within six weeks after harvest. Inspect grain frequently for insects or heating and fumigate it again if it becomes infested.

The bulletin also covers care of grain stored in elevators and in railway cars.

Take some soil samples on hayfields now to find out what fertilizer to apply after the first cutting.

Studies by Michigan State College agricultural economists show that farmers get much greater returns for fertilizer dollars if the right analysis is used. County soil testing laboratories can provide the directions for taking soil samples if a farmer is in doubt.

If you want to get the best gain on your hogs this summer, be sure they have shade and that they are as comfortable as possible.

Sumner Griffin of the Michigan State College animal husbandry department points out that hot, uncomfortable pigs gain slowly. That raises the cost of putting on gains.

Here is another idea Griffin suggests for getting the best profit from feeder pigs: Sort them into uniform weight groups. That makes competition for feed on an equal basis.

If you are using a self-feeder, advises Griffin, be sure it is large enough to take care of your pig numbers. From weaning weight to 75 pounds, allow one opening for four to five pigs; allow one opening for three to four pigs if they are over 75 pounds.

If you use troughs, each pig — from weaning to 75 pounds — needs three-fourths of a foot of the trough. That's not figuring both sides of the trough. A hog between 76 and 125 pounds needs one foot of the trough and one over 125 pounds needs 15 inches of feeding space. The same goes for watering troughs.

If you use automatic waterers, suggests Griffin, you should have one cup for every 20 pigs.

Farmers who missed the 25th anniversary open house last year at the Lake City Experiment Station — and visitors who were "rained out" on the tours — will have another chance on August 4.

Plans are shaping up fast for the Missaukee county event. There will be nine stops on morning tours, a noon program and two longer tours in the afternoon —one for potato and crops people, one for livestockers.

Quackgrass, brush and weed control; the raising of beef cattle, turkeys and fish; profitable crop rotations and soil management, and the complete story on "spuds" will be just a few attractions. A food preparation and nutrition demonstration is being planned for the women visitors.

Some of the best farms in Michigan—featuring the newest machines and equipment—will be seen by visitors to Kalamazoo county on August 6 for the sixth annual State Farm Management Tour.

A group of foreign agriculture seeking tips on farm mechanization will be among the hundreds of visitors to the three stops. The first stop will be the Niles Haychallow farm near Climax.

Corn-planting on the furrow, placing of fertilizer at different levels, use of hoecrusher and barn hay-rider equipment in forage harvesting, and many other money-making methods will be reviewed.

Fred makes up more than 60 per cent of the cost of raising broilers, point out poultrymen at Michigan State College. Don't use it for litter.

DR. HAROLD B. KUHN WILL BE FRIENDS GUEST PREACHER

Guest preacher at the Friends church Sunday night will be Dr. Harold B. Kuhn of Asbury Theological Seminary. He will fill the pulpit during the absence of the Rev. Edward Ecolme, who is at summer camp with a group of young people of the church.

Dr. Kuhn has spent many years working in the refugee camps of Germany and as educational advisor of the U.S. armed forces in Germany, and in the Near East. He has been associated with the leading universities and churches of Germany and his talk Sunday evening will be about his experiences there.

The evening offering will be given Dr. Kuhn to assist with his refugee work. The service will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

SAW A HAPPY MEAT salesman in town. As he jumped from his truck with a big spring in his step he was whistling a merry tune. Maybe he's happy about the price of meat, while those who have to pay the price are sad about it.

THAT WAS A REAL pyrotechnicel display (as they used to say when I was a kid) the chamber of commerce put on Monday night on the recreation field. Used to the usual kick in the pants, for things done or undone, the chamber should get a big pat on the back for this unusual show.

WANT TO MAKE A dream come true? This is the recipe of Dr. Joseph Maddy, president of the National Music Camp at Interlochen. Take one good, unselfish idea, add love and determination, then mix them with well-wishers. Season with stubborness and test often." I have known Dr. Maddy for nine years and I remember how he struggled to fulfill his dream; and I recall how "stubborn" he was with Mr. James Petrillo, boss of the musicians' union. Dr. Maddy's dream was the music camp and he followed the ingredients of his recipe until he built the camp in the northern Michigan forest from 115 to 1800 students. As in any puddin' the test is in the eatin'. Just ask music camp students what they think of Dr. Joe.

DON'T MEAN TO BE sacreligious but this sign appeared in a local store window: God used washing machines. Of course the second "o" was there but it had slipped down to the bottom of the sign.

HAVE YOU EVER visited the zoo and thought that maybe you should be inside and the animals should be outside watching you? I had this thought last week end in Detroit. It was quite appropriate, too, after threading through all that traffic and then discovering that we were too late to see the main attraction Joe Mendi. Still had the same thought, only more so, the following day when we tried again and the rain came down by the bucket. As we headed for the car dripping wet I could just hear the animals say "People is the craziest people."

THE ANGOLITE, A WEEKLY newspaper published by prisoners of a Louisiana penitentiary, complained editorially about thefts by its readers. "The Angolite leaves 100 papers on sale and sells 54," the editorial said. "Who swipes the other 46?" Which again proves there's no honor among thieves. And we thought we had troubles publishing a weekly newspaper!

PSYCHOLOGISTS WOULD HAVE a name for it, explaining why the HERALD gave the young Delmar Crisps a married daughter in last week's issue. It was the Delmar Finches who entertained their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Childers of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Journalism teachers also have a word for it. My old prof used to say there ain't no such animal as typographical errors; they are human errors. So I guess the guy who pinch-hitted on this fine bit of proof reading — the same chap who puts one word after another in this so called column — is, as Lil Abner would say, a hoomin' bein'.

ISN'T THIS A DIRTY trick? A poultry extension specialist at MSC recommends the use of a water pistol to cull laying chickens. He says fill the water pistol with dye and in the day time blast the boarders who aren't paying their keep — just enough to identify them; then come back at night with a flashlight and you can take out the culls without disturbing the rest of the flock. Probably be a big run on dime stores now.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Training is everything . . . cauliflower is nothing but cabbage with a college education. — Mark Twain.

DAWN PATROL — Not even threatening weather could dampen the spirits of the Tecumseh Exchange Club and those who viewed the 150 planes present at the club's dawn patrol at Tecumseh Field last Sunday. Exchangites, assisted by Girl Scouts, served 800 meals at the breakfast. Proceeds from the event bought two-way radio equipment for the Tecumseh Volunteer Fire Department.

NINE LIVES

This silo worker also must have nine lives.

Last Thursday Kenneth Shalley, 43, of Kalamazoo, fell 40 feet from a silo owned by Mrs. Carl Williams on Russell road.

Shalley, employed by the Farm Service Co. of Kalamazoo, and his co-workers Frank Sackett and Rollo Hickock were repairing the silo.

He had looped his safety belt around a metal rod. A bolt broke and he fell.

Rushed to Herrick Memorial hospital, he only had a sore thumb and elbow and face lacerations. He was released.

Car Kills Baby Boy

Van Douglas Hicks, 20-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hicks, 714 S. Union street, was killed about 1 p.m. Wednesday noon when he was run over by a car driven by Mrs. Harold Butler, 702 S. Union street.

Mrs. Hicks, her son and Mrs. Butler had been down town. When Mrs. Butler let them out at their door she thought the boy was with his mother. Instead he was behind the car.

The boy was dead on arrival at Herrick Memorial hospital.

School Board Election Is Next Monday

Next Monday voters in Tecumseh Township School District No. 7 will vote for two members of the board of education.

Members seeking the office are Dwight Hodges and Aden Mead.

Mr. Hodges is running for a three-year term and Mr. Mead is running for a one-year term.

The annual election will be held in the cafeteria of the new high school.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

CONGESTION

Tecumseh streets were congested with cars Monday night when hundreds of drivers went to see the fireworks on the recreation field.

A large number of persons, not wishing to be caught in the heavy traffic, walked to the field to view the display provided by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

Still others, even more wise, stayed at home and viewed the fine aerial displays from the vantage point of their homes and yards.

It was estimated that the display attracted about 4,000 persons.

Police Chief George Kilbourn points out that Tecumseh drivers Monday night were second to none for courtesy and fair play.

"I want the public to know that we policemen really appreciated the way drivers acted," he said. "They were very good."

TECUMSEH MAN KILLED IN TRAFFIC ACCIDENT

Toledo Man Dies As Car Hits Train

A Toledo man was killed early Wednesday morning when the car he was driving ran into a fast Wabash passenger train on the Rogers Highway crossing near Holloway.

Dead is William J. Conlon, 44, of Route 10, Toledo.

Blissfield State Police said Conlon, traveling alone, apparently did not hear or see the train which was traveling west.

The body was taken to Green's Funeral Home in Tecumseh.

Britton Seeks New Postmaster

The Civil Service Commission announces that applications for postmaster at the Britton Post Office will be accepted until August 3.

Britton is a third class post office. Ronald C. Cheever presently is serving as acting postmaster.

A written test will be held in Adrian.

Further information and applications may be obtained at the Britton Post Office.

NEW MINISTER — Lyle Harper, a senior at Duke University, will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist Church for the remainder of the summer.

A native of Yale, Michigan, Mr. Harper will fill the pulpit until a new pastor to succeed the Rev. Ronald Brunger who has been assigned to Dundee is named.

The young supply minister has taken charge of the young people's group and he also is managing the church's entry in the Bantam Softball League.

Herman Seitz Dies; Herrick Hospital Staff Cares For 17 Injured

A Tecumseh man was killed in one of several traffic accidents that kept the staff of Herrick Memorial hospital busy caring for 17 victims during the long weekend and two minor accidents were reported to deputies and State Police.

Dead is Herman E. Seitz, 56, of Tecumseh, who died in the local hospital almost a day after he entered.

Mr. Seitz was injured in a traffic accident Saturday night about 9:30 when a car driven by Robert Kelley of Tecumseh went out of control on Occidental Highway south of town and rolled over several times. Mr. Seitz was thrown from the car and received a broken neck.

Mr. Seitz was born, June 28, 1898, in Saline, Bridgewater township, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Seitz, but had spent most of his life in Tecumseh.

He had been associated in the plumbing business with his brother, Charles Seitz, but at the time of his death he was employed at the Michigan Burner Company.

Robert Kelley, driver of the car involved in the accident that took the life of Mr. Seitz, is in Lenawee County jail. He is being held until a more complete investigation of the accident can be made.

He was a veteran of World War I and he was a member and Past Commander of Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 of the American Legion and he was a member of the Order of Eagles.

Survivors are his daughter, Mrs. Mary Jane Hartley of Elyria, Ohio; three granddaughters and one grandson; three brothers, Charles of Tecumseh and William and Richard of Jackson; three sisters, Mrs. Henry VanDuzer and Mrs. Verdi Skinner of Tecumseh and Mrs. Charles Hunt of Jackson; and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services for Mr. Seitz were held at the Collins Funeral Home Wednesday afternoon. They were conducted by the Rev. Alvin Brazee.

Nine persons all from the Detroit area entered the hospital late Monday afternoon as a result of a three-car accident three miles east of Clinton.

State police said a westbound car driven by Donald Lajavic, 22, of Dearborn, rounded a curve on the wrong side, sideswiped an automobile driven by John Green, 70, of Detroit, and then plowed head-on into another eastbound car driven by Irene Hadden, 45, also of Detroit.

Dr. Thompson Will Practice General Surgery

Dr. John R. Thompson Jr., announces that he has opened his Adrian office for the practice of general surgery. He is located at 114 National Bank Building.

For the past three years he has been resident surgeon at the Maumee Valley Hospital in Toledo which serves Toledo and Lucas County.

A graduate of Tecumseh High School in 1936, he earned his bachelor's and doctor of medicine degrees from the University of Michigan.

He served his internship at Mercy Hospital, Toledo.

Dr. Thompson spent two years in the medical corps of the U.S. Army. Part of his tour was spent in the European Theater of Operations. He was mustered out with the rank of captain.

He will practice both in Bixby and Herrick Memorial hospitals.

City Clerk Explains Billing For Sewage

City Clerk Mrs. Naomi Sallows reports that some home owners have been confused over the billing of sewage charges.

She explains that the city changed its dates for reading water meters last April and home owners were billed for nine months instead of the usual six months on sewage bills.

Meters formerly were read in April and October but are now read in July and January. As soon as the city "catches up" to an equal six months division of the full year, sewage bills based on 12 cents per 1000 gallons of water used again will be twice a year, once in January and once in July. The billing previously had been done in April and October.

EAGLES SPONSOR SERIES OF DANCES

The Tecumseh Eagles will sponsor a series of Saturday night dances which begin Saturday night in their hall on Evans street.

Glenn Driscoll's orchestra will provide the music.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m.

GOOD NEWS

"She's home again and it's great news."

Mrs. Duane Robison who lives north of Macon was talking about her daughter Lydia, 10, who is home from the contagious unit of the University of Michigan hospital where she underwent treatments for non-paralytic polio.

Lydia, a fifth grader, will continue to have therapy but the Robisons have been told that she will recover.

The polio case was a climax to a month of illnesses in the Robison household. Mr. and Mrs. Robison have four other children. Since June 1, the children have had six cases of mumps and four cases of measles.

Mrs. Robison, in probably the understatement of the year, said "We have had quite a time. For a while I thought we were operating a pest house."

Firemen Officers Are Re-Elected

Harold Easton was re-elected president of the Tecumseh Volunteer Firemen's Association at the group's annual meeting Tuesday night.

Other officers re-elected were Frank Gray, vice-president; Charles Manley, secretary-treasurer; Lawrence Price, assistant secretary; Cecil Alderdyce, chief; Burnell Moon, first assistant; and Lee Purkey, second assistant.

Dick's Standard Service Leads Softball League

By Don Oswald

Winning three games last week while Wilson Motor Sales dropped a game, Dick's Standard Service took over the leadership of the Tecumseh Men's Softball League.

The Oilers squeaked by Friends Church, 11-9 and beat the American Legion, 14-9 and the VFW, 14-5.

In the game with the Friends Church, the leading sluggers for the Oilers were Wheeler with a homer and single, Robertson and Thorpe with a triple each and Gilpin with two singles.

The Church was paced by Keller and Fisher with two singles each and Smith with a double.

Against the Legion the Oilers were led by Swartz with three singles, Wheeler with a triple and single, Gilpin with a double and single and Roost with two singles.

The Legionaires' big guns were Moore with three singles and a double, D. Van Camp with a triple and a single and Anderson and Gray with two singles each.

Against the VFW the Oilers were paced by Roost with a homer and triple, Robertson and Wright with a double and single each and Whelan with two doubles. Greenwald blasted three round trippers for the Veterans.

In other games last week, the American Legion blasted the UPW, 25-3, and the Friends Church knocked Wilson Motor Sales from the undefeated ranks with a 10-3 win.

Anderson led the Legionaires with a homer and single and Sisson and Gay had three singles each.

Leading hitters for the Workers were B. Walker with two singles, Fetty and B. Graham with a triple each and F. Graham and McKenzie with a double each.

The Church was paced by Fisher with a homer, Wilson and Manley with a double each and Comfort with a double and single.

Farley blasted a homer for the auto men.

The U.S. Naval Reserve Squadron VF-734 of NAS Grosse Ile, Michigan recently completed a two weeks of annual training duty at NAS Cecil Field, Jacksonville, Florida. Personnel of the Tecumseh area with this squadron include: J. W. Hite, AA; W. W. Patton, AA; R. J. Betzoldt, AA; W. A. Wright, LT.

The squadron operates with the F4U-4 Corsair, carrier type fighter plane of World War II and Korean battle fame.

Operations of the two weeks period were concentrated in the fields of ordinance.

While the pilots completed their annual qualifications in air to air gunnery, rocket firing and glide bombing, the members of the ground crew refreshed their ability to support such activity.

Several new members received their first opportunity to use their training in aircraft maintenance to keep the pilots in the air for an average of over 60 hours each.

EAGLES ENTERTAINED

Thirty-four members of FOE No. 1563 were guests of Don Gardner of the Michigan Racing Association in Detroit Saturday.

As part of Eagles' Day Mr. Gardner entertained at dinner and at the race track.

BONDS STOLEN

War bonds totaling $1150 were stolen from the home of Walter Puente in Britton last weekend.

Mr. Puente told State Police he returned home early Sunday morning and discovered the lock on the front door ripped off.

He said the house had been ransacked and 46 bonds taken.

DRAWS LUCKY NUMBERS

Kenneth Mark Hinkleman, 4, drew the lucky numbers at the grand opening of George's Texaco Service last Monday.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hinkleman.

STUDENT NURSES STUDY AT HERRICK MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

One group of students from the College of Nursing of Wayne University left Herrick Memorial hospital July 4 and another is arriving this week. Miss Polly Faber, Mrs. Norma Rose, Miss Polly Flick, Mrs. Mary Satterly, Miss Marisue Houtel and Charles Walsh had been in Tecumseh for several weeks, learning abotu the life and methods in a small hospital.

Their place is being taken by other students from the same college, Miss Janet Steele, Miss Marjorie Good ber, Miss Gloria Richardson, Miss Edna Woodby and Miss Jean Gourd.

In addition the hospital is giving training to three other students from the School of Nursing of the University of Michigan. They are Miss Carol Schaller, Miss Lura Cation and Miss Delores Wright.

LOCALS

Mrs. Verne Oswald returned home Thursday from Herrick Memorial hospital where she underwent major surgery. During her absence, Leo and Robert Oswald visited their grandmother, Mrs. Emma Gantz of Ottawa Lake. Mrs. Gantz accompanied them home Thursday and spent several days with her daughter, Mrs. Oswald. Donald Oswald is spending this week at the conservation camp at Ludington, Mich.

Mrs. Blanche Craig and children have returned from New York City where they visited for two weeks.

Is That So!

Filler for vacation days of this column will be amateur verses which have been requested — well anyway, suggested — by those who have heard them in the past.

"Weddings"

(For the June bride who is learning to be the July housewife.)

If you would make a marriage, lass,
It's quite a simple thing;
You can do without a preacher
And you need not have a ring.
You just get a legal paper —
And a willing lad — to say
Before the world that you are one,
Henceforward from that day;
And a half-a-dozen bishops
All gathered in one spot,
With music, flowers and bridesmaids
Couldn't tie a firmer knot.

But — if you'd have a wedding, now,
Alas and lack-a-day.
The net result will be the same
But not the easy way.
The plans that don't begin like this
Are really very rare —
"We're going to keep it simple."
Then they go on from there!
"I want a small home wedding"
The bride-elect insists,
"With just our very closest friends."
Then she begins her lists.

I do not need to tell you
If she pares them to the bone,
Those lists will fill two houses
With just her folks alone.
For, if she has the Andersons
She has to have the Roes,
She can't invite Aunt Susan's girls
And not have cousin Joe's.
So when she's filled four pages
And not begun the search,
She just gives up the struggle
And transfers to the church.

But churches seem to call for trains
Instead of street length skirt.
There must be several bridesmaids,
Or feelings will be hurt.
One thing involves another thing
Like kleenex from a box.
Dad's bank account is past all pain
It's paralyzed with shocks.
The days are filled with flower girls' hats —
With wedding cake and ice —
The house is filled with maiden aunts,
All filled with good advice.

And when the day has come — and gone
They find, on taking stock,
Their weeks of work were over
In eight minutes by the clock.
So — if you had a wedding, lass,
I'll bet your family hopes
That when kid sister marries
The little gal, elopes!

"Hey, what happened to the vice president in charge of lemonade?"

Accidents

Mr. Lajavic suffered head injuries; Harry Monroe, 25, a passenger in his car, suffered cuts on his head and legs; Mr. Green and his wife, Edele, 52, suffered cuts and bruises; and the passengers in the Hadden car, Mrs. Hadden suffered a fractured jaw, possible skull fracture and cuts; Helen Burch, 75, suffered a crushed jaw, head and skull; Elizabeth Reppke, 52 suffered head cuts and fractures of both legs; Eva May, 63, suffered a fractured skull, broken nose and head cuts; and Helen Pine, 51, suffered a fractured left leg, skull fracture and internal injuries.

Some of the injured were transferred later to University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Paul Deck, 9, of Allen Park, suffered bruises and was treated at Herrick Memorial hospital when he ran into the side of a car in Hayes State Park at Wamplers Lake Sunday afternoon.

Wendell Dance, of Garden City, driver of the car, was not held.

Another Detroit pair entered the hospital Sunday afternoon as the result of an accident on Dead Man's Curve in the Irish Hills.

Stanley Bukek, 45, and Louis Jarosz, 46, both of Detroit, suffered cuts and bruises when the car driven by Bukek failed to make the curve.

Earlier in the day four persons were taken to the hospital after an accident on M-52 a mile and one-half south of Clinton.

At 11:15 a.m. a car driven by John Stoner 28, of Tecumseh, pulled out to pass a truck when he saw a car driven by Henry Rhinemiller, 64, of Detroit, approaching. Stoner told State Police he headed onto the shoulder and Rhinemiller also headed for the shoulder and the cars crashed.

Injured were Stoner with cuts on his forehead and knee; Rhinemiller with broken ribs and a cut forehead; Irene Stoner with bruised knees; and Zola Welling of Tecumseh with knee, wrist, thumb and chin injuries.

In less serious accidents Tecumseh area residents were involved in these minor traffic mishaps:

A car driven by Ruth Bunge, 38, of Tecumseh was damaged Saturday when it rolled over after hitting a slippery spot on North Adrian Highway a mile south of US-112.

And Dean Craig, 18, of Britton, rolled his car over Saturday after it slid on wet pavement on Ridge highway near Smith road.

He escaped without injury.

School Lunch Ideas Exchanged At MSC Workshop

Information about tested operations and new ideas from other schools and from experts will help in the operation of the school lunch program this fall at the local school.

The eighth annual Michigan State College sponsored School Lunch Cooks Workshop, which offered an information-packed three-day conference, was attended by Marie Listman of Tipton from Tecumseh High School and Nellie Barrett of Britton from Britton-Macon Rural Agricultural High School.

The 300 school lunch cooks and managers, who attended the workshop were told, "your work is important in the whole educational picture." The work of the women was described as a "real service."

Sponsored by the M.S.C. Department of Institutional Administration, the workshop was designed to help the women with operation problems and to give them up-to-date information. The sessions covered equipment, purchasing, menus, training of student help, and other, topics. The course, June 29 through July 1, was co-ordinated by the Michigan State Continuing Education Service.

Two hundred and sixty four persons registered for the course.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Saint Francis of Assisi has much to teach us about peace of soul. We will be unwise to dismiss him with the conclusion that his way is not practicable for us under conditions of modern urbanism and industrialism. Consider the reasons why he is significant for us.

For sheer joy you can scarcely match his experience. He enjoyed God and he enjoyed people. He lived on this earth only forty-four years, from 1182 to 1226, but from the moment of his conversion to the drawing of his last breath, his words and his deeds were a continuing stream of thanksgiving.

Francis loved people, all kinds of people. He loved people with self-giving concern for them and radiant satisfaction at being with them. His tender care of lepers fills one with awe at such deep compassion. Every beggar he recognized as a holy temple of God, worthy to be treated with respect and reverence. He really loved his enemies, even when they abused him.

His love of nature has rarely been equaled. He entered into companionship with the birds and talked with them as with other friends. He gloried in flowers and in the moon and in the sun. Everywhere he found evidence of the outreaching, immeasurable love of God.

He was never married, had no fixed place of abode, and possessed no property except the coarse garments upon his back. He was a genius of the spirit, a God-intoxicated troubadour, one of the most Christ-like of all men.

These things we may learn from St. Francis: joy comes from relationship, from loving God and people. Sharing is really more satisfying than grasping. Non-attachment to things brings a glorious release to the human spirit. Meekness is to be desired above belligerency. Self-commitment rather than self-assertion is the pathway to peace of soul.

Beaten At Own Game

Every once in a while the best of us can be beaten at our own game. Chris Taylor, the local tonsorial artist has been wondering recently: Was the barber out maneuvered . . ?

The gentleman a patron in the Taylor establishment had identified himself as Clarence Van Avery from Gloversville, New York. The conversation proceeded something like this . . .

Chris: "Visiting in our city?"

Guest: "No, I'm visiting in Adrian, but staying here. You have a nice motel here."

Chris: "This is a nice town to stay in. Everyone here is proud of our fine streets."

Guest: "You people here wouldn't know about your nice motel. It takes folks from out of town to find out about that."

Chris: "We have a splendid new swimming pool. Nothing like bathing, you know."

Guest: "Bathing is no problem for us people from out of town." Every room at the motel has its own tub and shower bath."

Chris: "We have a big play ground and park here too."

Guest: "The motel don't need any air conditioning. Good ventilation and plenty of shade takes care of that."

Chris: "Fine fishing in the lakes around here."

Guest: "When you are traveling, you will be happy with bum fishing if you have a good motel to put up in. Some of you people here in town should try it."

Just about that time Chris finished his job, met the guest's daughter and son-in-law, and found he had three to talk him down. So he meekly listened, then locked up shop and proceeded up Mill street. It was reported that he went to rest and recover — to the motel.

The one thing that Chris did not find out was that Mr. Van Avery had driven the 700 miles from Gloversville, and could have slept well on the soft side of a plank.

VAN VALKENBURG FAMILY REUNION WAS SUNDAY

The annual reunion of the Van Valkenburg family was held Sunday at Van's Haven, the Sand Lake cottage of Mrs. Leon Van Valkenburg. There were 74 present and a potluck dinner was served at noon.

Raynor VanValkenburg presided at the business meeting at which officers for the coming year were elected. Ronald Van Valkenburg was chosen president, Herbert Hoag, vice president and Mrs. Dalton Van Valkenburg, secretary and treasurer.

Letters were read from absent members and games and motor boat rides were the entertainment of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hoag attended from Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Abbott from Toledo, Harry Abbott and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Abbott from Dearborn, Ernest Van Valkenburg and his three children from Ypsilanti, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Van Valkenburg and family from Bellville and others came from Onsted, Morenci, Adrian, Clinton, Britton and Newburg.

Giant Computers Have No Brain Power Says Wayne U. Director

Examining the console which controls the electronic computer in Wayne University's computation laboratory are (seated) Gloria Wiarda of Calumet, an employee of the laboratory, and Jacquelyn Heath of Germfask, a freshman in Wayne's College of Liberal Arts.

"'Mechanical brain' is a very misleading nickname for today's giant electronic computing devices," says Dr. Arvid W. Jacobson, director of Wayne University's Computation Laboratory in Detroit.

"The machines, although complex, are merely data processors which can perform simple computing tasks at a very high rate of speed," he adds. "It would take one man at a desk calculator nearly a year to do the work finished by Wayne's UDEC (unitized digital electronic computer) in just one day.

"We must not forget, however, that any actual thought process still has to be done by humans. The machine can only carry out instructions given by an operator. Any attempt to build a machine that could operate at even the moron level would call for expenditure of billions of dollars and parts and equipment covering hundreds of square miles."

Dr. Jacobson foresees widespread use of the machines by business and industry in the near future. Some large corporations have already adopted electronic computers for use in their accounting departments, he points out. The high cost of the machines will drop as their number increases, he states, and someday all firms will use one or more machines. The need for skilled operators will be exceedingly high not only to run the present machines but to develop new machines and new areas for their application.

"That is one of the reasons why our laboratory here at Wayne is so important," he states. "We are supported by private industry and not involved with government contracts. We can use our facilities for training, research, development, and serve as a clearing house for computing information as well as answer the need of business and industry for immediate information."

Wayne's computing laboratory program was started in 1949 with the gift of a large scale calculating machine from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Successful use of the machine in a number of diversified areas showed the need for a more complete program and some 20 Michigan firms contributed the $500,000 necessary for the purchase of an all-purpose digital computer and maintenance of the laboratory for five years.

The new machine, designed and built by the Burroughs Corporation, was assembled in racks of replaceable units like building blocks giving it great flexibility so that it can keep up to date as advances are made in computing techniques. It has been in continuous operation since its installation and has solved numerous engineering and business problems.

Visitors to Detroit are invited to visit the Computation Laboratory. Arrangements may be made by phone or mail.

You And Your Money

SO YOU PLAN TO INVEST

By DR. L. E. TRAYWICK
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS
MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

A friend asked me the other day where I was investing my money. I gave the usual answer of "safe money?" But when I stopped to think about it, we are buying our house, we are buying insurance, and we are putting a little in the bank from time to time.

His question got me to thinking. "Is this what I really want to do with my money?"

I have a hidden investment plan, and I wonder if I am doing the right thing. Could I put this little I have in a better place?

There are many places a person of all sorts. There are businesses of al lsorts. One should keep in mind that there are four general types of securities that can be bought.

(1) The investment type. This would include bonds as well as stocks in companies with sound finance, structures, and demonstrated earning abilities in both good times and bad. Bonds, of course, give fixed incomes (a certain percent each year) while incomes from stocks will vary.

(2) Liberal income type. Securities here will vary more widely in income to the investor than in the previous type. The current dividend will likely be maintained over the near future.

(3) Good quality: wide price movement. this type includes securities that are much more sensitive to business conditions and will undoubtedly vary more than the investment type.

(4) Speculative. Securities here are generally of a lower quality with a broad price range. Their instability may be due to large amounts of debt, the character of the business, or perhaps preferred stocks come ahead of common.

In all these situations one must bear in mind what the investor terms "yield." This simply means the rate of return on a person's investment depends on the amount of money he gets back and the price he paid for it.

For example, if I buy a share of stock for $100 and during the year get dividends which amount to $5, I obviously have a yield of five per cent. But if I paid $200 and get back only $5, then the yield is only 2½ per cent: At $50 my $5 return gives me a 10-per cent yield.

Do not simply assume that if the investment instrument says you will get five per cent that this will actually be the case. Ask five per cent of what? The face value? Or the market value? If the face value is the answer, you might get $5 on $100 which would be five per cent. But if it is market value, your $5 might be a $200 price which would yield you only 2½ per cent.

One basic principle of investment procedure is that of diversification. This simply means "don't put all your eggs in one basket." It is advisable to shop around and to compare values.

Since last September many investment markets have been rising. Part of this was due to better-than-expected earnings, payments of dividends that have been liberal, anticipated income and excess profits tax reductions as well as other tax adjustments.

Courage was given to the markets as a result of the General Motors announcement of a billion dollar plant expansion program. Current, too, is a New York Stock Exchange Monthly Investment Plan — sort of investments via installment buying—which should give an upward lift to the markets and business in general.

The market, of course, cannot continue strong if general business conditions worsen. On the whole, though, investors can look to 1954 with reasonable confidence.

Do You Have A Heroic Dog?

Has anyone heard of any heroic dogs in this community?

The Quaker Oats Company is looking for likely candidates for its first annual Ken-L-Ration Award, to be presented August 18 at the Venetian Room of Chicago's Morrison Hotel. This award will go to the dog adjudged as having performed the most meritorious service to mankind in the past twelve months, according to Donald T. Nixon, Manager.

The award will carry with it $1,000 in government bonds, a gold-plated leash, collar, and medal, a plaque, a citation from Governor William G. Stratton of Illinois, and a year's supply of dog food. Winners of second, third, fourth, and fifth places will receive, respectively, $500, $250, $150, and $100 in government bonds, plus silver-plated leashes, medals, collars, and plaques.

For three days the winning dog will have the run of the Windy City, with a limousine at his disposal constantly and all the comforts of home. The dog and his owner will be flown to Chicago from their home city.

Any information regarding heroic dogs should be forwarded to the Ken-L-Ration Division of The Quaker Oats Company, Merchandise Mart, Chicago 54, Illinois.

The old adage "look before you leap" never had a better application than the case of the motorist who pulls out to pass without first being positive that he has a gap ahead big enough for him to pull into when he completes his passing maneuver.

There's more to it than just spotting that gap up ahead. It must not only be at least 40 feet long but you have to look for assurances that it won't close up on you just as you get alongside the car ahead of you. Study the car ahead to see that it is not picking up speed — and watch the car ahead of it to see that it is not slowing down.

"You can expect the most raiding in the best melon patch"

You can bet your bottom dollar on it.

Come next year, or the year after that, you'll be seeing on other cars some of the styling features you see in Buick today.

We expect it. It has happened before. And there is good reason for it — popular appeal.

Take, for example, the car model shown here.

We call it a Riviera. Most people call it a "hardtop."

When Buick introduced this body type in 1949, it was a completely new thing. And it was an instant hit.

Today, Buick "hardtops" outsell all other models in the line. It's the styling America has taken to its heart.

So today you find that every major car maker has his own version of this Buick original. (And we can't blame them a bit. They know a good thing when they see it.)

The diagrammatic sketch shown here lists some of the Buick advances that are now reflected in the styling of other cars — or will be soon.

For you can be sure that the great panoramic windshield first shown by Buick this year will be copied. It's too good to pass up.

And you can be sure that the full rear-wheel cutout now on every 1954 Buick Riviera and Convertible will show up elsewhere in the future. It's a sports-car touch that hits a really popular note.

We're sure of such things.

We're sure because the tomorrow-styled Buick of today seems to be just what people want. Because Buick sales are soaring. Because Buick now outsells every other car in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

So to you we say—why wait another day to see and drive a new Buick? It's the beauty of the year. It's the buy of the times. And it's a wonderful way to head up the parade.

Drop in this week for a demonstration, won't you?

If Dad doesn't drink milk, help him eat it.

Remember that the milk you use in cooked and uncooked foods supplies the same important nutrients as the milk you drink.

A summertime treat for Dad and the whole family would be a milk sherbet made right in the family refrigerator. Here's the recipe for a fruit sherbet that will make a tart, tangy addition to summertime menus:

Fruit Sherbet

2 cups whole milk
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup pineapple juice or 2/3 cup orange juice
1/4 cup lemon juice

Add the sugar and dissolved gelatin to the milk. Heat but do not let it boil. Place in freezing tray and freeze rapidly.

When it is frozen, scrape it into a bowl, add fruit juices and beat. Freeze, then beat again. Return to refrigerator for final freezing.

Eat three good meals each day. Include at least two cups milk for adults, and at least three cups milk for children daily.

Eat one serving potatoes.

Eat two servings whole grain cereal (oatmeal, whole wheat cereal, whole wheat, or enriched bread).

Drink six to eight glasses of water daily. Use iodized salt.

Then eat what you want, keeping meal time a happy time.

More and more homemakers are using dry milk solids these days. For dry milk solids are the least expensive source of complete protein — and they offer other advantages, too.

Used in biscuit, muffin, cake and pudding mixes, they can be a real timesaver. The mixes can be prepared in large amounts and used as needed — offering the same conveniences as commercial mixes.

Most people like to drink milk, but for those who don't, dry milk solids can be used in increased amounts in many recipes — so helping to provide the calcium, high quality protein and B vitamins needed daily by all individuals.

When shopping, the homemaker should remember that there are two types of dry milk solids. For that reason, please read your label.

There are the regular dry milk solids which have only the water removed and which still contain the butter fat. The label on this will be whole dry milk solids. This type of milk solids must be refrigerated, or they will become rancid.

The second type, non-fat dry milk solids, have had both water and fat removed and so may be stored without refrigeration. They should be stored in an airtight container in a cool place. Otherwise, they will take up water and become lumpy.

To reliquefy non-fat dry milk solids, sprinkle the solids on top of water. Heat well with rotary egg beater or a whip until completely dissolved. Never put the water on top of the solids, caution home economists at M.S.C. Chill the reliquefied product overnight for best results.

Cheese also is one of the outstanding dairy products. Do you eat seven pounds of cheese each year? That is the average for all Americans, reports Roberta Hershey, Extension foods specialist at Michigan State College.

Cheese contributes generous amounts of the calcium, riboflavin and protein needed in our diets. For example, three ounces of American cheese furnishes as much protein as four ounces of lean meat—and is usually cheaper.

No more stringy cheese sauce if you use processed cheese. It is fine for cheese sauces because it melts readily without becoming stringy. You can make an easy cheese sauce by melting one-half pound processed cheese which has been cut into small pieces, over hot water in a double boiler. When it is melted, add one-third cup milk and stir.

Remember that cheese must always be cooked at low temperatures or it will become hard and rubbery.

Plenty of cheese and plenty of milk mean nutritious meals—with that cheese sandwich, why not cream of tomato soup? It is a favorite with most families. Cream of tomato soup is no problem if you remember this trick—add the tomato slowly to the milk.

Freezing Strawberries? What could be better than a big juicy fresh strawberry shortcake for Christmas? Lucky is the woman who has a freezer.

This is the season of strawberries — you will want to take advantage of their abundance and stock up on frozen strawberries for the winter.

When freezing strawberries — use only bright red, firm, ripe berries. The berries should be red all the way through — but beware of overripe fruit, cautions Jennie Bruffy, foods and nutrition specialist, Michigan State College Extension Serivce.

Sort, wash, hull and drain your strawberries thoroughly. Don't forget to handle them quickly — Now slice, crush or pack them whole, according to your preference, in moisture-proof air-tight containers.

Make a 40 per cent syrup with three cups of sugar and four cups of water—make either hot or cold syrup, but be sure to chill it well. Now cover the packaged fruit with the syrup—freeze promptly.

Next winter you will enjoy frozen strawberries in shortcake, on ice cream, in fruit salads, or alone —as a delightful dessert.

Strawberries are rich in Vitamin C. One cup eaten daily will take care of the Vitamin C needed by you for one day.

While they are in season, now is the time to get your fill, first to satisfy your appetite and your needs. When they are no longer plentiful and inexpensive you can choose other foods which are. Raw fresh fruit and vegetables are good sources of C. Cabbage, tomatoes, oranges, grapefruit and lemons are foods which are rich in Vitamin C.

Foods rich in Vitamin C (ascorbic acid) help prevent fatigue, keeps gums healthy, prevents scurvy, (sore joints, muscular pain, loss of appetite, loosening of teeth, weakened blood vessels). A good supply of Vitamin C foods increases resistance to infection and helps wounds heal.

Christian Science Services Listed

That true progress depends on effective prayer, on man's selfless desire to understand and apply the spiritual truths concerning God and man, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Readings from the King James Version of the Bible and "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will comprise the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament." Scriptural selections include the account of Jesus' meeting with his disciples on the shores of Galilee after his resurrection, as told in John's Gospel.

From Science and Health will be read the following passage (1:6): "Prayer, watching, and working, combined with self-immolation, are God's gracious means for accomplishing whatever has been successfully done for the Christianization and health of mankind."

Moms Turn MSC Coeds July 20-23

Michigan moms will turn coeds when they attend the 27th annual Homemakers' Conference at Michigan State College, July 20-23. More than 1,300 homemakers from rural and urban Michigan are expected.

The conference — planned around the theme, "Better Families, Our Goal" — is sponsored by the home demonstration staff of the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. No membership in any organization is necessary —any woman is eligible to attend and can obtain complete information about registration and accommodations from the home demonstration agent in her county.

The feature speaker for the opening session in the M.S.C. auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, July 20, is Mercedes Hurst. Miss Hurst, a public relations specialist with International Harvester, will discuss, "The Lady Gets What She Wants."

Other outstanding speakers slated to appear include: Frances Scudder, director of home economics extension programs for the U.S. Department of Agriculture; Laura Lane, an associate editor of Country Gentleman magazine, and Mildred Buchanan Flagg, author-lecturer, of Boston.

The classes offered this year are: studies in the Parables of Jesus, household equipment, flower gardening, writing, speaking, photography, consumer information on foods, world trade, investments, parliamentary procedure, choral music, landscaping, leadership, family relations, American policy in Asia; recreation, books and art.

Special entertainment features will be included.

GARDEN CLUB TO MEET JULY 16

Mrs. Robert Kendall, regional director of region two of the State Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan will be an additional guest of the local club at its next meeting, July 16, at the home of Mrs. Lyman Curtiss. The speaker will be Mrs. R. P. Riggs, State Federation president.

Henry Campbell Services Today

Henry Campbell, whose home was at 103 Hiawatha street, died Monday morning — after a three weeks' illness of a kidney infection. He had been in failing health since contracting rheumatic fever several years ago.

Mr. Campbell was born Nov. 23, 1880, in Athens county, Ohio and moved as a boy to Kansas and to Van Wert, Ohio, coming to Michigan at the age of 23. August 17, 1902, he married Clara Stultz in Hudson where they lived for several years, moving to Tecumseh 40 years ago.

He had been employed at the old Brewer and Heesen's foundries and at the Tecumseh Products Co.

He was a member of the United Brother's church in Ohio.

Mr. Campbell is survived by his wife, Clara; five children, Charles of Manitou Beach, Myrl of Fairfield, Ray and Jay of Tecumseh and Norma (Mrs. Walter Miller) of Britton; thirteen grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted this afternoon at 2:30 by the Rev. Alvin Brazee at the Collins Funeral Home. Fred Dickinson will sing "Beyond the Sunset," a request of Mr. Campbell. Burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

"Kangaroo Kourt" Fines Senator

Senator Homer Ferguson, center, was fined $5 by the "Kangaroo Kourt" for appearing in Jackson without a beard. Thousands of Jackson men are growing beards in honor of the "Freedom Festival" July 4-10, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Republican Party in their city. The "Kourt" also fined Congressman George Meader $5 for showing up minus beard or mustache. From left to right are Clarence C. Baker, "kangaroo Kourt" bailiff; Ralph Etienne; Congressman Meader; Senator Ferguson; Jack Underwood, the "Kourt's" Prosecuting Attorney; and John W. Bannasch, the "Judge" who handed out the sentences.

Tips Offered For Summer Salad-Making

Choose the right dressing for the right salad this summer—one that brings out and enhances the flavor of the fruits and vegetables.

Take care not to drown these flavors, either by too much dressing or by one with too much flavor of its own, cautions Dr. Elizabeth Osman of the Michigan State College foods and nutrition department.

Have the greens and vegetables or fruits quite free of excess moisture when the dressing is added, to avoid a soggy, watery result.

Add the dressing just before the salad is served in order that none of the crisp testure is lost.

Dr. Osman suggests that you prepare a few basic dressings and keep them on your refrigerator shelf. They can be used "as is" or varied by the addition of special ingredients for "tailor-made" dressings.

Jars of mayonnaise, cooked salad dressing, French dressing and possibly a fruit French dressing will give you bases for any number of variations.

Air Conditioning Grows

One of the fastest growing industries is air conditioning. By 1960 one out of every five homes and apartments in the country will be equipped with complete or partial air conditioning. And by 1963 air conditioning will be a five billion dollar annual industry.

These facts, taken from an article in the "Michigan Tradesman" for June 16 may have far-reaching effects on Tecumseh and its people since the Tecumseh Products Company is in the thick of the air conditioning business and if it clicks on the newer field like it did refrigeraton, the company stands a very good chance of really going places.

And we think it will. For some reason we can't sit around and wring our hands about the employment situation locally. True, there are some men without work; but this is only part of the "summer complaint" that happens every year.

No conceivable good can come either economically or psychologically if we all sit around and moan that because there have been some layoffs in the local plant, business is going to the dogs. Dog days may be approaching but we can't see any great cause for alarm.

Keep your confidence in this country, in your local industry and, above all, in your own business.

Every one of us, men, women and children have a big stake in the Tecumseh Products Company so let's keep supporting it by keeping our faith. It has a toe hold in this country's fastest growing industry. Let's all wish it well and watch it grow.

A Word of Explanation

Events in recent weeks make it necessary for an explanation of the various kinds of news content in this newspaper and the policy of the HERALD in the treatment of this news.

First, all editorials which appear under the "editorial" heading in this column are editorials. They are written by the editor of the paper. Or, when he feels a bit rushed or not quite up to par, he selects something from some other source to run in this space. This could be called "lifting." But the point is that nobody writes or selects our editorials. We do this.

It seems that recently some folks have confused our editorials with the column "Letters to the Editor." These are letters written by our readers and they are most welcome so long as they are in good taste and they are not slanderous or libelous. These letters can be written on any subject under the sun.

But is should be clearly understood that these letters represent the writers' personal views and under no circumstances should folks feel that these views necessarily coincide with the newspaper's. They might coincide; but this is not always true.

A newspaper worth its salt should have a public forum open to its readers. The HERALD has one, so send in your letters.

Secondly, there is no charge for news items. Once upon a time there was a publisher who charged for obituaries or death notices in his papers; but he didn't last long. There is no charge for a death notice in this newspaper.

But folks become confused with death notices and cards of thanks and in memoriams. We do charge for these latter items.

Third, there is no charge for church notices. These are listed as a community service.

We want your news. This is our primary reason for being called a newspaper. So bring or call it in.

What They Mean

Ever wonder about the meaning of the pyramid and the eye above it, on the back of a dollar bill? The pyramid symbolizes the strength of the union of the states which make up our land. The top of the pyramid is unfinished, meaning there is still work to be done to make our system ever better. The eye stands for the all-seeing God, Supreme Builder of the Universe.

Thomas J. Rodda Buried Saturday

Funeral services were conducted for Thomas James Rodda, at St. Peter's Episcpal church, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Rodda, whose home was at 205 S. VanBuren street, died Wednesday at the University hospital in Ann Arbor where he had been taken three days before after being a patient for a week at Herrick Memorial hospital.

He was born in Plymouth, England, 70 years ago, the son of William and Mary Perry Rodda. He had lived in Tecumseh for seven years coming here from Bloomfield Hills. He was employed as a clerk at the Tecumseh Products Co.

His wife, Florence survives, as do two sons, Albert Rodda of Detroit and the Rev. E. Thomas Rodda of Rock Springs, Wyo., a former rector of St. Peter's in Tecumseh.

Other survivors are three grandchildren, Michael and Thomas of Rock Springs and Janet Rodda of Seattle, Wash.; one brother Walter of Toronto, Ont., and two sisters Mrs. George Law, Ingersoll, Ont. and Mrs. Maude Findelay, East Toronto.

He was preceded in death by a brother Albert and a sister Elsie.

The body was taken from the Green Funeral Home to the church at noon Saturday and lay in state until 1:30 p.m. The Rev. Edward C. Dickin conducted the service.

The bearers were Charles Butler, John Zeigler, Perry Satterthwaite, Gibbs Barber, L. W. Larsen and Philip Colgrove. The two honorary bearers were Lester Rogers and Guy Grieves.

When You Mow Let Grass Fall

Allow the grass clippings when you mow the lawn to fall back upon the lawn, was the advice given on this controversial question to school gardeners and custodians at the 21st annual Conference for Michigan School Custodians, held at Michigan State College this week.

Burt Ferris, superintendent of the grounds department, Michigan State College, in his lecture, said the grass clippings will act as a mulch, and will return plant foods and organic matter to the soil.

In general, he said, the best time to seed lawns in the Lower Peninsula is between Aug. 15 and Sept. 1. The four simple steps to assure a good lawn, Mr. Ferris said, are to use good seed and proper fertilizer, and then to water it consistently and to keep it clipped.

In discussing the use of fertilizer on lawns, he advised the use of a 12-6-6 combination, to be applied through two or three light applications in the early spring. And then to follow with two or three light applications in the late fall.

Two time-saving shortcuts were suggested to the school gardeners. Mr. Ferris said do not plant shrubs and hedges that continually need pruning and keep leaves around shrub beds to eliminate the necessity of weeding.

Mr. Ferris urged the use of landscape gardeners to develop plans for the grounds around new school buildings.

More than 1,100 school aides attended the three-day conference, participating in 82 discussion groups. The conference was co-ordinated by Continuing Education Service of M.S.C.

"I'm busy," Mr. Dailey said. "I can't run my business and yours too. So I want to turn over the job of selling my house to you."

"Fine," I replied.

I knew Mr. Dailey fairly well since he bought his home through our firm four years ago. Now, he was being transferred and wanted to sell fast.

"Come out and look it over," he urged.

We did. He accepted the selling price we suggested and agreed to redecorate the house inside and out. He did this willingly and speedily.

Then he went further. "I even know several people who might be interested in buying my home," he said, and gave us a few names.

One of these was very much interested. He thought the price was fair but had to sell his own home to handle it. Fortunately, we had a ready buyer for his house. The whole effort was quickly concluded to everyone's satisfaction.

Perhaps, like Mr. Dailey, you need a prompt selling service. With your wholehearted cooperation, we can, no doubt deliver good results.

Won't you phone now? The number is 36.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall And Clayton Ingerson

Wheat harvest time is insect trouble-starting time for Michigan growers unless they plan ahead and do something about it.

Plans should be made now to store wheat in cool, clean bins at 12 to 14 per cent moisture and to head off the sawtooth grain beetles, bran bugs and meal worms with pre-storage sprays.

Ray Janes, Michigan State College entomologist, notes that these insects do not come in from the fields—unless they are in dirty combines going out. Most of them linger in old grain.

Sweep the grain bin walls and floors, clean the ceilings and spray the inside of bins about three weeks before putting in grain. If you want a handy mixture, put a pound of DDT or methoxychlor—the 50 per cent wettable powder in each case—in each 2½ gallons of water for spraying.

Feed bins in the storage area also should be cleaned and treated, reminds Janes, and new wheat should never be stored on top of old.

Farmers soon will be storing a large share of their year's earnings in the form of grain and hay crops.

Agricultural economists at Michigan State College remind that some of this will be destroyed by fire before it is fed or sold. They wonder how many farmers are carrying enough insurance to cover buildings and contents.

Mechanization — greatest farm progress in the past century—will be featured during Michigan State College's Centennial year, 1955, with an August 16-20 program on "100 Years of Engineering in Agriculture."

Plans for the celebration next year have been announced by Arthur W. Farrall, head of the M.S.C. agricultural engineering department.

Exhibits, demonstrations and pageants will not be limited to M.S.C.—oldest state college in the nation to teach agriculture as a science—nor to Michigan, nor even to the U.S.A. They will have an international flavor, Farrall stresses.

Industry representatives and farm organizations will cooperate with the college and 60 acres on the south campus will be used for exhibits. More than 200,000 people are expected to view the more than 5 million dollars worth of machinery and equipment.

College farm areas will be used for demonstrations. Historical exhibits—depicting 100 years of farm engineering progress—will be located in the concourses under the football stadium. An "Arena" with grandstand seats for 6,000 visitors will be used for some pageantry and operations.

Pioneers in agricultural engineering will speak on the five-day program and visitors will hear inside stories on the rise of the machine age on the farm. Special exhibits will range from Maine potato equipment, to cottonpickers in the South, to lettuce-eraters of the Imperial Valley in California, to giant wheat combines of the Great Plains.

Engineering in the farm home also will be major part of the program.

If aphids appear on apples, plums, cherries or on other fruits, spray the affected areas before the leaves curl.

Michigan State College pest control specialists recommend nicotine sulfate (Black Leaf 40) at a rate of one teaspoon to one gallon of spray or one pint for 100 gallons.

For a wetting agent, add a teaspoon of laundry detergent to a gallon of spray.

Extension Folder 17 on "Pest Control Program for Home Orchards and Small Fruits" is available from county agricultural agents and the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College.

The best time to prune bearing fruit trees is before leaves appear but pruning may be done in the summer if water sprouts and dead or diseased branches were missed in the spring.

Pruning wounds more than two inches in diameter should be covered with white lead paint with no turpentine, or, even better, a water-soluble asphalt grafting compound. Old wounds that have not healed completely should be repainted. Extension Folder F-121 on "Pruning Bearing Fruit Trees in the Home Orchard" is available from county agricultural agent and the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College.

You can make your own paint for outside shingles and your log cabin if you're not satisfied with the products you can buy.

For the first coat on new or badly weathered shingles, mix the paint this way:

Two gallons of high quality exterior house paint.

One gallon of boiled linseed oil.

One gallon of mineral spirits.

For the second coat or the first coat on previously painted shingles in good condition, use the same mixture, leaving out the boiled linseed oil.

You can either brush or spray on the mixtures.

The big advantage in mixing your own paint is that you have a wider choice of colors. But be sure to select high quality house paints with permanent colors for the mixture. They're not so apt to fade.

How well do you know your land classes? Can you tell whether you're using the right crops for the class of land?

You can find out more about your land and what it can be used for best from a new Michigan State College extension bulletin just off the press. The publication is called "A Guide for Land Judging in Michigan." It's available at the county extension office at Adrian.

The publication is useful to farmers because it outlines ways that are best for handling different classes of land.

Extension Bulletin 326 also can be used for land judging—a contest that is gaining in popularity over the country. It tells how to organize a contest and presents a suggested score card.

Cattle going out on pasture after a rainy period should be watched as closely as they were going out for the first time in the spring.

Lush pasture can cause bloat in mid-summer, points out Dr. Glen Reed, extension veterinarian from Michigan State College. It pays to keep an eye on cattle at all times. Give them some dry hay in some form to tickle their rumen, to cut down on bloat dangers.

Some new wrinkles in muck farming—and some of use on other soils—will be unfolded for Lenawee county and other farmers Tuesday, July 27, at the Muck Experimental Farm near Bath.

The occasion will be the annual Muck Farmers Field Day.

Plans for the event were announced by Robert Lucas, extension muck soils specialist, and J. Fred Davis, research soil scientist in charge of work at the farm. The experimental farm is located about 12 miles northeast of Michigan State College.

Personnel in agricultural engineering, entomology, farm crops, horticulture, plant pathology, soil science and other departments will cooperate in the muck farm tours. Some of the specialists on tap include:

Hybrid onion work, fumigation of soil for nematode control, expanded farm crops work including winter barley on muck, new insecticides and fungicides, irrigation techniques, weed control in onions and asparagus with chemicals.

A mint distillery will be in operation.

Lunch will be served at the farm and a noon program is being planned.

Putting fertilizer on soils year after year without soil testing is like buying medicines without prescriptions.

The soil probably will be improved some, but the chances are there will be too much of one element and too little of another. Fertilizer that is put on and not needed is a luxury.

Richard Swenson, Michigan State College soil scientist, reminds farmers that soil tests are not magic, either. But, if a soil testing program is followed, and a soil laboratory man advises farmers on the fertilizer program, the yields probably will increase and the margin over costs will go up. Swenson stresses need for testing in time to get return recommendations and taking a wide representative sample.

G. M. 'Firebird' Will Be Demonstrated at Air Show

Mauri Rose (left), the test driver, and General Motors Vice President Harley J. Earl, the designer, discuss General Motors' new experimental vehicle, XP-21 Firebird which will be demonstrated as part of the program at the 1954 International Aviation Exposition and Air Show at the Detroit Wayne-Major Airport on July 24th and 25th. The Firebird is the first gas turbine powered automobile in the United States. Its engine, a Whirlfire Turbo-Power unit develops 370 horse power, the body of the car is acrodynamic in design. Test runs will be made on an 8,000 foot air landing strip on both Saturday and Sunday, July 24 and 25 during the Air Show. The Firebird is being tested to determine commercial possibilities of the turbine for ground vehicles.

SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC

The annual Macon Sunday School and church picnic will be held Friday, July 9 with a pot-luck supper at 6:30 p.m. in the Britton park. Each family is asked to bring a beverage, dish to pass and sandwiches. Ice cream will be furnished.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Harward Jr. and family of Cincinnati and Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Young and family of Charleston, W. Va., spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Truman Jordan and family.

Miss Sandra Cook of Dexter, formerly of Macon, spent the weekend in the Carl Thomas home and renewed old acquaintances.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hagens were Mr. and Mrs. Bondie and children Philip and Jean of Saline.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell VanValkenburg and son Kenneth spent the Fourth of July weekend in Rushville, Ind.

Susie Morden, Nita Gillen and Richard Moore have returned home after spending a week at Camp Judson Collins.

Truman Jordan Jr. returned Saturday evening from Camp Michigamme. He gave an interesting report of his experiences during church services on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bock and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis spent from Saturday until Wednesday at Fort Knox, Ky., visiting Pvt. Edward Bock. Mr. and Mrs. Lorden Dicks and family of Holloway stayed in the Bock home while they were absent.

At the Macon church executive board meeting Monday evening it was decided to paint the exterior of the church. The work will be started within a few days.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. Vaughn Whited leave July 11 for a six weeks' trip through England, Germany and the Holy Land. Visiting ministers will fill the pulpits at Clinton and Macon during the Rev. Whited's absence.

Friday evening callers on Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Furlong of Ypsilanti.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly and family, who lived in the farm home of Mrs. Joseph Howell, have moved to a dairy farm near Adrian.

The Macon Youth Fellowship will have a weiner roast Sunday evening, July 11 at 6:45 p.m. Each member is asked to bring his own weiners.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller and family and Mrs. H. F. Moore and sons spent Sunday afternoon at the Frayer cottage at Evans Lake. They were entertaining the Britton-Suttonaires 4-H club. There were 57 present.

Mrs. Effie Kuder entered Herrick Memorial hospital Saturday evening.

VA Reports GI's Records Are Good

Last week was the G.I. bill's 10th birthday. Figures show that millions of veterans have enjoyed its benefits since the law was enacted June 22, 1944.

During the 10 year period, a total of 3.6 million veterans have obtained loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration in amounts totaling $23.5 billion. Of this sum, about half is guaranteed by the VA.

A total of 650,000 G.I. loans have been re-pair in full. They amount to $3 billion. On the other hand, less than one per cent of the veterans borrowing under the program have defaulted, VA reported.

A deadline for benefits to World War II veterans under the program is July 25, 1957. Benefits to Korean veterans, however, run 10 years from the date of the end of the present emergency, a date not yet set.

Most banking publications, real estate news letters, and people interested in the building and financing of homes predict that in 1960 the United States will see one of the greatest building booms we have ever had.

These people all base their predictions upon the fact that children born from a very high number of World War II marriages will become of marriageable age about 1960, and those people will require new homes.

America is rapidly becoming a land of home owners. A 1954 survey of consumers finances discloses that 56 per cent of all non-farm families now own their own homes, as compared with 51 per cent in 1950 and 54 per cent for 1953.

All reports indicate that 1954 will be a record building year, and will exceed 1953 (which was $35.5 billion) by $750 million.

SANDRA LEE BOSS BURIED SATURDAY

Sandra Lee Boss, baby daughter of Merton and Hazel Fowler Boss, who was still born at Herrick Memorial hospital Friday afternoon, was taken from the Green Funeral Home to Brookside cemetery Saturday where a prayer service at the grave was conducted at 3:30 p.m. by Lyle Harper of the Tecumseh Methodist church.

Besides her parents, the baby is survived by two brothers, Guy Alfred and Merton Frank and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Fowler of La Grande, Ore., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Boss of Tilten, Neb.

We're Ready For Tomorrow

Yesterday's railroads made today's America possible.

Yesterday's railroads enabled America to become a single nation spanning a continent—our amazing America of today.

Tomorrow's America will be as dependent upon railroads as it was yesterday. A greater America is unlikely without railroads capable of caring for its vast, vital, growing traffic needs.

Today those railroads are preparing for tomorrow's task. They have poured billions into their plant—no adaptable mechanical, technical or scientific detail that can make them adequate for the nation they must serve has been left out.

America and its railroads are marching hand-in-hand to meet tomorrow.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

LENAWEE COUNTY'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER

SERVING TECUMSEH, BRITTON, RIDGEWAY, MACON AND TIPTON

ONE HUNDRED THIRD YEAR — NUMBER 41 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1954 | FIVE CENTS A COPY

FLYING A JET—RUSSELL H. HUBBARD, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Hubbard, 512 Outer Drive, Tecumseh, Michigan, is pictured as he returned from his first orientation flights in a T-33 jet training plane. While aloft, Hubbard was allowed to try his hand at the control under the supervision of the pilot.

Orientation flights of this nature are provided for each of the 200 AFROTC cadets now engaged in a four-week summer camp at the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport.

Upon successful completion of the AFROTC program next June at the Michigan State College of Mining and Technology where he is majoring in electrical engineering, Hubbard will be eligible to receive a second lieutenant's commission in the United States Air Force.

He will then enter the flying training program of the USAF to earn the silver wings of a pilot.

MANY PROBLEMS STILL FACE NEW CITY

Manager Asks For Patience

Tecumseh has been a city six months and officials are just beginning to see the many problems to be faced in the future, reports Ed Nelson, city manager.

And as the city grows, these problems will increase, he adds, but there are no problems that can't be coped with if folks don't expect too many things done overnight.

Pointing out that the still young city is having a continuing building program, he said almost a million dollars in building permits have been issued during the past six months.

The city began a new fiscal year July 1 and it has faced new demands for spending money that could not be figured in the budget, the manager said, and other demands also will be made, he added.

"We did not have any more money until this month to take care of the work that needed to be done; so it will be necessary to curtail expenses as much as possible to get by the last six months of the year."

Commenting on specific items, he said a survey of water and sewer needs in outlying areas was one of the expenses not figured in the budget. This work has been approved by the council.

In other specific work areas the city manager said the city plans more curb and gutter and black topping of city streets.

"If this street work can be completed, you will see a large improvement on our streets," he said.

Cost of maintaining city streets has been very high, he pointed out, and this has been due primarily to poor drainage in most areas.

"Curb and gutter is the only answer on these streets and in another year most of the major streets will be curbed."

The city manager also pointed out that $3000 was spent on the sewage disposal plant this year. A fence around the plant also is necessary.

"We invite all Tecumseh residents to inspect this plant and to understand its operation."

Describing the work of the city planning commission, the city manager said it is having a new map of the city made and board members are anxious to get new zoning completed in the city.

"There are many more problems facing them in the future," he said, "but if we all keep working together we can keep Tecumseh 'the biggest little town on earth'."

Ordinance On New Subdivisions Is Authorized

A policy for the city's participation in new subdivisions was discussed at a special meeting of the council Monday night and J. C. Beardsley, city attorney, was authorized to draft an ordinance that would cover the proposed policy.

Additional house building that is continuing in the city makes it necessary for a policy by which the city can be governed in participating in subdivision additions, particularly in sewer and water lines and curb and gutter work.

At almost every council meeting subdividers ask councilmen what the city can do to help and the city has had no outline for participation.

The attorney is expected to have the new ordinance drafted for the next meeting of the council Monday night.

Young Mother Dies Suddenly

Edith Marion Furgason Ely, wife of Rheinhold Ely, who died suddenly early Monday morning, was buried yesterday following funeral services at 2 p.m. at the Green Funeral Home.

The young mother became ill during the night and died while her husband went for the doctor.

Mrs. Ely, whose death occurred at her home at 3354 Murray Drive, suffered a cerebral hemorrhage. An autopsy was conducted by Dr. J. H. Ahronheim of Jackson, following an examination by Coroner Edward Braun.

She was only 23 years of age and was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Furgason of Route 1, Tecumseh. Born in Tecumseh, she attended the village schools here, and married Mr. Ely Nov. 18, 1949.

In addition to her husband and parents, she is survived by two sons, David and Douglas; by six brothers, Milford of Tecumseh, Edward, Brooklyn, and Harry, Walter and James at home; four sisters, Mrs. Charles Jones of Tipton, Mrs. Willis Davenport of Tecumseh and Norma and Bertha at home; a great-grandmother, Mrs. Edith Gregg of Tecumseh and a step-grandmother, Mrs. E. L. Furgason also of Tecumseh.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Alvin Brazee and burial was in Tipton cemetery.

School Budget Totals $357,045; 41 Persons Re-Elect Hodges and Mead; Supt. Reports at Annual Meeting

An estimated budget of $357,045 to run the Tecumseh School District No. 7 schools for 1954-1955 was approved at the annual meeting of the district Monday night.

Total estimated receipts for the coming school year amount to $363,751 and estimated expenditures total $357,045.

Estimated receipts in the new budget include $166,409 for state aid allowance; $30,954 from the state primary fund; $42,210 in sales tax returns; $77,006 in local taxes; $4,999 for vocational training returns; $19,750 for tuition; $1,250 for delinquent taxes and interest; $350 from library fines; $6,500 from text book rentals; $600 in trailer monies; and $13,721 balance in the general fund.

Estimated expenses in the new budget include $20,000 for administration; $257,645 for instruction; $51,200 for operations; $5,000 for maintenance of school plant; $3,000 for insurance; $14,100 for auxiliary services; and $6,100 for capital outlay.

A summary in the new budget points out that an advance of state aid totaling $40,000 less $6,706 estimated balance leaves the general fund with a deficit of $33,293, $31,300 of which has been loaned to the building and site fund to meet obligations on the Patterson School and additions to the high school.

When the general fund is repaid the actual deficit for the year 1953-54 and 1954-1955 will be $1,993.

An audited report from Dwight Hodges, treasurer, will be printed in next week's paper.

Dwight Hodges and Aden Mead were re-elected to the Tecumseh Board of Education District No. 7 Monday. Both men are incumbents. They were re-elected to three-year terms.

Each man received 41 votes. This means that 12 more persons turned out for the school board election Monday than last summer when 29 persons voted.

After the annual meeting Monday night, the board held its regular July meeting and reorganized. The same officers that served last year were re-elected.

Jens K. Toubro is president; Paul J. Breitenwischer, vice-president; Dr. Ralph F. Helzerman, secretary; Dwight Hodges, treasurer; and Aden Mead, trustee.

Highlights of the school year, both in building gains and educational experiences, were outlined for the board of education when Supt. James McDowell presented his report at the annual meeting Monday night.

His report follows:

"June enrollments this year showed about equal increases over last year both in the secondary and elementary schools, 52 in the former and 50 in the latter. We now have 601 in grades 7-12 and 905 in grades Kindergarten-6. A staff of 75 serves these children; 26 elementary teachers, 22 secondary teachers, four special teachers, opportunity room teacher, veteran's teacher, librarian, two elementary principals, a high school principal, three secretaries, maintenance engineer, six custodians, three bus drivers, three cafeteria workers, and superintendent of schools.

"At the close of this year the Patterson Elementary School and additions to the high school were completed and in operation daily. Together with the West Branch, Brownville and Central these form a fine building system. These buildings are at about peak capacity for optimum educational opportunities for the children at present and the 1954 census just completed shows a total of 276 more children than last year, 91 under five and 184 over five. This means that overcrowding will soon be necessary again.

"Two semesters of adult education programs were offered for the first time and both were well patronized. A total of 211 adults, an increase over last year of 134, participated.

"The salary schedule for professional personnel was adjusted to meet changing needs, particularly teh shortage of teachers. Base pay for beginning teachers is now $3,300 for degree personnel and $3,500 for advance degree people and the eleventh year added to th eschedule. Maximums are now $4,750 and $4,950 respectively. Hourly rated employees also received a five per cent per hour raise which approximates the annual increment for teachers of $150. The staff for next year is complete and we are fortunate to have such a high percentage of advanced degree personnel.

"The high school library now has a qualified part time librarian as required by the North Central Association of High Schools and Colleges. The Public Library has two full time qualified librarians as required by the State Library Board and improvements have been made of the library facilities.

Tecumseh school buildings and contents now exceed a million and a half dollars in value.

Oilers Are Undefeated In Softball League Play

By DON OSWALD

Dick's Standard Service has jetted away to a terrific first round start in the Men's Softball League. Winning two more games during this week the Oilers now have a perfect 6-0 record.

In second place is the American Legion with a 3-1 record.

In games last Thursday night the VFW clipped the UPW, 16-8, and Dick's Standard Service took the measure of Wilson Motor Sales, 12-3.

Leading hitters in the first game were Bowser with a homer, double and a single; Waltz with two singles and Jordan and Hizer with a double and single each. They did their damage for the Veterans.

Big guns for the Union men were F. Graham with a double and two singles, Richardson with two singles and McKenzie with a triple.

Leading sluggers for the Oilers in their game against Wilson Motors were Robertson with three singles and Thrope with a single and double. Leading hitters for the motor men were Larned with a homer and a single and Long with a double.

In action Monday night, or the lack of it, the Legionaires won a free one, defeating Wilson Motor Sales by forfeit when the Motor men did not have enough players to field a team.

In the second game Monday night Dick's Standard Service clobbered the UPW, 21-4.

The Oilers' attack was paced by Wheeler and Thrope with a homer and single each; Gilpin with a double and single; and Barton, Roost and Robinson with two singles each.

Feltman led the losers with two singles.

Tonight at 7 p.m. the Legion will face the Friends Church and Wilson Motor Sales will play the VFW at 8:30.

Monday games will have the Friends Church against the UPW at 7 p.m. and Dick's Standard Service opposing the American Legion at 8:30.

Council Approves Sewer Survey In Outlying Areas

A petition from residents on Occidental Highway asking the city to budget and schedule the installation of sewer and water mains on their street was accepted by the council last week.

The petition was referred to the city manager and a survey for the possible scheduling was approved.

The survey of the need for water lines in outlying areas previously was approved by the council and now a survey of the need for sewer lines in outlying areas will be made.

City manager Ed Nelson said about three miles of sewer lines are needed in these areas.

Mrs. Cashbaugh Is Found Dead

Mrs. Blanche Marie Cashbaugh, widow of John Cashbaugh who lived alone in her home at 16 Mill Street, was found dead Saturday morning by her neighbors. She had not been seen since Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Cashbaugh, who was 86 years of age, had been a resident of Tecumseh for more than 50 years and at one time had been employed by the late W. W. Whiting in his Chic Cigar factory.

The daughter of John and Mary McLeon Bancroft, she was born Nov. 3, 1866 in Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Cashbaugh is survived by a brother, Richard L. Bancroft of East Liverpool, Ohio and several nephews and nieces of Youngstown, Ohio. She was preceded in death by her parents and husband.

The Rev. Alvin Brazee conducted funeral services for Mrs. Cashbaugh at the Green Funeral Home, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock and burial was in Brookside cemetery. Bearers were Roscoe Hewlett, Neville Hart, Otto Meiers, Glenn Driscoll, Wyman Service and Clarence Sherman.

Playground Opens

A playground in Tecumseh Acres will open next Monday.

The playground, on Shady Lane off Murray Drive, will be directed by Mrs. Mary Drake.

It is now equipped and it will be opened from 9 to 11:30 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Coach Les Runk, director of the city's recreation program, extends a welcome to all children in the area to use the new facilities.

Westgate Joins Police Force

He succeeds Richard Simpson who resigned from the force.

Westgate is a retired sergeant from the Detroit police force. And he has served as a deputy with the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department.

He currently is living in Adrian but expects to move here as soon as he finds adequate living quarters.

ENTERTAIN BAND

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Camburn of Macon were hosts Tuesday evening to 75 persons of their area who are associated with the Ridgeway School band.

This is a group of 27 boys and girls from the Ridgeway, Macon, Culbertson and Bird schools organized and led by Mr. Camburn during the past year.

The band played several numbers and the members and their parents enjoyed a wiener roast and potluck supper on the lawn of the Camburn home.

The hosts were assisted by several of the parents with Walter Weimer in charge of tables and chairs, the latter being furnished by Ellsworth Collins.

KELLEY RELEASED

Robert Kelley of Tecumseh has been released from the Lenawee County Jail, pending further investigation of the traffic accident that took the life of Herman Seitz July 2.

Raisin Township Resident Dies

Williard Jay Boyd a life long resident of Raisin township died early Monday morning at his farm home on Russell Road. He was the son of Alexander and Mary Ann Mitchell Boyd and was born April 4, 1886.

Mr. Boyd was treasurer of Raisin township for several years and had been a member of the board of review. He was a Past Master and life member of Tecumseh Lodge No. 69 F. and A. M. and past president and life member of R.A.M. For the past 53 years he had been a member of the Tecumseh Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his sister, Miss Iva Boyd with whom he lived, and several cousins.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Collins Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. B. O. Bashore. The Masonic Lodge had charge of services at the grave under the direction of Past Master Roscoe Scott of Adrian. Burial was in Brookside cemetery with F. C. Dickinson, Arthur Eaton, William Butler, Ralph Westgate, Clyde Bailey and LeRoy Titley, all Past Masters, as bearers.

ANNEXATION OF NEW SUB OKAYED

Tecumseh Township and the City of Tecumseh have jointly approved the annexation of River Acres, the new subdivision north of the city, to the city of Tecumseh.

Both governmental bodies previously had approved the annexation and last week they passed a joint resolution agreeing to the transfer of land.

JAYCEES PLAN PICNIC

Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce members and their families will hold a picnic at Vineyard Lake park at 1 p.m. next Sunday.

Dinner will be potluck.

The day's activities will conclude with a dance Sunday night.

DENTIST OPENS OFFICE

Dr. Robert W. Mohr opened his office in the Dr. Dustin building today. He graduated from the University of Michigan Dental School last month.

Boy Injured By Thrown Bottle

Barton Colthurst, 9, of 9592 Tecumseh-Clinton Rd., received a gashed head that required one stitch to close when he was struck by a bottle Monday about 2 p.m.

He and three other boys were playing along the banks of the Raisin River north of town throwing bottles into the water when the accident happened.

Patrolman Westgate was patrolling the area and came across the boys trying desperately to stem the flow of blood in Barton's head.

Westgate rushed the boy to Herrick Memorial hospital where the wound was closed and the boy was released.

Tuesday an older brother reported: "The bottle didn't even break. I guess he's got a hard head."

"Barton is all right, but he's not outside playing yet," he said.

Thieves Break Into 2 Places

Thieves broke into two business places Friday night.

In the first breaking and entering they stole $20 in money, 10 cartons of cigarettes and eight cartons of matches from Bug's Service.

Before leaving they ate a quanity of ice cream and threw some over the ground behind the store.

GETS TAXI FRANCHISE

At its last regular meeting the city council granted a franchise to George Ostrum for a 24-hour taxi service.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

BILL CRAIG BROUGHT IN a copy of the Tecumseh Globe for July 1, 1926, the little paper published in the "Biggest Little Town on Earth"—Tecumseh, Mich. The lead story was about the marriage of the Globe editor Perry M. Hayden and Miss Elizabeth Comfort. Another story was about Tecumseh boy Cadet Webster Anderson making good at West Point and still another was a story about John C. Garlinghouse, a former Tecumseh boy, who won a Rhoades Scholarship.

A page one feature story and picture were about Tecumseh in 1895 prominently displayed on page one. Inside the paper was a picture of the village council with this caption: "These men are now conducting the business for the Village of Tecumseh. A soft job you say? Try it for a year if you think so and you will have another guess coming."

Another picture was of Fred Rosacrans "Still at it after 50 years of service . . . year after year we find him waiting to greet us at the store with the friendly smile that drives away the 'blues.'"

The lead story on page two of the Globe was about the Congregational Church and its minister of Clinton. The story was complete from the time the pastor was born on a farm in Hillsdale County through his education at Hillsdale College and his early ministry at Bankers, Mich. Last August, after a half century in the ministry, this pastor retired. In the audience that beautiful summer day listening to him tell about what he intended to do (as if he were just beginning his ministry) was his proud nephew who now is writing about him from a story that appeared 28 years ago (when I was a mere six years old). It is indeed a small world, the Rev. B. A. Warren.

A NOTE FROM M. G. HALLEY, chairman for the dairy queen in Lenawee County, says "Enclosed is an article and photo which I was to have forwarded to you several weeks ago for publication in your paper . . . It pertains to a local girl, Ardyth Eaton, who served last month as the county dairy queen and also in the state queen court . . . Due to an oversight on my part it was overlooked. Let's give the local girl the publicity in the HERALD which she so well deserves." Even though it is a bit late to be considered news, I agree with Mr. Halley. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Eaton, 5695 East Monroe road, Ardyth graduated from Tecumseh High School with honors last month. She was active in a number of extra-curricular affairs. Ardyth, 18, has been active in the Macon 4-H Rangers' Club for nine years. She has had a grand champion Ayrshire for the county for the last five years and has never placed below fourth in the State 4-H shows. Her hobbies are farm animals. This summer she is helping her father work the 240-acre family farm. In September she will enter nurses' training. The Lining extends its sincere, although belated, congratulations.

TODAY SHOULD BE A DAY to end all days—special days that are nationally promoted, that is. Today is St. Swithin's Day. Legend claims 40 days of rain if it rains today. So watch the sky.

CHATTED WITH A BIG, raw-boned ex-football player last week. He was such a good gridder at end that he was named to the all-state team at Fenton High School in 1950. He would have been a coach but he changed his mind and is now studying for the ministry, or, perhaps, this is still coaching, although on a higher plane. The ex-gridder's dad is a Methodist minister at Yale and the boy is going to follow in his dad's footsteps. Lyle Harper is the lad who used to snag those long passes for the Genesee County high school gridders and now he is supply minister at the local Methodist Church for the summer. Perhaps I shouldn't tell this about him but he dropped in to buy some extra papers since last week's paper had his picture in it and he wanted to send the paper to his relatives and to his girl friend. I kidded him about the fact that if he had more relatives we could have sold him more papers. Come to think of it this also would have worked had he had more girl friends.

MR. AND MRS. G. V. WILEY and son of Dearborn visited old friends in Tecumseh last Thursday. Mr. Wiley, who left Tecumseh years ago, used to work for Pulver the druggist. He said maybe he shouldn't use the word "old" because folks might think he was old, too.

ASK CHARLIE MANLEY how he likes tornadoes. Charlie, his wife, daughter and niece were caught in one at Union Grove, Wis., near Racine last week. He said a hill saved them from being blown to bits. The sky, the local fireman said, was black as midnight and the rain came down so hard that the windshield wipers on the car didn't work. Trees were down across other cars and buildings disappeared in the wind. "I've always wondered what tornadoes are like and now I know. I hope I never see another one," he said.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—Out of difficulties grow miracles.—Bruyere.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. James Barton and family spent the weekend at North Lake near Chelsea.

Pauline Bagshaw, who is attending summer school at the University of Michigan, came home for Saturday and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Bagshaw. She will be a senior at Michigan State this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Reum attended a Reum family reunion Sunday at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Karner at Wamplers Lake. Over 25 members of the family were present from various parts of southern Michigan. They enjoyed a potluck dinner and social time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hanna visited Mrs. Hanna's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Link in Fostoria, Ohio, Sunday.

Nancy and Linda Marsh, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Marsh of Tecumseh are spending this week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Van Geisen of Clinton while their parents and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marsh are vacationing at Houghton Lake.

Merlyn Schopp, four year old daughter of Sgt. and Mrs. Bobbie A. Schopp, was taken to Herrick Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon, suffering from a ruptured appendix. Her condition is serious. Her mother lives at 316 S. Ottawa St. in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Smith. Her father is in service, stationed in Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Manley, their daughter Marilyn and their niece Carolyn Chase have returned from a 1600-mile trip visiting points of interest in the Upper Peninsula and Wis.

Dr. and Mrs. Truman Rentschler have returned from a trip east to place their daughter Sally and Miss Patricia Mann of Grosse Pointe in special music school in Gray, Maine. Returning through the White and Green Mountains, they stopped at many points of interest including the Rock of Ages Granite Quarry at Barre, Vermont, the largest quarry in the world.

Verle Osburn has returned to his home from Herrick Memorial hospital. He is recovering from a concussion and neck injuries received when struck by a falling timber about three weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Staples entertained last week, Mr. Staples' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones of Connersville, Ind.

A group of hospital administrators from the three counties of Washtenaw, Lenawee and Livingston are expected at Herrick Memorial hospital next Wednesday on an inspection tour. A dinner for the visitors and hospital officials has been arranged at the Country Club.

Each Friday morning during the summer a group of six or seven of the pupils of artist Russell Steinke are meeting in the Brownville schoolhouse for a painting class. Mr. Steinke is busy with preparations for another exhibit at Hudson's in Detroit this fall.

Berford Barber of Saginaw will spend Friday and Saturday with his mother, Mrs. Clyde Barber, while his family are vacationing in Indianapolis.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Ward and children were in Detroit Sunday, where they visited the Zoo.

Jamie and Mark Gabler, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Gabler, returned Sunday from Harbor Beach where they had spent two weeks with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Gabler. Monday they went to Battle Creek for a week's visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Prettyman were called to Marion, Ohio Wednesday by the death of Mr. Prettyman's uncle.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hizer and family visited friends in Dearborn, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schomberg are vacationing in northern Michigan for two weeks.

Mrs. Anna Haughn is on vacation this week from her position in Palman's store.

THE REV. HENRY J. SIMPSON DIES IN ROYAL OAK

A group from the membership of St. Peter's Episcopal church went to Royal Oak, Saturday to attend the funeral services for the Rev. Henry J. Simpson which were held in St. John's church in that city.

A retired Episcopal rector, Mr. Simpson had occupied the pulpit at St. Peter's on many occasions during vacations and vacancies. He died very suddenly last Thursday while playing 'golf. Burial was in Columbus, Ohio.

Those who attended the services for the Rev. Simpson from Tecumseh were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Blum. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Browne and son Bill, Mrs. Clyde Barber, Mrs. Helena Brollier and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll.

MRS. JACK COLLINS BURIED IN KENTUCKY

Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, widow of Jack Collins, died early Tuesday morning in Adrian. She made her home for several years with Mr. and Mrs. John Walden of Tecumseh, Rt. 2, coming to Michigan from Kentucky.

Mrs. Collins was born in Bush, Ky., Feb. 14, 1874, the daughter of Alex and Sally Cheek Tuttle and was 80 years of age.

The body was brought to the Collins Funeral Home Tuesday and that afternoon was shipped to Corbin, Kentucky, where funeral services will be held at the Thills Funeral Chapel.

What's New with Cows?

Catching up on my reading, I noticed three news items you might like to know about.

First, a farmer whose milk had a trace of garlic flavor is feeding his cows chlorophyll to sweeten their breaths.

Next, a college agricultural station has trained a herd to get milked when they are called by number. Seems 75 out of 80 cows learned their numbers in a few days. Guess the "dumb" five couldn't count that high. Final item—cows are getting "nose-printed" for identification.

From where I sit, I hope there is as much progress being made with humans ... especially in regard to tolerance. Whether it's a choice of a political party, a basketball team, or a favorite beverage, let's learn to live and let live more. You may ask for a soft drink after a hard day's work—I'll choose a refreshing glass of beer. But let's not try to "cow" the other fellow into our way of thinking!

Bride Ideas for BRIGHT BRIDES

Brides Are Practical Today

Time was when the bride took no part in the selection of her gifts. But it's not so today.

Many are the brides who make their preferences known here at Baldwin's — far in advance. They select their pattern of fine china, or of crystal, or of many other decorative pieces. They suggest the type of kitchen utensils and dishes they are hoping to acquire.

This is practical for many reasons. For the giver, a selection is available. You know that you will not be duplicating gifts, or giving a gift that cannot be used. You can know, from Baldwin's records, the exact wishes of the bride-to-be. Consult Baldwin's, and be sure that your gift will be exactly right.

A Disservice to the Red Cross

For some time the American Red Cross has had a difficult time in some areas raising its quota of contributions to carry on its work.

There have been a number of reasons for this apathy on the part of the public. And in some cases it has not been due to apathy but to prejudices developed from policies of the Red Cross. Then, too, the Red Cross has been the victim of countless rumors that have stemmed from all parts of the world. Even in World Wars I and II these ugly rumors reared up to discredit the Red Cross. And when the men and women who served in the armed forces returned home these rumors helped to develop deep-seated prejudices on the home front.

The result was that thousands did not care to contribute to the work of the Red Cross.

One of the rumors or stories that continually crops up about the Red Cross is that its executives are paid huge salaries and those who do not wish to contribute often use this as an excuse.

Then when one of these top men "pops off" in print about a city that suffered untold agonies in a major disaster more fuel is added to the fire that spreads against the Red Cross.

Such was the case recently when E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the National Chapter of the American Red Cross, criticized the people of Flint for not repaying to the Red Cross some of the $600,000 the relief organization sent to Flint after the June tornado last year.

Some of this money, no doubt, had been contributed to the Red Cross by the same folk who received aid in the disaster.

An immediate result of his unprecedented attack was that Flint citizens stayed away in droves when the Red Cross asked for donations to its blood bank.

Mr. Harriman described in a speech "as frosting on the cake" $900,000 donated by the Red Feather fund to Flint tornado victims. He was critical that none of this fund went to the Red Cross and he said "aid to victims went beyond needs."

Mr. Harriman had a complete misunderstanding of the facts. We followed the Flint picture very closely and saw what a great job the Red Cross did in Flint and in Lapeer County which also was struck by the devastating storm.

The $900,000 raised in the name of the Red Feather came from a spontaneous, unsoliciated desire on the part of neighbors in Flint to help the families who lost loved ones and homes from the destructive forces of nature. The storm killed 116 and injured more than 400. The fund was raised to supplement any other aid. Flint folks wanted to do more than just to meet the emergency needs of the victims.

Besides, national Red Cross officials made it clear that the Red Cross aid given to disaster victims in Flint would be an outright grant.

Statements like those made by Mr. Harriman are long remembered. They too often are remembered longer than is the fine work done by Red Cross workers on the spot right after a disaster strikes.

For the most part Red Cross workers did an outstanding job in Flint. These folks on the firing line who viewed the disaster first hand saw the immediate need and pitched in to render necessary help to those who lost members of their families and their homes and possessions.

Mr. Harriman should have been in Flint June 9, 1953, a day after the tornado gutted Coldwater, Rd., and smashed across the neighboring counties. Had he been there, his attitude would have been different.

Word of his misunderstanding of the facts in the Flint case has spread. His statements were picked up by the news wire services and carried to every hamlet in the land.

His irresponsible statements, made without a working knowledge of the facts in the Flint case, cancelled the fine work done by Red Cross workers in the field. And his statements long will be remembered by those who are asked to contribute to Red Cross fund raising drives in the future. He, as chairman, should be the first to create good will for the Red Cross. Instead, he has fanned the flame that will give would-be contributors an excuse for not giving to the Red Cross.

He has performed a disservice to the Red Cross that may take years to rectify.

Partial Eclipse Of Moon Slated For July 15

Partial eclipse of the moon heads the list of astronomical attractions for July, according to Hezel M. Losh, University of Michigan associate professor of astronomy.

Professor Losh points out that in the evening of July 15, two-fifths of the moon's diameter will be immersed in the earth's shadow.

She adds that there are two types of eclipses — solar, as the sun on June 30, and lunar. "An eclipse of the sun occurs only at new moon phase," she says, "when the moon passes directly between the earth and sun, putting the three objects on practically the same plane."

Two weeks later, she continues, at full moon phase the moon may still be close enough to the plane of the earth's orbit so it will pass through the earth's shadow.

The lunar eclipse will begin at 6:69 p.m., July 15, before the moon arises over the horizon. It will end at 8:31 p.m., so the last-half hour may be seen, according to Professor Losh.

Among July's constellations will be Sagittarius, the Archer, she points out. It is usually depicted as an archer slaying Orion (The Hunter) or Taurus (The Bull), on the opposite side of the sky, or perhaps the archer may be shown with bow drawn, aiming at the heart of Scorpius, just to his right.

Another easily identifiable constellation, the professor says, is Scorpius. "A long curving line of stars," she explains, "it resembles a bright giant fish-hook, moving across the sky toward the southern horizon." Its heart is marked by Antares, a great red star named by the Greeks as "rival of Mars."

The Milky Way will rise into view on summer evenings, she adds, with Sagittarius, included in the great semicircle of stars, clusters and nebulae. The western part of Sagittarius is like a dipper turned upside down, Professor Losh explains, giving it the name "The Little Milk Dipper."

Among the July stars will be Venus, extremely bright for about two hours after sunset. It will move eastward, passing only one degree north of Regulus, lower star of the sickle of Leo, on July 12.

Christian Science Services Listed

That strength, joy and healing result from a spiritual understanding of God as infinite Life will be brought forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Life" is the Golden Text from Romans (6:23): "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (487:27): "The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality."

The following passage will be among those read from the Bible (Psalms 118:14,17): "The Lord is my strength and song, and it is become my salvation . . . I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord."

Realty Views

A modern-day philosopher observes, "When a father finally marries off his glamour girl daughter, he shouldn't look on the dark side of the situation. He's not losing a daughter, he's gaining the use of his telephone."

Seriously a moment, marrying off your daughters and sons may present another problem: Too much house for just the two of you left.

In many cases, the best solution is to sell the family house and find a smaller, more modern one. If you are thinking about such a move, we would like to help you carry it out.

The first question you'll want answered is, "How much is our home worth?" Also, "How do we go about seeing it?" and "What do the smaller homes cost?" All of these are important questions. Fortunately, for a great many people faced with a similar problem, we have supplied the answers.

We can assist you too. All it takes is an invitation. Merely phone 36 and ask us to discuss this with you.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall And Clayton Ingerson

Controls on cropping next year are no longer an "if" question with farmers. Farmers are asking now: How will controls affect my farm in 1955?

U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson has set the national wheat allotment at 55 million acres—about eight million short of this year's harvest and 23 million less than last year. This allotment, and the individual farmer's share, will remain unchanged even if wheat marketing quotas are voted down on July 23.

The vote will be between quota wheat—with excess planting cash penalties—at a support price between 75 and 90 percent of parity, or 50 per cent supported wheat—with no penalties. Farmers will not qualify even for 50 per cent price support if they overplant.

Every farmer in Lenawee county who plans to plant more than 15 acres of wheat this year can vote on July 23.

Burnell Held, agricultural economist at Michigan State College, says:

"Controls on other crops are sure to follow, especially on corn and quite probably on other grain. Marketing quotes are not likely to be used on these Michigan-grown crops but acreage allotments for next year will have some very real teeth. The cross compliance feature, announced by Secretary Benson, will make eligibility for price supports an 'all or nothing' proposition. The wheat producer will still have to stay within his acreage allotment to avoid difficulty. But he won't be eligible for the support price on wheat unless he also stays within his corn acreage allotment and any other acreage allotment he may be given."

If a farmer has more than 10 diverted acres, he can not shift them into anything but hay, pasture or green manure unless he wants to forfeit all price supports, explains Held. Close substitute crops would cancel the effects of the wheat cutback.

Michigan farmers will take a sharper cut in wheat than the 11 per cent national average cut — because Michigan had a bigger increase in recent years than the average.

Cross compliance will be in force next year no matter what the vote on July 23, stresses Held. If a farmer overplants corn, he won't be able to get a loan or purchase agreement on wheat.

Another new feature is the overall quota for the farm—similar to the "soil depleting base" of the '30's. If acreage controls apply only on wheat and corn and a farm has a 10-year history of growing 90 acres of wheat and corn and 40 of other crops, here's what happens:

The combined acreage for wheat and corn on this farm is 55 acres. Add 40 acres of other crops for a total of 95 acres. The other 35 acres must go into hay or pasture, be fallowed or planted to a green manure crop. If another crop is planted, the farmer loses price support eligibility.

Farmers with 15 or less acres of wheat would not pay a penalty for overplanting under a quota, Held explains, but they would forfeit price support benefits. Plantings of more than 15 acres—if in excess of allotments—will carry a penalty of $1.10 for each excess bushel before any wheat can be sold. This penalty would apply even if wheat is fed or given away.

Ground rods for lightning safety systems on farm buildings rust off and leave a farmer unprotected without his knowledge. It pays to check them—give them a kick to test their strength—and replace old ones with new 5/8 inch rods and good cable connections.

Four hundred visitors from all over Michigan are expected at the Michigan State College experimental muck farm near Bath on Tuesday, July 27, for the annual Muck Farmers Field Day.

Plans are shaping up for everything from soil fumigation for nematode control to operation of a mint distillery.

Hybrid onions, grain growing on muck, automatic irrigation, chemical weed control, new insecticides and fungicides and new ways to place fertilizer will be features. urf and rotation studies, comparisons of minimum and conventional tillage and use of nitrogen on corn and wheat will be others.

Dr. Thomas K. Cowden, new M.S.C. dean of agriculture, will speak. Lunch will be served at the farm.

Livestockmen from Michigan State College will have the first answers in a beef cattle carcass improvement project to report for visitors to the open house program August 4 at Lake City Experiment Station.

The first of the new beef crop will be butchered by then and the new crop of calves will be on view. Tours of the Missaukee county farm also will give farmers the latest information on potatoes, brush and weed control, crop rotations and soil management.

A women's program is being arranged.

Spiritual Understanding Seen As Aid To Freedom

Spiritual understanding alone can heal today's widespread distrust and discord and assure universal freedom and security, The Christian Science Board of Directors said today in a special statement.

WILLIAM R. KNOX

About 7,500 Christian Scientists from many parts of the world heard the Directors' message at the Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts.

Stressing the universal nature of spiritual understanding, the Directors said that the healing promises of practical Christianity apply "to every human being and every group and nation.

"When we look at the world and its problems, we cannot fail to be grateful that the teaching of Christ Jesus has so broadly and deeply registered in it," the Directors said. This teaching, they declared, offers a lasting solution to confusion in government, conflicting national interests, and world tension.

Named President of The Mother Church for the coming year was Mr. William R. Knox of Boston, Massachusetts, a Christian Science practitioner active in the healing work of the denomination for almost 50 years. His term of office is one year.

Mr. Knox emphasized the conviction of Christian Scientists that God's law and power are scientifically applicable to human problems and available to all. He said they base this conviction on the practical results of "the simple power of prayer" in their own lives and in the healing of others.

Reports on the world-wide activities of the denomination, which has branches throughout the United States and in some 40 other countries, were made by other key officials.

New Chevrolet Trucks . . .
do more work per day . . . more work per dollar!
You save on operating costs. The "Thriftmaster 235" engine, the "Loadmaster 235," and the "Jobmaster 261" (optional on 2-ton models at extra cost), deliver greater horsepower plus increased operating economy.
You save extra trips. That's because of extra load space. New pickup bodies are deeper . . . new stake and platform bodies are wider and longer.
You save time on deliveries. New truck Hydra-Matic transmission saves time and effort at every stop. Optional at extra cost on ½-, ¾- and 1-ton models.
You save with lower upkeep, too. There are heavier axle shafts in two-ton models, bigger clutches in light- and heavy-duty models, stronger frames in all models.
You save hours on the road. Thanks to new high-compression engine power, you can maintain faster schedules without driving at higher maximum road speeds.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

The vocabulary of a standardized world has gained much in sophistication and variety but it has lost a lot of salty expressions in the process. The country-man, who lived close to his world of sun and wind and water had his own words, few but pithy, and one of them was—

"Weather Breeder"

He was weather-wise, was my Uncle John,
In the east wind's ways and its goin's on,
In the tree-toad's holler he'd heard last night,
And the wavering V of a wild geese flight.
Stars, and a ring around the moon,
Meant rain to him and he knew how soon.
And nature said plain, if you'd only heed 'er
That a perfect day was a weather breeder.

If icicles dripped on the eave's south slope
And you looked at the sky with a surge of hope,
A sky so limitless, high and clear, that it Seemed to shout that spring was near,
He would squint his eyes at the noon-day sun
Then blast that hope, not quite begun —
Though a red-bird whistled from the cedar,
He would shake his head, "She's a weather breeder."

If June brought a day that was set apart
By the kind of beauty that clutched your heart,
A day so spangled with green, and gold
You knew you'd remember when you were old,
He would scan the sky for a hint of haze
Then mildly damn with the faintest praise
As he spliced his fish-line to a leader,
"She's a purty day — but a weather breeder."

When storm clouds, rolling in the night,
Proved his prophesy was right,
And you learned too late, and to your sorrow,
That your perfect day had no tomorrow,
You listened to the thunder, wishing,
Like Uncle John, that you'd gone fishing.

Seize your perfect day, Oh gentle reader,
Before it prove a weather breeder.

Chest X-Rays Urged By TB Association

Tuberculosis is drastically reduced as a killer; yet in the past five years (1949-53), in Lenawee county a total of 154 persons have been told they have the disease, according to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association. It's estimated, the association says, that each active case of tuberculosis costs approximately $15,000.

Since tuberculosis is caused by a germ, every Lenawee county resident has a stake in the fight against the disease. In the interest of self-protection from TB, the Michigan Tuberculosis Association urged Tecumseh and Lenawee county adults to have yearly chest X-rays and periodic physical appraisals by family physicans.

For Lenawee county TB patients, as for all others in the state of Michigan, sanatorium care is free, paid for by taxes under law "in the interest of public health."

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association notes that even with new drugs and modern surgery, sanatorium care is highly recommended for the tuberculosis patient.

CADDIES ENTERTAINED AT COUNTRY CLUB

The caddies of the Tecumseh Country Club were entertained at a picnic Tuesday by the golfers of the club. The picnic lunch was furnished by the lady golfers while prizes for the contest, which was the entertainment of the afternoon, were furnished by the men. There are about 25 boys who have served as caddies this summer.

TRANSFERRED

Cpl. Claudio F. Torres, 21, son of Ramon Torres, Tecumseh, has been transferred from the 40th Infantry Division to the 2nd Division in Korea.

He and other men who had not completed their tours of duty in Korea were shifted into the 2nd when the 40th was recently returned to the U. S.

JOIN ARMED FORCES

Joining the Air Force were Robert Kollar and Alexander Nemeth.

Army enlistees were David Anspach of Ridgeway, Corlee LaRee of Britton and Ernest Beattle of Tecumseh. All joined the army security agency.

Detroit Air Show to Display Pilotless Bomber

The Matador B-61, America's first operational pilotless bomber of the USAF, now in service in Germany, will be one of the features that the public will see at the Seventh International Aviation Exposition and Air Show, sponsored by the Aero Club of Michigan, at the Detroit-Wayne Major Airport Saturday and Sunday, July 24th and 25th.

The Matador leaps from a standstill, on a launching platform, to 250 miles per hour within two seconds. It can be controlled from its starting point, from flying aircraft or from stations along its route on a 1,000 missile range. Exact means of control is secret. Although the Air Force has not disclosed what type warhead the Matador carries, there is little questions but what it can carry an atomic warhead.

Inside The Capitol

By D. HALE BRAKE
STATE TREASURER

There are waves of fashion in government as there are with clothes. Along about 1912 and 1913 there swept over the country a wave of legislation setting up primary elections in the place of conventions as an instrument for the nomination of candidates. Recently there has swept across the country the idea of performing certain governmental functions by means of independent authorities rather than doing the job through regular state agencies.

Sometimes those trends or fashions are simply a return to former practices, and that is true about the one that I wish to briefly discuss now.

In the early days of our country and our state, a great part of the roads that were built were toll roads. Now it has become fashionable again to build roads that way and in a great many states it is being done. This may be good or bad depending upon whether action is based upon sound judgment or whether it is a matter of reaching for votes or a matter of just following a trend.

There are two fundamental decisions to be made in connection with any proposed toll road. The first is a question of policy. Do we want to build roads with borrowed money and pay for them as free roads as the tax funds are sufficient.

If we decide to favor toll roads as a general policy, then it is a question of financing. There is just one way to determine whether a toll road should be built, namely, what are the chances of the road paying out. That must be determined by a traffic survey made by experts in that field. If they find that there is assurance of sufficient traffic so that the tools will pay the bonds, then fine; that is the place for a toll road. Certainly in Michigan we want no more speculative ventures in connection with which the people who have the money to loan will exact excessive interest because they are not sure whether the project will pay.

If the project is sufficiently safe so that money can be borrowed at 2¼%, or at the most 3%, interest, then a toll road is the proper answer.

Brown Sees Acceptance Of Conlin Plan

Former U. S. Senator Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Michigan Committee for Better Schools in Michigan, announced today that proposals sponsored by the Committee would not appear on the November ballot.

Brown said there seems to be so much confusion and misunderstanding concerning these necessarily complicated proposals that if they were to be voted on at the same time as the Conlin Plan, all might be defeated.

"There appears to be universal acceptance of the Conlin Plan," the chairman explained, "and the Committee feels that the Conlin proposals are a step in the right direction although they do not go far enough."

The Committee for Better Schools expects to sponsor its own proposals at a later election, Brown said.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By LINDY PAGE

Paying attention to nature is a dynamic form of practicing the presence of God. Happy is the man who has trained himself to watch God at work in living things and in living creatures. Reflect upon these lines from William Wordsworth:

It is a beauteous evening, calm and free;
The holy time is quiet as a nun
Breathless with adoration; the broad sun
Is sinking down in its tranquility;
The gentleness of heaven broods o'er the sea . . .
For I have learned
To look on Nature, not as in the hour
Of thoughtless youth; but hearing oftentimes
The still, sad music of humanity,
Not harsh nor grating, though of ample power
To chasten and subdue. And I have felt
A presence that disturbs me with the joy
Of elevated thoughts; a sense sublime,
Of something far more deeply interfused,
Whose dwelling is the light of setting suns,
And the round ocean and the living air,
And the blue sky, and in the mind of men;
A motion and a spirit, that impels
All thinking things, all objects of all thought,
And rolls through all things.
Therefore am I still
A lover of the meadows and the woods,
And mountains; and of all that we behold
From this green earth.

No matter where we live, we can pay attention to the starry firmament, to sunsets, to trees, to birds. And we can go intermittently to beautiful places where the glories of nature stand revealed.

Ralph Peotter Exhibits In Toledo Show

Produced by 23 Ohio and Michigan artists and by five former Toledo area residents now living in other states, the items were purchased by the Federation from Toledo area art shows of the last seven years.

The Federation has paid $2,300 for the works which are lent for use in churches, hotels, libraries, schools and other institutions.

The exhibition will continue through Aug. 31.

Present: Mayor Hanna, Councilmen Bashore, Kelso, Moore, Schwartz, Smith, Titley.

Absent: None.

Meeting opened with the invocation by Councilman Bashore.

Minutes of meeting held June 21, 1954 read and approved with the followng correction being made: Mayor Hanna appointed Kelso as third member to the nominating committee for the Appeals Board.

A. Merz, W. Waldron and A. Eaton of the Township board met with the council and acted upon the following resolution:

The following Preamble and Resolution was offered by Bashore and supported by Titley:

WHEREAS the Tecumseh Products Company, a Michigan corporation of Tecumseh, Michigan, duly petitioned the Council of the City of Tecumseh on May 17, 1954, requesting annexation of territory situate in the Township of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, State of Michigan, more particularly described as follows, to wit:

All that part of the West Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section 22 and the East Half of the Southeast Quarter of Section 21, Town 5 South of Range 4 East described as beginning in the Easterly line of the Plat of River Acres, Area Number 2, Tecumseh Township, said point of beginning being located North 0°23' East 16.18 feet and North 33° 56' West 347.23 feet and North 88°45' West 74.34 feet from the Southeast corner of the West Half of the Southwest Quarter of Section 22, aforesaid, and running thence along the Easterly line of said Plat of River Acres Northwesterly on a 1960 foot radius curve left 200.01 feet, (long chord bearing North 30°51' West 199.9 feet); thence North 33°56' West 1177.12 feet; thence on a 1960 foot radius curve right 683.01 feet (long chord bearing North 23°57' West 679.56 feet) to the Northeast corner of the aforesaid Plat of River Acres; thence South 87°03' West, along the North line of said Plat of River Acres 494.42 feet; thence South 1°04' East 383.81 feet; thence South 49°29' East 264.29 feet; thence South 18°12' West 222.87 feet; thence South 37°15' West 300.11 feet; thence South 41°22' East 185.48 feet; thence South 28°56' West 313.79 feet; thence South 63°28'30" East 239.74 feet; thence South 67°36' East 514.15 feet; thence South 20°15' East 1.78 feet to the present North corporation line of the City of Tecumseh; thence South 88°45' 30" East, along said corporation line, 912.28 feet to the place of beginning.

AND ALSO all land lying between the Westerly line of said above described parcel and the water's edge of the Easterly side of the Red Mill Pond.

AND ALSO a strip of land of the uniform width of 100 feet lying Easterly of and adjacent to the above described parcel, said 100 foot strip being known as the Tecumseh-Clinton Highway; and

WHEREAS said petition was approved by the City of Tecumseh on May 17, 1954; and

WHEREAS said owners did not object to the granting of such petition and

WHEREAS the Tecumseh Township Board did, on June 17, 1954 approve of the separation of said territory from the Township of Tecumseh and its annexation to the City of Tecumshe; and

WHEREAS notification issued to the owners of the land embraced within the description of the territory sought to be annexed, said notification being attached herewith marked Exhibit A; and

WHEREAS the City Council and the Township Board agree that the area sought to be annexed has no people whatsoever and that no persons reside therein.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT JOINTLY RESOLVED:

That said annexation is jointly approved and that no further action need be taken as to the distribution of any State funds, monies or grants; and that no further action need be taken as to the indebtedness or liabilities of either of said governmental unities, or property transfers in connection with the territory sought to be annexed.

That the said described portion is, and shall be henceforth separated from the Township of Tecumseh and included within the City of Tecumseh, and that all necessary actions to effectuate this end be performed by the respective administrative officers.

AYES: CITY: Hanna, Bashore, Kelso. Moore. Schwartz. Smith, Titley.

FRIENDS BIBLE SCHOOL TO BEGIN MONDAY

The annual special Vacation Bible School of the Friends church will open next Monday, July 19 and extend to July 30. This session, which is in addition to the inter-church school in which the Friends also participated is open to all children. Hours are from 9 to 11 a.m. and the leaders will be the Misses Jane Huff and Wanda Wainwright of Grinell, Iowa.

Friday evening, July 16 there will be a special meeting of all local teachers, conducted by the leaders at the church at 8 p.m.

Epilepsy Report is Given

"Something CAN be done about Epilepsy" is the message being carried to the people of Lenawee County during this month by the Michigan Epilepsy Center, a United Health and Welfare Fund member agency.

"This is somewhat in the nature of a 'stockholder's report' to the men and women of our county who gave generously to support the work of the Michigan Epilepsy Center rendering service in the field of epilepsy during the United Fund campaign last fall," said Frank S. Perkin, M.D., President of the Board of Directors of the Center.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, who recently named July as "Epilepsy Month," declared that there are more than 40,000 epileptics in Michigan alone. There may be as many as 455 in Lenawee county suffering from epilepsy.

Funds made available through United campaigns will enable the Michigan Epilepsy Center to broaden its program in all areas this year, Doctor Perkin said. The Center's new mobile laboratory, a recent gift of the Square D Company of Detroit, will bring direct service to some 150 patients in 18 Michigan counties this summer. Likewise the Center's education and research programs are being expanded to develop wider public understanding of epilepsy and uncover new medical knowledge in this field.

A. J. Derbyshire, Ph. D., Neurophysiologist at the Center, pointed out that the electroencephalograph, a machine which measures the electrical impulses originating in the various parts of the brain, is mounted in the traveling laboratory and is being taken to the patients. This machine plays an important part in the diagnosis and recommendations for appropriate treatment of epileptics but is not readily available in all parts of the state.

In cooperation with County Medical Societies this mobile clinic was taken to Port Huron, where in one week the electroencephalograph prepared records of 20 patients. It was then taken to the Upper Peninsula, where it is now operating in several localities and taking records on 80 patients.

Later a group of representative ca[illegible] will be formed. The whole group and conferences will be conducted by a leading Michigan neurologist, Z. Stephen Bohn, M. D. Each patient will be examined, the available data correlated and recommendations for continuing care made to the patient's physician.

The cost of epilepsy to this nation is tremendous—at least $60,000,000 a year—not counting lost manpower. A large part of this cost is unnecessary.

U-M Doctor Sees Ultimate Victory In War on Polio

"I cannot help but feel that within the foreseeable future, poliomyelitis will become as rare as small pox and the plague," said Dr. David G. Dickinson, Director of the University of Michigan's Respirator Center.

Decisive scientific evaluation of the polio vaccine now under way at the University at the Polio Evaluation Center will not be available until sometime in 1955.

Yet Dr. Dickinson strongly feels that two campaigns in the battle against the disease have been won: Now there is a vaccine, and now parents can be reasonably certain that it is a safe vaccine.

On the matter of safety, Dr. Dickinson said: "It would seem that, properly administered, the Salk vaccine must be far more safe than many medicines casually consumed by the barrelful every day by the American public."

In all some 1½ million separate injections of the vaccine itself have been given. And, declared, Dr. Dickinson, "There has not been a single report of serious reaction."

When the day of relief comes—and the doctor warns that it may still be several years before polio can be expected to disappear—mankind will be able to read the chapter on polio with great pride.

Although at present only a few research laboratories are set up to grow viruses in the test tube, Dr. Dickinson feels that within a few years it should be possible to be tested for susceptibility to polio nearly as quickly and inexpensively as one can now get a blood test.

All in all, the U-M polio specialist feels that although the new vaccine's effectiveness can only be gauged by its ability to prevent paralysis, "Never before in medical history has a new vaccine been introduced with so much evidence that it should be successful."

You And Your Money

SO YOU PLAN TO RETIRE

By Dr. L. E. Traywick
Associate Professor of Economics
Michigan State College

Retirement? "It could never happen to me," you say.

But as you grow still older you begin to realize that you are not the person you once were. And in the harassment of getting the day's work done you dream a little of the future and go hunting or fishing or golfing all day — or just "rest" in peace. Maybe you don't fully realize that this is going to cost something.

Of course there are those who, grasshopper-like, want to let someone else pay for all of their retirement—the government or the company with social security or pension plans.

Then there are others who, ant-like, save carefully, and at some sacrifice to themselves and their families, only to see it all wiped out in a tremendously rising cost of living.

So what do you do to keep from losing?

Sometimes there is little you can do. If your company has a pension plan, often all that can be done is to abide by whatever has been decided. It is not up to you to make policy. Sometimes social security is available and under other circumstances it simply is not and there is little you can do. A letter to your Congressman or Senator is appropriate, but not too often will one letter do much.

One thing that can be done is for you to take out an annuity.

Specific monthly or yearly payments are made and upon reaching a certain age, say 60 or 65, you begin to draw on your annuity. This will pay you so much per month or per quarter as you have designated it.

Such a plan is simply one of having the life insurance company or annuity company invest your money for you (on the installment plan) and then pay you back after a specified period of time. In the middle of the 1930's there were very few of these in force. Today there are over one and a half billion dollars of annuities in force in U. S. life insurance companies.

The real danger of investing in annuities is not that the company will charge you too much for their services (you need to check this—the total put in, against the total gotten out), but that inflation will wipe out al lthat you have set aside.

For example, it was not long after World War II until the dollar only bought 54 cents worth of goods in terms of its 1939 behavior. These were cheap dollars and what people saved and invested and put into annuities were expensive dollars — dollars that bought more things. The sacrifice was great in many cases and thus amounted to a hidden tax.

People on fixed incomes, or people who are getting their money back from having loaned it out previously, are the ones who bear much of the burden of governmental or banking inflation. Politically this is much easier—these hidden taxes via inflation—than passing a tax act which singles out certain specific economic groups to bear the burden.

Before you buy an annuity keep the general business conditions and expectations in mind.

A final word about social security—old age and survivors insurance. There are ways of computing your social security for yourself and your family, some profitable, some unprofitable to you. There are also ways of becoming insured if you are not now under these benefits. Check with your local representative or write the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare, Social Security Administration, Washington 25, D. C. You are entitled to know where you stand. It is worth your while.

Be sure to plan ahead. Don't take your retirement for granted or simply say that you'll do it some day. Do it now! You are never too young. But you can be too old to do something about it.

Perhaps this reference to the "grasshopper" and the "ant" is not too farfetched. One is reminded of the verse: "Go to the ant, thou sluggard; consider her ways and be wise." Perhaps we should take it to heart.

ILLINOIS REUNION

The annual Illinois Reunion for this region will be held at the Britton Recreation Park next Sunday with a cooperative dinner at 12:30. Each family is to bring a basket lunch including fried chicken. Everyone who ever lived in Illinois is included in this group and a large turnout is expected. There will be a program during the afternoon and games for the children.

HAVE you been thinking you can't afford a new Buick? Listen:

If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick—and we boldly show our price here to prove it.

Look again, and you'll see that this is the local delivered price of the new Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan. Compare, and you'll learn that this price is just a few dollars away from those of the so-called "low-price three."

But—dig a little deeper if you want the real clincher. That's when you find that those few dollars more you pay for a Buick buy you a lot more automobile.

They buy a whale of a lot more power—Buick V8 power—plus the new economy of Power-Head combustion.

They buy a lot more luxury and comfort and solidity—more room, more glass area, more frame strength, more tread width, more ride steadiness—including the million dollar "feel" of all-coil springing and torque-tube stability.

They buy, too, the most advanced styling of the times, and the great panoramic windshield, and the surety that such fresh-looking beauty will stay in the style parade for seasons to come. (That means a better deal for you come resale time.)

2-DOOR, 6-PASSENGER SEDAN Model 48D (Illus.)

*Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: heater & defroster . . . only $81.70.

Is it any wonder, then, that Buick now outsells all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three"?

Come in for a demonstration—this week, for sure. And learn, in the doing, what a big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

WHY DOES AN EDITOR use the word "we" in writing an editorial? This question is not new. It has been asked by readers for centuries. This explanation was published exactly 100 years ago by an Atlantic seaboard paper: An editor is one who reads newspapers, selects miscellany (This editor's note: Today this is called filler, although it may be highly educational and of value to many readers. It is hoped that it is always selected with a large amount of discrimination.) writes articles on all subjects, sells advertising and subscriptions, sets type, reads proof, folds papers and sometimes carries them. As he performs the work of so many different persons, he may justly say "we" on all occasions and in all places! Less this be misconstrued, let "we" say that "we"—all of us—would not trade jobs with anybody any where. "We" may be busy and "we" at times may get discouraged but "we" love these many tasks that make up the whole —the weekly newspaper.

MEDICAL SCIENCE SAYS hard work will not kill a man. But there are some that it almost scared to death.

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO "we" said that the HERALD before the summer is over would be doing something about its circulation. Well, we weren't kidding. Elsewhere on this page and inside the paper are details of how you can win a new Buick, $750 cash and other cash awards. What "we" really wanted to do here was to express our appreciation for the way in which persons who were asked to be judges responded. The list of judges for the contest reads like a "Who's Who" of Lenawee county. The men are H. H. Hanna, mayor of Tecumseh; W. G. Waldron, Tecumseh Township supervisor; Herman Titley, Franklin Township supervisor and chairman of the Lenawee County Board of Supervisors; Mills Swick, Macon Township supervisor; Robert Wallace, president of the Village of Britton; Neville Hart, Tecumseh High School principal; John R. Thompson, vice-president and cashier of the United Savings Bank; Russ Garno, chairman of the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce board of directors; and the Rev. Edward Ecolme, pastor of the Friends Church. Although they are some of the busiest men in the area, none of the eight men hedged for a minute and we are deeply appreciative of their aid.

THE MOST NERVE-WRACKING sounds are said to be caused (in this order) by a pneumatic drill, someone scratching on the E-string of a violin, water faucet dripping in a dark room, the deepest tone of a bass bassoon, and a motorcycle exhaust. What about the sound of a piece of chalk squealing on a blackboard? Brrr!

MRS. ANDREW CRUTCHFIELD, the HERALD'S Britton correspondent, covered the Joe Prohaska farm fire Monday like a big city reporter, only better. She had all details of the fire including the damages to every item in the barn and she called in the story early Tuesday morning. You can't beat this for distinguished reporting by a correspondent. Her efforts were very much appreciated.

BARBERS CONTINUE TO make news. Russ Garno again has his shop open after he and his partner Earl Roe took a week off to beat the summer heat. Speaking of summer heat, Rhae Henkel has it almost whipped. He has a well-water "powered" air conditioning unit in his redecorated and renovated shop. Chris Taylor, as far as is reported, hasn't been talking to any more New York tourists lately, so this is probably news, too, since Chris is so used to talking to them.

A KITTEN STOPPED traffic on Union St. The kitten and his (or her) mother were crossing the street. The old cat made it but the kitten lagged behind. Cars coming from both the north and south stopped while the little shaver made it safely across. And we talk about speeding motorists!

ERNIE CAMPBELL has been active in Boy Scout work for a good many years having been chairman of the Scouts sponsored by the Rotary Club. Now the Junior Chamber of Commerce has taken over Troop No. 4 and Ernie has kindly consented to stay on in an advisory capacity. Its action like Ernie's that should make every word in COOPERATION capitalized.

Subdivision Ordinance Passed By Councilmen

Councilmen Monday night established a policy to deal with subdividers of residential areas by passing a resolution and ordinance.

It was passed by a 6-1 majority with Councilman Bashore voting "no." He explained that the only point he was against was the $50 water tap repayment. He thought subdividers should be entitled to a $75 repayment of a water tap connection to a water main installed by the subdivider.

The resolution and ordinance points out that the city has no intention to discourage development but to encourage development along sound and proper lines which will give subdividers an incentive and yet not penalize present residents by excessive taxation.

Councilmen Monday night passed an ordinance covering the construction of any building with an area of more than 10 square feet without first obtaining a city permit. The new ordinance is effective Aug. 16.

Chief points in the new ordinance are:

1. Subdividers shall present to the council a plat of the proposed subdivision based on the state Plat Act.
2. After street and alley surfaces are properly prepared as regulated by the city engineer, the city will seal-coat these surfaces without direct charge to the subdivider or the property owner.
3. Curbing and gutter will be installed at the expense of the subdivider at a price to be approved by the city and refund will be made on a 40-60 basis after the first full year's taxes on a particular lot are received.
4. All water mains and hydrants will be installed at the subdivider's expense.
5. The subdivider will install at his own expense all sewer mains but the city may waive this requirement if it seems to be impractical and inconsistent with city policy. The use of septic tanks in this case may be permitted but the city will not stand the indirect or direct cost of the septic tanks.
6. After the first full year's taxes on a house and lot, the subdivider will be repaid $50 per water tap connected by a consumer to a water main installed by the subdivider.
7. The subdivider will install sidewalks to the specifications of the city engineer.

The new ordinance becomes effective Aug. 16.

Dick's Service Loses 1st Game

By DON OSWALD

Although losing its first game of the season, Dick's Standard Service still leads the Men's Softball League with a 6-1 record.

The Oilers were nipped by the Legion Monday night, 8-3. Anderson was the slugging star with a grand slam home run for the Legion.

In other games during the past week:

The UPW forfeited a game to the Friends Church when the Union could not field a team.

Later, the Friends Church walloped the UPW, 16-1, with Hayden and Fisher banging out homers.

In games tonight the VFW faces Friends Church at 7 and the UPW squares off against Wilson Motor Sales at 8:30.

Next Monday night Dick's Standard Service faces the VFW at 7 and the Legion plays Wilson Motor Sales at 8:30.

Tresco - TP Start Program With Purdue University

Mr. Curtis M. Brown, president of Tresco and general manager of the Sales and Engineering Division of Tecumseh Products Company, has announced that Tresco has retained on its staff, for July and August, Mr. William E. Fontaine, Professor of Mechanical Engineering at Purdue University. Professor Fontaine is on leave from Purdue for these two months.

Mr. Brown stated that this is the opening gun on the part of Tresco and Tecumseh Products Company to develop refrigeration engineering talent, not only for themselves but also for their customers, talent for which there is a great demand throughout the industry.

WILLIAM E. FONTAINE

Tresco and Tecumseh Products Company are jointly financing a starting program consisting of substantial scholarships at Purdue for two graduate fellows working on thesis projects of their own choosing in the field of refrigeration, one graduate research assistantship working on a project of direct interest to this company, and up to fifteen undergraduate scholarships awarded to students interested in refrigeration.

Professor Fontaine has been assigned here by Purdue at Mr. Brown's request in order to observe the techniques and methods used by this company so that he may develop and organize new refrigeration courses at Purdue beginning with the fall term.

A further purpose of the association between Tresco, Tecumseh Products Company and Purdue University is to develop a basic research program which reflects the needs of this company and the refrigeration industry.

Chief Warns Vandals, Parents

Police Chief George Kilbourn reports that his department has had several complaints about the destruction of property in new buildings in the city.

He points out that it is dangerous to play in new buildings that are partly constructed and he warns parents that they are liable for the cost of destruction that their children do.

CLEARY WILL VISIT

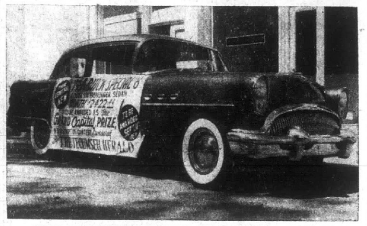
Owen J. ("Pat") Cleary, secretary of state and one of four Republican candidates for governor in the August 3 primary, will visit Tecumseh next Monday.

He will appear at the American Legion hall at 9:30 a.m. and on the street but he will make no formal speech.

Buick Special "8" Sedan Worth $2422.44 Heads Our List Of Prizes

Special 1st Week Prizes — Weekly Pay for All Active Entrants — Early Start Means Easy Finish

Here It Is — Make It Yours



NEW 1954 BUICK SPECIAL "8" SEDAN worth $2,422.44 to be awarded as grand capital prize in the Tecumseh Herald big "Everybody Wins" prize subcription contest, announced today. Read complete details of this interesting and highly profitable contest, open to local people of the Lenawee County area, then make up your mind quickly to share in the distribution of more than $5,000 in attractive prizes offered. Car purchased from and on display in showroom of Schneider Brothers Garage, Inc., 130-132 W. Chicago Boulevard, Tecumseh.

By Robert W. McKay, Contest Manager

You are invited to take part in the greatest prize-giving event ever presented in this area for strictly local people of Lenawee County and surrounding territory and thereby share in the distribution of more than $5,000 in rich prizes offered by THE HERALD in its big "Everybody Wins" contest terminating Saturday noon, September 11.

Although THE HERALD already enjoys a wide circulation, we are desirous of adding more new subscribers to our ever-growing lists, and at the same time give present subscribers an equal opportunity to renew their current subscriptions at a special long term reduced rate effective only during this short six and one-half week subscription drive now starting.

With this end in view, we have planned, and today announce the most interesting and altogether attractive prize contest imaginable in which a gorgeous new 1954 Buick Special "8" six-passenger sedan will be awarded as the grand capital prize. This masterpiece is equipped with many extras and a score of special features which make it the beauty it is.

Second grand prize will be $750 in good spendable cash, followed by a veritable shower of money in the form of extremely liberal cash commissions, payable weekly, to the enterprising men and women (married or single) and serious minded young people who are willing to cooperate actively with THE HERALD in this short snappy subscription drive.

Our Slogan "Everybody Wins"

One of the outstanding features of this unique contest is the fact that there will be no losers as a cash commission of 20 per cent ($1 out of every $5 collected from either new or renewal subscribers) will be paid each week to active participants, all in accordance with the plan more fully outlined in the big double-page contest announcement appearing elsewhere in this issue—which, in itself, is an excellent money-making opportunity for your part time interest and effort.

It is understood and agreed that winners of the first and second prizes will consider their weekly pay checks in the light of an "advance" and returnable — thus obviating double compensation.

Please understand that this is neither a "lucky drawing" nor something for nothing affair. Instead, it is a business proposition pure and simple. Its object, very frankly, is to further expand our growing list of subscribers and to open the way for our friends and readers to profit mightily through whatever spare time they may have during the next few weeks. So it is a plan that works to the ultimate benefit of all concerned.

HERALD Easy To Sell

One of the easiest things to sell in the Tecumseh area at the present time is a subscription to THE HERALD. Since its inception more than a century ago, this progressive newspaper has been a vital factor in the growth and development of this hustling and consistantly expending territory. THE HERALD has always served the best interest of Tecumseh and Lenawee County and is favorably received by everyone. Constantly improved news coverage and news presentation together with clear cut, representative advertising display have enhanced THE HERALD'S position as one of the leading weekly publications in this section of the state, and have created a lively interest on the part of its readers as well as the users of its advertising space.

The past several months have been eventful ones in the life and progress of THE HERALD. During this period THE HERALD lengthened its strides to make itself a worthy leader for community betterment and for commercial development.

In this relatively short time THE HERALD has moved to new and larger quarters, acquired a new press of most modern design and additional mechanical equipment so today few, if any, newspapers of its size and potential can boast of better facilities for the production of an outstanding weekly newspaper. These steps of course necessitated additional capital investment. This investment along with the Trade Expansion Campaign announced today is further indication of THE HERALD'S confidence in Tecumseh, Lenawee County and in itself.

In view of the foregoing facts, therefore, the publisher decided to adopt this novel method to place THE HERALD more quickly in the hands of many more additional readers and thereby extend its scope of usefulness to the Tecumseh area.

Short 6½ Weeks' Contest

This subscription drive will not be a long drawn out affair lasting several months but will extend over a period of only six and one-half weeks. Just think of being able to acquire for your very own — FOR KEEPS — such highly desirable and hard-to-get prizes in so short a time and for only a little interest and lively action on your part.

The first step toward immediate benefits and ultimate success is to clip the Entry Blank appearing in the lower right corner of the big two-page official contest announcement. Then, by using that "Early Effort" coupon appearing on page one (good only during the FIRST WEEK of contest) which is worth 100,000 Premium votes for prompt action on your part when accompanied by the very first subscription — either new or renewal — you're off to a flying start with a really substantial number of votes toward winning one of the big prizes offered.

Here is a word of advice to those who want to make the most of this opportunity. Although the contest does not officially open until next Wednesday morning, July 28, your entry coupon can be filed with Contest Manager right now, TODAY, and you may then start at once among your friends, neighbors and acquaintances while the getting is good. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

SPECIAL PRIZES FIRST WEEK

Just to start the ball rolling, so to speak, and as a little added incentive to prompt action on the part of those who intend to participate in The Tecumseh Herald subscription contest, this newspaper will award 20 SPECIAL prizes consisting of $25 each to aggressive "early starters" making the best showing up to and including Saturday night, July 31.

These special cash prizes are in addition to the regular 20 per cent commission, but a minimum of $100 in subscription collections (both new and renewal) is necessary to qualify for a special prize, and, after all, this is a comparatively small amount and easily obtainable.

Then, too, there's still another $25 cash prize on top of the above offer to be given for extra effort and substantial results obtained during the first week of the contest — also easily obtainable — as more fully outlined in the big two-page announcement elsewhere in this issue. It is easily possible, therefore, for everyone to earn $100.00 in cash, or even more, during his or her very first week in the contest, while at the same time accumulating a big total of votes toward winning one of the major awards.

Three Depts. Called As Large Barn, Contents Burn

Fire caused from spontaneous combustion destroyed a 40x86 barn and contents on the farm of Joe Prohaska on Pennington road five miles north of Britton late Monday afternoon.

Two hogs also were burned to death in the blaze which was fought by Britton, Tecumseh and Clinton firemen for two hours. The Britton department stood by late Monday night.

Sparks from the fire also ignited a roof on the barn of Ronald Pilbeam, 1000 feet away, and burned a 10-foot wide hole before the fire was put out.

The loss, partly covered by insurance, also included a new overhead granary, 2000 bales of hay and straw, 1000 bushels of oats, 550 bushels of wheat, and 100 bushels of barley.

The barley had just been stored Monday.

The loss also included a manure spreader, grain drill and corn planter, all new equipment.

The grain may be salvaged for hog feed.

Twelve hogs in the eight-year-old barn were saved.

Mr. Prohaska told firemen his wife and four of their five children were walking back to a field where he was working to call him for dinner when the fire was discovered. Rushing to the barn, he was able to pull a conveyor out. Neighbors called firemen.

The Prohaskas thought one of their boys was in the barn playing and they were concerned for his safety but he was playing in a near-by woods.

Two weeks ago a severe wind uprooted three trees on the farm and knocked a new chicken coop off its foundation.

Do You Have A Doll, Little Girl?

Dolls will be the center of attraction Friday at 2 p.m. at Central School when the Tecumseh Recreation staff will present the second annual doll day.

Prize ribbons will be given in the following categories: the largest doll, the smallest doll, the fattest doll, the saddest doll, the funniest doll, the most unusual doll, the doll most representative of a foreign country and the oldest doll.

Local merchants will be asked to donate merchandise for prizes to be used in the field day to be held by the Tecumseh Recreation Department Friday, Aug. 6.

Each doll may be entered in one category only, and each doll must be dressed. Attach a card to each entry with your name and the category in which you wish your doll to be entered.

Judges will be Miss Clara Waldron, Mrs. Hal Kelso and Mrs. Leon Rosacrans.

And kids, watch for the announcement of the pet show to be held next week.

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

By Mrs. Conrad Fosbender

The boys and girls of Tecumseh really put their parents to shame during the month of June. For they read a total of 1,119 books during the month to 687 for the adults. Forty-two boys and girls have joined our summer reading club, and every Wednesday afternoon a good group is here for story hour.

With over 11,000 books and 30 magazines in the library, there should be something for you as an adult to read. A few new books have just been added to our shelves, maybe they will be of interest.

"Cell 2455, Death Row" by Caryl Chessman. The true life story of the author, written as he waits in the San Quentin death cell.

"The Dollmaker" by Harriette Arnow. Written by a Michigan author, the story is of a Kentucky family and their life in wartime Detroit.

"Not As a Stranger" by Thomas Morton. Heading the list of the 10 most popular novels, this book is the story of the making of a doctor.

"Rebellion Road" by Helen Miller. A historical novel of two families struggle through reconstruction after the Civil War.

"Secret Stair" by Phyllis Bottome. The action revolves around a husband, his estranged wife and an Anglican priest who provides spiritual understanding.

"The Royal Box" by Frances Parkington Keyes. A novel confined to 24 hours of excitement and drama in England.

You And Your Money

SO YOU'RE GOING TO GET MARRIED

By Dr. Stanely J. Chipper
Lecturer In Economics
Michigan State College

The desire to mary, except in the eyes of some bachelors, is a noble thing. To economize, or to make the best of what we have, is also a noble thing. Unfortunately, these two human activities do not always enjoy the bliss of peaceful co-existence.

It would be too much to expect people to behave rationally at the time which probably represents the most memorable day in their lives. The wedding, after all, is no occasion for pinching pennies. Suppose, however, that you want to be one of the more sensible members of our society. How much should your wedding cost you? There are figures, indicating the average cost of an average wedding. However, one trouble with these figures is that they do not refer to any real thing. No wedding is an "average" wedding, least of all the one you plan!

Statistics do not show us what proportion of their incomes people spend on a wedding on the average. However, it may be a good idea to keep the expenses within your income, meaning, that you should not go into debt just because you want to show to the rest of the world what a terrific couple you are. Most likely, even a modest wedding will involve going into some of your savings, and it would not be quite prudent to use up all of them, since most of the down-to-earth expenses will start after the wedding.

Once the wedding is over and more mundane matters are faced, a question may arise as to whether the wife should work or not. Now more than 30 per cent of all married women earn money in addition ot their husbands. This means that quite a sizeable amount of young people feel the need for such additional income. It seems sensible, if she worked before her marriage and if he work is not entirely unbearable that a wife should keep on earning and help pay the considerabl expenses connected with settin up a new home.

Money difficulties rate very high as a cause of marriage troubles. Therefore, it might be a good idea to have a clear understanding before marriage. Agree to some rough procedure of how to arrange the future home.

The strict income and expendi ture approach in marriage economics is being given as a guide for successful management. The rule is simple: "Don't spend more than you earn." This "golden rule" ass other such rules, is bound to fail in a majority of cases for the simple reason that we live in a highly developed credit economy which is very ably assisted by the advertising conjurors who have a rich field in the needs and prejudices of young married couples.

Therefore, unless you are a millionaire or a very cool-headed person, do not be surprised if your family budget will acquire a healthy looking bulge of deficit. The problem then is, how to keep this deficit from growing, and how to wipe it out eventually? Never think that you can afford a certain amount of deficit. You are not the U. S. Treasury.

The continued excess of your expenditures over your net income will eventually catch up with you. In order to prevent this, it might be advisable to estimate the approximate expenses connected with such necessities as food, clothing and rent (or a mortgage payment). This can be done on a trial basis lasting several weeks. After you have ascertained the usual expenses the balance of your income should then be sufficient to pay the interest on your debts and leave something for your savings. A very important and often overlooked item in family finances is what might be termed "miscellaneous expenses." Watch these, and never forget that they some times exceed some of your "necessary" expenses by quite a bit.

Another event, which usually arrives ahead of any planned schedule, is a child. When this happens, your finances will be further affected and therefore, it is at all possible, provide for such an event before it occurs. However, this already belongs to the sphere of family finance management.

There are many books on this subject that you may read to your hearts delight. And if these books are well written, they may even pay for themselves. At least they might make you forget about the existence of your creditors while you read them. Good luck to you!

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

COUNTRY EYES

My country eyes are grateful for blue haze
Far off behind low shoulders of a hill;
For rolling shadows on the upland wheat
That drift and ripple, pause — and then are still.

When they have been close caged by city walls,
Like wings that beat against confining bars
They bruise themselves in narrow, canyon streets,
Seeking an outlet to horizon stars.

Like cramped and weary limbs they stretch, relaxed,
And sink into the plush of a distant wood;
And still beyond — where earth meets misty sky —
They rest, my country eyes, and find it good.

LOST KITTEN — FOUND

Dirty, cobwebbed, little face,
Green eyes, wide with fright
Of that strange, dark prison
Through an endless night!
Desperate, pleading, little mew,
Frantic, clutching claws
Fastened in familiar skirt,
Thankful little paws.

Tireless, scouring little tongue
Cleaning dusty fur;
Half-shut, smiling, amber eyes,
Ceaseless, happy purr.
Warm, ecstatic little ball
Answering my pat.
Only you can understand, dear fools,
Who love a cat!

Rathbun Serves Bar Association

The Lenawee County Bar Association will be host to the lawyers from the counties of Jackson, Monroe, Hillsdale and Lenawee on Tuesday, July 27, at the Lenawee Country Club, Adrian, it has been announced by Robert T. Bartlow, president of the host association.

The occasion is a joint meeting of the lawyers of the four counties and the program calls for golf and relaxation in the afternoon. Following dinner, State Bar President Richard H. Paulson of Kalamazoo will speak briefly on bar affairs. The principal evening speaker will be Carl H. Smith of Bay City, a past president of the State Bar of Michigan, who will speak on "Selection of the Jury and Arguments of Counsel".

Former Circuit Judge G. Arthur Rathbun of Tecumseh will be toastmaster.

STATE FEDERATION OFFICERS ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. Lyman Curtiss entertained the Garden Club Friday at her home on E. Pottawatamie St. Mrs. Robert McCoy presided at the brief business meeting. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Robert Briggs of Jackson, president of the State Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, whose topic, "Why Everyone Can Find a Place in a Garden Club" proved very interesting to her audience.

The director of Region 2 of the Federation, Mrs. Robert Kendall, was also a guest of the club and spoke briefly urging all members to attend the regional meeting at Grand Ledge, Sept. 20. She expressed her pride in the number of awards Region 2, of which the Tecumseh Club is a member, had received during the year. It was the largest number received by any region of the state.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, Mrs. Joe Rice, Mrs. Floyd Elliott and Mrs. George Bunch, served refreshments at the close of the program. Mrs. H. H. Hanna and Mrs. Herbert Blackwell of Cleveland were guests of the club.

The group will recess during August, meeting again Sept. 17 with Mrs. Paul Eddy.

GIRL SCOUT TROOP VACATIONS AT HIAWATHA CLUB

Fourteen members of Girl Scout Troop No. 9, the Poppy Troop, whose leaders are Mrs. Howard Teeple and Mrs. Leroy Titley, spent July 6 to 13 at the Hiawatha Club cabin of the Truesdales near Engadine in northern Michigan. They were accompanied by Edward Crawford, Mrs. Arthur George, Mrs. Elmer Buehrer, Mrs. Ned Baldwin, Mrs. Truesdale and Mrs. Titley. Mr. Crawford returned home the following day, but the ladies remained for the week.

The girls visited the fish docks at Naubinway, went by boat through the locks at Sault Ste. Marie, picniced on Pull-up lake and viewed beautiful Tahquamenon Falls. Sunday evening the group presented a program for the entertainment of guests of the Hiawatha Lodge.

A Tribute Of Reverence . . . .

Every person who has lived on this earth has earned the regard and affection of others.

The funeral service is a fitting tribute for many reasons. To ease the loss for loved ones, and to assure remembrance of the good from a life's work justifies the reverence and dignity expressed.

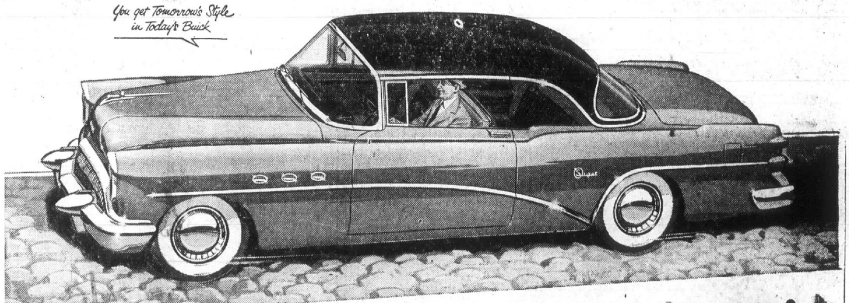
You get Tomorrow's Style in Today's Buick



It's a Million Dollar Ride-and no foolin'

YOU can see for yourself the gay and gorgeous styling that's sure to be the fresh note next year, too.

And you can easily learn that here is power a-plenty—the highest V8 power, Series for Series, in the annals of Buick history.

But what you can never know, till you try it yourself, is the feel of a Buick in motion.

It's a ride as precision-soft and firm as only coiled steel can make it.

Yes, coil springs on all four wheels. And a full-length torque-tube drive for true tracking. And a massive X-braced frame for solid steadiness. And specially calibrated shock absorbers, V-braced struts, wide-rim wheels, a unique front-end geometry—plus a host of other betterments too numerous to mention.

You feel the result of this advanced engineering every mile you drive — in what is literally and figuratively a Million Dollar Ride.

You feel it in the superb and buoyant cradling. You feel it in the serene levelness of your going over ruts and ridges. You feel it in the precise snubbing of jars and jounces. You feel it in a new kind of steadiness, handling ease, curve control.

Only thing for you to do, we believe, is to come try this miracle of motion—and we'll be glad to oblige.

That way you'll also learn firsthand about the style, the power, and the value that have made Buick such a best-selling success this year. For Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

(Smart tip: With Buick such a beautiful buy this year, think what a winner it's bound to be at trade-in time! Come see us this week!)

. . Council Proceedings . .

CITY OF TECUMSEH
COUNCIL MEETING
July 19, 1954

Present: Mayor Hanna, Councilman Bashore, Kelso, Moore, Schwartz, Smith, Titley.

Absent: None.

Meeting opened with the invocation by Rev. Bashore.

Minutes of the meeting held July 7, and the Special Meeting held July 12, 1954 were read and approved.

Motion Schwartz and seconded Smith the bills amounting to $11,742.72 be allowed and orders drawn up for their several amounts. Motion carried unanimously.

Request for approval of a SIM liquor license for Marvin J. Watkins, 145 East Chicago Boulevard, was read.

Motion Kelso and seconded Titley approval be granted. Motion carried unanimously.

The following ordinance was presented.

WHEREAS the continuing experience of the City has been that diverse persons have engaged themselves in the construction of buildings within the corporate limits without first having obtained a permit therefor; and

WHEREAS the result of such action has been that many unsightly buildings have been erected; and, in the case of septic tanks, unsanitary conditions have resulted from improper installation; and

WHEREAS it is, and ought to be, the function of this Council to preserve the health of the inhabitants of this Municipality as well as to reasonably regulate the sightliness of buildings.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED.

Section 7.054: "Effective 16 August 1954 it shall be deemed a misdemeanor to erect, commence to erect, or to excavate for, any building covering an area in excess of 10 square feet without first having obtained from the City Office a permit therefor. Said permit shall be accompanied by a placard to be furnished by the City Office., and the same shall be posted by the owner upon or near the proposed building in a manner to be readily visible from the nearest street or highway."

Motion Smith and seconded Kelso to adopt this ordinance.

ORDINANCE DECLARED ADOPTED.

Attest H. H. Hanna, Mayor
Attest Naomi Sallows, Clerk
Dated; 19 July, 1954.

Motion Bashore seconded Smith the Chief of Staff, of the Herrick Memorial Hospital, be appointed as one member of the Hospital Board. Motion carried unanimously.

The following Resolution and Ordinance was presented:

RESOLUTION AND ORDINANCE

WHEREAS the continuing growth of the population of this city and its consequent demand for housing has resulted in the submission of a number of proposed plats for this city; and

WHEREAS justice and orderly development of the city demand a consistant policy in relation to such sub-division; and

WHEREAS it is not the desire of this city to discourage development but rather to encourage it along sound and proper lines which will offer incentive to subdividers, and yet not penalize the present inhabitants of the city by virtue of excessive taxation.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT ORDAINED:—

1. The definition, terms, procedures, and penalities of the Plat Act, a sequence of Michigan Statutes identified as Act 172 of 1929, as amended, is herein incorporated by reference, and, unless specified to the contrary elsewhere in the recorded official acts of the Tecumseh City Council, shall be the standard by which future plats are considered and processed by this city. Violation thereof shall be deemed a misdemeanor. Effective 16 August 1954.

AND THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

1. In addition to the above enacted definitions, procedures and penalities, there is hereby adopted by this city a sub-division policy which shall become in full force and effect upon the acceptance, by the City, of a proposed plat or sub-division submitted and accepted in accordance with the above procedures This policy is more particularly set forth as follows:

a. Upon the proper preparation of street and alley surfaces in the proposed sub-division, the same to be suitable to the City Engineer, such surfaces will be sealcoated by the City without direct charge to the sub-divider or to the future property owner.

b. Curbing and gutter upon any desired street may be installed at the expense of the sub-divider at a price to be approved by the City. Refund will be made on a 40-60 basis upon receipt of the first full years taxes of a particular lot.

c. The sub-divider will install, at his own expense, att watermains, hydrants necessary for the proper servicing of the sub-division.

d. The sub-divider will install, at his own expense, all necessary sewer mains to adequately service the proposed sub-division. The City may waive the requirements of installation of sewer mains if the Council decides that such will be impractical and inconsistent with its policy. In such an event, the use of septic tanks may be permitted, said use and permission to be wholly with the discretion of the Council; the cost of such septic tanks to be neither directly nor indirectly an expense to the City.

e. Upon development of the sub-division and following the first full year's receipt of taxes by the City of a particular house and lot, the sub-divider shall be entitled to a repayment of $50.00 per water tap, connected by a Consumer to a water main installed by the sub-divider.

f. The sub-divider shall install sidewalks satisfactory to the City Engineer.

RESOLUTION DECLARED ADOPTED.

Attest: Mayor: H. H. Hanna
Attest: Clerk: Naomi Sallows
Dates: 19 day of July 1954

Motion Schwartz and seconded Kelso the Resolution and Ordinance be adopted.

AYES: Hanna, Kelso, Moore, Schwartz Smith, Titley.

NAYES: Bashore.

Motion Smith and seconded Schwartz the compensation for those working on the election board be set at $1.25 per hour plus lunch and dinner. Motion carried unanimously.

Following is the agreement made and entered into with the Jones Hauling Service of Jackson, Michigan.

AGREEMENT

Agreement made and entered into this 19th day of July 1954 by and between the City of Tecumseh, a Municipal Corporation, of Michigan, hereinafter referred to as the City; and Elwin Jones, D/B/A Jones Hauling Service of 806 Everhard Street, Jackson, Michigan; hereinafter referred to as the CONTRACTOR;

WITNESSETH: —

The City agrees to give the CONTRACTOR the exclusive franchise for the pick-up and disposal of garbage and ashes within the corporate limits for a period of 3 years from and after this date.

In consideration of such franchise, the CONTRACTOR agrees to make pick-up from domestic establishments within the CITY twice per week from July 1, 1954 to July, 1957, as per the Ordinances of the CITY pertaining to the collection of garbage, said Ordinances being incorporated herein by reference.

The CONTRACTOR agrees that no charge will be made in excess of $1.25 per month for such service save and except that the CONTRACTOR may make an additional charge of 10c per pick-up when it is necessary to climb or descend stairs and except that said charge of $1.25 per month covers only the first twenty-one gallon can. An additional charge of 75c shall be made for the second and each additional twenty-one gallon can.

The CONTRACTOR agrees that he will, at no time, bill the residents for services to be performed more than 90 days in advance of such billing.

Pick-up schedule and rates on the collection of commercial garbage and ashes shall be as agreed between CONTRACTOR and the particular commercial establishments.

It is understood by the CITY that weather conditions may sometimes prevent a pick-up twice weekly. When such circumstances occur, the CONTRACTOR will make up for such omission by picking up doubly on the following pick-up without additional charge.

Either party may terminate this contract upon 6 months written notice to the other party.

If the contract be terminated, the City may take such steps as it deems proper to establish service through other agencies; and damages occasioned the CITY, and advance payments made by the citizens, shall be repaid the CITY, in proper proportion, by the CONTRACTOR and, in default thereof, the CITY may declare forfeit a certain bond in the penal sum of $1,000.00. Said bond shall, with good and sufficient sureties thereon, be deposited with the Clerk of the City on or before August 1, 1954.

CONTRACTOR shall at all times keep adequate books and records covering the diverse garbage accounts and the same shall be available for inspection by the Officials of the CITY.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties hereto have set their hands on the day and year first above written.

MACON W.S.C.S.

The Macon Women's Society of Christian Service executive board has decided to sponsor a barbeque and ice cream social Thursday, July 29 at the Macon Methodist church. Serving of hot dogs, barbeques, cake and ice cream will start at 5:30 p.m. The Macon Methodist Youth Fellowship will sell homemade candy and topping for the ice cream.

BRIDE-ELECT HONORED

Mrs. Jean Smith of Tecumseh, Mrs. Emogene Mosier and Mrs. Erma Sheward of Macon entertain Wednesday evening at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Joyce Howell. Fifty friends and relatives gathered in the Macon Methodist church dining room which was attractively decorated in pink and white. Two love birds were perched over the gift table. The game of Spicer was played and those winning prizes prescribed them to the bride-elect. Miss Howell opened many lovely gifts which will be useful in her new home in Lyons, Ohio. She will be married in the Macon church Saturday, July 24 at 7:30 p.m. to Kenneth Jones.

Dr. Frank Fitch, recently retired Ann Arbor district superintendent of the Methodist church was guest speaker Sunday at the Macon church.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Spence Sr. have sold their house on the Tecumseh-Macon road to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ries of Tecumseh. The Spences have moved to a farm south of Tecumseh on Wilmouth road, which they recently purchased.

Goodwill Sets Pick-Up Schedules

"Usable discards given to the Goodwill Industries of Detroit have meant rehabilitation to over 20,000 handicapped people since its origin 33 years ago," Mrs. Carl Burch, local Goodwill representative, said today.

Goodwill trucks will be in Tecumseh and nearby Britton on Tuesday, July 27. If you have any old but usable clothing, furniture, toys or small appliances call Mrs. Burch at 868. Britton residents may contact their local representative, William Kuster, by calling 2121.

With school vacations now in effect, Mrs. Burch suggests that housewives sort out the children's school clothing now, saving what can be used next fall and calling Goodwill to pick up items that will be too small or will be discarded.

"It is both time saving and good housekeeping to give discards to Goodwill Industries at this time," Mrs. Burch, said.

It will also insure self-supporting jobs to the hundreds of handicapped who, through no fault of their own, finding it more difficult to find work than others, have found security at Goodwill Industries.

Hunter Heesen, Joyce McIntyre Wed In Detroit

A wedding of interest to his many Tecumseh friends took place in Detroit Saturday evening when Don Hunter Heesen and Joyce McIntyre were married. The wedding occurred at 8 p.m. at the Cadillac Presbyterian church with the Rev. William Boyd performing the double ring ceremony.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin McIntyre of Norwich, Ontario was given in marriage by her father, the ceremony being preceded by Don Ruhl singing "If I Could Tell You" and "The Lord's Prayer" with Mrs. Alma Fleming at the organ.

Miss McIntyre was attended by Miss Evelyn Koury, as maid of honor while Mr. Heesen's cousin, Richard French of Ann Arbor was best man and Donald Brazee and Robert French of Tecumseh were ushers.

White eyelet batiste formed the wedding gown which was ballerina length, made with a fitted bodice and bouffant skirt and trimmed with seed pearls. The short veil was held by a head band of matching batiste and she carried a white prayer book trimmed with a white orchid.

Miss Koury's gown was also ballerina length of aqua embroidered organdy, made with a scoop neckline and full skirt. Her flowers were pink rose buds and carnations carried with a white linen bag and she wore a flower cap.

Both mothers wore linen, two piece dresses, Mrs. McIntrye's of blue with black accessories and a corsage of pink rose buds, Mrs. Heesen's, pink with navy and a corsage of deep pink and white carnations.

A reception in the Riverview room of the Whittier Hotel followed the ceremony during which 60 guests were served a buffet luncheon. A four tiered wedding cake was topped by a wedding bell and lilies of the valley and the tables were decorated with white gladioli and carnations and lighted tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Heesen and several Tecumseh friends attended the ceremony and reception.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a beige suit with a red hat and white shoes, gloves and purse. After a week in northern Michigan Mr. and Mrs. Heesen will live in Tecumseh at 406 Seneca street.

Mrs. Heesen is a graduate of Wayne University College of Nursing and had been employed at Children's Hospital in Detroit.

The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Heesen of 211 S. Union St., Tecumseh is a graduate of the local high school and had spent three years in the navy before he became an employee of the Tecumseh Products Co.

The Silver Lining

WALT NICHOLS IS TRYING to make all of us envious. He writes on the back of a picture post card: "Going has been great since we got out of the heat wave in Iowa. It was 103 in Lincoln, Nebraska. Up here in Glacier Park it's 80 during the day and in the 40's at night. We're heading north into Canada and Lake Louise tomorrow."

WITH TONGUE IN CHEEK: The people people work with are often very queer;
The people people have for kin oft shock your first idear;
The people people choose for friends will oft your sense appall;
But the people people marry are the queerest folk of all.
Probably nobody will admit authorship of this.

THE HIGHEST HONOR FOR JERSEY MEN has come to Lenawee County. Dale Dean, manager of Meadowridge Jersey Farm of Ridgeway, has been awarded the master breeders' award of America. The award was made by the American Jersey Cattle Club for Dean's outstanding record and notable contribution to the advancement of the Jersey breed in America. Dale has been interested in Jersy cows since he was a boy and has had state champions in his native Ohio. He has been herdsman and manager of some of the top Jersey farms in the nation. Congratulations, Dale, for bringing this high honor to your county, your farm and to yourself.

BRITTON NEWS

Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield
Correspondent

METHODISTS HAVE FAMILY NIGHT

Some 100 members and friends of the Methodist Church attended the July family night held Wednesday in the Britton park. A pot-luck supper was enjoyed at 6:30.

After a social hour, the group went to the church where Miss Lena Traver, director of the Methodist Church Bible school gave an inspiring flannelgraph and talk.

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Crutchfield and family of Las Vegas, N. M. were present and showed colored slides of interesting places in New Mexico.

RESUME SERVICES

The Immanuel Lutheran church will resume their worship service and Sunday School, Sunday, July 25. The Ladies Aid of this church plan a family movie night for 8 p.m., July 22.

METHODIST W.S.C.S.

The Britton Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service plan to serve a baked ham supper Friday, July 23, with Mrs. Melva Kanous and Mrs. Virginia Crutchfield as co-chairmen.

ORCAS CLASS

The regular monthly meeting of the Congregational Christian church was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Mae Rixom. Twenty women were present for the pot luck dinner. Afternoon devotions were led by Mrs. Margaret McCarbery. The president, Mrs. Effie Gibson, presided at the business session. Out-of-town guests were present from Long Island, N. Y. Detroit and Adrian. Mrs. Carrie Murphy will be hostess for the next meeting.

FAMILY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. William McWilliams had their 12 children and their families home Sunday. A cooperative dinner was enjoyed at noon by Mr. and Mrs. John McClelland and family of Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Underwood and daughter of Detroit, Arthur McWilliams of Jonesville, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Crutchfield and family of Las Vegas, N. M., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stutesman of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McWilliams and daughters of Onsted, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McWilliams and son of Petersburg, Alice McWilliams of Adrian, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Beach and sons of Palmyra, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prielipp and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Lauren Gall and sons, all of Britton. A group picture of Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams and their children was taken.

Mrs. Sym Watkins and infant son Phillip Edward have returned home from Herrick Memorial hospital.

WUOM Signal Strength Tests To Be Made Here

Engineers of the University of Michigan radio station WUOM-(FM) today began a series of "signal-strength tests" to be made in over 20 cities including Tecumseh throughout southeastern Michigan.

Chief engineer J. J. Swantek who is conducting the tests says the project, designed to measure the strength of WUOM in terms of microvolts-per-meter, is the first to be made since the station officially began broadcasting in 1947. Purpose of the tests is to determine how the station's main transmitter, a 400-foot tower south of Portage Lake, is functioning.

Using a trailer rig with a self-contained generator and a collapsible 20-foot antenna, Swantek and studio engineer Dean Coston will take 10-minute test measurements at a number of random locations within each city.

During the coming week, they will visit the following areas in the approximate order given: Ann Arbor, Pontiac, Grosse Point, Royal Oak, Birmingham Greater Detroit, Wyandotte, Trenton, Monroe, Saline, Milan, Tecumseh, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Portland, Ionia, Owosso, Flint, Saginaw and Bay City.

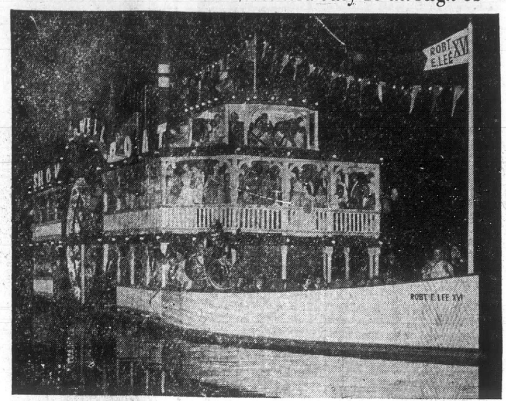
LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Heavener and family returned Tuesday evening from Easton, Pa., where they had spent a week with Mr. Heavener's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Heavener. Mrs. Heavener and baby spent two days at Aberdeen, Maryland, visiting Lt. and Mrs. R. W. Scribner. Mrs. Scribner is the former Martha Welch of Ridgeway. Lt. Scribner is to be sent to Germany in the near future.

Mrs. S. R. Illeck and daughter Susanne of N. Union St. have returned from a ten-day motor trip to Milton, Pa., where they visited Mrs. Illeck's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Weikel. They were accompanied to Milton by Mrs. Illeck's two aunts, Mrs. Florence Garitz and Mrs. Anna Weikel, who had been guests in the Illeck home. Mrs. Illeck's sister-in-law, Mrs. M. Shafer and daughter Irma of Millington, N. J., returned home with her as did a nephew, Richard Illeck for a three week's visit in Tecumseh and Wamplers Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry M. Curry have received word of the birth of a 6 lb. 2 oz. son to Mr. and Mrs. William Curry of Van Nuys, Calif. Mr. Curry is a former resident of Tecumseh.

Lowell Showboat To Be Presented July 26 through 31



The Lowell Showboat, which is in its 22nd year, will be held in Lowell July 26 through 31. This annual feature is held on the banks of the Flat River and is one of the most colorful West Michigan summer events. Showboat is a community project sponsored jointly by the Lowell Board of Trade and the local American Legion post and plays to over 30,000 persons during the six nights each year. This year's show will feature a cast of 195, with six endmen, chorus, band, orchestra and six big time acts from the American and European stage. Orders are now being taken for reserved seat tickets at the Lowell Showboat office, Lowell, Michigan.

Interest In The School System

Interest in the local school system is growing. Last year 29 persons voted in the annual school election. This year 41 persons turned out to re-elect Dwight Hodges and Aden Mead. Figures are not remembered on the number who turned out for the annual meeting last year. This year five persons turned out.

Using just the election figures, it is plain to see that there has been an increased interest in school elections locally, since 12 more persons took the trouble to vote this year. Of course this is written with a "tongue in check".

Although the school system today is a highly complex and costly operation (not only in dollars but, if it is not properly administered, in educational experiences for our children who are future citizens) not many folks take the time to bother with voting and attending school board meetings.

This lack of interest is not peculiar to the local system; it is true all over. There are, of course, exceptions to this so-called rule. When there are hotly-contested issues or contests for board posts more folks turn out. Neither of these factors were present in the election here.

The lack of interest may actually be a left-handed vote of confidence in the school system and in its board of education and administration.

But ideally it would be better for all concerned if more than a corporal's guard turned out for voting and attendance at the annual meeting. A large number of persons also can express confidence.

All of us owe it to the present board and administration to show this more positive confidence in the excellent, although many times thankless, job they are doing.

Give Yourself A Brake

Four men are in the primary race for governor. These men are Owen J. Cleary, Donald S. Leonard, D. Hale Brake and Dr. Eugene S. Keyes. All are Republicans. They are seeking the chance to unseat Gov. Williams, incumbent Democrat, in the Nov. election.

Jack Green of the Associated Press, one of the most competent political writers in the state, says Cleary has a carefully vague program to offer. He is, as Fred M. Alger was in the last election, an Eisenhower shirt tail rider.

Green also reports that there has been little or no interest shown in the Aug. 3 primary so far. He adds that the man with the strongest organization probably will win the nomination. This could mean that Cleary with his secretary of state organization would be the winner.

Don Leonard was a great State Police administrator and he did a fine job as Detroit police director.

Dr. Eugene Keyes is an anti-type of guy who seems to have no constructive program.

This leaves D. Hale Brake. Mr. Brake, for several years a competent and efficient public servant, owns a large farm near Stanton in Moncalm County, A straight thinker and a straight talker, he, it is said "lacks color." This farmer-state treasurer is a public servant. He is not a politician in the fine sense of the word.

Because of his long tenure as a capable, honest and hard-working public servant who has the sincere interest of his state at heart, we think he is the most qualified of the four men seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

And it is hoped that Cleary and Leonard will fight it out to the point that their votes will be "cancelled" and Brake will win the nomination.

Everybody to his or her own choice, but we like D. Hale Brake. In fact we have a slogan for his campaign: "Vote for Brake — Give Michigan a Break."

If he does get the nomination the Nov. election will be most interesting. D. Hale Brake, a man who admits he lacks glamour, will compete against one of the most colorful politicians this state has ever had.

It is sincerely hoped that capability will win out over glamour in this one.

C. A. Staulter Dies Suddenly

Clarence A. Staulter, 65, died suddenly Sunday evening about 6:45 at the home of his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Beardsley in Macon, where he had just arrived to spend the evening.

Mr. Staulter, better known as Jack, was born in Britton, July 16, 1889, the son of August and Mary Burmor Staulter, and had spent his entire life in this community. He was formerly employed as a cigar maker in the Chic cigar factory, later as an automobile salesman and in the local tavern and for a time at the Tecumseh Products Co. For nearly 20 years he managed Staulter's orchestra. He was a member of Chief's Aerie, No. 1563 F.O.E.

Survivors are his wife, Edna; his daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Beardsley; two grandchildren, William and Barbara Beardsley; a sister Mrs. D. D. Durbin of Hyattsville, Maryland and a brother, Sherman Staulter of Britton.

His parents and three sisters preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mr. Staulter were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. Edward Escolme in charge. Burial was in the Ridgeway Cemetery with Clyde Drewyor, Lamont Harrington, Lyman Curtiss, Charles Manley, Eugene Welling and Paul Nobles as bearers.

ATTENDS COURSE

Bill Hayden of Hayden Flour Mills, Tecumseh, was one of 29 hatcherymen, druggists, producer, and feed dealers who completed a 4-day poultry short course in poultry diseases and management at Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories, Charles City, Iowa. He received a certificate at the conclusion of the course signifying his satisfactory completion of the poultry short course last week.

Practical instruction was received by him and other students on poultry diseases and flock management problems from professionally trained staff members of Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories.

Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories conducts frequent courses of this kind for giving dealers practical instruction which will be of value to them in serving the poultry raisers of their communities.

4-H DAIRY TOUR

Lenawee County 4-H Dairy Tour will be held Thursday, July 22. There will be stops at three farms keeping the following breeds: Holstein, Guesnsey, and Jerseys.

The tour will be directed by James W. Pelham, 4-H Club Agent and Clayton C. Ingerson, Assistant County Agricultural Agent. Nevels Pearson, Assistant State 4-H Club Leader, will conduct a judging school at each stop and comment on feeding and management practices.

There will be a picnic lunch at noon followed by a softball game. The 4-H members scoring highest in judging will be selected for further instructions, after which the five best members will be selected to compete in State eliminations August 16 and 17 at Michigan State College.

The tour stops will be announced later.

George Reports Fog, Frustration And No Eclipse

Fog and frustration were vacation companions of George Adamson on his trip to the northern tip of Michigan's upper peninsula. He and Mrs. Adamson traveled the 650 miles to Eagle Harbor in the hope of studying and photographing the solar eclipse of June 30, only to have almost the entire show blotted out by a dense fog. To make it more irritating, sunrises before and after were crystal clear.

Mr. Adamson, along with nearly a 1000 other scientists and astronomers and another 2000 garden-variety observers had hoped to get color photographs of the corona of the eclipse, of the phenomonon known as Bailey's Beads and of the "prominences," the display of hydrogen flames about the sun.

Instead, the only evidences visible through the fog were what are known as the "shadow bands," rays of shadow which are probably due to refraction.

The total eclipse which, in that region, was of 80 seconds duration at about 6 a.m., was manifest by the complete darkness. Mr. Adamson stated that for some time he was not able to read his watch without a flashlight.

Thousands of dollars of equipment was ready to register the important data by scientists at that supposedly strategic spot and Mr. Adamson found a slight compensation in observing through a powerful telescope the planet Mars which is now unusually close to earth.

The Adamsons returned Friday after spending two weeks in the upper peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Oakes liked the house. A neat, three-bedroom home in the price range they wanted. Yet he hesitated to buy it.

"I hate to take the gamble of buying this house, although it looks like a good value," he said. "Suppose I put down $1,000 earnest money. Then later I learn that I can't get the size loan I need to complete the purchase. My $1,000 would be forfeited."

"No, Mr. Oakes," I said. "We protect the buyer as well as the seller in our earnest money contracts. Your offer to buy would be made subject to your ability to obtain a specified size loan. The seller will agree to this provision if the loan amount is reasonable."

Mr. Oakes beamed. "That's good," he said. "I wouldn't mind agreeing to buy with the understanding that I'm not obligated if I can't get the proper loan."

The Oakes made a deposit. The loan was approved. They like the home they bought.

Remember, while we represent the seller as sales agent, we try to protect the buyer too. We believe that a good honest transaction benefits everyone.

CONTEST JUDGES SELECTED

LADIES AUX. TO V.F.W. WILL ANNOUNCE HIGH SCHOOL ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS AUGUST 3RD

The names of three national civic leaders have been announced as the national judges for the 1953-54 Nineteenth Annual Essay Contest for High School Students sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the V.F.W. They are: Chairman, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, The Boy Scouts of America; Mrs. Katherine G. Howard, Deputy Administrator, Federal Civil Defense Admin.; and Dr. Harold S. Vincent, Supt. of Schools, Milwaukee, Wisc. In announcing their acceptances, Mrs. Ellie H. Schill, Nat'l Aux. Pres. said: "We are very proud to have these leaders in civic responsibility for youth, government and education accept this task because our contest title was 'Build Through Citizenship.'"

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck (Chairman)

Mrs. Katherine G. Howard

Dr. Harold S. Vincent

"The winners of the national contest, who will receive cash awards totaling $2,000 with a first prize of $1,000 and a gold medal, will be announced at the V.F.W. and its Ladies Auxiliary's National Encampment in Philadelphia, Pa. on Aug. 3rd, 1954."

The marked increase of participation in this contest (by many thousands of high school students in the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Philippines) is credited to student interest in the contest subject and to the various scholarships, medals and cash awards made by the local and state V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliaries in addition to the national awards to be given for the 1953-54 Ladies Aux. V.F.W. Nineteenth Annual National High School Essay Contest.

Methodist District Seminar Attended By 200 Thursday

The Ann Arbor District Seminar of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, held in Tecumseh last Thursday, was an outstanding success. It was the largest gathering of its kind ever held in this district, being attended by more than 200 women from the area.

Fourteen district officers were present including Mrs. Louise Canfield of Northville, president; Mrs. Lloyd Harr of Munith, vice president; Mrs. Ben VanderBelt of Ypsilanti, recording secretary; Mrs. David Mellott of Morenci, treasurer; Mrs. William Phalen of Plymouth, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. Lawrence Marvin of Brighton, promotion; Mrs. Clifford Schreiner of Ypsilanti, church social relations and local church activities; Mrs. Elmer Ellison of Adrian, spiritual life; Mrs. William Musiolff of Dansville, literature and publicity; Mrs. Robert Hallowell of Milan, supplies; Mrs. J. C. Huston of Ann Arbor, student work; Mrs. Hamilton Moore of Britton, children's work; Mrs. Cleveland Roe of Belleville, status of women; Mrs. C. S. Ritchie of Adrian, Wesleyan Guild; Mrs. Edward Kanous of Britton, chairman of nominating committee.

Representatives were also present from the societies of Azalia, Blissfield, Dixboro, Dundee, Hudson, Petersburg, Springville, Saline, Samaria, Wellsville, Willis, Ridgeway, Clinton, Clayton, Cone, Rau, Monroe, Manchester, London, Macon, Garden City, Deerfield and Dexter.

The visitors were welcomed by the president of the Tecumseh society, Mrs. Robert Bonner, and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Carlos Jones, after which the group was led in the singing of two hymns with Mrs. Herbert Dillon at the organ. A model installation service was then conducted by Mrs. Canfield.

Training classes were next organized in the various Sunday school rooms with assembly at 11:30 for three addresses. These were, "What Is Other Helpful Literature" by Mrs. Musiolff; "Jesus' Teaching Concerning Women" by Mrs. Ellison and "You Were There" by Mrs. Harr.

Mrs. Walter Beck had charge of the arrangements for the the luncheon served by the local society in the church dining room to the more than 200 present. Mrs. Paul Hadsell was chairman of tickets for the luncheon and Mrs. Luther Wood of programs. Summer flower arrangements decorated the tables and the place mats were Christian puzzle mats.

Mrs. W. G. Waldron was at the piano for the singing of hymns which opened the afternoon session. Lyle Harper, summer student pastor led in prayer and Mrs. Canfield made several announcements after which the registrar, Mrs. Van DenBell, gave her report.

The highlight of the afternoon was a play based on the personification of the four study books of the society and entitled "Trial of the Unwanted". Those taking the parts of the books were Mrs. Schreiner, Mrs. Melott. Mrs. Roé, and Mrs. Phalen. Those taking other parts were Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Misiolff and Mrs. Hallowell.

Closing devotions were given by Mr. Harper. The collection taken at this session will be sent, after expenses are deducted, to Margaret John, missionary at Madas Tuberculosis Sanitarium in Shahjanpur, India.

ILLINOIS REUNION ATTENDED BY 65

In spite of the rain on Sunday, 65 former residents of the state of Illinois gathered at the recreation grounds in Britton for their 26th annual reunion. Because of that rain, however, they adjourned to the basement of the Congregational church for the noon potluck dinner, which featured fried chicken.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Luther Wood, Tecumseh; vice president, Dale Utterback, Dearborn; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Luther Wood and historian, Mrs. George Forsyth of Britton.

The afternoon was spent socially, members coming from Dearborn, Detroit, Jackson, Walled Lake, Adrian, Britton, Ridgeway and Tecumseh.

Interest In The School System

Interest in the local school system is growing. Last year 29 persons voted in the annual school election. This year 41 persons turned out to re-elect Dwight Hodges and Aden Mead. Figures are not remembered on the number who turned out for the annual meeting last year. This year five persons turned out.

Using just the election figures, it is plain to see that there has been an increased interest in school elections locally, since 12 more persons took the trouble to vote this year. Of course this is written with a "tongue in check".

Although the school system today is a highly complex and costly operation (not only in dollars but, if it is not properly administered, in educational experiences for our children who are future citizens) not many folks take the time to bother with voting and attending school board meetings.

This lack of interest is not peculiar to the local system; it is true all over. There are, of course, exceptions to this so-called rule. When there are hotly-contested issues or contests for board posts more folks turn out. Neither of these factors were present in the election here.

The lack of interest may actually be a left-handed vote of confidence in the school system and in its board of education and administration.

But ideally it would be better for all concerned if more than a corporal's guard turned out for voting and attendance at the annual meeting. A large number of persons also can express confidence.

All of us owe it to the present board and administration to show this more positive confidence in the excellent, although many-times thankless, job they are doing.

Give Yourself A Brake

Four men are in the primary race for governor. These men are Owen J. Cleary, Donald S. Leonard, D. Hale Brake and Dr. Eugene S. Keyes. All are Republicans. They are seeking the chance to unseat Gov. Williams, incumbent Democrat, in the Nov. election.

Jack Green of the Associated Press, one of the most competent political writers in the state, says Cleary has a carefully vague program to offer. He is, as Fred M. Alger was in the last election, an Eisenhower shirt tail rider.

Green also reports that there has been little or no interest shown in the Aug. 3 primary so far. He adds that the man with the strongest organization probably will win the nomination. This could mean that Cleary with his secretary of state organization would be the winner.

Don Leonard was a great State Police administrator and he did a fine job as Detroit police director.

Dr. Eugene Keyes is an anti-type of guy who seems to have no constructive program.

This leaves D. Hale Brake. Mr. Brake, for several years a competent and efficient public servant, owns a large farm near Stanton in Moncalm County, A straight thinker and a straight talker, he, it is said "lacks color." This farmer-state treasurer is a public servant. He is not a politician in the fine sense of the word.

Because of his long tenure as a capable, honest and hard-working public servant who has the sincere interest of his state at heart, we think he is the most qualified of the four men seeking the Republican nomination for governor.

And it is hoped that Cleary and Leonard will fight it out to the point that their votes will be "cancelled" and Brake will win the nomination.

Everybody to his or her own choice, but we like D. Hale Brake. In fact we have a slogan for his campaign: "Vote for Brake — Give Michigan a Break."

If he does get the nomination the Nov. election will be most interesting. D. Hale Brake, a man who admits he lacks glamour, will compete against one of the most colorful politicians this state has ever had.

It is sincerely hoped that capability will win out over glamour in this one.

C. A. Staulter Dies Suddenly

Clarence A. Staulter, 65, died suddenly Sunday evening about 6:45 at the home of his daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Beardsley in Macon, where he had just arrived to spend the evening.

Mr. Staulter, better known as Jack, was born in Britton, July 16, 1889, the son of August and Mary Burnor Staulter, and had spent his entire life in this community. He was formerly employed as a cigar maker in the Chic cigar factory, later as an automobile salesman and in the local tavern and for a time at the Tecumseh Products Co. For nearly 20 years he managed Staulter's orchestra. He was a member of Chief's Aerie, No. 1663 F.O.E.

Survivors are his wife, Edna; his daughter, Mrs. Gertrude Beardsley; two grandchildren, William and Barbara Beardsley; a sister Mrs. D. D. Durbin of Hyattsville, Maryland and a brother, Sherman Staulter of Britton.

His parents and three sisters preceded him in death.

Funeral services for Mr. Staulter were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Collins Funeral Home with the Rev. Edward Escolme in charge. Burial was in the Ridgeway Cemetery with Clyde Drewyor, Lamont Harrington, Lyman Curtiss, Charles Manley, Eugene Welling and Paul Nobles as bearers.

ATTENDS COURSE

Bill Hayden of Hayden Flour Mills, Tecumseh, was one of 29 hatcherymen, druggists, producre, and feed dealers who completed a 4-day poultry short course in poultry diseases and management at Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories, Charles City, Iowa. He received a certificate at the conclusion of the course signifying his satisfactory completion of the poultry short course last week.

Practical instruction was received by him and other students on poultry diseases and flock management problems from professionally trained staff members of Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories.

Dr. Salsbury's Laboratories conducts frequent courses of this kind for giving dealers practical instruction which will be of value to them in serving the poultry raisers of their communities.

4-H DAIRY TOUR

Lenawee County 4-H Dairy Tour will be held Thursday, July 22. There will be stops at three farms keeping the following breeds: Holstein. Guesnsey, and Jerseys.

The tour will be directed by James W. Pelham, 4-H Club Agent and Clayton C. Ingerson, Assistant County Agricultural Agent. Nevels Pearson, Assistant State 4-H Club Leader, will conduct a judging school at each stop and comment on feeding and management practices.

There will be a picnic lunch at noon followed by a softball game. The 4-H members scoring highest in judging will be selected for further instructions, after which the five best members will be selected to compete in State eliminations August 16 and 17 at Michigan State College.

The tour stops will be announced later.

George Reports Fog, Frustration And No Eclipse

Fog and frustration were vacation companions of George Adamson on his trip to the northern tip of Michigan's upper peninsula. He and Mrs. Adamson traveled the 650 miles to Eagle Harbor in the hope of studying and photographing the solar eclipse of June 30, only to have almost the entire show blotted out by a dense fog. To make it more irritating, sunrises before and after were crystal clear.

Mr. Adamson, along with nearly a 1000 other scientists and astronomers and another 2000 garden-variety observers, had hoped to get color photographs of the corona of the eclipse, of the phenomonon known as Bailey's Beads and of the "prominences," the display of hydrogen flames about the sun.

Instead, the only evidences visible through the fog were what are known as the "shadow bands," rays of shadow which are probably due to refraction.

The total eclipse, which, in that region, was of 80 seconds duration at about 6 a.m., was manifest by the complete darkness. Mr. Adamson stated that for some time he was not able to read his watch without a flashlight.

Thousands of dollars of equipment was ready to register the important data by scientists at that supposedly strategic spot and Mr. Adamson found a slight compensation in observing through a powerful telescope the planet Mars which is now unusually close to earth.

Realty Views

Mr. and Mrs. Oakes liked the house. A neat, three-bedroom home in the price range they wanted. Yet he hesitated to buy it.

"I hate to take the gamble of buying this house, although it looks like a good value," he said. "Suppose I put down $1,000 earnest money. Then later I learn that I can't get the size loan I need to complete the purchase. My $1,000 would be forfeited."

"No, Mr. Oakes," I said. "We protect the buyer as well as the seller in our earnest money contracts. Your offer to buy would be made subject to your ability to obtain a specified size loan. The seller will agree to this provision if the loan amount is reasonable."

Mr. Oakes beamed. "That's good," he said. "I wouldn't mind agreeing to buy with the understanding that I'm not obligated if I can't get the proper loan."

The Oakes made a deposit. The loan was approved. They like the home they bought.

Remember, while we represent the seller as sales agent, we try to protect the buyer too. We believe that a good honest transaction benefits everyone.

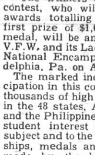
CONTEST JUDGES SELECTED

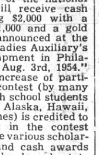
LADIES AUX. TO V.F.W. WILL ANNOUNCE HIGH SCHOOL ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS AUGUST 3RD

The names of three national civic leaders have been announced as the national judges for the 1953-54 Nineteenth Annual Essay Contest for High School Students sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary to the V.F.W. They are: Chairman, Dr. Arthur A. Schuck, Chief Scout Executive, The Boy Scouts of America; Mrs. Katherine G. Howard, Deputy Administrator, Federal Civil Defense Admin.; and Dr. Harold S. Vincent, Supt. of Schools, Milwaukee, Wisc. In announcing their acceptances, Mrs. Ellie H. Schill, Nat'l. Aux. Pres. said: "We are very proud to have these leaders in civic responsibility for youth, government and education accept this task because our contest title was 'Build Through Citizenship.'"

Dr. Arthur A. Schuck (Chairman)



Mrs. Katherine G. Howard



Dr. Harold S. Vincent

"The winners of the national contest, who will receive cash awards totalling $2,000 with a first prize of $1,000 and a gold medal, will be announced at the V.F.W. and its Ladies Auxiliary's National Encampment in Philadelphia, Pa. on Aug. 3rd, 1954."

The marked increase of participation in this contest (by many thousands of high school students in the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and the Philippines) is credited to student interest in the contest subject and to the various scholarships, medals and cash awards made by the local and state V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliaries in addition to the national awards to be given for the 1953-54 Ladies Aux. V.F.W. Nineteenth Annual National High School Essay Contest.

Methodist District Seminar Attended By 200 Thursday

The Ann Arbor District Seminar of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, held in Tecumseh last Thursday, was an outstanding success. It was the largest gathering of its kind ever held in this district, being attended by more than 200 women from the area.

Fourteen district officers were present including Mrs. Louise Canfield of Northville, president; Mrs. Lloyd Harr of Munith, vice president; Mrs. Ben VanderBelt of Ypsilanti, recording secretary; Mrs. David Mellott of Morenci, treasurer; Mrs. William Phalen of Plymouth, secretary of missionary education; Mrs. Lawrence Marvin of Brighton, promotion; Mrs. Clifford Schreiner of Ypsilanti, church social relations and local church activities; Mrs. Elmer Ellison of Adrian, spiritual life; Mrs. William Musiolff of Dansville, literature and publicity; Mrs. Robert Hallowell of Milan, supplies; Mrs. J. C. Huston of Ann Arbor, student work; Mrs. Hamilton Moore of Britton, children's work; Mrs. Cleveland Roe of Bellville, status of women; Mrs. C. S. Ritchie of Adrian, Wesleyan Guild; Mrs. Edward Kanous of Britton, chairman of nominating committee.

Representatives were also present from the societies of Azalia, Blissfield, Dixboro, Dundee, Hudson, Petersburg, Springville, Saline, Samaria, Wellsville, Willis, Ridgeway, Clinton, Clayton, Cone, Rae, Monroe, Manchester, London, Macon, Garden City, Deerfield and Dexter.

The visitors were welcomed by the president of the Tecumseh society, Mrs. Robert Bonner, and devotions were conducted by Mrs. Carlos Jones, after which the group was led in the singing of two hymns with Mrs. Herbert Dillon at the organ. A model installation service was then conducted by Mrs. Canfield.

Training classes were next organized in the various Sunday school rooms with assembly at 11:30 for three addresses. These were, "What Is Other Helpful Literature" by Mrs. Musiolff; "Jesus' Teaching Concerning Women" by Mrs. Ellison and "You Were There" by Mrs. Harr.

Mrs. Walter Beck had charge of the arrangements for the the luncheon served by the local society in the church dining room to the more than 200 present. Mrs. Paul Hadsell was chairman of tickets for the luncheon and Mrs. Luther Wood of programs. Summer flower arrangements decorated the tables and the place mats were Christian puzzle mats.

Mrs. W. G. Waldron was at the piano for the singing of hymns which opened the afternoon session. Lyle Harper, summer student pastor led in prayer and Mrs. Canfield made several announcements after which the registrar, Mrs. Van DenBell, gave her report.

The highlight of the afternoon was a play based on the personification of the four study books of the society and entitled "Trial of the Unwanted". Those taking the parts of the books were Mrs. Schreiner, Mrs. Melott, Mrs. Roe, and Mrs. Phalen. Those taking other parts were Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Huston, Mrs. Misiolff and Mrs. Hallowell.

Closing devotions were given by Mr. Harper. The collection taken at this session will be sent, after expenses are deducted, to Margaret John, missionary at Madas Tuberculosis Sanitarium in Shahjanpur, India.

ILLINOIS REUNION ATTENDED BY 65

In spite of the rain on Sunday, 65 former residents of the state of Illinois gathered at the recreation grounds in Britton for their 26th annual reunion. Because of that rain, however, they adjourned to the basement of the Congregational church for the noon potluck dinner, which featured fried chicken.

Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, Luther Wood, Tecumseh; vice president, Dale Utterback, Dearborn; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Luther Wood and historian, Mrs. George Forsyth of Britton.

The afternoon was spent socially, members coming from Dearborn, Detroit, Jackson, Walled Lake, Adrian, Britton, Ridgeway and Tecumseh.

"Everybody Wins"

Rules and Regulations

1. Any reputable resident of this city or surrounding territory is eligible to enter the contest and compete for prizes and receive weekly commission checks.

2. No salaried office employee of this newspaper is eligible to enter contest. This does not apply to country correspondents.

3. Winners of main prizes will be determined by (a) their earned votes, said votes being represented by ballots issued for bona fide new and renewal subscriptions, and (b) free coupons clipped from this newspaper—said coupons to be printed in this and our next three issues in denomination of 100 votes each this and next week; 50 votes each the third week, 10 votes each the fourth week and then discontinued. No more than ten coupons of each denomination will be credited to any one contestant.

4. Participants in this subscription drive are not confined to their own town or community in which to secure new or renewal subscriptions, but may take orders anywhere in this section; or, for that matter, anywhere else.

5. Votes are issued free. It costs the subscriber nothing extra to cast their votes for any contestant. Votes must be asked for at the time of paying subscription, however, otherwise subscriber waives this privilege.

6. Votes once issued are not transferable. Contestants cannot pool their votes in favor of another contestant. Should a contestant withdraw from the race, his or her accumulated votes will be cancelled.

7. Any dishonesty or collusion on the part of contestants to nullify competition, or any other combination formed to the detriment of other participants or this newspaper will not be tolerated.

8. Exact vote standing of each contestant will be published in this newspaper in proportion to earned votes; however, votes issued in the form of ballots, or special votes therefor, may be held in reserve by contestant only insofar as it does not affect position in published standing. The free vote coupons, clipped from this newspaper, must be cast within one week of publication.

9. In event of a tie for any one of the prizes offered, an award of identical value will be given each tying contestant.

10. Participants in this drive are authorized to accept new and renewal subscriptions and give temporary receipts for same (official receipts will be sent direct from this office) but it is understood and agreed that they will be responsible for all money collected and will remit such amounts in full to the contest department on regular report days.

11. No statements or promise made by any representative or participant varying from the rules and regulations appearing in the columns of this newspaper will be recognized by the publisher.

12. In case of typographical or other error it is understood that neither the publisher nor contest manager shall be held responsible except to make necessary correction upon discovery of same.

13. All active participants will be paid twenty percent cash commission ($1 out of $5) of their individual subscription collections each week as it accrues. It is to be understood, however, that in the event any contestant becomes inactive (failing to make weekly reports) his or her name will be removed from the published list of contestants until such time as participant again becomes active.

14. It is understood and agreed that the winners of first and second prizes will consider their weekly pay checks in the light of an "advance," which are returnable upon presentation of prize—thus obviating double compensation. This does not apply to third, fourth, fifth and sixth bonus check winners.

15. To insure absolute fairness in the awarding of prizes, the race will be brought to a close with a sealed ballot box. During the entire last "period" of the drive, a ballot box—locked and officially sealed—will be placed in the vaults of a local bank, where contestants themselves may deposit their final collections and reserve votes in utmost secrecy. In this way no one—not even the publisher or contest manager—can possibly know the actual strength of the various participants, which precludes any possibility of favoritism and insures fairness to the minutest degree.

16. Twenty-five thousand extra votes will be given contestants for each 5-year subscription (or extension from previous contest subscription payment to 5-years) turned in by them during their first week in contest, and during third week of the drive half as many special extra votes will be issued on same basis.

17. Any subscription once turned in can be extended during either first or second "period" by making extension payment, and remainder of votes will be issued thereon same as if full amount had been paid at the very beginning.

18. Any contestant who earns as much as $50 in commissions during their first week of the drive, will receive an extra bonus of $25 cash in addition to regular commissions earned or any other special prize won.

19. Ten thousand free "report day" votes will be given participants making a subscription report on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays during drive.

20. This newspaper guarantees fair and impartial treatment to all participants, but should any question arise, the decision of the Advisory Board will be absolute and final.

21. In becoming a member of this "Everybody Wins" prize subscription drive contestants agree to abide by above condition.

"Everybody Wins"

Plan In Brief

The object of this big "Everybody Wins" prize contest is three-fold. Primarily, to increase the already large subscription list of this newspaper, to collect advance subscription payments from present readers, and at the same time afford local wide-awake, energetic men and women (married or single) and young people of this trade territory an opportunity to profit in a BIG way through whatever spare time they might have during the next few weeks. So, it is a plan that works both ways, and to the ultimate good of all concerned.

In order to gain this end quickly and effectively, the most attractive and altogether desirable awards ever offered by any newspaper in this section have been made ready for distribution among those who participate most actively. Ambition and energy are the only requisites for success.

Let it be understood at the very outset that this is not a "lucky drawing" nor something-for-nothing affair, but a strictly legitimate competitive proposition for enterprising men and women, and one in which all active contestants will receive a liberal commission check each Monday morning covering results obtained by them during the past week, while striving to win one of the major awards. An outstanding feature of this big contest is the fact that "Everybody Wins." There will be no losers in this race.

How To Enter—What To Do

The first thing to do is to clip the Entry Coupon appearing on the opposite side of this page, fill in your name and address and mail or deliver in person to contest department at once. This coupon starts you in race with 5000 FREE votes; and, by using the Early Effort coupon appearing on front page of this issue with your first subscription (this coupon good ONLY during first week of contest!) you would then be entitled to an extra 100,000 PREMIUM votes for taking IMMEDIATE action—all of which speeds you on your way to win. Only ONE such Entry Coupon and Early Effort Coupon will be accepted for each participant.

The next step is to obtain from contest department one of the little special receipt books, printed for the purpose, partial list of present subscribers showing expiration dates, etc. Thus equipped, you have but to see your friends, neighbors, relatives and acquaintances and ask them to subscribe to this newspaper through you. Just remember this: Anything worth having is worth striving for. Six and a half short weeks and you may be riding in YOUR OWN big automobile for a long, long time to come, or otherwise several hundred dollars richer in purse as the result of a little well directed effort NOW!

Then, too, as more fully outlined below, this newspaper offers "early starters" substantial special cash prizes for substantial results during the very first week of this contest, the small requirements necessary to qualify as a winner being easily attainable and well worth the little extra effort it requires. Try it and see!

How To Win The Big Prizes

It takes votes to win the big prizes, and they are secured in the following ways: First by clipping the free vote coupon appearing in this newspaper. Begin gathering them NOW while they are good for 100 votes each. After next week these coupons will be reduced to 50 votes each; the following week to only 10 votes each, and after that they will be discontinued entirely. Only ten coupons of each denomination will be credited to any one contestant and they must be cast within one week after publication.

Another, and much faster way, to accumulate votes in our "Everybody Wins" prize contest is by securing new and renewal subscriptions to this newspaper. Votes are issued on each subscription secured, the number varying according to amount paid and during which "period" same are received at the contest department. SEE SCHEDULE OF VOTES BELOW.

Early Start Means Easy Finish

The advantages of an early start are manifest. This "Everybody Wins" prize contest is of such short duration that immediate action is necessary for greater success. Subscriptions taken during the early part of drive not only carry the MAXIMUM number of votes, but "early starters" who are first in field will undoubtedly get the "cream" of new and renewal subscriptions, while those who put off starting until a later date will of course have to take what is left.

Don't lose valuable time "waiting to see what the other fellow is going to do" but get into the game today, without delay, and show the "other fellow" how to do it!

No. 22 Double schedule of votes granted on new subscriptions during first two periods.

HERE'S HOW WINNING VOTES ARE OBTAINED

Double Votes During First Two Periods Of Contest

SCHEDULE OF VOTES AND SUBSCRIPTION RATES OF --- THE TECUMSEH HERALD

FIRST PERIOD	SECOND PERIOD	THIRD PERIOD
During the first 3½ weeks the following number of votes will be issued on subscriptions: (Ending August 21st)	During the next two weeks the following votes will be issued on subscriptions: (Ending September 4th)	During the last week the following votes will be issued on subscriptions: (Ending September 11th)
1 Year $ 2.50 3,000	1 Year $ 2.50 2,000	1 Year $ 2.50 1,500
2 Years $ 5.00 8,000	2 Years $ 5.00 6,000	2 Years $ 5.00 4,000
5 Years $10.00 25,000	5 Years $10.00 20,000	5 Years $10.00 15,000

The above schedule of votes which is on a diminishing scale, positively will not be changed during the contest. However, a special ballot, good for 50,000 EXTRA votes will be issued on every "club" of $20 turned in. This arrangement will be in effect throughout the entire drive, and is to be considered a part of the regular schedule. No votes will be issued on subscriptions for less than one year, nor for more than five years in advance from any participant. Above rates apply only to Lenawee County and for service personnel anywhere in the world. Add $1.00 per year to above rates for subscriptions outside Lenawee County.

Advisory Board--

It is the sincere aim of this newspaper to conduct this campaign from start to finish in a fair, honorable and impartial manner. Every precaution has been taken to safeguard the interests of participants, and absolute honesty in all dealing is guaranteed.

However, not all wisdom lies with any one man or institution, and for that reason an Advisory Board has been decided upon, whose functions shall be to decide any question of sufficient moment that might happen to arise, and from which a committee shall be selected to act as judges and award the prizes.

H. H. Hanna, Mayor of Tecumseh
Robert Wallace, President of Britton
W. C. Waldron, Tecumseh Township Supervisor
Mills Swick, Macon Township Supervisor
Herman Tilley, Franklin Township, Supervisor & Chairman of Lenawee County Board of Supervisors
Russ Cyrno, Chairman Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce
Neville Hart, Tecumseh High School Principal
John Thompson, Vice-President United Savings Bank
The Rev. Edward Escolme, Pastor Friends Church

All of these gentlemen are well known to everyone in this vicinity and the final results as given out by them, will be beyond dispute.

Reservations for Homemakers Conference at Michigan State College, July 20 to 24, have been coming in. Several women are planning to attend full time, others are planning to attend one day.

Bus reservations are being made for Wednesday, July 21. If you do not have your reservations made to go with the group on the bus, please do so at once.

The members registering in advance for one day will have everything checked so that they will have their identification tags from the college and program ready for them as soon as the bus arrives at the auditorium. No waiting or standing in line to get to their class.

The special class for one day visitors will be "The Private Worlds in Which We Live." This will be presented on Wednesday and Thursday in Fairchild Theatre. Dr. L. A. Haak, Associate Director of the Michigan Communications Study, will be in charge.

The ladies driving in private cars will take care of their own registration in the front lobby of the Auditorium upon arrival on the M.S.C. Campus. Here you will receive the necessary materials and admission badge.

The speakers and choice of classes on all days this year, are especially fine. For more detailed information, call the Lenawee County Extension Office, 167 Ad-

Wednesday, July 7, a joint meeting of the Home Economics Executive Council and the newly elected district representatives, was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Delker, county chairman.

Plans for Homemakers Conference at Michigan State College, July 20 to 24, were made.

Plans for the Lenawee County Family Picnic were discussed by the County Recreation Chairman, Mrs. Harold Broderick. The picnic committee includes Mrs. Cleo Burger, Mrs. Ernest Rouget, Mrs. Albert Smith, Mrs. Don Gust, and Mrs. Robert Delker. The All Family Picnic promises to be the best. Don't forget the date, Wednesday, July 28, at Island Park. Come and bring your family for lots of fun.

The preliminary information regarding the Lenawee County Homemakers Camp which will be held August 18 to 21, at 4-H Camp Palmer was presented. This material is being sent to each Home Economics Extension Club member. An exceptionally fine program is planned for you all.

Plans for Exhibits at the County Fair, September 19 to 25, were discussed. Mrs. E. Dudley and Mrs. John Marvin were appointed co-chairmen. Members of their committee will be listed later.

Plans for Officers Training and Rally Day, September 14, were discussed.

All local Clubs in Lenawee County have sent in the names and addresses of each of their Club officers.

These officers along with the new officers of the Home Economics Extension Council will take office after installation on September 14. Information will be sent directly to the newly elected officers.

Election of County Officers took place on July 7. The new and old members of the County Executive Council held an election. The County Chairman in each county in Michigan is a voting delegate at Homemakers Conference, Michigan State College. Special meetings are held on Campus where all county chairmen are briefed in Home Demonstration work.

At this meeting the following officers were elected for 1954-55.

Pet Show Set For This Friday

Boys and girls are invited to bring their pets to the Pet Show to be held Friday afternoon, July 30, at two p.m. at Central School building.

Prize ribbons will be awarded in the following categories: the smallest pet, the most unusual pet, the best trained pet, the prettiest pet, the oldest pet, the prettiest dog, the prettiest cat, the prettiest bird, and the prettiest rabbit.

Lester Runk, director of the recreation program, listed the following qualifications: all animals shown must be of a domestic nature; all pets must be on a leash or in an enclosure; each animal must have a tag with the owner's name and the category to be entered; and each pet may be entered in one category only.

Here's your chance to show off your pets, kids, Coach Runk points out and have an afternoon of fun with your friends.

Legion Drill Team Takes Second In State Contest

Competing with a field of five teams from all over Michigan the drill team of Underwood-Orr Post No. 34 of Tecumseh placed second in the competition at the State Convention of the American Legion in Grand Rapids last weekend.

Under the direction of Drill Master Harold Anderson, Jr., the Tecumseh team consists of Richard Henkel, Leroy Baker, Duane Murphy, Richard Colson, Donald Van Camp, Douglas Tate, Roger Williams, Dennis Gollar, Dermont Poley, Donald Woods, Donald Mayes, Richard Purkey, David Vanderpool, Lawrence Cote, Herbert Cleveland and Almond Curtis.

While there was no competition for the drill teams of the Legion Auxiliaries this year, an exhibition of the skill of the ladies of the local team and that of a team from Brooklyn was staged.

The 13 members of the Tecumseh Auxiliary group whose drill master is Robert Custard are Mrs. Ned Rosacrans, Mrs. Frank Daehne, Mrs. John Snyder, Mrs. Donald Woods, Mrs. Otto Baaske, Mrs. Warren Peck, Mrs. James Dick, Mrs. Richard Sherman, Mrs. Bart Aiuto, Mrs. Richard Eggleston, Mrs. Wallace MacGeorge and Mrs. Robert Custard.

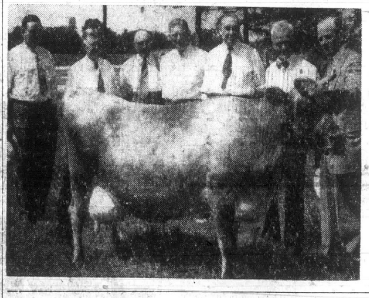
Delegates from the Auxiliary were Mrs. Donald Woods, Mrs. Charles Howe and Mrs. Joe Russell. Also attending for all or part of the sessions were Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bowen, Mrs. Schneider and Harold Easton.

DISTINGUISHED VISITORS—Men from the Isle of Jersey, famous as the home of Jersey cattle, Saturday visited the top Jersey farm in the United States, Meadowridge Jersey Farm, at Ridgeway and they talked shop with Dale Dean, manager of the farm and leading Jersey breeder in the nation.

The men previously had attended the World Jersey Bureau Conferences held at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ontario. They were flown to Tecumseh from Niagara Falls, N.Y., in the Tresco plane with Capt. Paul Eddy at the controls. Host for the day here was Curtis M. Brown, President of Tresco, Inc., and owner of Meadowridge Jersey Farm.

Shown at the airport right after the party arrived here are H. H. Hanna, mayor of Tecumseh; James Cavanaugh, assistant secretary of the American Jersey Cattle Club; Sir Alexander Coutanche, bailiff of the Island of Jersey; Edward C. Boss, business manager of Tresco, Inc. (don't let the beret fool you); T. Leq. Blampied, State's veterinary officer; Dr. Earl Weaver, head of dairying, Michigan State College; Curtis M. Brown, President of Tresco, Inc. and principal and owner of Meadowridge Jersey Farm; F. Le Boutillier, president of the Royal Jersey Agricultural & Horticultural Society; and Dale Dean, manager and principal of Meadowridge Jersey Farm.



The party toured local places of interest and had lunch at the Tecumseh Country Club, taking part in a portion of "presidents' day."

At Meadowridge Farm members of the party inspected the herd, including Brampton Sporting Claim, shown here, one of several top Jerseys in the famous Brampton Strain.

Dolls, Dolls—76 Of 'Em Show Off

From big, fat, "Humpty Dumpty" to great-grandmother's tiny miniature lady with her China head and delicately formed hands and feet, the dolls of Tecumseh turned out for the second annual doll show of the summer recreation program.

Planned by Director Lester Runk the show on the lawn of the Central school was attended by 75 children and their mothers, the boys being almost as much in evidence as their sisters.

The 76 entries posed a difficult task for the judges, Mrs. Harold Kelso, Mrs. Leon Rosacrans and Miss Clara Waldron. Choosing the largest doll was of course just a matter of inches and Connie Robinette's entry won quite literally by a hair. Rae Lyne Crosby's was second and Sharon Korth's third.

The foreign doll class was the largest and most varied and here first place was given to Deborah Folden, second to Mary Wing and third to Beverly Luedeke.

Sherry Dinius had the funniest doll, Connie Robinette second and Judith Snook third.

In the most unusual class Mary Wing's doll made of corn husks took first, Jimmy Lamson's "Sambo" was second and a shell doll of Joselyn Snook was third.

Janice Sailing had the smallest doll, Carole Lynn Runk's was second and Ruth Ann Milosh's third.

The saddest doll was an accident victim belonging to Sharon Fielder while Karen Ann Rumler took both second and third in that class.

Ruth Ann Milosh had the fattest, Karen Ann Rumler's entry was a close second and Michelle Anderson's was third.

Three dolls that were close to the 100 year mark made up the entries of the oldest class and first ribbon was given to Camilla Grigg's, second to Connie Dinius and third to Dorothy Jean Nettleman.

Vote

The HERALD adds its voice to the rest of the press and radio, to remind the 200 registered voters of Tecumseh township and the more than 2900 in the City of Tecumseh to vote, Tuesday in the Primary for their choice of candidates for county and state offices.

For the first time Tecumseh township voters will cast their ballots in a separate polling place, Merz Farm Equipment store at 3011 W. Monroe Road.

City voters will use the fire station as usual. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

WATER IS LOW

City Manager E. J. Nelson warns that because of the dry weather the city's water supply is getting dangerously low and asks for cooperation on the part of citizens.

He requests that lawn and garden sprinkling be carried on in the evening only and that those with even house numbers sprinkle on even calendar dates and those with odd numbers on odd days.

Hospital Gets More Donations

Miss Gertrude Spaulding, superintendent of Herrick Memorial hospital announces that the hospital has received two donations recently which have added much to the efficiency and comfort of the institution.

The Tresco Corporation has donated and installed nine individual room air conditioners.

The hospital medical staff has given a second delivery room table which is much appreciated by those in charge.

Meet Opportunity Half Way And Ride Back In a New 1954 Buick V "8" Sedan; Contest Just Starting For Lenawee County Residents

By ROBERT W. McKAY
Contest Manager

If an opportunity were presented whereby you could own a new 1954 Buick V "8" six passenger Sedan, with extra added equipment and worth up to $2422.44, without cost on your part during the next six weeks, would you seize that opportunity and make the most of it?

Or, if you were offered $750 in cash for a little spare time effort during the next few weeks—with positive assurance of being liberally compensated for every result obtained—would you stand back, hesitant and undecided? At first, no doubt, you would entertain the thought that "surely it is not real; I never could get so much, so easily and so quickly." But, while thinking all these things (if indeed, thinking at all) you'd let someone else more alert and aggressive, step in and beat you to it!

But remember, greater amounts than such sums are being offered and taken every day in this big go-ahead, bustling world. Look for, and look into, the good things of life, if you would have them! You know the pessimist sees only the hole in the doughnut, while the optimist—well, you've guessed the rest.

Now the reason for the above statement is that The HERALD is offering just such an opportunity to wide-awake, energetic men and women, as well as to the more ambitious type in its big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest. It is just starting and you most certainly can profit mightily through spare time effort during the next few weeks.

Big Field Day Planned Aug. 6

Tecumseh merchants are going to contribute merchandise prizes to winners in the field day planned by the city recreation department for Friday, Aug. 6.

Coach Lester Runk, recreation director, reports races and contests of all kinds will be held for children through the eighth grade. Winners of these contests will receive prizes donated by the merchants.

Money will not be awarded so Coach Runk asks stores to contribute merchandise or gift certificates.

Stores soon will receive a call from Coach Runk or a member of his staff to see what they want to give as prizes.

The field day will be held on the recreation field as a climax to the summer recreation program.

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

A CHAP BORN AND REARED in Tecumseh has been promoted assistant superintendent of the United States Steel Corporation's Dekalb, Ill., Cyclone Fence Co. plant. Tracy E. Arnold, a MSC grad, rose in the ranks at U.S. Steel, starting as a weaver at the Cyclone Fence plant here and becoming a foreman in 1935. He was appointed superintendent of the Savannah, Ga., plant in 1941. The Arnolds have two children. Tracy's mom and dad, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Arnold, still live here.

MY KID SISTER-IN-LAW who lives in Cleveland says she has a doctor for the baby who is so handsome that before she calls him on the phone she combs her hair.

BOB SAGER OF ROCKFORD, ILL., dropped in last week to visit his son Ralph Sager and family. Born in Basil, Switzerland, Bob couldn't speak a word of English when he landed in America in 1912 but he learned it fast, including some choice bits of a railroad section crew boss. He first got a job as a farm hand, then later he landed a job on the Illinois Central Railroad where he worked as a section crew foreman. All told he worked 28 years on the RR and he says he could still tell the RR folks how to build their road beds. Far from the thought of retiring, he currently is working for the Greeley Brothers Co. in Rockford

Church of Christ Buys Parish Hall

The St. Elizabeth Parish Hall on E. Chicago has been purchased by the Church of Christ which formerly met in the Sage building.

This congregation was started December 1, 1952, in the home of the minister, L. S. Rucker, 400 Center Drive and moved into the Sage building in April, 1953.

Mr. Rucker has been very active in church work for 35 years, preaching in congregations in Adrian, Monroe, Flint, Shepherd, Grand Rapids, Lansing, Muskegon, Gladwin, Deckerville, Detroit and Chicago. Some of these congregations were organized by Mr. Rucker.

"All are invited to attend our services at any time, with the assurance they will receive a cordial welcome," Pastor Rucker said.

The formal dedication of the building will be announced soon.

Marcia Lois Brown of Onsted Weds Charles A. DesErmia

Marcia Lois Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Brown of Onsted, became the bride of Charles A. DesErmia of Tecumseh at 7:30 p.m. Saturday evening at the Onsted Gospel church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Paul Weiland before an altar flanked by palms, baskets of garden flowers and lighted candelabra.

Miss Brown's matron of honor was Mrs. Edward Johnson and her bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Anderson. Mr. DesErmia was assisted by his brother, Keith DesErmia as best man and John Powell as attendant. Robert Brooks and Bruce Brown were ushers.

Mrs. Norman Hagadorn of Milan was soloist and sang "Because," "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and the "Lord's Prayer" preceding the ceremony with Mrs. Robert Ostrander at the organ.

The bride, lovely in her wedding gown of nylon net and lace, was given in marriage by her father. Her floor-length dress was made with a full skirt of net over taffeta and a strapless lace bodice which had a lace jacket buttoned snuggly at the waist and a stand-up collar. She carried a crescent bouquet of Eucharist lilies backed by white tulle, and her finger tip veil was lace edged and fell from a sweetheart tiara of pearl trimmed lace.

Mrs. Johnson's gown was Nile green, with bodice of taffeta and full skirt and jacket of nylon net. Her jacket was made like that of the bride and her similiarly-shaped bouquet was of pale yellow carnations combined with green maline. Miss Anderson wore yellow, made like that of the matron of honor and her flowers were Harvest Moon carnations with yellow tulle.

Mrs. Ronald Brown's dress was of nylon in an aqua print and her accessories were white while Mrs. George Wright, mother of the groom wore light blue lace. Her accessories also were white and both wore corsages of Rubrum lilies. Organist and soloist had corsages of gardenias.

Seventy-five guests were entertained in the church parlors immediately after the ceremony, where the five-tiered wedding cake with its topping of wedding bells was cut by Mrs. Keith DesErmia of Milan. Punch was served by Miss Sharon Pugh and Miss Nancy Branch registered the guests as they arrived.

Niagara Falls and Buffalo, N.Y. were to be included in the wedding trip after which they will return to Britton, where they will reside.

The new Mrs. DesErmia was wearing a coral and gray nylon print with white accessories when the couple left after the reception.

The bride who has been employed in the Turner Drug store in Onsted, is a graduate of Onsted high school. Mr. DesErmia, son of Lyle DesErmia and Mrs. George Wright of Tecumseh graduated from the local high school and is employed at the DesErmia Furniture store in Britton.

Pre-nuptial affairs included a stag dinner for the groom the preceding Saturday night at the DesErmia cottage at Sand Lake.

HERRICK HOSPITAL IS HOST TO TRI-COUNTY COUNCIL MEETING

The Tri-County Council of Hospitals, representing Lenawee, Washtenaw and Livingston Counties, met at Herrick Memorial hospital Wednesday, July 21. A tour of the hospital was followed by a dinner meeting at the Country Club.

Those present included Douglas McNabb, administrator and Mrs. Ann Pfister, nursing director, of Bixby hospital, Adrian; John Jenkins, administrator and Glenn Durham, Arthur Forche and Robert Dawson, representatives, Beyer hospital, Ypsilanti; James Sullivan, administrator of McPherson Memorial hospital, Howell; John Rasmussen, administrator of Hillsdale Community hospital and Mrs. Nina Jones and Mrs. Keip of the board of Thorn Memorial hospital, Hudson.

At the Country Club dinner, the board of trustees of Herrick Memorial hospital was represented by Lloyd Rhein, Lester Rogers and Mrs. Hoyt Whelan.

One of the purposes of this group is to become better acquainted with the facilities and personnel of the other hospitals in the area.

La Verne Harrison Died Tuesday

LaVerne C. Harrison, a lifetime resident of Tecumseh and vicinity, died Tuesday morning at Herrick Memorial hospital where he had been a patient for a year.

Mr. Harrison, who was 86 years of age, was born in Franklin township Sept. 15, 1867, the son of Luman and Mary Gorman Harrison. He had been a farmer in Franklin before moving to Tecumseh. His first wife, the former Lilly Vedder, died in 1925 and in 1927 he married Mrs. Emma Boyd, who predeceased him, Jan. 14, 1947.

He is survived by a son, Chauncey Harrison of Tecumseh; a daughter, Lucy, Mrs. Leon Fagan, of Flint; three grancsons, Thomas C. Harrison, Tecumseh, John H. Fagen, Headquarters, Idaho and Leon Fagen Jr., Flint; a stepson, Thomas Boyd; two step daughters, Mrs. Violet Maynard of Adrian and Mrs. Emma Harrison, Tecumseh; two step grandchildren, Boyd Maynard of Adrian and Hattie May Witt, Tecumseh; and eight great grandchildren.

Funeral services for Mr. Harrison will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 at the Collins Funeral home. The Rev. Edward Escolme will be in charge and burial will be in Brookside cemetery.

Mrs. George Peters Buried Wednesday

Hattie Spohr Peters, wife of George Peters, whose home was at 315 N. Maumee street, died early Sunday morning at Herrick Memorial hospital. Mrs. Peters, who was 81 years old, was born in Staunton, Mich., Oct. 3, 1872. Her parents were the late Oscar and Nellie Snyder Spohr.

Mr. and Mrs. Peters had made their home in Tecumseh and vicinity for 49 years, living on the John D. Shull farm and others before moving to the village.

The husband and some distant cousins are the only survivors.

Funeral services for Mrs. Peters were conducted at 2:30 p.m. yesterday by the Rev. Edward Escolme at the Collins Funeral Home. Burial was in Brookside cemetery, the bearers being George Tilton, Perry Satterthwaite, Amiel Teske, John Watson, Earl Updike and Edward Kettle.

Joyce Howell Wed To Kenneth Jones

Joyce Ann Howell and Kenneth R. Jones were united in marriage Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Macon Methodist church in a double ring, candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Douglas Hines. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howell of Clinton and Mr. Jones is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Jones of Lyons, Ohio.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of sheer thread lace over net and bridal satin. The short sleeved, tight fitted bodice featured a portrait neckline embroidered with sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt was worn over a hoop and was waltz length. Her double fingertip veil was attached to a pearl trimmed lace cap. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and white rosebuds.

Mrs. Dearel Jenkins, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and was gowned in orchid net over taffeta with irridescent sequins trimming the tiny ruffles that formed the strapless bodice. Her dress was also waltz length and she wore a double stole with matching head band and mitts.

Mrs. Carl Thomas was organist and accompanied Miss Diana Woodward as she sang "Because", "Always" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Dearel Jenkins was Mr. Jones' best man and ushers were Norman Vance of Delta, Ohio and Charles Mowery of Lyons, Ohio. The bride's brother, Raymond Howell was junior usher.

The bride's mother chose a white linen dress with orchid and white accessories. Mrs. Jones wore an aqua dress with white accessories and both mothers had lavender orchid corsages.

A reception for 200 guests was held in the church parlors following the ceremony. A four-tiered cake was cut by Jeannine Craig and Carol Harper presided at the punch bowl. Phyllis Frost registered the guest. Rena Rebottaro and JoAnn Lesgczewski had charge of serving.

The new Mrs. Jones graduated from Clinton High School in 1950 and is employed at Tresco Inc., Tecumseh. The groom attended Lyons High School and is employed at Tecumseh Products Co. They will reside in Metamora, Ohio.

Cards Of Thanks

Our sincere thanks and appreciation to all who were so kind at the time of our bereavement; to the Rev. Escolme, the Pythian Sisters, Rebekahs and Royal Neighbors and to the many neighbors and friends for their assistance; also for the floral tributes. The family of Clarence A. (Jack) Staulter.

—o—

I wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our relatives, friends and neighbors, the Britton, Tecumseh and Clinton fire departments, Macon 4-H Rangers, their leader and the Macon telephone operator for all the help we received when fire destroyed our barn recently. Special thanks to all who returned the next few days and helped clean up the debris. Joe and Frances Procaska.

NATIONAL FARM SAFETY WEEK is this week. Its slogan is Farm to Live and Live to Farm. It's a pretty good piece of advice.

ARTHUR EUGENE CHEEVER is one of the most ardent readers of the HERALD. In fact, he can't wait until he gets his through the mail. Every Thursday morning bright and early this young chap drops in to buy his paper. He's been reading the HERALD for 86 years, at least this is what he says. But a little figuring shows that this would be impossible even in a precocious child since he is now only 86. He further says that he used to read the HERALD to his twin brother Alvin because he was older than Alvin who was born 10 minutes later. The twins' father read the HERALD too and the 12 children in the Cheever tribe all read the HERALD. Is there a family that can beat this?

ADD INTERESTING NAMES: Wesco Supply was named for the founder Wayne E. Selders. The name means Wayne E. Selders Co.

IT WAS A NEW TWIST Monday when the whole family turned out to see grandma graduate. Even the grand kids went to granny's commencement at MSNC. To tell when granny started working on the degree might date her but she did her courtin' in the days of the horse and buggy when she first taught at Hastings. Suffice to say there were many years between her work at Western Michigan College (and a family of three girls) and her bachelor's award Monday. Sure she's proud of the sheepskin but she's not half as proud as the rest of us are for her sticktoitiveness and the fact that her principal calls her his best doggone teacher in the school.

HARV WILSON WAS LOOKING bleary-eyed Tuesday. So much so, in fact, that he could not even spell the name of his new daughter born at 5 a.m. Tuesday in Herrick Memorial Hospital. He told me to take a chance on the spelling so here it is—Jan Renee. All are doing fine, too, including the fellow happily passing out the stogies marked "It's a Girl."

MAYBE YOU DON'T REALIZE it but your city recreation department has a wonderful philosophy. Or didn't you know that recreation departments could have philosophies. Anyway, the department had a doll show last Friday and every little contestant was given a ribbon. With this kind of consideration, the department is on the right track.

CONTEST

elements that enters into this complex experience of ours which is called life. Opportunity means everything, or it means nothing, depending upon how it is met and handled by different individuals. One person's failure to recognize it when it comes his way, for example, proves to be another's success.

Some of us sometimes wonder why some people seem to get ahead in this world, and, alas, far too often we lament our lack of opportunities. Sometimes we make the flimsy excuse that we're too busy to take part in a proposition of this kind. Truly, we realize that everybody is busy these days. But according to the writer's observations it is the busiest people in every community who invarably win the biggest prizes.

Sometimes too, while taking stock of our blessings, we mistakenly claim that Old Man Opportunity must have passed our door. However, such claims rarely ever are based on facts. Instead, we simply failed to recognize and seize opportunities when presented to us. Isn't that true?

MEET OPPORTUNITY

Dame Fortune is now knocking on your door. She is literally pounding upon it with both hands to awaken you to the opportunities existing in The HERALD'S big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest to utilize whatever spare time you will have during the next few weeks toward winning prizes worth thousands of dollars. Greet this opportunity NOW—before it becomes too late—and make the most of it.

Remember, it costs absolutely nothing to try. Remember, too that anything worth having in this life is worth striving for. Just a few short weeks of interest and effort on your part and you may be riding in your own new Buick Sedan, worth a small fortune on today's market, September 11.

YES, YES; YOU CAN WIN!

It will be observed by the first list of entries appearing on the front page of this issue that only a comparatively few have entered for the race so far. There are too few entries, in fact, considering the extensive area to be covered, its population and the magnitude of this prize offer. And it is by no means too late for anyone with sufficient ambition to bestir themselves a bit and share in the distribution of prizes to be awarded just six weeks from this Saturday noon which is September 11.

Next week when a more complete list of entries is announced, marks the real beginning of what is destined to be a most interesting and highly profitable competition among local people in this area. Make up your mind right now, this very minute—to become an ACTIVE participant and a big prize winner.

Walter Mack Dies Suddenly

Walter Paul Mack, who for the past 13 years had been superintendent of Bruce Foundry, died suddenly of a heart attack early Saturday morning at his home on W. Shawnee street. He had not been previously ill.

Born Oct. 8, 1900, in Armbaugh, Pa., he was the son of the late Sylvester and Rose M. Spires Mack and had lived in Tecumseh for some time. He had been superintendent of the foundry when it was owned by Mr. Carson and had spent a few years in Muskegon before being employed by Mr. Bruce. He was a member of the Methodist church in Armbaugh, Pa.

In Tecumseh he belonged to the Tecumseh Club.

Mr. Mack is survived by his widow, Maxine; a son James Wendall at home; three daughters, Mrs. Robert Brooks and Mrs. William Erwin both of Tecumseh and Miss Dorothy Mack of Pontiac; a stepson, Robert Crandall of Rockford, Ill.; three sisters, Mrs. Lenore Strayer, Johnston, Pa., Mrs. Angie Fox, Seward, Pa. and Mrs. Dorothy Smith of Tecumseh; two brothers David and Charles Mack of Tecumseh and a number of aunts, uncles and cousins.

Funeral services were held Tuesday at the Collins Funeral Home, with Lyle E. Harper of the Methodist church officiating. Burial was in Brookside cemetery with George McCombs, Richard Duffin, Jerry Larned, Gale Hooten, Walter Morden, Jr., and Jerry DuFore as bearers.

C. A. P. CADETS TO HAVE PICNIC AT AIRPORT

The cadets of the Tecumseh Squadron Civil Air Patrol are having a picnic Saturday, July 31 at the Tecumseh airport beginning at 5 p.m. There will be free hot dogs and pop for everyone. All boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 and their parents are especially invited by those in charge.

Closed Sundays

The Joyce Andrews Memorial Swimming Pool will be closed on Sundays for the remainder of the season.

Manager Carl Hale reports that by closing Sundays maintenance men better will be able to care for the pool and its water.

The manager also reports that since the pool opened last spring 10,000 persons have used it. This figure does not include those who have received swimming instruction.

Dick's Oilers Still Lead

BY DON OSWALD

Dick's Standard Service of Tipton still leads the Men's Recreation Softball standings with a 7-1 record. The Oilers, however, are followed closely by the Friends Church with a 6-2 record. Each team has two games left to play. They play each other next Monday night.

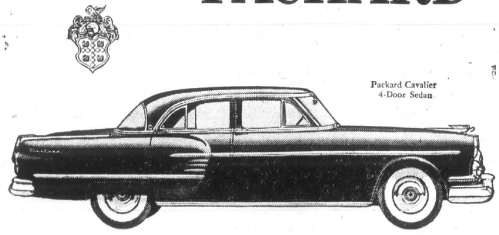
For Men And Women Who Want Individuality...

The Great 1954 PACKARD



Packard Cavalier 4-Door Sedan

America's New Choice in Fine Cars

This is the car designed for those who look for individuality as well as luxury in a fine car.

Here's styling that stays in style—PACKARD'S advanced contour styling—with bold, straight lines and high-level fenders for greater visibility. Wider doors, too — and chair-high, posture seats for new, relaxing comfort.

Here's high-compression power—a mighty PACKARD engine that delivers greater driving power at ordinary road speeds than any competitive engine! This gives you the extra performance you need for swift getaway and passing in today's crowded traffic.

Here are more and finer power features—PACKARD Ultramatic, the greatest of all no-shift drives, Power Steering, Power Brakes, Power Window Lifts, and the electrically powered 4-way adjustable driver's seat.

Stop by for a demonstration. We'll put a new PACKARD at your disposal so you can judge for yourself.

For true fine-car quality at a popular price, be sure to see the Packard CLIPPER. You'll be glad you did!

Soil Savers Enter Contest

The Lenawee Soil Conservation District has entered the National Soil Conservation Awards program sponsored by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Akron, Ohio, it was announced today by District Chairman, Clarence Kleidinst.

Members of the Lenawee District will compete against other soil conservation districts in the state.

Non-partisan judging committees, selected from Michigan's outstanding exponents of the soil conservation movement, will determine the state's outstanding district for the period May 1, 1954 and April 30, 1955, on a basis of total points scored in performance of regular district duties.

Grand award for one member of each winning district governing body and the top cooperating farmer or rancher named by the district will be a one-week, expense-free, vacation trip to Goodyear's fabulous winter resort, the Wigwam Guest ranch on Goodyear Farms, Litchfield Park, Ariz., in December, 1955.

Members of the Lenawee district governing body who will compete for the Goodyear award are: Clarence Kleidinst, Chairman; and Lloyd Ruesink, Secretary-Treasurer; Leland Brighton, Arthur Eaton and Hal Benner.

National winners of the Goodyear Soil Conservation Awards will be honored at seven regular area meetings of the National Association of Soil Conservation districts. Plaques will be awarded at these conventions to the hundred first and second place winning districts.

THEY SAW CANADA

Paul and Arnetta Maves, Route No. 1, Tecumseh, spent the summer in Western Canada as members of Wally Byam's world famous Trailer Caravan. Described by the Canadian press as by far the largest organized group of trailer travelers ever to cross the border, Wally Byam's Caravan of over 80 travel trailers and more than 250 people arrived in Calgary, Alberta, recently to attend what Canadians call "The Greatest Outdoor Show on Earth," the Calgary Stampede.

Wally Byam, President of Airstream Trailers of California and Ohio, has been conducting these unofficial goodwill tours in Latin America and Europe for several years, and all of the Caravanners agree that this is a wonderful way for Americans to win friends, learn about other countries and have fun at the same time.

The Maves were on last winter's Mexican tour and are confirmed Caravanners.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Rhae Henkel accompanied by their sons Carl and Ronald will leave tomorrow for New Port, R.I., where Ronald will rejoin his ship the "Cascade". He has been spending sixteen days leave with his parents. The Henkels expect to be gone about a week.

Mrs. David Beck will arrive home today from Whittier, Calif., where she has been spending several weeks visiting her brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Pearson entertained a family gathering Sunday. Guests were Curtis Dolan and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pearson of Detroit, Miss Alice Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Steven Shafble of Ann Arbor and Miss Margaret Blashill of New Brunswick, N.J.

The annual summer picnic of the Friends Sunday School is being held today at Walter Hayes Park at Wamplers Lake with a picnic dinner at noon.

Priscilla Ramsay of Trenton is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Green Sr. Her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Allan Ramsay and family are on their way home from California and are expected in Tecumseh this week.

David Lott, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lott, who has been with the Coast Guard for the past three years, arrived home Tuesday from Boston where he has been stationed for some time. His term of service has expired.

Members of the Comfort Extension Club attended the Lenawee County Extension department picnic at the Island Park in Adrian Wednsday.

Mrs. Nina Heath has returned from a three weeks' stay in Lansing where she visited friends.

It's the Hit that's writing New History

TAKE a look, if you please, at the car and the styling that are changing historic sales standings.

Take a look at the beauty and the buy called Buick—the car that is forging ahead to new sales heights in the 1954 market.

Take a look at the new best seller that has moved into the "Big Three" of the nation's top sales leaders—into that very exclusive circle that for two decades has held only the so-called "low-price three."

For today, as national sales figures for the first five months reveal, Buick is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three." And each new month firms Buick's new position.

It takes solid worth to bring this about—a lot more automobile per dollar in Buick than in other cars.

But it also takes the glamorous new tomorrow styling that is Buick today. It takes the highest V8 horsepowers, Series for Series, in all Buick history. It takes the room and comfort and ride and handling that are Buick's proud tradition.

And it takes a range of cars to satisfy a wide range of people—with prices that most people can well afford. So you find the low-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the extra-spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER—the four big reasons for Buick's tremendous sales success.

Come in for a demonstration and you'll see what we mean.

With the years-away styling of this glamor car, you'll be way ahead at resale time. And right now you're money ahead with the big trade-in allowance our volume sales can bring you. Drop in this week.

Do You Want Better Fishing?

An ex-railroad man who has been an ardent fisherman all of his life is doing what he can to correct injustices in present commercial fishing laws and at the same time improve fishing conditions for Lenawee and Monroe County fishermen particularly.

L. C. Engelhardt of Ida stopped in to explain that he has left a number of letters in the Tecumseh area which explain how a proposed new bill will help fishermen in and around Lake Erie.

He asks that Tecumseh area fishermen who would like their fishing improved write to Senator Elmer Porter of Blissfield asking Sen. Porter to support the bill that would aid fishermen who fish for sport and for recreation.

He also asks that signed letters be sent to the following persons: Representative Eugene C. Betz, 329 West Elm Avenue, Monroe, Michigan; Governor G. Mennen Williams, Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan; Representative Frederic J. Marshall, White Marble Springs, Allen, Michigan; Representative Joseph O'Connor, House of Representatives, Lansing, Michigan; Mr. F. A. Westerman, Fish & Fisheries, State of Michigan, Department of Conservation, Lansing, Michigan; Secretary—Michigan United Conservation Club, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

The letters you sign include the following information:

"We have read and studied their full contents and are in full accord with the request that you promote a bill and seek its passage to correct the present injustices imposed upon us by the present commercial fishing laws. This new law to contain the following:

"The State shall allow no commercial nets to be set in Lake Erie within three miles, any direction, of any inlet or outlet to a public state-owned park or state-owned public fishing site.

"That the commercial fishing license for Lake Erie shall be $25.00 (twenty-five dollars) per net, and a limit of 25 (twenty-five) nets to any one commercial fisherman.

"That all species, seasons, size, daily possession limits, hook and line limits shall not apply upon Lake Erie or any stream emptying into Lake Erie to a distance of one mile inland from Lake Erie.'"

After talking briefly with Mr. Engelhardt, we realize that as an ardent follower of old Ike Walton, he is a very sincere angler.

If you wish better fishing for yourself and for your family and at the same time wish to improve the whole area as a tourist attraction, sign the letters and send them in.

Dial Phones Come To Clinton

All of us like to think that Tecumseh is a progressive little old town and we like to think that there is none that can compare.

Then the march is stolen by a neighboring town much smaller and without half as much to offer as the City of Tecumseh. In fact, this neighboring town is still a village.

The stolen march in this case is the use of dial telephones. Clinton gets them today. If this is a mark of progress compared with the manual system of phoning why hasn't Tecumseh been placed on the list for dial phones? Ask your telephone company. We are going to ask. If enough folks ask about this perhaps we might be able to get some action.

How They Began

A survey of 1,000 successful men—not just money-makers but ones who have made the world better by their work—showed that 300 started life as farmers' sons, 200 sold or carried newspapers; 200 started as messenger boys; 100 as printers' apprentices; 100 started working in factories; 50 began at the bottom in railroad work. Only 50 out of the 1,000 had well-to-do parents to give them a start.

In Time Of Need

Every American military plane that flies over water carries a collapsible boat which contains food rations and a copy of the Bible in a waterproof package. "We know that spiritual equipment can be as important as food and drink in saving lives," say Army officers.

Christian Science Services Listed

The spiritual basis of true peace and brotherhood will be brought out in Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love."

The vital importance of love for God and man will be stressed in the readings from the King James Version of the Bible, including the following passages (I James 5:2): "By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (467:9-13):

"It should be thoroughly understood that all men have one Mind, one God and Father, one Life, Truth, and Love. Mankind will become perfect in proportion as this fact becomes apparent, war will cease and the true brotherhood of man will be established."

The Golden Text is from Zephaniah (3:17): "The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rejoice over thee with joy; he will rest in his love, he will joy over thee with singing."

FRIENDS BIBLE SCHOOL TO CLOSE FRIDAY

The Vacation Bible school, which has been conducted by the Friends church the past two weeks, will close this week with a special program at the church Friday evening at 7:30. The children will sing choruses, individual songs and hymns, recite Bible stories and demonstrate memory work. There will also be a display of the handicraft work done by the children during the school. The sessions have been in charge of Miss Huff and Miss Wainright of Cleveland and several local teachers.

Realty Views

After repeated inspections of a good house property, Mervin Small decided to buy. He made an offer. Rejected. A counter-offer. Rejected. But by now he was within $500 of the desired price of $23,000.

"I'll go no further," he said. "After all, I've done all the giving so far."

"That's right," I said, "but the seller's price was fair to start with. He is firm on the price."

Mr. Small replied, "Let him keep it then."

"Hold on," I said. "No one can guarantee within $500 what this house is worth. It will take HINDSIGHT before either of us know for sure if the $500 was misspent. But the difference is quite small—around 2% of the full price."

"I realize that," Mr. Small said, "but why risk another $500?"

"The odds are in your favor," I answered. "For in addition to the money angle, we have to consider your family's happiness. You know your wife and children want this house. It meets all your requirements. You can give them the pleasure of living here. Why let $500 stand between you and your family's happiness?"

"O. K.," Mr. Small replied. "It's worth the $500 to me to see the family comfortably settled. And really, I don't think I'm paying too much."

May we help you locate a good house too?

You And Your Money

SO YOU HAVE TO MEET THE TAX COLLECTOR

BY DR. ELI SCHWARTZ
LECTURER IN ECONOMICS
MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

Sooner or later everyone must pay his due to the tax collector. Now more than ever this old saw is true, when the total price of providing our many state, local, and federal governmental services come to a whopping $100 billion a year.

The cost of maintaining and extending our wonderful road system; of providing public education from kindergarten through college; of police and fire protection; of supervising our economy; of furnishing economic security to the aged, the incapacitated, and those temporarily unemployed; the provision of aid to our allies; and above all the cost of building up the sinews of a mighty defense program — all add up a tremendous bill. Mr. John Doe, average citizen, through his income earning and production activities, has to meet it.

One hundred billion dollars is a lot of money, and its impact is difficult to conceive unless it is related to other figures. The total, for example, of all the goods and services produced in the U.S. in 1953 ran about $370 billion. Thus governments at all levels purchased over one-fourth, or approximately 27 per cent, of the gross product of the nation.

The total amount of government services and goods provided by every level of government comes to around $550, on the average, for every man, woman and child in the country. Of this, over $250 is expended by the federal government for national defense. The remaining $400 per capita is split — about half being expended by the federal government, and the other $200 by the states, municipalities and other local governmental units.

The major state and local expenditures are for education, around $60 per capita. Figure about $41 per capita for interest on all debt about $33 for foreign economic aid and military assistance, about $32 for agricultural programs, conservation, and atomic energy, and finally about $30 for road and streets, and you have most of the major items.

By and large, the bill has to be paid. It is true that the federal government may find it impossible during war time (when the government may be paying for as much as 50 per cent of the national production) to tax in full for its expenditures. Furthermore, it is often advisable for local governments to pay for needed improvements by floating bonds.

Also the federal government may find it the best policy during a depression to use its enormous credit power. Why? So as not to tax in full when it would seem inadvisable to reduce further the purchasing power of individuals and business.

If during normal times the various governmental levels spend considerably more than they take in taxes, then the result is likely to be an inflation, a general rise in prices which may be more disrupting and painful than the taxes.

About 29 per cent of the tax bill, say around $210 per capita, is paid in federal and state income taxes. The rest is collected by various sales and excise taxes, payroll taxes, property taxes, licenses and fees, charges for government utilities, and business corporation income taxes. These types of taxes are in general contained in the prices of goods.

These are the sources from which the tax collector fills the treasury. Together we all pay the bill; but let us be grateful that our country's economy is strong enough to carry the burden, to be the mainstay of the defense of the whole free world.

Inside The Capitol

By Auditor General John B. Martin

I have recently had occasion to study the revenues that Michigan receives from the tourist business and our expenditures to encourage that business. Few people realize how absolutely vital to Michigan's welfare the tourist is. Some interesting studies have been made by the Bureau of Business Research at Michigan State College on the nature of the tourist trade in Michigan. These studies show that tourists bring into Michigan over $500,000,000 every year. This means that they are the 3rd largest industry in Michigan after manufacturing and agriculture. Even more important, perhaps, is the fact that in 2/3s of the State, tourists are the number one industry.

We learn, also, that the average tourist is a family man who brings his family with him when he comes to Michigan. Almost every car carries at least one child under 16. The average tourist comes for at least 12 days and spends nearly $300 while he is here. The big months are July and August, but June and September come close and there is a surprising amount of tourist travel throughout the year.

Michigan gets about one out of every twenty tourists in the United States, but it is not the top tourist state. This honor goes to New York with 10.9% of the total. California, Florida and Pennsylvania come next, in that order, and then Michigan with 5.2% of the total. The State of Michigan, of course, has a direct interest in all of this and appropriated over $330,000 last year to publicize Michigan as a tourist state. We collect more than $10,000,000 in sales tax and over $6,000,000 in gas and cigarette taxes, to say nothing of the several millions of dollars paid for hunting and fishing licenses by non-residents.

With all our natural attractions in Michigan of streams, lakes and wonderful summer climate and winter sports, we could well spend more than we do to advertise the State and the money would be returned many times to us.

You get more labor return if you maintain a large flock of chickens. And better farmstead arrangement and practical labor saving equipment helps reduce labor.

When you are shopping for a suit or coat of good quality, examine pocket corners, ends of buttonholes — especially bound ones — and other places likely to get much wear or strain. This is the advice of clothing specialists at Michigan State College.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Perpetually fresh in great literature is the theme of a woman's love for a man and a man's love for a woman. Because God's love is higher than human love as the heavens are high above the earth, surely St. Paul had reason to say that love is the greatest thing in the universe. Listen as Elizabeth Browning tells of her love for Robert:

The face of all the world is changed, I think,
Since first I heard the footstep of thy soul
Move still, oh, still, beside me, as they stole
Betwixt me and the dreadful outer brink
Of oblivious death, where I, who thought to sink,
Was caught up into love, and taught the whole
Of life in a new rhythm . . .
How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.
I love thee to the depth and breadth and height
My soul can reach, when feeling out of sight
For the ends of Being and ideal Grace.
I love thee to the level of every day's
Most quiet need, by sun and candle-light.
I love thee freely, as men strive for right;
I love thee purely, as they turn from praise.
I love thee with the passion put to use
In my old griefs, and with my childhood's faith.
I love thee with a love I seemed to lose
With my lost saints — I love thee with the breath,
Smiles, tears, of all my life! — and, if God choose,
I shall but love thee better after death.

All this tells why a true home is a little colony of heaven. If we would have peace of soul, let us pay attention to affection and live day by day with loving-kindness, appreciativeness and considerateness.

"Just inside the door," Spec says, "there's a tray of bright blue buttons. If you want to look around without having someone suggest you buy the latest best-selling novel, or maybe a history of Africa, you pin a button on your coat lapel.

"You can poke around all you like. Then when you've found the book you want, take off the button, and someone's right there to take care of you."

From where I sit, everybody likes to make his own choice. It doesn't matter whether it's books, or preferences in clothing or makes of cars. And it's no surprise that folks have personal preferences in beverages, too. So if your neighbor orders a glass of beer while you're having coffee, remember he's entitled to his choice, too.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

In early days of the New Deal, when deserving Democrats were being rewarded for past service, one of the most deserving of them all, Committeewoman Franc Gillespie was appointed postmistress in Tecumseh and her appointment "inspired" the following—

That Postoffice Pen

In good old days when men were men,
And woman's place was in the home,"
When politics led crooked trails
From smoke-filled rooms to State house dome;
Intrepid souls were wont to say,
With optimism burning bright,
That when the women had the vote
All would be sweetness, joy and light.
Well, that millenium is here,
Thanks to those doughty sufferagettes.
And, if we still have smoke filled rooms,
At least they're scented cigarettes.
We now have "more abundant life"
With lady statesmen, fat and frail.
Tecumseh too is modernized,
A woman's hand now guides our mail.
But—if you think we're perfect now
Compared to things away back when
Just try to write a postcard
With that darned postoffice pen.

This 1954 sequel required no inspiration:

Its walls are green, its windows wide,
Efficiency prevails inside.
Its broad expanse of shining grill
Manages, somehow, to chill
An erstwhile tendency to chat
With those within of this and that.
In fact old timers tend to cry,
"Oh deary me, can this be I?"
Like the old woman in the rhyme.
Until they look a second time
And feel completely home again
For there it is — that same old pen!

Mother And Son Drown In River

Car Plunges Into Nine Feet Of Water

A woman and her son drowned Tuesday night in the Raisin River between Standish and Globe Ponds.

Dead are Mrs. Florence Moden, 27, of Weston, and her son Richard, 9.

They drowned when the car in which they were riding slid off a narrow trail into the river about 6 p.m.

Merle Fisher, 31, of Adrian, driver of the car, told Tecumseh police that Mrs. Moden and her son and Robert Sponsler, 34, of Adrian had driven along the trail to find some of Sponsler's relatives who were fishing.

"Something went wrong with the car," Fisher said, and we went into the water.

The car was dragged out of the water about 8 p.m. by Charlie Butler's wrecker. Mrs. Moden had been rescued earlier.

Artificial respiration was used and the police pneolator also was used.

She had been in the water about 15 minutes.

John Saling stayed on the job with the pneolator for an hour. He said he wanted to keep on until doctors pronounced her dead.

The men said all of them were in the car when it hit the water but the boy was not in the car. Rescue operations continued with the Lenawee Sheriff's department joining Tecumseh Police and firemen. The Sheriff deputies brought along grappling hooks.

Later, Perry Satterthwaite who has the water rights, gave permission to drain the ponds. Both Standish and Globe ponds were partially drained.

Patrolman Oliver Heberlein brought the boy's body up at 1:45 Wednesday morning.

A number of persons in Herrick Park on South Outer Drive heard the men call for help after the men escaped from the submerged car and swam to shore.

Mrs. Moden was in front with the two men when the car went in. Her son was alone in the back seat.

The car plunged into nine feet of water.

Fisher and Sponsler swam to shore. Sponsler said "I could not see or feel anybody. I found an open window and I shot to the top. Two or three minutes later Fisher also came up. When they got their breath they called for help, but they did not go back into the water to try to rescue Mrs. Moden and her son.

Fisher told police he had had "a couple of beers" earlier.

Earlier Carl Fosbender, Jim Sisson, Carlyl Mason and Forest Abner dived down to try to find the body. They did find Mrs. Moden.

Wednesday Fisher and Sponsler were released by police. The deaths were ruled accidental.

The bodies of Mrs. Moden and her son were taken to the Green Funeral Home. By Wednesday noon funeral arrangements had not been made.

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

LITTLE KIT WHO HAS BEEN on this old earth 21 months saw young Bob Moore's big Doberman dog galloping up the street and he immediately said "Hossey." Sasha does look like a horse, at least a pony.

MANY OF YOU OLDTIME Tecumseh residents have heard the expression "What the Sam Hill?" Did you ever wonder "who Sam Hill?" Sam Hill was? Turns out that it all began years and years ago in the little town of Guilford, Conn., and that the expression originally was "He works like Sam Hill!" . . . Sam was an actual man, and he took a lot of pride and pleasure in doing a lot of good work as a hat maker—while, at the same time laboring diligently for the good of his community as town clerk, magistrate and member of the General Assembly.

A LADY WHO HAD ONCE lived and worked in Tecumseh and had not been back here since 1918 dropped into town Friday to see what progress and changes had been made. Mrs. Myra Richcreek of Toledo began working for the Rosacrans Store April 1, 1912, and she worked there two years. At the time her name was Miss Myra White and Rosacrans was where Palman's now is located. She has a sister in Dundee and she has visited in Dundee several times but she never quite got around to returning to Tecumseh. But last Friday she made a special bus trip to return here for the day. Among old acquaintances she renewed were those of Leon Rosacrans and Miss Bessie Spayde. Mrs. Richcreek said she would be back before another 40 years rolls around.

TIME OUT FOR THE COMMERCIAL: Floyd E. Slater of Sharon, Pa., writes: "Enclosed is $3.50 for another year's subscription to the Tecumseh HERALD. I enjoy very much receiving the weekly copies of this paper that I may keep abreast of what is going on in the town where I was born." Thanks, Mr. Slater, and we're glad you enjoy the paper.

THIS WAS A COINCIDENCE. Saturday John P. Carroll brought a small parakeet into the HERALD office. He had found the bird on the street and before he was able to give any more information, a lady and girl walked in to place an ad for a lost parakeet. Mrs. Pat Sullivan of Route 1, Tecumseh, and her daughter immediately identified the tiny bird held in Carroll's hands as their lost "Petey." Petey took a walk down town Thursday, probably to do his shopping. The result of this lost and found story was the HERALD lost a 50c classified ad but a little girl was made happy again, so it was a half rock well lost.

DON'T KNOW WHO she was but she was a promoter of the highest order. She stopped in to pay for a classified ad which came to 57c. Gave her a bunch of change, mostly pennies. She remarked "Oh, dear, I don't have my purse. I'll have to tie that money up in a corner of my hankie." Hadn't heard about this use of a hankie since I was a kid and cousin Vickie used to come to visit us. Many times I thought she would catch the lump of money in a nostril but this never developed. Anyway, after being carried back a half century by this remark, I noticed the funny looking hat and the open umbrella. It was a sunny day. Then she asked for an envelope to carry her change in. Her wish was granted. As she turned to leave I saw the sign. It read: "Rummage Sale, Onsted Grange." This was not an usual sign. But the placement was. It was smack dab across that part where most sitting is done. By that time I was too shocked to get her name. Say, come to think of it, she probably auctioned off that envelope.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—Learn to labor and to wait.

Teachers Keep Up On Agriculture

Paul F. Burns, teacher of vocational agriculture, Tecumseh, and Russell Spalding, teacher of vocational agriculture, Britton, received additional, up-to-date technical training in agriculture at the 35th annual conference for Teachers of Vocational Agriculture, conducted at Kellogg Center, Michigan State College last week.

About 250 vocational agriculture teachers participated in the five-day, state-wide conference. The week's schedule was filled with workshops, tours, lectures and speakers.

The importance of the vocational agricultural teacher was stressed by Dean Thomas K. Cowden, of the Michigan State College School of Agriculture, in his address to the conclave.

"The teacher of vocational agriculture holds a very unique relationship with the student. He has the opportunity of know the boy well, to see him in his home, to work with him on projects, to see him care for animals, and in other situations," he said.

"The vocational agriculture teachers form one of the most important groups in the educational program and certainly in the agriculture education program in Michigan," declared Dean Cowden.

The conference was sponsored by the State Office of Vocational Education, and the Michigan Association of Teachers of Vocational Agriculture, in co-operation with the M.S.C. schools of agriculture and education, and the Continuing Education Service.

Primary Voting Is Light Here

Less than one fifth of the registered voters in the City of Tecumseh and less than one quarter of registered voters in Tecumseh Township turned out to vote in Tuesday's primary.

The number voting in the city totaled 589 and 60 township voters turned out.

Leonard led the vote for governor both in the city and township, getting 184 in the city and 19 in the township. Brake was runner up in the city and Cleary was runner up in the township.

Incumbent Sheriff Wade Willett shaded Jerome McFarland 289-201 in the city and 31-12 in the township.

For state representative Rollo Conlin (R) of Tipton had 361 city votes and Grenval Spangler (D) of Tecumseh had 85.

For state senator Elmer Porter (R) of Blissfield had 358 and F.E.N. Thatcher (D) 92 in city voting. Both men were unopposed.

The late Sen. Blair Moody who died last month received votes both in the city and township voting. He picked up 44 votes in the city and 4 in the township.

Delegates to the county convention who had the most votes in the city election were Mayor H. H. Hanna, Mrs. Charles Howe, R. V. King, Jr., Mrs. Cornelia Walker, L. H. Titley and J. C. Beardsley.

Chalmer Bruder Died Monday

Chalmer Bruder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burt Bruder of Route 2, Tecumseh, died Monday morning in Veteran's Hospital, Dearborn where he had been a patient for several weeks as the result of heart trouble.

A resident of Belleville, Mr. Bruder, who was 35 years old, was born in Illinois, Feb. 15, 1919. He was a graduate of Clinton high school in 1937 and was a veteran of the first World War. In 1942, he married Miss Shirley Fenn of Belleville.

He is survived by his widow and four children, Sandra, Keith, Kathleen and Dawn; his parents; three sisters, Mrs. Mildred Moore of Britton, Mrs. Melba Carey and Mrs. Themla Furlong of Ypsilanti; two brothers, Delmar of Ypsilanti and Clifford of Lansing; his grandfather and several aunts, uncles and cousins. He was preceded in death by two sisters.

Funeral services for Mr. Bruder will be held at the Belleville Methodist church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The body will be at the home until time for service. Burial will be in Alban cemetery, Belleville.

Dick's Oilers Cops Softball League Crown

Dick's Standard Service of Tipton Monday night copped the Mens' Recreation League softball crown by defeating the Friends Church, 8-6 in extra innings.

This marked the third straight year that Dick's Oilers have won the crown.

The win Monday gave them an 8-1 record. Friends Church now has a 6-3 record.

Leading sluggers for the champions were Wheeler with a homer and a triple and Swartz and Robertson with a double and triple.

40 Pets In Show

Cats, dogs, rabbits, birds—even fish—jaraded Friday at the annual pet show staged by the Tecumseh Recreation Department. There were 40 pets in all trying to take honors and 90 persons took part, including parents who turned out.

The following children won ribbons:

Special Vote Offer Opened For New Contest Entrants

By ROBERT W. McKAY, Contest Manager

Just a few "full limit" subscriptions to the Herald during "Booster Week," opening this Saturday morning and continuing through Saturday night August 14, might be the very ones needed to go "over the top" with flying colors. Readers should help their favorite contestant while subscriptions count most in votes and "Booster Week" offers that opportunity. For new entrants this week is "manna from heaven," so to speak, it is the one and only week where a late starter can readily place himself on equal footing with any of the top leaders, easily and quickly.

Swinging into line all-a-tingle with high hopes to win one of the many valuable prizes offered by the Herald, the small but fairly representative list of contestants listed elsewhere on this page, are beginning to hit their stride in this fascinating race and henceforth the interest of all concerned will grow by leaps and bounds.

Never before in this area has there been a short contest, for local people of such magnitude, where the prizes offered are so highly desirable and the winning requirements so liberal.

One feature alone is enough to make it the most talked of event in many years. That feature is the offer to award a swanky brand new 1954 Buick V "8" six passenger sedan. Value, well, the savings of a lifetime for millions of people, exactly $2,422.44. This, the grand capital prize, is offered to the man or woman or young person residing in Lenawee County and the nearby area, obtaining the most votes on new or renewal subscriptions to The Herald during the next few weeks.

THERE IS NO LIMIT

Remember there is no minimum to be obtained. You are not required to reach an arbitrary goal to be awarded this great prize. If you obtain the most votes on subscriptions in this competition whether they total 100 or 100,000 you will be awarded the grand capital prize in less than two hours from the beginning of the judges' count on the closing day of the contest, September 11.

BIG SECOND PRIZE

And, as another big feature, to the one scoring second best in this contest, a second grand prize of $750 cash will be given which in itself, is an award of unusual value for just a little spare time effort during the next few weeks.

Then, too, under a unique and very equitable arrangement, special cash bonus awards will be given to third, fourth, fifth and sixth place winners—making in all, six big prizes offered.

Nor is that all: to assure ample and immediate compensation to all active participants in the race, a special fund has been set aside for the purpose of paying 20 per cent cash commission ($1 out of every $5 of individual subscription collections) each week in accordance with the plan more fully outlined in opening announcement of contest.

ANYBODY'S RACE

As yet no one has a "walkaway" for the grand capital prize, nor

Big Field Day Set For Friday

Tecumseh Recreation Department will sponsor its second annual field day Friday at two p.m. concluding its six weeks summer program.

There will be contests for children aged five through 12, with prizes for first and second place winners.

In addition, there will be a candy scramble for the tots four years and younger, and refreshments for all children who attend.

The field day has been made possible by the cooperation of Tecumseh businessmen who have expressed their interest in boys and girls by the donation of the fine gifts which will be given as prizes.

The events will start promptly at two on the athletic field, and in case of rain they will be postponed until Saturday.

Events for the field day include the following:

Age Group 5-6-7, 40-yard dash for girls and for boys; race on all fours for boys, skipping with both feet for girls; shoe scramble race for boys and for girls; gum pick up with teeth for boys and for girls.

Age group 8-9-10—50-yard dash for boys and for girls; circle baseball for boys and for girls; baseball accuracy throw for boys and for girls; crab race for boys and for girls.

Age group 11-12—75-yard dash for boys and for girls; circle baseball for boys and for girls; baseball accuracy throw for girls and for boys; three-legged race for boys and for girls.

Sharon Pugh Wed To John Powell

Sharon Ann Pugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pugh of near Onsted and John Philip Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Powell of Tecumseh were united in marriage at the Tecumseh Friends church, Saturday evening at 7:30. The ceremony was performed by Terril Lytle of the West Rome Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. Edward Escolme, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Baskets of white gladioli and palms decorated the church and before the ceremony Sharon Muhn sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" with Mrs. Amos Wilson at the organ.

Miss Pugh wore white satin and Chantilly lace with head piece, necklace and earrings of pearl. Her gown was floor length and her veil came to her finger tips. She was attended by Darlene Feller as maid of honor and Marcia DesErmia, Marilyn Conklin, Kathleen Osbourne and Janet Horton were bridesmaids. Their gowns were net formals, strapless and with matching stoles. The colors were blue, yellow, orchid, pink and green and pom poms of matching shades made up their Colonial bouquets.

Barry Freckelton of Tecumseh was Mr. Powell's best man and Robert Brooks, Charles DesErmia, George Ruhl and James Hite were ushers.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception for 200 guests was given in the church parlors. Mrs. William Powell of Tecumseh and two aunts of the bride, Mrs. William Burgess and Mrs. Jack Stanton of Detroit were hostesses with Mrs. Raynor VanValkenburg in charge of the guest book. Another aunt, Mrs. James Kennedy of Toledo, made the bridal bouquets and decorated the church.

The bride graduated from the Onsted high school in 1954 while the groom is a graduate of Tecumseh high with the class of 1952 and is employed at the Tecumseh Products Co. After a wedding trip to Mackinaw City they will make their home in Tecumseh.

for the other major awards at this early stage of the game. That, of course, is understandable. The contest has just started. This week, however, will see the contest beyond formative stages. After this Saturday the race will settle down to the best of the contestants entered. Until then it is all equal and everyone can win. Anyone with the WILL to win really has a chance of a lifetime. If you can use a car or if $750 — in good spendable — cash means anything in your scheme of things, one of them can be yours if you have a little "get up and git."

HERE'S HOW TO WIN

The week starting this Saturday morning and ending Saturday night, August 14, has been designated as "Booster Week" — during which time the contest department of this newspaper will issue 12,500 EXTRA votes in addition to the REGULAR 25,000 votes on each and every 5-year subscriptions (or extension of previous contest subscriptions payments to the full 5-year limit) which affords late beginners, and early starters as well, a never-to-be repeated opportunity to really get into high gear, spurt ahead in the race and win the prize of his or her desire. This ONE and ONLY extra vote offer of entire contest may play an important part in deciding the immediate leadership for the Buick V "8" and also determining the winners of major awards just five weeks from this Saturday noon. In fact, anyone by putting forth a little special effort during "BOOSTER WEEK" can make themselves important factors and probable winners of the biggest, best and most desirable prizes.

CONCERNING GOOSEBERRIES

Few of us need a psychologist to tell us that the senses of taste and smell are the keenest of all "memory-joggers." Nearly everyone has had the experience of being suddenly transported to another time and place by an errant, unexpected odor. But it is a potent flavor indeed, the mere mention of which, can set taste buds tingling and memory working overtime.

It was a question about gooseberries that did it; gooseberries and where they can be found now-a-days. And it brought a sudden mouth-watering memory of freshly baked bread, spread with a dark, sweet-sour jam with a flavor like nothing else on earth.

Where indeed can gooseberries now be found! Perhaps there are a few around some of our older, unreconstructed farm houses, for at the time of that remembered jam nearly every "kitchen garden" had some of the low, fountain-shaped bushes, their branches thickly hung with little green globes. They were, and still are, especially popular in England, which perhaps accounts for their presence in the gardens of our largely New England forebears. In the English climate they attained the size of plums and when ripe were dark and sweet and were prized as a dessert fruit.

In Michigan they seldom grew larger than marbles and were usually picked and preserved while still rather green.

Gooseberries do not have more and better thorns. In the more primitive varieties the berries themselves have spines. The picker did well to provide himself with a low box for a seat (himself being a matter of grammar as the picker was usually feminine). Then, holding the laden branch gingerly by the tip, the dangling spheres could be stripped off without too much carnage. More cautious workers were old kid gloves but this was considered effete by the experts. Picking was only part of it, however, for then the berries had to be "nip-and-tailed," to remove the dried brown blossom which still adhered to the globe and the tough stem from its opposite pole. This was a strictly hand operation, very hard on the thumb nail. But a dishpan full of gooseberries in the shade of a maple tree was not bad on a July afternoon.

There are those who claim that, properly made, nothing was better than a gooseberry pie. But the "properly made" meant a cook who did not spare the sugar. Gooseberries also added variety to the winter's supply of "sauce" but it was in jam that they reached the pinnacle of delectability. They had, of course, other value beyond their taste appeal. Along with the rhubarb, currants, grapes, cherries, apples and the other fruits and berries, then found in nearly every yard and garden, they helped to supply the health food elements for which we now so largely depend on the foreign (to us) citrus fruits. They were fairly effective too, although there is no record of a baby brought up on gooseberry juice.

They even became part of the speech of the day. A chaperone or any unwelcome third person was known as a "gooseberry," whether because of the acid or the prickers is not apparent. Probably it was both.

There are still specialty shops that feature gooseberry jam and epicures still demand it with certain meat courses but its distinctive piquancy is gone from our everyday menu and we are the poorer for its going.

QUARTERLY MEETING

Tecumseh Friends church will be host to the Quarterly Meeting, Friday, Saturday and Sunday. There will be a meeting Friday evening at 7:30 with the Rev. Clifton Robinson as speaker. Saturday's meetings will be at 10 and 11 a.m. and 1:30 and 7:30 p.m. with a noon luncheon served at the church.

Sunday morning service at 10 a.m. will be in charge of Howard W. Moore as will the missionary rally at 2:30 and the evening service at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Robinson will be remembered in Tecumseh as the pastor who inspired Perry Hayden with the idea of Dynamic Kernels. He has recently returned from six years missionary duty in Central India and will go back there this fall for further service.

Rev. Moore, son of Howard Moore of Raisin, will sail with his wife and family September 3 for Formosa to take part in the Friends Missionary movement there.

RECREATION WITH CAPITAL "R"—Four girls in a downtown Detroit office heard small towns provide wonderful fun at low cost so they investigated. Taking a bus trip, they selected Tecumseh because (1) the bus stopped at a modern motel in town; (2) the short trip saved them money; (3) the Irish Hills and nearby lakes assured them fun.

Arriving early at the new Joyce Andrews Memorial Swimming Pool, they enjoyed a splash party. Shown at the pool are Lynn Nuechterlein, Kay Brenneman, Mary McGowan and Ronnie Mazola.

Later they visited nearby Irish Hills and lakes. (Local taxi service makes convenient trips to all beaches).

Saturday they dined at Bauer Manor and danced at Wamplers Lake. Sunday they worshipped at St. Elizabeth Catholic Church and Grace Lutheran Church. Also on Sunday they visited the Tecumseh Country Club.

Outside of food and gift purchases the girls spent less than $10 each and they had a wonderful weekend.

LAVERNE C. HARRISON SERVICES HELD FRIDAY

Bearers for the funeral of LaVerne C. Harrison held this Friday at the Collins Funeral Home were Kenneth Ives, Herbert McClure, Fay Van Valkenburg, Raynor VanValkenburg, Claude Bowen and Alger Roberts.

Friends and relatives attended from Flint, Eaton Rapids, Wauseon, Ohio, Dansville, N. Y., Blissfield, Adrian, Tipton and Sand Lake.

BAPTIST WOMEN'S SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Beland were hosts to the members of the Baptist Women's Missionary Society and their families at a potluck picnic supper at their Sand Lake cottage Thursday afternoon.

During the short business meeting plans were discussed for the food booth at the Lenawee County Fair in September and committees were tentatively appointed. The group also considered arrangements for the annual autumn church fair. Forty people were in attendance.

A Prosperous Community Is Important

To prosper, a community must have good stores, schools, roads, churches and all of the many other institutions and services essential to health and welfare. To get most of these, it must have a ready source of available money. That's where the bank comes in.

Most important, the bank puts the community money to work locally. This results in better living and a wider opportunity to all.

More than 14,000 commercial banks across the country help to make money move more safely, swiftly and economically into a stream of payments that give life to business in every community.

The United Saivngs Bank, which serves thousands of people in Lenawee and adjoining counties, is proud to be a part of the American Banking System.

To fully enjoy availability, liquidity and soundness let it help you with all of your financial problems.

2% interest per annum paid on savings compounded March, June, September and December 1.

1. You get the car that's styled for tomorrow—

$2227.88* and for only delivered locally!

In Buick today you find the fresh modern beauty that will pattern the styling of other cars yet to come. That's a major reason for Buick's soaring success this year. But note the low delivered price shown here—that's the clincher. No other car at so low a price gives you this advanced styling—plus Buick's great room, comfort, ride and V8 power.

*2-door, 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan, Model 46D, Illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as heater & defroster . . . only $81.70.

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Of this you can be sure: the new Buick you buy today will look modern next year, too—because that broad panoramic windshield will be appearing on other cars as a 1955 feature. So with the new Buick you buy now, you'll stay right up in the style parade for years to come—and command a higher resale price when you trade.

3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

Regardless of price class, Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of the "low-price three." That's fact. So with this tremendous sales volume, we can offer you a higher trade-in allowance when you buy a new Buick. Come in, see and drive Buick the beautiful buy. Then see for yourself how our volume business means a far bigger allowance for you.

Keep Using the Tape

A memo to Tecumseh Police:

That black tape you have spread across the roads in various parts of the city will get the desired results.

More than one Michigan city has successfully coped with speed demons by using this method. Signs like "speed is electrically timed" have a natural tendency to slow drivers down to respectable gaits.

Sure this method of catching speeders makes folks mad as wet hens but don't let this deter you. You are in your jobs to protect life and property—one child saved is worth making thousands of drivers sore—so keep on with your excellent program of using the tape.

You might even stretch it across Chicago Blvd. to snag those Barney Oldfields of the main drag..

Garbage Dumpers Warned

Michigan State Police have been instructed to give extra attention to enforcement of the laws prohibiting the dumping of garbage and rubbish along highways and in streams.

The special order was a follow-up of a reported increase in such violations.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs voiced a protest at its annual convention in Petoskey, when it unanimously adopted a resolution deploring the "practice of some inconsiderate persons throwing their garbage and rubbish along our highways and into our streams" and asking all law enforcement agencies to take corrective action. Other complaints also have been made.

Violation of the state laws prohibiting such dumping is a misdemeanor.

Advice to Teen-Age Drivers

A recent column by Sydney J. Harris in the Detroit Free Press should be clipped by parents and made a must reading for every teen-age driver.

Mr. Harris wrote in his column:

This is an open letter to a boy, about 18, who forced me off the road while cutting in sharply and passing me on a hill yesterday afternoon.

Dear Son: You may think you are a good driver, and perhaps you are. But I'd like you to keep in mind that most of your "skillful" driving is due to other motorists.

Anybody can whip along the road as fast and as carelessly as you were doing. There's no trick to that—the new cars are loaded with power and pick-up—too much so, I'm afraid.

Just remember that it was my alertness that prevented an accident on the hill, not yours. And the driver who was approaching us also had to break suddenly and swerve in order to save your life and his.

IT IS NOT your courage or dexterity that has kept you alive as long as this, but the prudence and politeness of other motorists. You have been trading on our good will and sense of self-preservation.

I wish it were possible to point out to you that your kind of driving is nothing but bad manners—it is not heroic, or adventurous or manly.

Suppose you ran down a crowded street, pushing people out of your way, knocking packages out of ladies' hands and kicking children into the gutter. What would be so heroic or manly about that?

Nothing, of course. Then why do you suppose that having 2,000 pounds of steel under you makes it any better? There's nothing to be proud of in driving fast—any fool can do that. It's a form of cowardice to threaten other drivers, not courage.

SUPPOSE YOU beat me at the getaway, or up the hill? What does that prove? Nothing, except that the car you bought is faster. You didn't make it; it's a commercial product. Anybody can buy one like it — and anyone can drive with a maniacal disregard for safety.

So don't take any pride in your deadly accomplishment.

A real man is considerate and polite—and takes chances only when it counts, when his honor and conscience call out for it.

On the highway, most of all, it's easy to tell the men from the boys—for the men have to save the boys from the consequences of their foolish and needless bravado.

What Will They Think of Next?

For motorists who want a warm car waiting on a cold morning, a manufacturer offers a portable electric gadget that automatically turns on the engine. Plugged in at night to any AC outlet, it turns on the heater at any given time next morning.

Future Farmers Harvest Oats

Boys of the local chapter of the Future Farmers of America have been busy working on their group projects this summer.

The latest activity was that of combining four acres of oats which they had on experiment. One half of the four acres yielded 45 bushels per acre, and the remaining one half, or two acres, yielded 58 bushels per acre. The two acres yielding 58 bushels had been top-dressed with 26 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre. The four acres averaged 52 bushels per acre as compared to 35 bushels last year.

The Partridge Implement Company donated the time of Mr. Austin Partridge, a tractor, and combine to help the boys harvest their oats.

The Walper Elevator is storing 192 bushels of the oats for the boys, and the remainder will be used by the boys in a ration to feed 150 broilers which they are raising.

The Future Farmers also have two acres of corn, two acres of soybeans and six acres of sweet clover. In a few weeks the boys will be plowing six acres for wheat.

Plans for plowing the wheat ground will be made at the next FFA meeting which will be Aug. 2 in the agriculture room of the high school.

Stamp News

BY GREG MASON

Oct. 25 two stamps commemorating UN day will be issued. Oct. 25 was selected because Oct. 24 falls on Sunday.

Dec. 10 two stamps will be issued commemorating Human Rights Day. The denomination and the address for first day covers will be announced by the HERALD about four or five weeks before the stamps come out.

First day covers are increasing. June 5, 1929, when the two-cent stamp was issued in commemorating the electric light golden jubilee there were 17,000 first day covers mailed.

Feb. 11, 1947, when the three-cent stamp commemorating Thomas Edison's 100th birthday there were 632,473 first day covers.

If you have yet to take the "plunge" into home-owning, you will be interested in a survey conducted by the University of Michigan.

Here is the company you keep when you buy a home for the first time:

(1) It is a relatively young group. About 1/3 are less than 35 years old. Another 1/3 are 35 to 44 bracket. Some of the home - buyers were so young they had to secure their parents' consent!

(2) Most have children. Of the approximately 75% with children, 30% have 1 child; 30% have 2 children; and about 15% have 3 or more. Larger families, however, are more popular again and many of the younger couples have 2 children or more.

(3) With regard to income, 1/6th are earning less than $250 per month; half are earning between $250 and $425 per month; and 1/3 earned more than $425. Naturally, the largest incomes were in the older groups.

From studying these figures, you can see that the "average home-owner" is just another name for "Joe Doakes, American." Home-buyers are in all age and income divisions. They are no different from other citizens, except they sincerely want to get ahead. And they want a secure "home of their own" for their families.

Why not join the ranks of home-owners? Call our office to see Tecumseh's best selection of home values!

When Does Sickness Become Serious . . . ?

This is hard for many to decide. When sickness strikes, there is often little to guide the inexperienced.

There is but one safe rule—call the Doctor as soon as any symptom appears serious. The early stages of any sickness are easier to correct—so don't wait too long. Call your Doctor for any illness that persists—call him promptly.

STATE OF MICHIGAN,
County of Lenawee.—ss.
Probate Court for said County.

At a session of the said court, held at the probate office, in the city of Adrian, on the 22nd day of July, A.D. 1954.

Present, HON. L. B. KUNEY, Judge of Probate.

IT IS ORDERED, that the 27th day of October, A.D. 1954 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the probate office in the city of Adrian, be and is hereby appointed for the hearing, examination and adjustment of all claims and demands against said estate; creditors of said estate are required to present their claims in writing and under oath to this court and serve a true copy thereof upon Verner W. Crane, administrator upon said estate whose address is 1906 Lorraine Place, Ann Arbor, Michigan not less than twenty days prior to the date set for said hearing.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, that notice thereof be given by publication of a copy of this order for three consecutive weeks, within thirty days from the date hereof, in the Tecumseh Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county.

L. B. KUNEY,
Judge of Probate.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall And Clayton Ingerson

Mexican bean beetles are not "south of the border" — they're here, bean growers and gardeners are reminded.

The beetles are busy now laying eggs — and there is nothing to be gained by waiting to control the insects later, agrees Ray Janes, Michigan State College extension entomologist. The important thing is to move in with sprays before they lay too many eggs.

The spiny larvae are more difficult to control later because of their numbers, explains the bug specialist.

Malathion is a good insecticide to fight Mexican bean beetles on field beans — but it should not be used on snap beans if the harvest is closer than 10 days off, warns Janes. Use rotenone-pyrethrum mixture on snap beans.

It's important to get the spray on the underside of leaves, where the beetles hide. Use 3 pounds of 25 per cent wettable malathion powder to 100 gallons of water — that's 3 tablespoons per gallon. For the snap beans, use 3 pounds of 5 per cent rotenone powder per 100 gallons.

Malathion and rotenone can be dusted on also. Details on their use on other insects and mites are available by writing to the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College, for Extension Bulletin 312 — "Insect and Disease Control on Vegetables and Truck Crops."

It will be a Cheese Festival and both women and men will have a chance to sharpen up their ability to judge good cheese — by looks, of course, and, even better, by tasting.

Donald L. Murray, Michigan State College extension dairyman, will draft a crew of home demonstration agents to help him put on the show. He notes that "we'll have some good cheese, some real cheese — some inferior cheese just for comparison, and a few foreign cheeses also."

Sometimes a threat to a crop turns out to be a blessing in disguise. Bean growers — faced with market losses from discolored beans — went into high gear this spring on planting certified seed. The result is that blight is not showing up, reports Dr. Axel Andersen, U. S. Department of Agriculture plant pathologist working in cooperation with Michigan State College. Beans that pull through heavy rains without drowning out should be in very good shape, Dr. Andersen predicts. But the heavy rain points out need for another bean country improvement: "You can almost tell where the tiles run," comments the USDA man, "by the looks of the fields."

As "Aging Is Everybody's Business," you will all be interested in the major decisions which came out of the discussion of over 500 persons who participated in the University of Michigan's Seventh Annual Conference on Aging.

Aging is an achievement; our senior citizens deserve the respect that comes from the opportunity for life long development and usefulness; preventive measures applied to today's younger persons are required to achieve these wholesome goals for America's aging population.

The discussion of how to achieve these objectives revealed some differences of opinion, but it was the concensus that aging is everybody's business and that the individual and the organization, at all levels of our national society, need to share a responsibility for bringing about an environment for tomorrow's senior citizens which will yield ample opportunity to be useful, productive, and respected.

Those attending the conference recommended the use of all means of mass media to bring about a new understanding of the responsibility of each one of us for making sure that the problems of today's senior citizens are not perpetuated generation after generation. Aging is everybody's business, they agreed.

It is agreed that the aging process begins at birth. For that reason, regardless if you are 1 or 100, one of the important things is good food in proper balance for everyone.

Discussing the need of calcium in the body, Roberta Hershey, Foods and Nutrition Specialist with Michigan State College, says that studies show homemakers are the lowest consumers of calcium. Mother's batting average is the lowest of all when families compare their scores on their calcium.

Everybody needs calcium every day. You know it builds strong bones and teeth. But did you know that calcium is needed for efficient heart and muscle action? Did you know that you need calcium for proper functioning of your nerves? Now, please pass the milk.

One quart of milk gives as much calcium as thirty to forty oranges or two large heads of cabbage. One quart of milk provides as much calcium as twenty-seven pounds of meat.

Milk is an excellent and economical source of animal protein, too, Miss Hershey points out. For example, three cups of milk contain as much protein as one-fourth pound of all-lean meat.

And besides providing high amounts of protein and calcium, whole milk supplies vitamin A and several B vitamins. Skim milk supplies these same important nutrients, with the exception of vitamin A.

And best of all, milk is easy on the budget!

Michigan homemakers will be getting into full swing this month on their food freezing operations. Berries and cherries are tops on the list in lower Michigan, along with beets and peas.

It is important that homemakers label everything carefully and clearly before storing in the freezer. Use a wax or soft lead pencil, crayon, or special waterproof marking ink.

Label with the name of the product, date frozen, weight or number of servings, type of pack, and anything else that will help identify the product when you are ready to use it.

If you rent a locker, include your name and locker number.

Keeping a complete record of foods frozen will help you use your locker or freezer space wisely. You might keep a chart hung close to the freezer, or a notebook handy close by.

Unless a record of everything is kept, small packages may be lost in the bottom or at the back of the freezer, remaining frozen longer than they should to be excellent quality. This list is also helpful in planning your meals.

It is a good idea to use all of one crop before the next year's crop is ready.

Foods specialists at Michigan State College say that vegetables and fruits keep 8 to 12 months, meats 4 to 12 months, and prepared foods from a few weeks to 12 months. Plan to use your frozen foods while they are still in excellent condition.

The Michigan State College bulletin, "Freezing Foods for Michigan Homes," first issued in 1950, has been revised and is now available.

The 48 page guide to the successful freezing of foods includes easy - to - understand directions along with a number of illustrations and helpful charts and tables.

Sections on fruits, vegetables, meats, poultry products, and prepared and precooked foods are included in the bulletin. There is a separate section telling how to prepare frozen foods for the table. Several pages are devoted to a discussion of proper freezing equipment such as cartons and wrappings.

Single copies of this bulletin may be obtained at no charge by writing the County Agricultural Extension office, Court House, Adrian, Michigan.

Nearly 250 Michigan bank scholarships are available for young people who want to study in eight-week courses in agriculture and home economics at Michigan State College.

The banks provide these $100 scholarships to help young people do a better job on the farm and in the home and to be leaders in their communities, points out Short Course Director Ralph W. Tenny. Classes starting October 25 will cover agriculture or home economics for two-thirds of the time. The other third will be on rural leadership, family living, parliamentary procedure and public speaking.

Recreational programs also are provided the students, who will live in Short Course dormitories and eat at the Short Course cafeteria. Sports, lectures, parties and musical programs are included.

Youths interested in scholarships—or adults who want more information or to make a recommendation—should contact a vocational agriculture teacher, a home economics teacher, a county agricultural agent, a local banker, of the Short Course Department Department, Michigan State College.

To stay lovely after washing, embossed cottons need different care from regular cottons.

Don't use bleach when washing your embossed cottons because they might turn yellow. Bleach also weakens this fabric.

Since the finish used for embossing also provides stiffening, none of your embossed cottons will need starching. Just hang them up, pull them into shape and let them drip dry, if possible. Don't wring them too much, as wringing adds wrinkles.

Also try to avoid pressing your embossed cottons if possible. However, if they do need ironing, be careful to iron them when they are dry instead of damp. Use a cooler iron than you generally use for cottons, and iron them on the wrong side.

A pad on the ironing board will help to make the pattern show up nicely again after ironing. A terrycloth towel makes an excellent pad for this purpose.

If a bleach is to be used on resin-finished cottons and linens, textile and bleach manufacturers advise a perborate bleach rather than a chlorine bleach, say specialists at Michigan State College.

BRAZEES ENTERTAIN AT CLASS REUNION

The Manchester High School graduating class of 1941 held a reunion Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Brazee of Tecumseh, with Mr. and Mrs. John Stoffer of Chelsea as co-hosts. There were 39 present.

Guests were present from Chelsea, Milan, Evanston, Ill., Ann Arbor and Manchester. Clyde Widmayer of Ypsilanti telephoned in the afternoon to wish everyone well.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Stautz extended an invitation to meet at their home in Manchester next year.

50 FFA Chapters Gain Finals In State Contest

The Tecumseh chapter has advanced to the final round of 50 in the 1954 Best Chapter contest of the Michigan Future Farmers of America, state FFA headquarters announced today.

Preliminary judging has reduced the field from 223 chapters in the 11th annual Michigan competition. Qualifiers included chapters from Owosso, Cassopolis and Williamston which were tops last year and represented Michigan in the national contest.

A revision of contest regulations in cooperation with the sponsoring A & P Food Stores resulted in a record-breaking entry list in this Silver Anniversary year of FFA in Michigan. Chapters are being judged on their year-long overall performances and their work in aiding members to become established in farming.

The Michigan Association Executive Committee has appointed a judging team to determine final winners in the contest involving more than 10,000 farm youth.

Winners of Gold and Silver awards and Michigan's representatives in the national FFA competition will be announced at a luncheon in Detroit Aug. 25. Chapters groups will participate in educational and recreational activities with A & P officials during the day-long program.

Golf's Trick Shot Wizard Will Appear At Club Here

Local sports fans are in for a treat next Tuesday from 5:30-7 p.m. with the personal appearance of Paul Hahn, trick shot wizard and one of the outstanding personalities in golf at Tecumseh Country Club, Leo Bishop, Pro, announced today.

Traveling pro from the Ellinor Village Club at Ormond Beach, Florida, Hahn has a repertoire of more than 30 incredibale trick shots. He combines a serious golf clinic (sane) and his trick shot exhibition (insane) with a hilarious series of fast-moving gags in a comedy routine put together for him by Hollywood gag writers.

A former player on the P.G.A. tournament circuit, Hahn discovered that there was more money to be made from entertaining than from playing the game seriously. He now travels about 30,000 miles annually.

He has the largest golf bag in the history of the game. It weighs 90 pounds and contains 26 clubs, mostly unorthodox, like the piece of rubber hose with the head of a driver tied on it. With it, Hahn knocks them over 200 yards straight down the fairway.

A note of danger is added to the exhibition by Hahn's "William Tell" shot. He drives a golf ball from a tee held in the teeth of a volunteer. In case nobody volunteers for the dangerous assignment, a member of his troupe performs the honors.

The William Tell shot is so dangerous and calls for such precise timing that Hahn has to check everything—even the dirt on his cleats—to see that nothing changes his height even a fraction of an inch.

The public is invited. They can bring their cameras and have a field day photographing Hahn's bizarre shots. Non-golfers as well as links addicts will enjoy the show, Bishop said, especially since it is conducted entirely in one spot so that the gallery doesn't have to do any walking.

Couple Hurt In Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Adams were injured in a car accident near Holloway last Friday.

Blissfield State Police said Mrs. Adams was driving west on Holloway road when she attempted to pass a car driven by Leland Piotter of Blissfield. She said she suddenly decided the road was too narrow for passing and she applied the brakes. Her car struck the rear of the Piotter car.

Mr. Adams suffered injuries of the shoulder and will be unable to work for a few weeks. Mrs. Adams was bruised. Neither was hospitalized.

Mrs. Adams was given a ticket for failing to stop in the assured distance ahead.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

HISTORY WAS MADE Tuesday when the first diesel-powered locomotive passed through Tecumseh. No. 9621, pulling seven freight cars and a caboose, crossed Chicago Blvd. exactly at 2:50 p.m., ding-dinging as it went. Not much nosier than the old style but perhaps a bit cleaner, after awhile, it went beserk, returning again and again.

A FINE NOTE from Dr. Verner W. Crane at the University of Michigan stated that the HERALD was the first publication to review his new book "Benjamin Franklin and the Rising People." His excellent study was featured in "Is That So!" several weeks ago.

IN THE HUSTLE AND BUSTLE and confusion I didn't get all the facts in the double drowning last week. Although I had the official police report, the names of Don LaBounty and Jim Wilson were not even mentioned. Yet the two jumped into the water and pulled Mrs. Moden from the submerged car. Jim was sleeping when he heard the two men yell for help. He went to the scene with Bob Hanna in Bob's boat. From another direction Don rushed to the scene. After dragging Mrs. Moden out, the two went back in search of her son but were not able to find the boy. Both men have been taking typhoid shots and terramycin treatments. Their courageous feats should not go unmentioned.

CAP Members Attend SARCAP In Jackson

Members of the Tecumseh Squadron who attended the SARCAP operation in Jackson Saturday were Lts. Jacobs and Appel who were in charge of Tecumseh cadets who refueled planes and cars.

Refueling planes were Sgt. Tom Maupin, Pfc. Lonnie Penrod, Pfc. Fred Deaner, Pfc. Jerry Robinette and Pvt. John Arft. Refueling cars were Pfc. Donald Partridge, Pfc. Duncan Harris and Pfc. Warren Naugle.

Captain Elmer Burleson, Tecumseh Squadron commander, furnished transportation to and from Jackson for all Tecumseh cadets.

A five-hour rescue of two "downed" fyers despite hazardous flying weather netted a "well done" for some 500 Michigan Civil Air Patrol members who took part in a two day search mission.

The simulated search involved a twin-engine Air Force plane reported long overdue somewhere over central Michigan.

The alert was sent out Saturday afternoon, but orders were that weather was "too bad" for flying, so the aerial search was held up until early Sunday morning.

Captain Calhoun has arranged for a group of Cadets from the Tecumseh Squadron to visit the Michigan Air National Guard at Wayne Major Airport when they will be shown some of the later type jet aircraft of all types.

Enthusiastic Contestants Are Due Extra Votes Through Saturday

By ROBERT W. McKAY, Contest Manager

Booming along on a wave of enthusiasm, added impetus being given by the ONE and ONLY extra vote offer of the entire contest in effect this week—as more fully outlined in the announcement elsewhere in this issue—The HERALD'S big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest is rapidly assuming large proportions.

This first breakdown, reflecting results obtained through last Saturday night, clearly indicates the majority of the entrants in the race intend to make a fight to the finish line for the grand prize Buick.

The current week will be of great importance to all entrants. "Booster Week" closes this Saturday night. Accomplishments of contestants up to that point will be published in next Thursday's issue. It is important for contenders to be among the leaders if they are to continue to receive material support from their followers. It is more or less a truism that we all like to back a winner. Nowhere is this more true than in the Tecumseh area. Therefore it behooves each and every contender to make the most of the remaining days of the week.

It is entirely too early in the game to evaluate the possibilities of the various contestants. Entrants are just now getting into their stride and it will be another week before the results of their efforts can be used as a barometer of their potentiality for commanding positions in the race.

Subscription List Grows

We welcome the ever-growing number of new subscribers being added to our lists, and also thank the many regular readers who are taking full advantage of this money-saving opportunity to renew their subscriptions at the special reduced long term rates now in effect.

Participants in our contest are, without exception, meeting with gratifying success on every hand in their quest for new and renewal subscriptions (the points issued on each prepaid subscription means, of course, the winning votes for them!) and this newspaper appreciates the wholehearted response shown by the people of this area, and elsewhere, to the subscription drive.

The encouragement thus extended this fine group of ambitious contenders for high honors and attendant awards — headed by that beautiful new 1954 Buick automobile, worth exactly $2422.-44—spells SUCCESS in large capital letters for this locally sponsored enterprise; and, by the same token, will better enable this old established weekly newspaped to serve in every way the best interest of this entire area.

"Booster Week" Ends Saturday

Remember, the one and only special vote offer of the entire contest will end this Saturday night—on or before which time SPECIAL BALLOTS good for 12,-500 EXTRA votes will be issued in addition to the 25,000 REGULAR votes given on each and every 5-year "full limit" subscription, or extension of previous shorter term contest subscription received before that time — and just a small handful of such subscriptions could make any contestant a very important factor in this race and probable winner of one of the biggest and best prizes.

NOW is the time, therefore, for friends of contestants to go "all out" for their favorite and boost them "over the top" in a BIG way while votes on both new and renewal subscriptions COUNT MOST!

HOW TO BE A LEADER IN 10 EASY STEPS

Here's an example how easily and quickly votes pile up in the big "Everybody Wins" contest, now in progress.

Twenty-five thousand votes or points are issued on each 5-year "full limit" subscription to THE HERALD (only $10.00 during contest) providing same is received at this office while the MAXIMUM schedule of votes is in effect.

Just 10 such new or renewal subscriptions (amounting to only $100 in collections) would entitle any contestant to 250,-000 REGULAR votes; and, as 50,000 EXTRA votes are issued on each and every $20 "club," that many "full limit" subscriptions would constitute exactly five "clubs" on which 250,000 EXTRA votes are given — a total of 500,000 votes!

Then, too, if 10 such subscriptions are received for any contestant on or before August 14—while the ONE and ONLY special vote offer of contest is in force—they would mean an additional 250,000 SPECIAL VOTES.

Therefore, a mere matter of 10 such subscriptions NOW would add up to exactly 750,000 total votes—a number sufficient to "bridge the gap" now existing between today's leaders and those with slightly below that figure—and enough to place even those last on the list well up in the running for major prizes.

Listen, wide-awake contestants, haven't you at least 10 good friends who would lend their support to the extent of a "full limit" subscription toward helping you win that beautiful new 1954 Buick automobile, grand capital prize?

Surely you have! Just try it and see for yourself!

48 Kids Win Prizes During Rec Field Day

The summer recreation program came to an end Friday with a giant field day at which 100 children attended. Forty-eight prizes donated by Tecumseh businessmen were won at contests for all age groups. Candy, orangeade and ice cream were served to all children.

Taxes

Mrs. Sallows, city treasurer, is reminding property owners that the dead line for paying city taxes without a penalty is September first and that date is only three weeks away.

A large part of the tax roll is still unpaid.

GOLF TOURNAMENT SCHEDULED SUNDAY

The first annual Tecumseh open golf tournament will be held at the Tecumseh Country Club next Sunday.

Entries must be in by 6 p.m. Friday. Out of town entries so far include players from Toledo, Adrian, and Monroe. The Galloway handicapping system will be used for all guests.

Prizes will be awarded for low gross, low net and for putting.

The feature attraction will include a driving contest which will be held immediately following play.

Tecumseh Man Charged With Parole Violation

Ingle was arrested by Tecumseh Police and State Police Sunday two days after he left the scene of a property accident while driving.

He crashed into the yard of Franklin Dauber, 7014 Green Highway, wrecking the fence and smashing flowers. His car came to a stop against Dauber's house.

After the accident Ingle drove off but Dauber got his license plate number and reported it to police.

Sunday afternoon Ingle was spotted on Ives road south of town and arrested.

Tribute Is Paid To Dr. V. Finch

Another of Tecumseh's distinguished sons has received outstanding recognition in the academic world.

The July 14th issue of a Madison, Wisconsin, paper carries a tribute to Dr. Vernor Finch, who recently retired as head of the department of geography at the University of Wisconsin.

Of him the paper says:

"For a man who has spent the best part of his 70 years trying to stay out of the limelight, Prof. Finch has gathered an outsize portion of professional kudos and person friendships.

"Long known as one of the world's outstanding economic geographers, he was honored by his U. S. colleagues in 1923, when they elected him treasurer and member of the council, and in 1938, when they elected him president, of the professional organization in the field, the Association of American Geographers.

"In 1925 he was named to the National Research Council's committee on geology and geography. The following year he was named to the special committee on the study of pioneer regions. Earlier still, in 1915, he was called to Washington by the U. S. Department of Agriculture to do special research on world agriculture; and during World War I he returned there as expert for the U. S. Shipping Board.

"His books: "Geography of the World's Agriculture", "Economic Geography" and "Elements of Geography" are classics in the field.

"He was one of the first men to use dots on maps to show graphically the location of the world's resources and products. Between 1920 and 1930 he turned out five series of wall maps for A. J. Nystrom and Co."

Dr. Finch, was born on the farm south of the Quaker Oats that is just over the line in Raisin township.

His parents were Ornan B. and Delilah Bryan Finch. He attended district school, graduated from Tecumseh high in 1904, received his B.S. degree from Kalamazoo College and his M.S. and doctorate degrees from the University of Chicago.

In 1911 he went to Wisconsin as an assistant professor and had been associated with that institution until his retirement.

Because he has been in failing health for some time, Dr. Finch's friends and colleagues have had to forego the testimonial banquet and other ceremonies they would like to have had on his retirement.

Instead they have done something which pleases him much more. They have made the office he used for so many years into the "Finch Seminar Room". It has been beautifully redecorated and refurnished and is marked, in spite of his protests, with his portrait and a memorial plaque on the door.

Dr. and Mrs. Finch live in a home near the campus of the university. They are the parents of two sons, one professor of mathematics at Beloit University at Beloit, Wis., the other a student at Madison. They have two grandsons.

Dr. Finch has a brother, Delmar, who now lives in Tecumseh and is related to members of the Bryan family.

Mrs. Hardenburgh Dies In Hospital

Anna M. Hardenburgh, one of the best known and highly regarded figures of Tecumseh's main street, died Tuesday noon at Herrick Memorial hospital where she had been a patient since the preceding Saturday.

The daughter of Frank and Josephine Wooden Darling she was born in Tecumseh April 26, 1880 and Oct. 15, 1906 she married Clement Hardenburgh who preceded her in death in 1930.

For thirty-five years her face was familiar to Tecumseh shoppers for during that time she clerked in the store occupied by Palman's, remaining under changing managements. She was a member of St. Peter's Episcopal church and of the Daughters of St. Peter's, the Tecumseh chapter of Eastern Star, the Pythian Sisters and the Past Chiefs Club and she was a charter member of the Business and Professional Woman's Club.

She is survived by a number of nephews and nieces who include locally Miss Garnett Saum of Tecumseh and John Saum of Adrian.

Beside her husband, she was preceded in death by two sisters, Mrs. John Saum of Tecumseh and Mrs. W. A. Kuespert of South Bend, Ind. and three brothers Stanley Darling of Detroit, Leslie of Ada, Ohio and R. W. Darling who had made his home with Mrs. Hardenburgh for the four years preceding his death one year ago.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hardenburgh will be held Friday at 2:30 p.m. at St. Peter's Episcopal church, with the Rev. Edward C. Dickin in charge.

Friends may call at the Collins Funeral Home until 1 p.m. on Friday. Burial will be in Brookside Cemetery.

UNION PICNIC SET FOR SATURDAY

Members of the United Products Workers and their families will hold their annual picnic Saturday at Toledo Beach, south of Monroe.

Union members are asked to show their identification cards to receive free rides and free use of the beach and bath house.

Call Christ The Hope Of The World

The Rev. George E. Walworth, president of the Tecumseh Ministerial Association, reports that every soul in Tecumseh should be aware of the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches which will take place in Evanston, Illinois, commencing August 15.

He said this is a meeting of paramount importance because it brings together Christians from all over the world to study the universal theme: "Christ — The Hope of the World." This great assembly speaks of our growing understanding concerning the responsibilities and opportunities which we face under God for the uniting of all mankind into one brotherhood.

As this meeting progresses, he continued, let the people of Tecumseh become fully aware of our part in the proportions of this gathering. The prayer and meditation of us all should be based upon the challenge of "Christ — The Hope of the World."

Pvt. Deming Is Army Grad

Pvt. John V. Deming of 3425 Paragon, Rd. Tipton, will graduate this week from the Field Radio Repair Course, one of the many courses offered at The Southeastern Signal School, Camp Gordon, Georgia.

He is the son of of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil C. Deming.

The Field Radio Repair Course, which is 25 weeks long, trains selected personnel in field and depot maintenance of radio equipment used by the Army in the field.

During his training, Pvt. Deming received a technical education worth thousands of dollars. He will now be reassigned to an active unit of the United States Army.

REUM TAKES PART IN TASK FORCE

Participating in the largest training exercise conducted by Pacific Fleet units since the end of World War II aboard the USS LST 735 is Russell E. Reum, USN, of 7173 Occidental Road, Tecumseh.

The task force, officially designated Task Force 12, is a unit of the First Fleet and consists of two aircraft carriers, three cruisers, eight destroyers, four escort vessels, 16 minesweepers, eight submarines, two destroyer tenders, two fleet oilers, two landing ships, three high speed transports, two attack cargo ships, an attack transport, a dock landing ship and a submarine rescue vessel.

About 18,000 naval personnel are aboard the 55-ship Task Force and taking part in the three-week long exercises, the second to be conducted this year by the Pacific Fleet's Cruiser-Destroyer Force Commander.

It is designed to train new personnel in all types of emergency "at sea" situations during the interim between tours of duty with United Nations Naval Forces in the Far East.

PCA BIRTHDAY

Leland D. Bush, Tecumseh, Director of the Southeastern Michigan Production Credit Association, will attend the 20th Anniversary and Complete Member Ownership celebration to be held by Michigan PACs at Kellogg Center, Michigan State College, August 19.

"We expect to have 500 farmers and their wives at this celebration, which marks a milestone in the history of these farmer owned credit organizations," he said.

Mr. Bush was one of the incorporators of the Southeastern Michigan Production Credit Association and recalled that 20 years ago there were less than 100 members in all Michigan PCAs. "The growth of the Producton Credit System to more than 10,000 members in Michigan is an example of Michigan farmers' ability and willingness to work out their own problems," he said.

BECKER FAMILY REUNION

Forty members of the Becker family gathered Sunday at the home of Mrs. Mildred Hartjes on E. Brown street for their second annual reunion. A potluck dinner was served at 3:30 p.m. for guests from Detroit, Jackson, Slyvania, Ohio, Tipton and Tecumseh and vicinity.

SILVER LINING

A SLIP OF A LAD whose nose hardly touched the counter came in with a big wad of gum Tuesday afternoon. After manipulating the gum, the chunky little chap breathlessly said: "Here's the money for the ad for the dog." We joshed with the bright little fellow and discovered there are no other Beland boys. Terry, the fellow with the buck, the only Beland boy, said he got his dog back.

SOME DAYS IN THIS BUSINESS it hardly pays to get out of bed. Last Tuesday a part on the linotype broke and Wednesday a part on the large newspaper press snapped. Each time we were temporarily out of business. This is not an essay on the hazards of publishing a weekly newspaper. What we want to comment on, though, is the fine work done by Otto Meiers in welding the parts. A linotype machine, especially, is one of the seven wonders of the world. It is one of the most complex and temperamental machines ever devised by man and it has thousands of precision parts. Otto not only welded the part capably but he did such a fine job that the part meshed with the rest and we were back in business. Without his help we hate to think what might have happened or what might not have happened. His efforts were appreciated very much.

You And Your Money

UPS AND DOWNS

BY DR. LELAND E. TRAYWICK
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS
MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

Americans are asking thousands of questions today about our economy. Will we have a depression? Will it be a long one? How many will lose their jobs? What can be done to bring on recovery?

This reminds me of the student who asked the other day, "What do you mean by a depresson or recession? It all sounds so unrealistic!"

This made me stop to think. I suppose it is true that only a little over half of the present population of the United States is old enough to remember the 1930's. We have had our "ups" so long we have forgotten what the "downs" are.

One easy yardstick often used for measuring a depression is unemployment.

Some unemployment is natural. But when the figures climb to 12 to 15 million unemployed then it is as alarming as it was in the midst of the 1930's. Even by 1940 we had some eight million unemployed, indicating considerable slack in the economy. This, too, we should remind ourselves was not in the days of a total labor force of some 60 to 62 million job seekers, such as we have at present.

Today, the number of unemployed is about 3½ to 4 million persons. This is not necessarily alarming. It depends on whether this is a trend downward or merely a dip of the season which will turn again with spring and robins.

But what is behind this downturn? Why are people and factories idle?

Basically, if total spending in the economy falls then employment and production will decline. This includes spending by the government, such as war sums for defense, and by business men as they expand their plants and facilities. It also includes farmers as they buy farm machinery and other non farm products, as well as consumers buying products coming onto the market.

The spending by the federal government is thought to be in process of being curtailed by some $5 billion for 1954. Some big businesses—such as General Motors, Ford and others — are planning vast expansion programs this year.

Still others, such as the steel industry which is operating at only some 70 per cent of its capacity, will be happy to use what they have rather than add to their worries.

Farmers spent some $1 billion less last year than in previous years and the forecast at the moment says that they will perhaps spend $1 billion less again this year.

At the moment, however, consumers have not shown a considerable drop in their spending. This is a very healthy sign.

The downturn at the moment seems to be one of some curtailment of production because business stocks of goods on hand were too large. Orders have been postponed until some of these inventories have been cleared out.

Such an adjustment was made in 1949 and employment was down by some 4 1/2 million. But recovery came quickly as it may be expected at the moment. If not, watch for deeper cuts in taxes and more federal spending to increase the purchase of goods and services so as to keep the economy healthy.

Christian Science Services Listed

That true happiness is to be found through understanding the spiritual laws which govern the universe including man will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Soul."

The spiritual nature of happiness is set forth in the following passage which will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (60:-29-2).

"Soul has infinite resources with which to bless mankind, and happiness would be more readily attained and would be more secure in our keeping, if sought in Soul. Higher enjoyments alone can satisfy the cravings of immortal man. We cannot circumscribe happiness within the limits of personal sense."

The prophet Isaiah's promise of peace and joy to those who spiritually understand God will be included in the readings from the Bible (Isaiah 55:12): "For ye shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing, and all the trees of the field shall clap their hands."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"Nothing to Sneeze At"

This year our town decided to do something about its hay-fever sufferers. Hap Thomas is our health officer, so he was made ragweed "inspector."

"Can't see why anybody should be bothered by a few weeds," he snorted. "I say it's all in their minds." But Hap went on out to do his job.

Then, yesterday, I met Hap—looking kind of sheepish. His eyes were red and as he took out a big handkerchief, he sneezed. "Know somebody who isn't allergic, who'd like a job?" asks Hap.

From where I sit, I can sympathize with Hap. It's no joke. But as Hap admitted later, he was dead wrong in scoffing at the idea of hay fever. Making light of other people's ideas and opinions is a familiar trouble with a lot of folks. Whether it's hay fever, football or a choice of, say, buttermilk or beer as a thirst-quencher, I'm just naturally "allergic" to anybody who "knows-it-all"!

The hit that's changing the sales standings puts you way ahead 3 ways

THIS year Buick has done what no other car has done in more than a generation.

This year Buick has moved into the lofty circle of America's three top sales leaders – a circle once dominated only by the so-called "low-price three." For today, Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation except two of these "low-price three." And each new month's sales figures strengthen Buick's new sales leadership.

You can't do better – if you want the best buy for your new-car money – than to look into the soaring success that is Buick today. You'll find this glamorous new-day beauty puts you way ahead in three important ways—that's for sure. So drop in on us—tomorrow at the latest—and see for yourself that Buick is the buy of the year, hands down.

1. More new car for your money

Buick prices start close to the lowest—just a few dollars above those of the traditional "low-price three." But those few more dollars for a Buick get you a lot more automobile – more room, more comfort, more V8 power, more ride steadiness, more solid durability—plus the advanced "tomorrow" styling that has taken the country by storm.

2. More money for your present car

With our great and growing sales volume, we can offer you a bigger trade-in allowance on your present car when you buy a new Buick. After all, the more new cars we sell, the better deal we can make with you. So you get the benefit of our great success in the form of a higher trade-in allowance.

3. More dollars when you trade

Because Buick's broad panoramic windshield has started a whole new styling trend, you can be sure that today's Buick will keep its modern look for years to come. So you are assured of a higher resale figure when you trade it in later on.

Come see for yourself why – Buick Sales are Soaring!

Our Bank Rates High

Probably a lot of you realize that the United Savings Bank of Tecumseh is the largest bank in Lenawee County in total resources.

But how many of you know that it ranked 52nd in the state when total resources are compared?

Even this may not cause you wonder until you examine the ranking of Michigan's largest banks as compiled in the Michigan Manufacturer and Financial Record for August.

The United Savings Bank is one of 129 banks with assets of more than $5,000,000. The list also includes 25 banks with assets of less than $5,000,000.

A closer examination will show the importance of the United Savings Bank's rating.

By comparison, other Lenawee County banks ranked 66th and 92nd. The Commercial Savings Bank of Adrian ranked 66th and the Lenawee County Savings Bank of Adrian ranked 92nd.

The banks that ranked higher than the United Savings Bank are located in Michigan's bigger cities. Banks with higher total resources are in Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Flint, Saginaw, Pontiac, Kalamazoo, Royal Oak, Lincoln Park, Bay City, Jackson, Hamtramck, Muskegon, Ann Arbor, Wyandotte, Battle Creek, Grosse Pointe, Birmingham, Monroe, Midland, Mt. Clemens, Benton Harbor, Traverse City, Alpena, Port Huron, Ferndale and Holland.

At the end of business in July the local bank had total resources of $14,584,917. At the end of 1953 the local bank had total resources of $12,265,979.

This is a gain of $2,318,938 in total resources for six months.

Of the 51 banks in the state that have a higher total resources rating only 19 of the banks enjoyed an increase in total resources for the period from December, 1953, to July, 1954.

But this is the clincher: Only two of the banks ranked ahead of the local bank had higher increases in total resources for the six months period. These two banks were the Citizens' Commercial and Savings Bank of Flint and the Genesee County Savings Bank of Flint.

No bank in a town of comparable size to Tecumseh has a better ranking than the United Savings Bank. In fact, the local bank rates first on the list of banks located in the smaller towns. All the banks that are ranked ahead of the United Savings Bank are located in larger cities.

We are mighty proud of this fine record of the United Savings Bank's growth and rank. All of us should be proud of this fine record.

But this monetary record is not the only factor for our pride.

There is another factor that should be pointed out. No financial institution can be any better than its personnel.

The staff of the local bank is unsurpassed for courtesy, cooperation, efficiency and helpfulness.

This, as we see it, in the final analysis is one of the leading factors in the bank's success and this same factor also will be of great assistance in the United Savings Bank's future growth and success.

Richard Beasley Wed In Florida

Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Beasley, who were married August 1 in Hollywood, Fla., are arriving in Tecumseh this week after a honeymoon trip through the Smoky Mountains. For the present they will make their home with Mr. Beasley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Beasley on North Democratic Street.

Their marriage took place in the First Presbyterian church in Hollywood with the Rev. Kerr as officiating clergyman. The bride, the former Joan Marie Meyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Meyer, was attended by three of her Hollywood friends and Mr. Beasley's best man was Joseph O'Connor of Lafayette, Ind.

A reception for 125 guests was held later in the American Legion Hall where a buffet dinner was followed by dancing.

A graduate of the Hollywood schools, the bride has been employed by the Hollywood Travel Agency. Richard has been recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps in which he enlisted after his graduation from Tecumseh High School in 1951.

Realty Views

Not long ago I stopped in a store and asked, "Where's John?" referring to a favorite employee.

"He's moving," the manager replied.

"Moving," I blurted. "I thought he just moved a couple of months ago."

The manager grinned. 'He did. This makes 14 times he has moved in the 4 years that he's been here. Why don't you sell him a house?"

It was a good suggestion. John realized the folly of renting. He hated moving. It upset his family each time. The 4 kids missed their playmates. And it cost money.

But, with a large family, John found it hard to save a cash down payment.

"Maybe you've already saved enough even if it isn't in cash," I volunteered.

"What do you mean?" he asked.

"The loan value of your life insurance is a form of savings. So are the war bonds you bought several years ago."

"Hmmm," John said. "I believe I would have enough if I use my life insurance! On my income I know I can pay it back. Let's look at some family houses. I'm tired of moving."

May we help you, too, to find a permanent, secure address?

CLAUDA
Has It — See Ad

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Attention was focused in tragic fashion, last week, on the water courses which skirt the northeast borders of our town. That system of ponds, river, creek and "race" which complicates and beautifies the section is a puzzle to new comers and not too clear to many who have enjoyed it all their lives. Which is the river? and what and why is the "race"? are the most frequent questions. Even explaining it, without drawing a picture or waving your hands, is difficult but we will do our best.

If it had its own way—which it has not had in the past 130 years—the Raisin river would enter the town from the northwest, paralleling the Newburg road, circle behind the houses on Brown street, cross Mill street under the bridge and swing north and then east beside the bluff of Burt street. It would turn south again along the edge of the golf course, circling west later to cross M-50, just east of the Button factory, and continue on its wandering way to Lake Erie. All this meandering is within its own wide basin. The Raisin must have been quite a stream in its geological youth for it created high bluffs and wide "river bottoms."

Evans creek, which enters the picture only incidentally, approaches the town from the west along M-50, turns north to bend around Patterson school, makes necessary the bridges at the cemetery and the Episcopal church, forms the basin which is the Athletic Field and—before it was interfered with—ran east and south to join the Raisin some distance below M-50 and the sewage disposal plant.

But the river and creek were not left to their own devices. The power they represented was the reason for the town's existence and almost the first thing built in 1824 was the dam across the river in Brownville. This flooded the area which has come to be known as the Red Pond and produced power for the immediate needs of the new town.

When more power became necessary in 1832, the rather complicated system that created the Globe pond was begun. This body of water, which lies just north of the Button factory, is impounded, not in the river valley, but in the lower basin of Evans Creek. As a power site it was ideal. The difficulty lay in getting the river water into it, for here the Raisin had cut its bed to a much lower level than had the creek. So they did it the hard way.

A dam, the Standish, was thrown across the river further north (just below Burt street where it becomes Milwaukee road) thus forming the pond of the same name. This raised the water level there above that of the creek. Then, south of the dam, a curving ditch, nearly three-quarters of a mile long, was dug which carried the water from the Standish pond around high land and into the creek basin or Globe pond. This ditch or canal has always been known as the "Race" although the term is not technically correct.

Thus, the water which encircles Herrick Park is the Standish Pond on the north, the "race" on the east and the Globe on the south, with Evans Creek cutting across under Maumee street in the valley and flowing into the Globe. The river, itself, after pouring over Standish dam follows its original course, hidden until it emerges at the highway in a jungle of its own making, bridge on M-50.

Water is held in the Globe pond by a partly artificial embankment and another dam and the real mill race was the bed of the creek where it flowed under the highway and on to join the river. The levels of the ponds and race are controlled at the three dams and at a water gate about half way between the two ponds. This last was called on early records by the euphonious name of "Waste-Away in the oWods" and through it excess water pours from race to river.

It all now seems part of an outmoded age, and yet the power is still there. The flumes and waterwheels which once used it, right at the source, to process lumber, grain and wool and to manufacture furniture, barrels and even paper are long gone. Now the power of the water is being harnessed, quietly and without apparent effort. The old electric light plant at the Red Pond is owned and still operated by the Consumers Power Co. A more modern turbine and generator use all the remaining power in the plant constructed by Perry Satterthwaite, east of the Button factory. Thus by means of electricity, the river which made the town still helps to maintain it.

Local Men Hear Benson At MSC

Four Tecumseh area men heard Ezrea Taft Benson, Secretary of Agriculture, talk at Michigan State College last week.

Those who heard the secretary talk were George McHenry, Garland Gove, W. G. Waldron and Merle Hendricks.

The talk was part of the 10th anniversary program of the Michigan Artificial Breeders' Cooperative.

And vegetable and fruit growers, meeting on the campus for their annual Orchard Day, heard Benson's talk also.

The dairy program also included a tour of the infertility cattle barn to learn about the latest research on repeat breeders. Educational exhibits and the processing of frozen semen were a part of the program.

The 96 bulls used by the MABC were on exhibit.

Fruit growers found out what [illegible] researchers are doing for their industry. They saw experiments with dwarf trees, spraying weed control, irrigation, pruning and disease research.

Vegetable growers viewed variety trials, hormone experiments and other research.

Families held a picnic at noon. The MABC furnished milk and ice cream.

At a meeting Tuesday evening, final plans for the Lenawee County Homemakers Camp, August 18 to 21, were made by the Camp Committee. A fine educational and recreational program has been planned. Excellent speakers and entertainment are featured each day and evening.

Saturday night, August 21, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock will be family night. A special program is planned for the husbands, fathers, and children who will be guests of all the Home Economics Extension groups. More details regarding the entire program will be given later.

The crafts taught will be of special interest to those who are developing a hobby. Metal tooling, a craft of many possibilities, as will be illustrated, is a craft for ladies attending full time. The second full time craft is the new and novel wire jewelry. These two crafts are offered only to ladies registered for full time Camp.

Ladies coming in for the day will be making the smart new jewelry, enamel on copper. This craft is fascinating.

The amateur or hobbyist will have a field day with these creative arts. The interesting thing about them is that they are not only fun to make but that they can be turned into profitable hobbies.

Our next important date is for "Operation W," Wednesday, August 25, when all ladies in Lenawee County are invited to participate in the third annual mystery tour prepared for and participade in by women.

The Lenawee Soil Conservation District, our hosts for the day, will want to know how many to expect.

A letter giving details will be received by your chairman and reservations should be returned to your home agent at the extension office, Court House, Adrian.

This program should be of interest to city as well as rural women. Soil and water conservation touches all of us directly or indirectly.

If any ladies not in extension would like to learn more about Lenawee County Soil Conservation, please send in your reservation for August 25 now. Call Adrian 167 for particulars. Watch your paper and listen to your radio WABJ.

Community suppers and picnics are always popular. Here are a few tips for everyone.

The food prepared for your community supper or picnic may be a hazard to health, — IF you fail to take proper precautions against spoilage.

It's the "stewed" chicken that stands in its broth on the kitchen table, or the stuffed hard-cooked eggs that waited several hours in the picnic basket, or the unrefrigerated cream-filled or custard-filled cakes or pastries that are most apt to spoil.

Cooked foods account for most cases of food poisoning in hot summer weather.

Though thorough cooking destroys most bacteria, it does not protect food against later contamination and then spoilage—if the food is not refrigerated.

In fact, cooking makes many foods and particularly protein foods, more soft and moist for easier growth of bacteria.

For safety, chill food as promptly as possible after cooking and keep it at 40 Degrees F. or colder until served or until reheated for serving.

Nowadays when so many people use frozen cooked dishes, care must be taken against spoilage during thawing. If food takes as many as three or four hours to thaw at room temperature, there may be spoilage. For such food, thawing in the refrigerator is advisable.

Consumer information service has given us information which will be of interest to every homemaker who does her family washing. The question which is asked most often is: Which washer does the best job of getting clothes clean?

The answer is this: No one type consistantly gets clothes cleaner than others. But the way the machine is used may make a great difference in successful laundering. For example, studies have shown that clothes wash cleaner if the machine is not loaded up to capacity. Homemakers often put in a full load to save time, water or detergent. But for cleanliness, it is better to put six or seven pounds of clothes in a washer that can take eight to 10 pounds, for example.

Homemakers have often been cautioned that overloading the machine may damage the motor. Studies have indicated that this hazard was slight in most washers — the big disadvantage of overloading is poor laundering.

Sheets, towels, work and play clothes and other cotton items make up the bulk of the laundry in most households. To get cottons clean, after pretreatment for stains, emphasis has been placed on the use of very hot water. The higher the temperature of the wash water, the better—but within a range of 120 to 160 degrees F.

Water hotter than 160 degrees F. damages water valves and hoses of washing machines and may cause burns. Some water heater thermostats are set at 150 degrees F. at the factory. Other may be adjusted. The possible range of adjustment may be between 120 and 180 degrees F. But remember your 160 degrees temperature limit.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall And Clayton Ingerson

Irrigation in this area has increased crops and money many times during the last few years as farmers have found the practice saving them time and labor. Fertilizing through irrigation water has become more common because of its adaptability to any crop.

Most fertilizers can be applied efficiently to almost any crop with irrigation water at any time during the growing season. The major plant nutrients, nitrogen, phosphorous and potash differ in the way they can be applied however.

Planning a new milkhouse?

There is a new bulletin out that shows how to plan and build one. It's available at our office at the Court House.

Authored by three Michigan State College agricultural engineers—J. S. Boyd, C. W. Hall and R. L. Maddex—and D. L. Murray of the M.S.C. dairy department, the publication discusses planning and construction thoroughly.

The bulletin tells, among other things, what points you should consider in the milkhouse location, and how the facilities in the house can be arranged for efficiency. It gives tips on wiring for the greatest convenience.

Suggested construction details for both masonry and frame milkhouses are presented.

Ask for Extension Bulletin No. 325, "Milkhouses, Planning and Construction." It is also available by writing the Bulletin Office, Information Services Department Michigan State College.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has some new evidence that close grazing or mowing of grass hurts the stand. The grass stand is especially apt to be hurt during drought or in late fall.

When 40 per cent or less of the foliage was removed, however, root growth wasn't halted at all.

A single cutting that removed more than a half of the foliage stopped root growth from 6 to 18 days. Repeating these severe clippings periodically, as in a system or rotation grazing, prevented root growth of all grasses 25 to 45 days.

You wouldn't let a baby run loose in the hot sun, bumped by adults, expected to eat adult food—would you?

Calves are babies. Their place is safe and observed in the barn, with a diet suited to their needs. They need grain before pasture.

Keep calves inside until they are 6 months old, editors Don Murray, Michigan State College extension dairyman. He reports seeing small calves out on pastures now — suffering from sun and flies.

Calves can't handle the amount of fiber in the forage they'd need for normal growth, explains Murray. They should work up from milk and meal.

Dairy scientists put 84 calves on test in North Carolina and found calves kept indoors were as healthy as those outside getting exercise.

Many good Michigan dairymen feed whole milk to calves for six weeks only and start calf meal feeding with a half pound daily in the third week, gradually working the meal up to as much as 5 pounds a day before they go on pasture.

Where skim milk is available—or powdered milk is a good buy—calves may be shifted from whole milk at four weeks and fed skim milk until the third or fourth month. Starting the second month, calves get a half pound of meal a day and then work up to 2 or 3 pounds of concentrate mix the fourth and fifth months.

A prime safety rule around the farm is to keep small children away from livestock. There is no such thing as a "gentle bull." The most docile old mare in the world will kick when a fly bites her.

Safety specialist David Steinicke of Michigan State College urges the treating of farm animals with healthy respect at all times. Keep them calm by acting with calm assurance yourself. Always keep bulls in a safe bullpen.

Adopt safe practices in the barnyard and avoid accidents and costly injury. Steinicke reminds farmers that more than 17 million man-days of work were lost on farms last year through accidents that never would have happened with a little care and caution.

Mr. and Mrs. Cass Zeluff left Tuesday to spend a month at their cottage on Reynolds Lake.

The Rev. and Mrs. O. E. Pries had as their guests last week their nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Ford and daughter of Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Virgil Bortel and sons exhibited their sheep at Lucas County fair near Maumee last week and they are at Wood County fair, Bowling Green, O., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar and son Greg were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Greunke and family of Toledo.

Scholarship Awarded

ORDINANCE

Meeting of the Village Council of the Village of Britton held on the 2nd day of August, 1954, at the Village of Britton.

Present: Mayor Wallace and Councilmen Ned Brown, Warren Lewis, Doug Fairbanks, Chas. Fairbanks.

Absent: Councilmen Carl Luegge, Wilmer Lorenz.

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Councilman Chas. Fairbanks and supported by Councilman Warren Lewis.

WHEREAS it is not the intention of this council to discourage the use and occupancy of house-trailers within this Village limits, but continued experience has shown that unregulated and promiscuous use of same is detrimental to property values already stablished in the Village; and

WHEREAS it is felt that regulation of same would be in the interest of the general public and would effect a measure of certainty to those persons already occupying trailers:

NOW THEREFORE THE VILLAGE OF BRITTON ORDAINS:

"Effective September 1, 1954 it shall be unlawful for any automotive trailer designed or utilized for occupancy, whether on wheels or not, to be parked or stored on any public or private property within the Village limits, save and except under the following terms and conditions:

(a) The owner or custodian of such trailer shall petition the Council for a temporary permit. If such permit be granted, the Village Engineer will, upon payment of $3.00, deliver to the owner or custodian a license. Such license will be prominently displayed on the trailer and will be in such a position as to be clearly discernible from the nearest public street.

(b) Each such permit will be valid for a period of one month but may be renewed by payment, before the expiration of such month to the Village Engineer, of $1.00. Each such permit may be renewed 5 times but no more. Persons desiring a trailer to remain for longer periods than 6 months must again petition the Council for a new license.

(c) This Ordinance shall not prevent the Council from establishing by resolution, from time to time, authorized trailer areas within the Village wherein the provisions of this Ordinance shall not apply.

d)) Any house trailer stored, but not occupied, is exempt from the payment of a license fee. However, said trailers are required to register and to display the license.

ORDINANCE DECLARED ADOPTED.

Ayes: Unanimous.
Nays: None.

Stubborn dirt in washable gloves whisks out easily if you first apply thick soap lather, roll gloves up and let them stand a few minutes before completing the washing process, say clothing specialists at Michigan State College. To dry, smooth out the gloves and hang them over a towel bar, folding thumbs flat against palm.

Double funeral services were conducted at the Ashland and Sisk Funeral Home in Morenci Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Florence Rose Modert and her son Richard Modert Jr. who were drowned Thursday night in Tecumseh The bodies had previously been taken to the Ashland Funeral Home in Tecumseh and were removed to Morenci the following day.

Mrs. Modert, who was 27 years old, is survived by her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Mills of Wauseon, two brothers, Clyde Overmyer, with the armed services in Japan and Russell Overmyer of Morenci; the stepfather, William Ward, man of Kawaguchi's Own singers, Mrs. Lyle Kitzer, Fayette, Ohio, and Mrs. Mary Harris, Osseo, Mich.; and one step-sister, Mrs. Alverna Brown, Marshall. She was preceded in death by her father, Elonzo Overmyer, who died in 1947.

Richard Jr., seven years old, is survived by his father, Richard Modert of Dearborn and his grandparents. Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery in Morenci.

REAL FISHERMAN

Eight year old John Oberlin son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Oberlin of Bowen Street had a real fisherman's week when he caught a ten pound pike and landed it by his own efforts after a fifteen minute battle. The Oberlins are next door neighbors, according to Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Oberlin of Hillsdale, were spending two weeks on Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron. They found excellent fishing but John's catch was the largest made.

Cookie's Coming To State Fair, Too

This picture is intended as a reminder for Michigan farmers that Friday, August 20 is the deadline for entries in this year's Michigan State Fair, September 3 through 12.

It shows two proud members of the East Orion 4H Club with their Ayrshires. Walter Cudnohufsky, 14, (left) holding Sky Light Cookie whose mother, Sky Light Betty Ann, held by Claude Clawson, 14, has been doing mighty well in various shows. She was first at the Oakland County Fair, second at the 1953 State Fair and third at the Lansing 4H show.

Cookie, the calf, will see her first competition in this year's State Fair and, naturally, she hopes to eventually do as well as her mother who also is entered again.

GOODWILL PICK-UP

Mrs. Carl Burch has returned to her home after two weeks at Herrick Memorial hospital following surgery and has resumed taking calls for Goodwill Industries pick-up. The next visit of the Goodwill truck to Tecumseh will be August 24 and anyone having contributions to be collected may arrange for their pick-up by calling Mrs. Burch at 868.

ONE HUNDRED THIRD YEAR — NUMBER 46 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, AUGUST 19, 1954 | FIVE CENTS A COPY

BEARDSLEY HEADS COUNTY GOP

In a letter addressed to the council Monday night, he asked to be excused from council meetings for the next five meetings so he could devote his time to his county chairman position. His assistant Dick Pearson will sit in for him at council meetings and report back to the city attorney. Councilmen accepted the proposal.

Attorney Beardsley was introduced as the new chairman at the county convention held last Thursday night in Adrian.

The keynote address at the convention was given by Judge G. Arthur Rathbun of Tecumseh.

Judge Rathbun, for many years active in county Republican circles, said: "We must be sure that Sen. Ferguson and Rep. Meader are re-elected in Washington."

A letter from Rep. Meader was read. He urged support of the entire Republican ticket in the Nov. 2 general election. "Our county slate can win," the judge said, "if we are organized and if we get out the vote."

He urged that door bells be rung to get the vote out Nov. 2.

"Women, as in the past can aid the cause a great deal," he said.

Judge Rathbun also stressed the need for electing Don Leonard governor.

Others from the Tecumseh area who took part in the convention were Rep. Rollo Conlin of Tipton, Herman Titley, Franklin Township Supervisor and chairman of the Lenawee County board of supervisors, Mrs. Guy Pocklington of Britton and Mills Swick, supervisor of Macon Township.

Tecumseh delegates to the convention were H. H. Hanna, Beardsley, Cornelia Walker, Florence Howe and R. V. King, Jr.

Tecumseh area delegates to the state Republican convention in Grand Rapids Saturday are Mills Swick, Macon, alternate; Arthur Eaton, Tecumseh Township, delegate; Florence Platt, Tipton, delegate; Mayor H. H. Hanna, and J. C. Beardsley, Tecumseh City, delegates; Florence Howe and Cornelia Walker of Tecumseh City, alternates; and Mrs. Guy Pocklington, Britton, alternate.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

THE HERALD REALLY GETS around. A reader in Toledo was contacted by two contestants working in the circulation contest. He subscribed and he wrote: "God bless these two contestants (he listed their names) . . . won't you divide the credit for the enclosed renewal between them?" Wasn't that nice?

THIS IS REAL MAIL SERVICE. Friday afternoon I called the high school, inquiring about a work permit for a student. Friday night of the same day the necessary permit, sent by mail, was in our box at the post office. Can anybody beat this?

A MOTORIST WITH apparently a lot on her mind drove up for gas at the Cities Service Station on west Chicago. Then she wrote out a check for the gas. This was O.K. Only trouble was she wasn't at Cities Service. She was at Purkey's and the attendant, who must have had a lot on his mind, too, accepted the check made out to his neighboring gas station. After driving away, the motorist caught on and went back to straighten it out.

MARY LOU DIBBLE, speaking to Rotary Tuesday night, said her 4-H Group that met Vice-president Nixon thought the vice-president looked better on TV than he did in person. "Frankly, we girls were a bit disappointed", she said.

THANKS TO BOB Williamson for hitting a homer pinch-hitting on developing and printing our pictures this week.

SIX SWEETEST PHRASES in the language, according to a survey, are "I love you," "Dinner is served," "All is forgiven," "Sleep till noon," "Keep the change," and "Here's that five."

IN BROOKSIDE CEMETERY, it is reported, appears this epitaph on a marble slab headstone:

Stop, stranger, as you pass by,
As you are now so once was I.
As I am now you soon will be.
Prepare with God to follow me.

Later, a passing engraver saw the monument and added:

To follow me, I'm not content,
Until I see which way you went.

There's a sequel. The item was sent to the late Robert L. Ripley and it appeared in his "Believe It Or Not" column about 20 years ago.

WHILE MEMBERS OF HIS FAMILY were settling the estate of his mother, Sam Robison of Clinton ran across a copy of the Tecumseh HERALD for Sept. 22, 1881, in a dresser drawer. Sam brought the paper in. In remarkable preservation, the six-column paper was published by the Stacy Brothers. This was one of 52 issues published just 31 years after the paper was founded. The lead story was about the death of President James Garfield and the paper was in mourning with its column rules bold and black.

On page one in addition to the mournful account of the President's passing were four display ads of Gainsley and Co., J. H. Sherrard's, Strong and McNair and Sutton & Swan's. In this latter ad was this glaring typo "Defy competidn".

Page two had filler material, including stories and jokes and six display ads of Baker, Sterling and Co., A. B. Cotton, Globe Mills, Wolcott and Temple, D. W. Clark and James Lowry.

Page three included the publisher's "Our Chip Basket" — one of the forerunners, I suppose, of this column, and numerous patent medicine ads, one of which was signed by C. A. Wright Drugs.

Entertainment was provided at the Opera House by Lew Johnson and the King Laugh Makers. Admission was 35 cents.

Topping the list of locals on this page was "Great events are crowding upon us." Also on this page was a report of a special meeting of city officials and other dignitaries who passed a resolution on the death of the President and forwarded it to Washington.

Tipton 4-H'er Speaks To Rotarians

Mary Lou Dibble of Tipton who last June attended the National 4-H Club camp in Washington, D. C. Tuesday night told Rotarians of her experiences.

Mary Lou, 18, was chosen to present President Eisenhower with a gold-bound volume telling the history of 4-H Club work for the past 50 years.

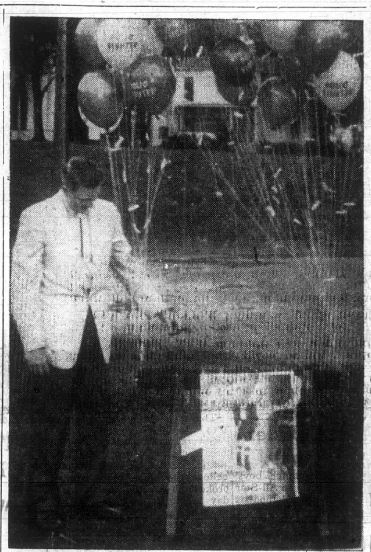
"President Eisenhower is just as he is pictured," she said, "and he's one swell guy".

Mary Lou, who has been in 4-H Club work eight years and who has had 50 projects, said the honor of presenting the book to the president was well worth all the eight years' effort.

She also met Vice-President Nixon, Senators Ferguson and Potter, Secretary Benson, Michigan Representatives and she appeared on television and wrote an article for the United Press.

While in the capitol, she also saw other points of interest including a tour of the Pentagon which was arranged by President John Hannah of Michigan State College.

Purpose of the 4-H camp, she said, was to learn about government and to practice citizenship.



EMERGENCY POLIO DRIVE—Sixty polio fighter balloons were released at the recreation field Monday as part of Tecumseh's participation in the emergency March of Dimes drive which began Tuesday. The drive will continue through Aug. 31.

Attached to each balloon was an appeal for funds and an envelope for contributions to the campaign.

Mac's Marathon of Adrian offers free gas, a free grease job and a free wash to the first three persons finding the balloons and contributing to the emergency drive. And the Clinton Theater offers free passes to persons finding the balloons and contributing to the drive.

La Mar Spohr, 14, of Britton, who had polio last summer, is shown releasing the 60 balloons.

Mrs. Rolland Reister, chairman of the drive here, said Tecumseh firemen also have placed cannisters for giving in most Tecumseh stores. Other plans, she said, also are under way.

Work Begins On Addition To St. Peter's Episcopal

Work has started on the new addition of the parish house of St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

M. H. Thielan of Tecumseh is the general contractor.

The $32,000 addition probably can be used about the middle of December but it will not be completed until some time in Jan.

The addition was designed by Jim Smith of Tecumseh. Architect was R. C. Metcalf of Ann Arbor.

The new construction will add about 1500 square feet of floor space on the first floor and about 2400 square feet of floor space in the church basement which is part of the building program.

The basement will provide class rooms for church school work.

The new facilities will provide an enlarged, modernized kitchen and double the present space for parish dinners and other social functions.

Funds for the addition will come entirely from the church membership.

Members of the building committee are Larry Larsen, Phillip Colgrove, Charles O. Butler, Russell Cooper and Leo Lohrman.

USAR OFFICERS MEET TUESDAY

All active U.S. Army reserve officers in Lenawee County are invited to a meeting which will be held in the chamber of commerce building in Adrian next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting is to organize a USAR School military intelligence unit.

TAXES

Mrs. Naomi Sallows, city treasurer, reports that $50,350 of city taxes have been paid to date.

The city tax roll is $121,526.

Deadline for paying taxes is Sept. 1.

Taxes may be paid daily at the city office.

THE YOUNGER GENERATION—This is a new HERALD feature. Representing the younger generation of Tecumseh are Cathy Jean Lask, six months, and Linda Jean Lask, two and one-half, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lask, 411 Center Drive; Lee Ann Schneider, 15 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Schneider, 302 Center Drive; and Ricky Rohrer, two, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Rohrer, 405 Center Drive. Council Acts To Cut Down On Speeding

Councilmen want car speeding in the city cut.

The problem was discussed Monday night after Councilman Schwartz pointed up the need for protection in Tecumseh Acres.

He said too many motorists are using the area for a speedway and some brag that they can zoom along at 75 to 80 miles an hour and still make the curve at Russell and Green Roads.

Councilman Schwartz who lives in Tecumseh Acres said: "About every week some car leaves the road on this curve and crashes into yards. Some day a child will be killed here, then maybe some action will be taken."

The council thought action should be taken immediately so it authorized City Manager Ed Nelson to check on the possibility of some type of guard rails on the curve.

Discussing speeding in general, councilmen believe that this use of the "tape" which electrically times speed in the city should be increased.

Mayor Hanna would like to see it used in a number of areas when work lets out. "It looks like we might have to make examples out of some of these drivers to protect life and property," he said.

In addition to Tecumseh Acres these spots were mentioned: Chicago Blvd., Mill and Logan streets.

Under a new schedule proposed by the Council, speeders caught by Tecumseh Police would pay $1 a mile for every mile exceeding the speed limit of the area. For example, if a driver is going 35 mph in a 25 mph marked zone he will pay a $10 fine.

Midget Teams Will Play Under Lights Tonight

Winding up the church boys' softball league will be an All-Star game. The Catholics, Methodists and Presbyterians are picking their stars to meet in the tussle under the lights at eight p.m. tonight, (Thursday).

John Hamilton, Don VanCamp and Lyle Harper have run the summer program for the boys.

Closing the season Thursday night it looks like a strong Protestant team opposing an experienced Catholic outfit.

The boys really play ball, and they would like to have their parents and friends come to see them as they play for the first time under the lights.

The probable lineups are:

Protestant Team — Michael Tucker, 1st; Ray Sluyter, 2nd; Don Martin, SS; Steve Kruger, 3rd; Anthony Kasik, LF; Bob Marsh, CF; Larry Titley, RF; Larry Anderson, C; Roger Mead, P.

Catholic Team—Tom Tressler, 1st; Sonny Evans, 2nd; Ray Miller, SS; Dave Weakley, 3rd; Steve Buku, LF; Robert Wilkins, CF; Wendell West, RF; John Weakley, C; Charlie Spreeman, P.

CITY WILL HAVE PLUMBING CODE

The City of Tecumseh soon will have a plumbing code.

Councilmen Monday night instructed Attorney J. C. Beardsley to draft an ordinance that will comply with the state plumbing code.

Interest Mounts

Contestants Step-up Fast Pace As First Period Ends Saturday Night

Contest Leader

DONALD OSWALD

By ROBERT W. McKAY
Contest Manager

More general and concerted action on the part of participants in the Tecumseh HERALD big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest has taken place during the present week than at any other time since the race began, and, with honors almost equally divided between a majority of the contestants, the "battle royal" now in evidence is attracting area wide attention.

The margin between the seven leaders in today's standing, appearing elsewhere on this page, is best described as "razor blade" thin. A subscription or two credited to any one of this group would materially change his or her position in the race and this statement will be borne out when next week's standing is published. Innumerable contests have failed to produce such a large group all of whom could be termed the leader at this stage of the game. The balance of the field is closely bunched and a real spurt by any one of them in the lower bracket could very well produce a new leader or leaders.

So closely arrayed are present leaders, in fact, it depends largely upon individual efforts of contenders and unstinted support of loyal friends during the balance of this week—while MAXIMUM schedule of votes issued on subscriptions is still in effect—as to who will ultimately be winners of major prizes and the big cash bonus awards.

PAST FORMATIVE STAGE

The race is now beyond the formative stage. Next Thursday's standing will reflect results obtained during the present week, the last of big votes since the "first period" ends this Saturday night and should give those who are following the contest closely, a comprehensive idea of those contestants who intend to make a determined fight to the finish line.

With positions constantly changing on each report day, no one contestant can feel secure in the knowledge that he has a firm grip on his present standing. Twenty-three days remain in the contest and any entrant listed in today's box score has equal opportunity for major awards when that final day rolls around.

MRS. J. BRADEN

led all contestants for the number of subscriptions turned in for the week ending last Saturday.

"FIRST PERIOD" ENDS

Realizing that this coming Saturday night marks the end of the all-important "first period" of the contest, contestants are striving mightily to collect all subscriptions promised them before the votes being issued on ALL new or renewal subscriptions takes a sharp drop in vote value.

These next few days could de-

Thieves Break Into Three Local Places

Thieves broke into three Tecumseh business places Monday night. They took $62 from the Top Hat Restaurant, 75 cents from the Tasty Freeze but they didn't get anything from the Dairy Queen.

This was the third time in two months that the Tasty Freeze has been broken into.

They also attempted to break into the Jim's Refinery.

Several weeks ago thieves did break into Jim's.

Police Chief George Kilbourn believe the same men or men broke into all the places Monday night. He said the method used on each breaking and entering was the same.

CODE

Tecumseh Township now has a building code. The new code is patterned after city codes. Building applications now have to be obtained for all non-farm construction in the township area.

Building permit blanks may be obtained from Clifford Curran, township building inspector, at 9531 Newburg Highway.

Ronald Kinsman Replaces Luedeke At General Phone

Ronald E. Kinsman, Tecumseh District Plant Supervisor for General Telephone Company of Michigan, became Tecumseh District Manager Tuesday, Southern Division Manager T. G. Sowers, Coldwater, has announced.

Mr. Kinsman's appointment is one of a series designed to increase the efficiency of the Company's district organization, Mr. Sowers explained, by bringing all operations under the direct supervision of the district manager.

Mr. Kinsman replaces O. W. Luedeke, who has been transferred to the managership of Sturgis District.

MACON W.S.C.S.

The August meeting of the Macon Women's Society of Christian Service will be held Thursday afternoon, August 26 at 1:30. Aprons and fancy work for the fair to be held Oct. 1 are to be brought to this meeting.

SHOUGH REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Gilman of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Moore were co-hosts in the Moore home for the 27th annual Shough family reunion Sunday. Following a cooperative dinner, Rolland Reister of Tecumseh acted as president for the group in the absence of the regular president. Mrs. Reister read the secretary-treasurer's report. Jack Stull of Dundee was named president and Mrs. Jack Stull, secretary-treasurer. It was decided to hold the 1955 reunion the third Sunday in August at the Hamilton Moore home. Ice cream and cake were served in the afternoon before the 65 guests departed for their homes in Pontiac, Ill., Dunkirk, Ind., Bryan, Ohio, Willis, Dundee, Ypsilanti, Wayne, Clinton, Ridgeway and Tecumseh.

The Rev. Pearce of Chelsea will fill the Macon church pulpit Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. Vaughn Whited expect to be home from their trip to the Holy Land by August 28.

Mrs. Clayton Bigelow was taken to Herrick Memorial hospital Friday afternoon with an infection in her throat.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moore and son, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Moore and family of Puente, Calif., and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ross of Hillsdale were Tuesday evening dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lilburn Burleson. Mr. Moore and Mr. Burleson are brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Papp and daughters spent Saturday and Sunday in Grand Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Miller and family spent last week in New York City.

Miss Linda Hoover of Clinton is a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Halladay.

Mrs. Edith Hampshire and grandson Dennis Wayne of Chicago came Tuesday to spend several days with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder.

Charles Bigelow of Beulah and Clayton Bigelow Jr. of Sault Ste. Marie came Saturday to spend a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Bigelow.

Mrs. Chalmer Bruder and children of Belleville spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilmore were in Manchester Sunday attending the Gilmore reunion.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship will meet Sunday, August 22 with Billy Swanston as program chairman. The sub-district meeting will be held in Adrian August 29 instead of in Macon as had been planned.

Truman Jordan Jr. was in Adrian Sunday attending a sub-district executive meeting for Youth Fellowship.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Scudder spent Sunday in Danville, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Walker. Mrs. Walker has been moved from the University hospital to a nursing home near Danville.

Corp. Dean Pilbeam and friend Pfc. Bob Whitney of Camp McCoy, Wis., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Pilbeam.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Osborne have returned from a trip to Maine.

Leroy and Sharon Burleson have returned from the 4-H Fair in Ann Arbor. Both won several ribbons on their livestock.

City, Britton Get Road Funds

Tecumseh and Britton have received payments of the state motor vehicle highway fund for the second quarter of the year. Tecumseh received $6860 and Britton received $785.

Lenawee County cities and villages and the county roads received $188,393.

The money goes into the highway fund from gasoline and diesel fuel taxes, weight (license plate) taxes and a small amount from miscellaneous fees.

Of this fund the state highway department gets 44 per cent, the county road commissions 37 per cent and the cities and villages 19 per cent for road purposes.

Julia Warth, David VanWinkle Are Married

Saturday evening, Julia Roberta Warth and David L. VanWinkle were united in marriage by the Rev. George Walworth, pastor of Tecumseh Presbyterian church, in a double ring ceremony which took place in the candlelighted First Presbyterian church of Royal Oak.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Warth of that city and was given in marriage by her father. David's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Andrew L. VanWinkle of Tecumseh.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Frances Warth, who was maid of honor and the Misses Judith Cowin and Lynn Weiner, as bridesmaids. Beverly Ann Bissland was the flower girl. Douglas McDowell of Tecumseh was Mr. Van Winkle's best man and the ushers were Kenneth Swartz of Tipton and James Wilson of Tecumseh.

As friends gathered in the church Mrs. Lois Dupsett at the organ played Wagner's "Dreams", Rubenstein's "Melody in F" and Tchaikowsky's "Piano Concerto in B Flat Minor". She also accompanied Mr. Allan Hannah as he sang "When Song is Sweet" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Lace and tulle fashioned the wedding gown of the attractive bride. A stand-up collar, square neck and short sleeves were details of the lace bodice and slender points of the lace extended into the tulle folds of the full skirt that was made over taffeta. Lace also formed her mits and the pearl-edged cap which held her finger-tip veil. She carried a white prayer book trimmed with a white orchid and strands of ivy.

Gowns of all attendants were of similiar style, made with waltz length skirts, boat neck-lines and short sleeves. That of the maid of honor was copper-colored crystalette over tissue taffeta. With it she wore matching shoes, short white gloves and she carried yellow pompoms and daisies. Daisies also formed a band for her hair. The costumes of the bridemaids were in turquoise and their flowers were pink. Yellow taffeta and tulle made the short skirted gown of the flower girls and her flowers repeated the colors of those of the other attendants.

The mothers of both bride and groom wore mint green. Mrs. VanWinkle's gown was chiffon over taffeta, made waltz length and she wore apricot colored accessories. Mrs. Warth wore tissue taffeta with a tucked bodice and waltz length skirt. Her shoes and small feathered cap were in a matching shade.

Mr. and Mrs. VanWinkle received their friends in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Zoralsky, Mrs. Valentine Maas, Miss Mary Schlecter and Mrs. Bruce McLain served the refreshments.

Mrs. VanWinkle is a graduate of the Royal Oak High school and of Michigan State Normal College with the class of 1954. At college she was a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. The groom who graduated from Tecumseh High school is attending Michigan State Normal College.

They will live at 2205 Riverside Drive, Trenton, Michigan.

The Silver Lining

Other advertisers listed were Dr. H. L. Stewart; P. B. Swick, the harness maker; Ed Rowland, the blacksmith; W. S. Coon, William McGowen and A. B. Cotton (shirts 50c—"these are cheaper than you can make them"); Tupper's, The Peoples' Bank; Joe Wilson, the bootmaker; and Primrose and McKinney, carriage makers.

On page seven of the eight-page paper was state news and a business directory of doctors, dentists and veterinarians.

On the back page was a report of the village council. The most interesting item here was the voting on building a plank sidewalk "of sound pine plank" on the east side of Van Buren street. P. S. McKinnon was the recorder.

There are other things about this 1881 paper that were very interesting, particularly from the standpoint of historical journalism; but some of these points are too technical to explain here.

Many thanks, Sam, for bringing this gem in.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK — Exert your talents, and distinguish yourself and don't think of retiring from the world until the world will be sorry that you retire. I hate a fellow whom pride or cowardice or laziness drives into a corner, and who does nothing when he is there but sit and growl. Let him come out, as I do, and bark.

termine the winners of major prizes and bonuses to be awarded leading contestants, prizes headed by that beautiful new Buick 2-door sedan, worth $2422.44.

After this important week there will be but 18 days in which to work for one of the big prizes. Contestants should resolve today to make this week a determining factor in the race while the maximum vote schedule is still in effect.

HOW TO HELP

Quite a number of people who already have subscribed to The HERALD during the course of this contest being conducted to increase our circulation, have asked how they might further help their favorite contestant to win one of the biggest and best prizes.

Our answer is . . . EXTEND your subscription now to the "full-limit" five year term—thus giving your favorite the MAXIMUM number of votes allowed, and at the same time, you, the subscriber, save the sum of $2.50 according to the rates now in effect.

By so doing, your generous act would not only serve a double purpose, but you could have the satisfaction of having done your share in making some one very happy, for a long time to come.

EXCHANGE CLUB ASKS FOR RIFLE RANGE

A request from the Exchange Club for permission to use the gravel pit off West Patterson street for a rifle range has been recommended to the council by Ed Neumeyer, manager.

The club wants to teach boys how to handle rifles.

Coaches Issue Call For Physical Exam

Coaches Lester Runk and Victor Lawson announce that physical examinations for prospective fall athletes at Tecumseh High School will begin Monday morning.

All boys of the ninth through the twelfth grades who expect to take part this fall should report Monday at 9 a.m.

Examination of junior high school students will be given at a later date.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir,

May we, through your columns, offer our thanks and appreciation to all who helped make the recent swimming instruction program at the Joyce Andrews Memorial Swimming Pool such a success.

Mr. Lawson and John Sisson did a remarkable job of launching a bunch of water-logged youngsters on the way to being good swimmers. The teen-agers who assisted in the dressing rooms were always most helpful, and if there is an award for tying and untying wet knots, and doing it with a smile, then Beverly is our candidate.

The children of Tecumseh and vicinity were fortunate to have the program offered to them at no cost, and we hope that it will be possible to continue the instructions next year and offer all children the opportunity of learning to swim.

On behalf of the children . . . Thank you.

Firemen Answer Minor Alarms

Firemen answered three minor calls last weekend.

Friday a load of straw hauled by Harley Kimmer burned a mile and a half north of Ridgeway. Sparks from the tractor caused the fire.

Saturday a chimney at the Dave Schroeder house, 3052 Russell road, burned out. There were no damages.

Sunday firemen answered a grass fire alarm at the home of Mrs. Ray Sniffen, 423 West Cummins street. Again there were no damages.

Dick's Oilers Win Tournament

BY DON OSWALD

Dick's Standard Service of Tipton, champions of the Men's Softball League, also are champions of the round-robin tournament.

The Oilers won the tournament title last week, beating the American Legion, 13-5, and the Friends Church, 4-3.

In other tournament games the VFW beat Wilson Motor Sales, 12-5, and the Friends Church defeated the VFW, 16-10.

Goodwill Sets Pick-ups Tuesday

Summer clothing, toys and implements that are no longer of use to residents of this neighborhood can be put to good use by Goodwill Industries, according to Mrs. Carl Burch, 201 W. Shawnee, local Goodwill representative.

Instead of storing or throwing away items that will be outgrown or which for other reasons will be no use next summer, housewives are urged to give them to Goodwill. These usable discards insure jobs for handicapped people who recondition them for sale.

There seems to be no easier way of helping others than by donating discards to Goodwill. It means neither time nor money for the contributor. It does even more good than a gift of money could do because it helps the handicapped to keep self-sustaining employment which is the very essence of happier and more productive lives.

The Goodwill trucks will be in Tecumseh, Britton, Clinton and Macon on Tuesday, August 24. For a truck pick-up in Tecumseh call Mrs. Burch at 868; in Britton call volunteer representative, Wm. Kuster, at 2121; in Clinton Mrs. Ward will take calls at 257 and in Macon a call to Mrs. Melvin Travis at 26 will bring a Goodwill truck to your door on the 24th.

SERVICES HELD FRIDAY FOR MRS. HARDENBURGH

Services Held For Mrs. Lulu Davis

Mrs. Lulu B. Davis, 70, of 500 E. Catherine street, Ann Arbor, died last Thursday at the home of her daughter Mrs. George Keech of Milan.

Born June 15, 1884, in Tecumseh, she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip C. Snell and a sister of the late Mrs. Franc Gillespie. She married James Davis 50 years ago. The family moved to Ann Arbor in 1927. Her husband survives.

Mrs. Davis was a member of the First Methodist Church of Ann Arbor and the Phoebe Beal Circle of the Kings' Daughters. She also was a former member of the Tecumseh Order of the O.E.S. and Past Noble Grand Club of Rebecca Lodge of Tecumseh.

Besides her daughter and her husband she is survived by three grandchildren and three nieces, Mrs. B. G. Ousterhout of Tecumseh, Mrs. Clark Rathbun of Fowlerville and Mrs. Galen T. Ford of Albuquerque, N. M.

Services for Mrs. Davis were held from the Staffan-Hildinger Funeral Home in Ann Arbor Saturday with the Rev. Earland J. Wangdahl, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

Burial was in Brookside Cemetery.

Here's why more people are buying Fords

FORD already has "tomorrow's" features

Ford brings you features today that the other low-priced cars can offer, at best, sometime in the future. Only Ford in the low-price field has the long, low styling of cars to come—free from bumps and bulges. Only Ford has the easier handling of modern Ball-Joint Front Suspension! And only Ford has a V-8 engine—the type other makers are swinging to!

FORD'S Y-Block V-8—the only V-8 in its field —is the industry's most modern engine

The world's leading maker of V-8's brings you the brilliant new 130-h.p. Y-block V-8. Its deeper-block construction makes it stronger, quieter running. Its lower-friction design lengthens engine life and cuts gas waste.

FORD gives you Ball-Joint Suspension for easier riding and handling

Ball-Joint Front Suspension is the greatest chassis advance in 20 years. It does away with old-fashioned kingpins. You get superbly easy handling, even on the roughest roads . . . a far smoother ride. And wear points are cut from 16 to 4.

FORD'S worth more when you sell it, too

Analysis of used car prices shows that Fords return a higher proportion of their original cost at trade-in time than any other car! When you consider Ford's low initial cost . . . Ford's low running cost . . . and Ford's high resale value . . . it's easy to see that Ford is your best buy.

And we are giving the best deals in 30 years

So many people are buying Fords that our overhead on each car is less. We can afford to allow you more. See us today for the greatest deal on the greatest car—a "Worth More" '54 Ford

Get the score and you'll get a Ford

CITY OF TECUMSEH
COUNCIL MEETING
August 16, 1954

Present: Mayor Hanna, Councilman Kelso, Moore, Schwartz, Smith.

Absent: Boshore, Titley.

Meeting opened with the invocation by Councilman Smith.

Minutes of the meeting held August 2, 1954 were read and approved.

Motion Smith and seconded Schwartz to refer the bids which were opened on the well house, pipe line and pumps, to our consulting engineers, Drury McNamee and Porter for their recommendations. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Schwartz and seconded Smith the bills amounting to $16,209.87 be allowed and orders drawn up for their several amounts. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Kelso and seconded Smith the City Attorney be authorized to draw up an ordinance relative to the Board of Trustees. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Smith and seconded by Schwartz communication from the City Attorney be accepted and placed on file in the City office.

RESOLUTION

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Councilman Kelso and supported by Councilman Schwartz.

WHEREAS complaints have been received a number of times regarding property owned by Ray Krempel, 206 McKay Street, Saline, Michigan; said property being situated on Park Street of this city; and

WHERAS the walls of a basement on said property are unsafe and its condition is unhealthy; and

WHEREAS said Ray Krempel has refused to abate the nuisance after having been notified twice of its condition.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That if on the expiration of 30 days from date Ray Krempel has not taken action to abate the nuisance on said property, then the City Manager shall take what steps as are necessary to abate said nuisance, the expense of same to be added to the tax roll and assessed to the property.

2. That the City Clerk be instructed to mail a copy of this resolution to:

Ray Krempel, 206 West McKay, Saline, Michigan.

Motion Kelso and seconded Schwartz the resolution be adopted. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Smith and seconded Moore the City Managers report be accepted and placed on file in the City office.

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Councilman Smith and supported by Councilman Kelso.

WHEREAS the Council has been petitioned to vacate an alley described as beginning in the South Line of Muscody Street 132 feet from the West line of Evans Street, and running South for 138 feet, and being 12 feet in width; and

WHEREAS it is anticipated that there will be objections to the vacating of said alley.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That 9:00 p.m. at the regular Council meeting on September 27, 1954 be designated as the time and place when opponents and proponents of such vacation may be heard.

2. That the City Clerk be instructed to cause this Resolution to be published in the Tecumseh Herald on the following dates so that all interested parties may have notice thereof:

August 26, 1954
September 2, 1954
September 9, 1954
September 16, 1954

Motion Smith and seconded Kelso the resolution be adopted. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Kelso and seconded Smith an ordinance be drawn up by the City Attorney regarding building permit fees in accordance with the City Manager recommendation. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion Kelso and seconded Schwartz the city attorney draw up a plumbing ordinance to comply with the State Plumbing Code. Motion carried unanimously.

Mr. Lester of College Parks Homes, Inc. approached the City Council regarding sewer and water on Burt Street. The Council advised Mr. Lester to consult the Veterans Administration regarding a raise in their commitments of approximately $250.00 per lot to help to take care of this installation, with the City of Tecumseh installing water on the remaining nine lots, and sewer as far as practical without a lift station or raise in the elevation of the city street. The city to stand the additional cost if any. Mr. Lester is to contact the City Office as soon as information is available. The clerk is authorized to write a letter to the Veterans Administration incorporating this statement.

City Manager was advised to investigate the possibility of putting in guard rails on the corner of Green road and Russell road.

Motion Kelso and seconded Moore the meeting adjourn. Motion carried unanimously.

YOU AND YOUR MONEY

CHARGE IT!

BY DR. LAWRENCE S. RITTER
ASSISTANT PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS
MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE

The easiest way to buy something is merely to say "charge it!"

The only real difficulty with this method is that the first of the following month finds the mail-box crammed with charge account bills. Except for this one rather disillusioning element, there is nothing that one can find to say against buying things with a charge account..

In fact, the method has everything to recommend it.

In the first place, you can buy something without using any money. This in itself is a fascinating experience. There once was a time when only the rich, the social blue-bloods, the elite, could walk into a store, look around, select what they wished, and say "Bill me," with an airy flick of their wrist.

Now anyone can do it. This is truly democracy at work! In older days only the elite got bills the first of every month. But with democracy in action, now everyone gets bills the first of the month!

Charge accounts, as well as other forms of credit for consumers, have risen greatly since the end of World War II. Total charge account credit outstanding in the U.S. at the end of 1945 was a little over one and one-half billion dollars. At the end of 1953 it was close to three and one half billion dollars. This does not count other types of consumer loans, such as those to purchase automobiles, which is the largest item of this sort, itself totaling over ten billion dollars as of the end of 1953.

Of course, there are some who object to the good old American institution of easy-to-get charge accounts. But these dissatisfied souls are easily dismissed. The chances are great that they are perennial malcontents who grouch at everything and believe in nothing. They are likely to be either Communists, whose basic aim it is to overthrow the social order anyway, or husbands, who keep thinking of that one fly in the ointment—the first of the following month.

In either case we cannot take them very seriously. There are always a few who never appreciate the finer things in life and object to true progress. The best thing to do is to assume that they had unhappy childhoods and not get angry at them.

We can therefore recommend using charge accounts as a method of buying things. It is a highly respected institution, it inflates the ego, it builds self-confidence, you can buy without spending any money, and last, but not least, everybody does it. All in all, it sounds perfect.

Did somebody say something about the first of next month . . ?

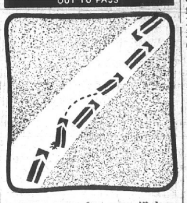
BUILDING PROGRAM NEARLY COMPLETED

The building program of the Methodist church, which has been under way since early spring, is nearly completed. The parsonage committee, headed by Mrs. George Green Sr., reports that hardwood floors have been laid in four rooms and new linen closets installed. The new roof on the church has been completed and the new church doors are on hand and will be hung shortly.

The repairs are nearly all paid for but further donations are needed to complete the roof. Luther Wood is treasurer of the building fund.

There will be a meeting of the church official board August 19. Robert Bonner is president.



"First come first served" is a good old American custom. When you pull out to pass, and there is a driver behind you who no doubt has the same plan in mind, you are following this custom. But be sure that you let him know by signalling before he thinks he's first and moves out and an accident becomes likely.

This is one of the most important uses of the rear vision mirror. Study the driver behind. Is he centered in his lane or is he edging toward the left of it? If he seems likely to stay put for a minute then make your left turn signal and pull out to start your passing maneuver — assuming conditions are safe up ahead.

Sarah Ann Brown Wed To Bruce H. Corley Saturday

Tecumseh's historic St. Peter's Episcopal church was the setting of a lovely wedding Saturday evening when Sarah Ann Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis M. Brown became the bride of Bruce Hum Corley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence L. Corley of Adrian.

All white flowers decorated the church, white gladioli and fugi mums filling the altar vases and being used in the large hampers before the sanctuary. Palms and candelabra backed the altar rail and cathedral candles in tall holders cast a soft glow over the wedding party. White flowers with satin bows also decorated each pew.

The Rev. Edward C. Dickin, rector of St. Peter's, performed the double ring ceremony, and two vocal solos, "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer" were sung by Miss Arlene Richards, a sorority sister of the bride from Berwyn, Ill.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was preceded to the altar by her maid of honor, Miss Betty Jo Hanna and her bridesmaids, Mrs. William K. Brown, Mrs. Curtis B. Brown, Miss Margaret Touborg and Miss Carleen Corley, and by little Cathy Brown, her niece, who was flower girl. Mrs. William and Mrs. Curtis B. Brown are sisters-in-law of the bride while Miss Corley is the groom's sister.

Clarence L. Corley acted as his son's best man and the ushers were William K. Brown, Curtis B. Brown and two cousins of the groom, Earl Montgomery and Bertrum Ostrum.

For her wedding gown, Miss Brown had chosen imported Chantilly lace which was made over blush pink tulle and white satin. The full hooped skirt was draped in front over pink tulle ruffles and swept into a full chapel train. The long sleeved bodice was closely fitted and had a bateau neckline. Seed pearls outlined the neck and also trimmed the lace cap which held the double, finger-tip length veil. She carried a lace covered Bible with five white orchids mingled with stephanotis.

The gowns of all attendants were identical in style, with fitted sleeveless lace bodices and waltz length, hoop skirts of nylon tulle banded by taffeta under lace. Each wore a matching tulle head band and short mitts. The maid of honor was in light blue as was the flower girl, while two bridesmaids wore corn flower blue and the others dusty pink. They carried crescent arm bouquets, that of the maid of honor being of white Rubrum lillies, red rosettes and matching velvet leaves while the bridesmaids were of crimson Rubrum lilies and velvet leaves. The flower girl carried a nosegay of crimson rosettes bordered with tulle to match her dress.

Grey lace in floor length with matching accessories was chosen by Mrs. Curtis M. Brown for her daughter's wedding and pink cymbidium orchids formed her corsage. Mrs. Corley, mother of the groom, was gowned in waltz length Periwinkle blue lace. Her accessories were white and her corsage of white cattleya orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Larsen were hosts at the reception for 275 guests which followed the ceremony at the Tecumseh Country Club. There the decorations were pale pink gladioli and fugi mums in tall hampers before the fireplace, long arrangements on the mantle and many other lovely bouquets. The twin wedding cakes, encircled with rosebuds, lilies and smilax and topped with a miniature bride and groom were cut by Mrs. P. G. Colgrove and Mrs. F. G. Purcell at a table flounced with organdy.

Mrs. J. K. Touborg and Mrs. H. H. Hanna presided at the coffee urns while Miss Lola Hammond and Miss Marlene Karas, sorority sisters of the bride served the punch. Pink linen cloths appliqued in white organdy covered the serving tables which were decorated with floral arrangements in silver bowls flanked by candles in silver holders.

A navy blue suit was worn by Mrs. Corley when the couple left for a week's trip through northern Michigan. Both will resume their studies at Western Michigan College in September.

Buick's biggest hit brings you a 3-way bonus

1. You get the car that's in step with tomorrow

From stem to stern, Buick today is styled a year ahead—with long, low glamor lines, with the very look of tomorrow, and with that broad panoramic windshield that many other cars won't have till 1955. Equally important, you get in Buick advanced V8 power, big room, luxurious comfort, the famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Is it any wonder, then, that Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three"?

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Buicks have always had a high trade-in value. But the 1954 Buick has an extra advantage in its year-ahead styling. That means your Buick will stay well up in the style parade for years to come—will stay fresh and new-looking well into the future. So you're bound to be way ahead in actual dollars when trade-in time comes.

3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

Every month's sales figures this year have firmed this fact: Buick sales are soaring; Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation, regardless of price range, except two of the "low-price three." So with this tremendous volume, we can—and do—offer higher trade-in allowances. Come in, see and drive a new Buick—then check for yourself that our volume business really does mean a far bigger allowance for you.

Come see for yourself why—

Buick Sales are Soaring!

Commenting on the Passing Scene

THE NEED FOR A BRANCH Secretary of State's office in Tecumseh is still with us. And the same question can be raised again: Why don't we have a branch office here so we can buy our license plates locally without having to go to the county seat and stand in line for plates?

This question has been raised again and again and some folks keep repeating the same old refrain: "Don't get excited —just let things take care of themselves." This is the trouble. Nobody has been excited enough so Tecumseh, a city of almost 6000 with another 4000 in the immediate area, is still without a branch office.

This inertia by those who claimed they had an inside track for getting such an office here is the reason for this little piece. And there is another reason, too.

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce one day will need a full time salaried secretary. But (it is no secret) the chamber does not have the funds to pay adequately a "ball of fire" to take the job. Tecumseh needs such a person to promote this new city.

In other cities that we have worked in, the branch manager of the secretary of state's office and the chamber of commerce secretary jobs have been consolidated. And we know this arrangement works because we have seen it work.

For the most part, the secretary is paid from funds earned as branch manager of the secretary of state's office. This financial arrangement could certainly work to the benefit of the local chamber of commerce and it would serve a useful purpose of having the secretary of state's office here.

This is only a suggestion. It would never have been raised if circumstances had been different and action had been taken on acquiring a branch office here. But nothing concrete has been done. Now is the time to do something. The chamber of commerce can take the ball from here on in and it is hoped it can score.

HOW STUPID CAN OUR federal officials get?

They now are going to use government funds to pay a lawyer to represent Sen. McCarthy in the forthcoming Senate investigation of the Wisconsin senator's official conduct.

Sen. McCarthy suggested that the Senate pay his lawyer and both Republicans and Senators agreed. Part of a $30,000 (maybe all of it) will be used to pay McCarthy's mouth piece.

We thought there was some talk about cutting down unnecessary government spending.

Personally, we are sick of the whole sordid mess that has made our official family in Washington a laughing stock both here and abroad. The tragic part is that it is no laughing matter.

HOW MUCH IS A dime worth? Of course, you will say 10 cents and with the inflated dollar we supose a thin ten-cent piece is worth only a nickel.

But this is not what we mean.

Because polio-fighting funds have been drained to exhaustion August 16 through 31 has been set aside as an emergency March of Dimes campaign.

Ten cents may not be much; but if we all contribute to this emergency drive our collective dimes will mean a great little piece. And there is anoher reason, too.

Give generously. You can never tell when polio may hit very close to home.

DON'T DESPAIR. Dial phones will come to Tecumseh some day. It will probably be within the next five years, maybe less.

The General Telephone Company has an overall plan to equip all of its exchanges with the dial phones with the smaller exchanges getting dial phones first.

The complete change-over will cost the company about $16,000,000. It is quite a complex job and a costly one. But don't become too impatient. Think of the future. Tecumseh, too, will have the modern phones some day.

ONLY A TEXAN would do it.

Gene Thompson, a crop-dusting flyer, flew his light plane under two Thames River bridges in London and took off for home before London police could catch him.

He did it because his girl friend asked him to and, he said, he could not refuse her.

After he did it, she accepted his proposal.

It does beat all what a Texan in love will do.

Realty Views

When we were called in to tell the Street's acreage, we learned a lot had happened before. The home was nice, but unfinished. It had been built piecemeal over 4 years. Also, the Streets had tried, unsuccessfully, to sell it themselves. They realized their need for selling help.

"To sell your place quickly, you'll have to complete the unfinished work. That's not just eye appeal. Any loan company will demand that it be done. So let's get it out of the way now."

"Okay," Mr. Street said, "I think it will cost us about $500. We asked $9500 for our property before. Can we get the extra money back?"

"Yes," I said, "It'll be worth $10,500 completed."

Before long, the work was done. "I've waited 4 years to have it look this nice, Mrs. Street said, "I sure hate to sell it now that it's finished."

With a new loan appraisal and considerable promotion, we sold the acreage within a week after the work was completed. Everyone commented on the attractiveness of the property, instead of worrying about finishing the house.

When we handed him a sales contract to sign, Mr. Street said, "There is more to selling real estate than meets the eye. We're both pleased we called on you to help us."

Why not call on us to sell your property?

Musical Tea Attended By 80

The more than 80 people who attended the musical tea arranged by the ladies of the Methodist church last Wednesday expressed enthusiasm for a very pleasant afternoon. Lovely roses from the gardens of Mrs. Edward Leighton and David Gibson, Heavenly Blue morning glories from Miss Lillian Cannon and gladioli furnished by Mrs. W. G. Waldron decorated the tables and piano. Mrs. Leighton, Mrs. James Artman and Mrs. Ernest Robinson were the hostesses for the tea and the excellent program was in charge of Mrs. Waldron.

The Misses Ruth and Julia Boyce opened with a piano duet, playing Grieg's "Concerto." This was followed by two vocal selections by Diane Woodward, "My Lover Is a Fisherman" and "Such a Lil' Fellow." "Goliwag Cakewalk," as a piano solo was then played by Brenda Porter after which Lyle Harper, the church's summer pastor, sang two negro spirituals, "Deep River" and "Nobody Knows."

Mrs. Henry Vaughn of Clinton afforded an unusual and interesting interlude at this point, presenting by tape recording a round table discussion recently given over WABJ. The subject was "What My Vote Means to Me" and Mrs. Vaughn interviewed Clinton's supervisor, William Schnerlia and several newly naturalized American citizens.

A two piano duet, "Beautiful Blue Danube," played by Mrs. Arthur Schwartz and Mrs. George Schippers was next on the program after which Miss Martha Hayden sang "The Green Dog" and "The Wooden Soldier."

Twenty minutes of group singing was then led by Lyle Harper with Mrs. Waldron at the piano during which Mr. Harper, recognizing the excellently trained voice of Mrs. R. S. Moore requested and was granted a solo from her.

The final vocal selections were rendered by Wallace Whiting, who sang "Hills of Home," "Invictus" and "Who is Sylvia" and a most inspiring program was ended by a two piano arrangement of the Lucrezia Overture" played by Diane Woodward, Brenda Porter, Mrs. Schwartz and Mrs. Schippers.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

From the Desks of Louis Hall And Clayton Ingerson

Four-H Club members from Lenawee county are eligible to compete for the all expense trips awarded winners at the State Show at Michigan State College Aug. 21 to Sept. 1.

The final eliminations for the judging and demonstration contests will be made on Thursday and Friday of the show.

Winners of the dairy judging contest will receive a trip to the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa, and the International Dairy Show at Chicago, both held in the fall.

A trip to the International livestock show at Chicago is in line for winners of the livestock judging contest.

Winners in the poultry, crops canning, clothing, foods and home improvement judging will be awarded a trip to the Westinghouse Laboratories in Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 7-10.

Also going to Columbus will be winners in the tractor, electrical flower garden, crops and poultry demonstration contests.

A trip to Cincinnati to the convention of the National Junior Vegetable Growers Association convention is in store for the winner of the NJVGA demonstration

Other prizes include watches to the high individual and team in dairy food demonstration; a pen and pencil set in the soil and water conservation special; and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond to the high individual and team in bread baking.

The annual Lenawee County Dairy Tour will be held Thursday, August 19.

Aiding with the discussions at the stops and speaking at the noon-day program will be Milton Erdman, Michigan State College Farm Crops; George Parsons, Michigan State College Extension Dairyman; and Dr. C. F. Huffman, national authority on dairy nutrition.

The program has been planned by Oscar Yeutter, Clayton; Donald Fachett, Blissfield; Harold Jones, Route 4, Adrian; Ansel Emmons, Morenci; and Alfred Hyatt, Manitou Beach.

The stops include a visit to the Rolland Russell farm which has a herd of grade and registered holsteins. This farm has a herd of 30 cows producing well over 400 pounds of butter fat and features mow drying equipment, grass silage, overhead grain storage bins and overhead feed bins. The farm is located one and one-half miles north of Adrian on Valley Road. This farm will be visited at 9:30 a.m.

The second stop is at the Jersey Farm of Nathan Knowles located on Geneva Highway one mile north of Rome Road. To be seen at this farm is a 17 cow herd.

Artificial breeding has produced three generations of dairy cattle. There has been no breeding other than ABA in the past eight years. The tour will then proceed to the new Rollin Grange Hall where the dinner will be put on by the ladies of the grange. After the noon speaking program, the tour will go on to the Clyde Goodlock Farm at 2:45 p.m. This farm is located on Plank Road one mile west of Skinner Highway. Visitors will see the 36 cow herd of grade and registered guernseys producing over 400 pounds of butter fat as well as a new modern dairy barn.

Financial support is being given to the tour by Drigg's Dairy, Michigan Milk Producers, and Pet Milk Company as wel as the Hudson State Savings Bank, Thompson Savings Bank, State Savings Bank (Addison), Exchange Bank of Clayton, and the Onsted State Bank.

NEED A NEW CORN CRIB?—Here is a sample of a building constructed from plans developed by the Midwest Planning Service. The organization is made up of representatives from midwest agricultural colleges and it incorporates all of the newest practical ideas and research into its building plans. The plans are available at your county agricultural agent's office. This double corn crib has a total width of 16 feet with two six-foot cribs and a four-foot alleyway. A six-foot-wide crib is the maximum size recommended for Michigan. The building has 12-foot studs and is filled through the roof hatch. It is adapted for artificial drying of corn. Another similar plan available calls for an 11-foot driveway. Many other plans for corn cribs are available. (MSC Photo)

When lightning knocks out your electricity the cows still have to be milked. But now you can use your tractor to do the job.

The cost is very little to make your tractor a substitute milker motor, but it's not the type of change you can make on a moment's notice.

The set-up needs an extra stallcock to put in place of the manifold plug and a length of hose to run from the tractor to the vacuum line. But not all tractors will have the manifold plug and it may have to be drilled and tapped.

There are some precautions that farmers should take, notes Robert G. White, Michigan State College extension agricultural engineer. The stallcock should be opened slowly as the sudden demand for vacuum may stall the engine. The stallcock should be closed when starting the tractor.

The tractod should be run at a slow engine speed, as it develops more vacuum. Keep a watchful eye on the vacuum gauge on the milker line. Usually a tractor will have 18 to 22 pounds of vacuum —that's too much—only 10 to 16 are needed. The vacuum tank should not be by passed. Just connect the tractor to the tank—it makes the milker run smoother.

Equipment dealers in Lenawee county may have the necessary connections for this "tractor milker." Ask at the county extension office for details.

August is a month to relax and enjoy your landscape and lawn. So, there's no use going out every few days to cut the grass.

Your lawn still needs mowing in August, but not as often as several months ago. Let the grass grow a little taller. It should seldom be cut less than one and one-half inches in height.

Joseph T. Cox, Michigan State College extension landscape specialist mentions some jobs where you can use up that excess energy.

Pick off the flower spikes that have finished blooming, it prevents seed formation and encourages more bloom.

The leaves of most spring bulbs can be raked gently from the flower beds if they are still here. These little practices of neatness will make a better looking landscape for you.

If you enjoy working with flowers, Cox suggests starting perennials from seeds. August is not too late and all you have to do is follow the instructions on the back of the seed packet.

Make 'Em Look Good, Jim Says

Dairy heifers need a lot of extra care eight weeks before a show in order to look their best.

Jim Pelham, Lenawee county 4-H Club agent, passes along these pointers from Michigan State College dairymen:

Do a good wash job with tar soap—but don't wash her often. Keep her in a darkened stall during the day and a blanket on her —except on extremely hot days. Wash the switch often.

Make a special effort in giving the heifer the right ration—along with plenty of fresh water. And turn her out at night for exercise.

And if you have followed the right feeding and management, you won't need to clip the entire body of the heifer. You should, though, clip the tail, from the top of the switch to the tail head. And you should clip the long hair from the neck, shoulder and flank areas.

After the initial washing, a brushing with a moderately soft brush each day will make the hair soft and keep it clean as well as condition the skin. Apply mineral or olive oil to the hair a few days before the show.

To train the animal, first teach her to lead and stand. Pose her with her front feet on slightly higher ground. Then face the animal with the lead rope in the left hand. Train her to stand with her legs straight under the four corners of the body, head up and back straight.

And be sure to cut her long toes and round off her feet so she can stand level. But don't trim too close.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Are you feeling tired and run down? Do you suffer from rheumatism or from one or more of the diseases of the respiratory or digestive systems or any other ailment to which human flesh is heir? If you had lived in Tecumseh 102 years ago help for your troubles would have been readily available.

At least "The Lenawee Water Cure," through its course of hydropathic treatment, practically guaranteed the return to perfect health of any and all sufferers. This remarkable institution was opened in 1852, in Raisin township with Dr. J. B. Gully of Oberlin, Ohio as resident physician. It was situated over what must then have been a flowing well or spring on the farm now owned by Elmer Green on Green Highway south of Tecumseh. Handed-down traditions of local residents say it consisted of several buildings and, as it was a boarding institution, it must have been fairly extensive. One announcement mentions the prospective treatment of 40 patients.

The names of the proprietors, Stout and Luther, are not those of local families although there is record of a few residents of Raisin Valley having stock in the concern. It seems to have been largely a project that was linked with Oberlin College, probably through the association of Oberlin with the nearby Quaker school, "The Raisin Valley Seminary" and more especially through that dynamic personality "Aunt Laura" Haviland. Her own school, "The Raisin Institute," was close by, many of her teachers were from Oberlin and she herself had been a student there. She had adopted many health fads from Oberlin, notably the extensive use of Dr. Graham's flour, which had resulted in her school receiving the nickname of "Graham town school." In her autobiography she dwells at considerable length on the use of water treatment for illness in her own home, showing that she had a firm belief in the Cure.

The advertisements of the Water Cure include a truly fantastic list of ailments the treatments purported to help. Nothing could illustrate more graphically how brief has been our knowledge of bacteriology for several contagious and infectious diseases are among those mentioned, even hydrophobia and lockjaw. Apparently the line between medicine and quackery was very thin a century ago. Another rather startling feature of the advertisements was the absence of the prudishness usually associated with an earlier period. Perhaps that was not yet the Victorian era, at any rate some of the details would not be published in a modern newspaper.

Explicit directions were given for reaching the Water Cure, located as it was in the wilds of Raisin, and the prospective patient was told just how many linen sheets and towels and woolen blankets he was expected to bring. From social items in the paper telling of those who were "taking the water cure" the institution must have been fairly popular for some time, and as, of course, the merits of hydrotherapy are unquestioned, many were probably greatly benefited. For those who needed a rest cure it must have been a pleasant experience — unless they contracted a real disease from a fellow patient.

Just how long the institution prospered—if indeed it ever did—is not known but it was apparently not in operation many years for it was not long before we read that one of the buildings had been sold to Aunt Laura for her institute. Now not a trace that it ever existed is left and even the spring is gone. Only a "sink hole," which Mr. Green avoids in a wet season, remains of the local "spa" of a century ago.

60,000 Plan For 4-H Show

Looking forward to the climax of the years activities at the 39th annual State 4-H Club show are 60,000 members throughout Michigan. This includes over 1400 from Lenawee county.

The show is scheduled for Aug. 31 through Sept. 3 on the Michigan State College campus, according to James Pelham, Lenawee County 4-H Club agent.

A. G. Kettunen, state 4-H Club leader, will direct this year's show. More than 2,200 finalists are expected to go to M.S.C. to participate in the four-day statewide competition.

These finalists will exhibit, demonstrate and judge in more than 500 classes and divisions. They will be vying for parts of the $17,000 in premiums and awards set up mostly by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. Business firms and organizations also furnish some of the prize money.

A lion's share of the honor will go to the two boys and two girls who win the coveted trip to the National 4-H Club camp in Washington, D.C. next year.

The annual state show has more than tripled in size since 1942 when the first one was held at the M.S.C. campus. Before that the show had been held at the State Fairgrounds in Detroit.

Entertainment on Wednesday and Thursday evenings will be presented by the 4-H Club finalists in the 1954 "Share the Fun Festival" program.

Other evening entertainment includes the general assembly and the annual dress revue. All of the State Show is free and open to the public.

Not just styling . . . not just comfort . . . not just power or handling ease or top resale value. Not just one of them—Oldsmobile has ALL OF THEM! That's why Oldsmobile for 1954 is the hottest seller in our history. The styling is long and low-level—with an exciting new sports-car flair. The comfort is solid, luxurious—because of that rigid, rugged, longer-wheelbase chassis. The power is "Rocket" Engine power—instantly responsive, silken-smooth! It's a car people will want for years to come—which means remarkable "Rocket" resale value. So phone us soon for your demonstration date. One ride in the flashing Super "88" Oldsmobile will show you why the smartest move of all is up and OVER to OLDS!

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

BY CHARLES M. ZIEGLER
HIGHWAY COMMISSIONER

The Federal Bureau of Public Roads has been generous in its praise for the expeditious manner in which Michigan has put its Federal-Aid highway money to work.

Michigan has never, in all the years of Federal participation, lost a penny of Federal-Aid.

States are permitted to let contracts after July 1 of each fiscal year against Federal funds allocated to them; but, many times reimbursements are help up because Congress has not appropriated the total amount of funds allocated on several occasions the Michigan State Highway Department has had to wait, sometimes as long as a year, for Federal reimbursement of funds which were advanced to pay contractors.

Looking ahead to the increased allocations of Federal-Aid for highways which the Congress has stipulated beginning with the fiscal year starting July 1, 1955, the Michigan State Highway Department has placed under contract all Federal-Aid allocated to Michigan for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1954.

One million dollars of the Federal-Aid allocated to Michigan for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1954, has been placed under contract and $12 million have been obligated by programs approved by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads. The balance amounting to $3 million has been programmed and is awaiting approval of the Bureau. These programs approved by the Bureau will be placed under contract as rapidly as State funds become available for matching dollar for dollar.

Programs to utilize the increased allocations of Federal-Aid for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1955, have already been started under new Federal regulations which permit our programming one year ahead instead of six months as heretofore permitted.

RECEIVES RECOGNITION

Mr. and Mrs. Raynor VanValkenburg and four sons were among those who received special recognition at the 10th anniversary of the Artificial Breeders Assn. at East Lansing recently. Mr. VanValkenburg has been an officer of the local organization during the entire ten years. Agricultural Secretary Benson was the main speaker and Mrs. Benson and their children were guests of the occasion.

Christian Science Services Listed

The importance of relying wholeheartedly on God, divine Mind, for guidance will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mind" will include the following passage from the King James Version of the Bible (Proverbs 3:5,6): "Trust in the Lord with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths."

The practical availability of spiritual guidance will also be stressed in the following passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (254:10-12): "When we wait patiently on God and seek Truth righteously, He directs our path."

The Golden Text is from Daniel (2:20,21): "Blessed be the name of God for ever and ever: for wisdom and might are his: ... he giveth wisdom unto the wise, and knowledge to them that know understanding."

Any way you figure it PONTIAC is your best buy
RIGHT Now!

No other car so big is priced so low. Check Pontiac inch for inch and pound for pound with cars costing much more and you'll discover that despite Pontiac's low cost you make no compromise with genuine big-car comfort, stability and relaxing roominess.

Get behind the wheel and put the most powerful Pontiac ever built through its paces and see how its big, high-compression engine packs reserve power for any emergency. Be sure to test its nimble response in traffic—then cruise it along the open road and see how many more easy-going miles you get on so much less gas!

Now recall all the good things you've heard about Pontiac's long, carefree life—its ability to deliver years and years of trouble-free motoring with an absolute minimum of operating and maintenance expense. And because Pontiac's reputation for dependability has never been greater, you are assured of a maximum resale value when it comes time to trade again.

After you've seen how thoroughly good Pontiac is, check how little it costs you to own and drive one. And while you're figuring costs, figure them all three ways—Pontiac's attractive first cost, right down next to the lowest—Pontiac's wonderfully low operating cost—and Pontiac's remarkably high trade-in value. Right now, you know, we're offering better deals than ever before. School Bells Will Ring Again Sept. 7

St. Elizabeth's School Is Ready For 120 Students

One hundred and twenty parochial school students will help to make history Sept. 8 when they enter the new St. Elizabeth's School on North Union street.

The Rev. Fr. Thomas Collins, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church, reports that the $110,000 school is ready for the first students.

Classes will include the first through the eighth.

Superior will be Ann Xavier, O.P.; and Sisters Mary Michael, O.P., and Rose Frederick, O.P., will be members of the teaching staff.

They are now living in the new $32,500, nine-room convent north of the school.

The new school has four classrooms and a multi-purpose room which includes a fine auditorium and stage.

Both the school and convent are heated by gas.

A housewarming dinner is planned for next Sunday at the school. Roast beef, family style, will be served from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The school will be dedicated Sunday, Sept. 26.

Krieghoff Lenawee was the contractor for the buildings. Architect was Lyle Zissler of Detroit on the school and Robert Svoboda of Detroit was the architect for the convent.

Samaritan

Two young fellows needed water for their car so they stopped at the home of George McGuire who lives north of Macon.

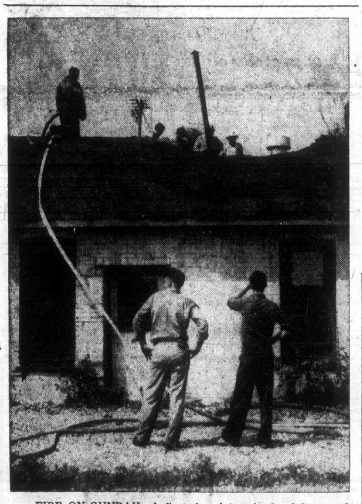
They were given the water but their car still wouldn't start so McGuire, 85, got in his car and pushed the stalled car. The car still wouldn't start.

So the young fellows asked McGuire if they could use his phone. He let them, then they talked him into making the call for the wrecker.

While Good Samaritan Right-Down-the-Line McGuire made the call, one of the young fellows reached into McGuire's pocket and snatched out his billfold.

They ran to the waiting car which started this time.

A well-planned scheme for quick riches must have been disappointing to the youths. The billfold had no money.



FIRE ON SUNDAY—A fire of undetermined origin caused damages estimated at $9000 to the Acme Self Serve Laundry on East Logan street Sunday.

Damages, fully covered by insurance, to the building and contents included automatic washing machines and dryers.

Tecumseh and Clinton Firemen battled the blaze for almost two hours. They were able to confine the fire to the laundry building, keeping the blaze from spreading to the Charles Seitz and Son Plumbing Co. less than a foot away.

A passing motorist turned in the alarm about 10 a.m. and soon hundreds of persons were watching the fire as it ate a large hole in the roof of the building where it is believed the fire began.

No dry cleaning or laundry were damaged by fire, reports Jim McNulty who operates the business. Some, however, were slightly damaged by water.

Persons with laundry and cleaning may pick it up at Elmer Eberhardt's Insurance office Friday or Saturday.

Workmen are now repairing the building and McNulty expects to be back in business by Sept. 13.

John Hamilton of the Tecumseh fire department is training a hose on burning embers while Harold Easton and an unidentified man watch the progress. When this picture was taken, the fire was almost out.

Quaker Oats Co. Employees Here Get $6648 As Annual Share of Profits

Donald Nixon, plant manager, explained that 36 local employees were eligible this year to share in company profits. Eligibility, he said, is chiefly dependent upon six months or more of service.

Similar checks also went out to workers in Quaker Oats Chicago headquarters and in its other plants, grain elevators and sales offices throughout the country.

Total profit-sharing sum was $1,324,969.

The plan was voluntarily established by Quaker Oats 19 years ago. It calls for setting aside each year a percentage of company earnings.

Employees thus share profits whenever the firm has a successful year.

To date, they have shared a total of $14,088,969 above their average earnings.

Crowd Enjoys First Midget Lighted Game

A large crowd turned out Thursday night to see the first church midget league softball game under lights on the recreation field.

Fans saw all-star players from the protestant teams blast a St. Elizabeth's Church team, 21-13. They saw some lusty hitting and some excellent defensive play on the part of both teams.

The Catholics outhit the Protestants, 13-12.

Scoring four runs in their first time at bat, the Protestants were never headed but the game was more exciting than the score indicates.

The Catholics really came to life in the fourth and fifth innings, scoring six times in each frame. Their efforts brought them to within two runs of tieing.

But the Protestants held and shut the Catholics out for the remainder of the game and iced the game in the seventh with a trio of runs.

The Protestant team—Michael Tucker, Ray Sluyter, Don Martin, Steve Kruger, Anthony Kasik, Bob Marsh, Larry Titley, Larry Anderson and Roger Mead.

Catholic team—Tom Tressler, Sonny Evans, Ray Miller, Dave Weakley, Steve Buku, Robert Wilkins, Wendell West, John Weakley and Charlie Spreeman.

Reserves were Robert Dick, Dick Johnston, Timothy Sisson, Bradley Bruce, Cam Moore, Clarence Champanois and Jack Bryan for the Protestants; and Frank Swistter and Charlie Erhart for the Catholics.

Score by innings:

Protestants	431 541—3
Catholics	012 660—0

CAP MEMBERS LEAVE FOR SELFRIDGE FIELD

Three members of the local Cadet Corps of the Civil Air Patrol, Donald Partridge, Raymond Puffer and Chase Johnstone, with two senior Civil Air Patrol officers, Lt. Richard Jacobs and Lt. Milton Appel leave Saturday for a week at Selfridge Field.

Two hundred and fifty boys and 75 girls from the various Cadet groups all over Michigan are expected to be in attendance for the week's training.

They will receive 40 hours of class work in studying weather, and the recognition of planes.

There also will be orientation flights, drill and physical training exercises.

REPUBLICANS NAME 2ND DISTRICT LEADERS

Members of the Republican Committee for the Second Congressional District have been announced by George Meader, member of Congress from the second district.

Tecumseh area members named to the group are Mrs. Florence Howe, vice-chairman; J. C. Beardsley, co-chairman; and Mrs. Cornelia Walker and Mrs. Hilda Will.

Staff Of 72 To Serve 1650 Public School Students

When school bells ring again Sept. 7, 1650 public school children will return to classes. And for the first time in the history of Tecumseh's education a Catholic School will be educating Tecumseh students. St. Elizabeth's School, which will open the Wednesday after Labor Day, will have 120 students.

A staff of 72 will serve public school students. This number includes 30 elementary teachers, 23 secondary teachers, three secretaries, eight custodians, three bus drivers, three cafeteria workers, two librarians and four administrators.

Preliminary planning for the new school year will be completed during staff meetings which will begin Wednesday, Sept. 1 when all public school staff members will meet with Supt. James McDowell in the high school study hall.

After this general discussion elementary teachers will meet with Earl Green, elementary supervisor, in Patterson School gym and secondary teachers will meet with Neville Hart, high school principal, in the high school study hall to discuss problems related to their fields.

TO HAVE PARTY

At 3 p.m. a get-together coke party for staff members, their wives or husbands will be held in the cafeteria. Hosts will be Supt. McDowell, High School Principal Neville Hart, Elementary Supervisor Earl Green, and Patterson School Principal Wayne Kaiser.

Thursday the teachers will meet with their respective principals in the morning and have work periods and conferences in the afternoon. Teachers new to the staff will meet with the superintendent at 2 p.m.

Friday morning there will be final plans laid in meetings with the principals, followed by a general meeting with the superintendent.

The staff will be dismissed at noon and will not convene again until Tuesday, September 7, when children will begin their regular school year.

Supt. McDowell estimates that more than 400 students live more than one mile from their respective schools and, wherever possible, these children will be transported by the three school busses now owned by the Board of Education.

USE SAME BUS SCHEDULE

This will necessitate following the same schedule for elementary

THE REV. JAMES

Methodists Select Rev. Horace James As New Pastor

The Rev. Horace L. James is the new minister of the First Methodist Church. He succeeds the Rev. Ronald A. Brunger who was assigned to the Dundee Methodist Church earlier this summer.

The Rev. James, 41, comes to the Tecumseh church from Williamston, Mich., where he has served for the past four years.

Other pastorates have included Gaines and Argentine, Munith and Harrisville and Lincoln.

A native of Flint, he graduated from Flint Central in 1933 and he received his AB from Albion College in 1938.

Also attending Boston Theological School and Oberlin Theological School, he received a bachelor of divinity from the latter school in 1941.

The Rev. James is married. His wife's name is Phyllis. She graduated from Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti.

They have two children, a girl Mary Kathryn, 8, and a boy, John Douglas, 2½.

The family will move to Tecumseh Aug. 31 and he will preach his first sermon in the local Methodist Church Sunday, Sept. 5.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

THE REV. FATHER Thomas Collins, pastor of St. Elizabeth's Church thinks workmen on the new convent set some kind of building record. Ground was broken for the convent June 11 and the Sisters moved in July 30. And this was a nine-room home!

THAT WAS QUITE A pitcher's battle in the Midget League All-Star game. Think of it. Only 36 runs were scored. Seriously though, these kids had a whale of a time and the men who planned this event and who helped to put it over should be given a resounding slap on the back.

SOME FAN AT THE All-Star ball game under lights remarked that he didn't know kids could play the way those kids were playing. Golly, all they need is a chance to play.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Due to increased costs, it has become necessary to raise the subscription price of the HERALD to $3.00 a year in Lenawee County and $4.00 a year anywhere outside the county. The new rate will become effective at the close of our big subscription contest, Saturday, September 11.

We are holding off the increase, however, until the end of our present subscription campaign, in order to give all present subscribers, as well as new ones, the opportunity to get the HERALD for the reduced price now in effect.

Beginning Monday, September 13, the price of the HERALD will be $3.00 per year and 10c per copy on newsstands.

The price reductions now being offered on long-term subscriptions will also be withdrawn at that time.

Contest Standing Scrambled

"High-Gear Week" Closes Saturday When More Upsets Are In Offing

Generous Vote Dividend Paid For Extra Effort In Securing Extensions

By ROBERT W. McKAY
CONTEST MANAGER

The race between the top ten in the HERALD'S prize contest becomes more exciting as this thrilling competition progresses. Last week's prediction that today's standing, appearing elsewhere on this page, would contain many changes of position was well founded. Despite these changes the contest continues to be tight as a tight-rope and for another week at least a subscription or two can be the basis of the upward or downward movement of position of contestants in their quest of the grand prize Buick "8".

All leaders put on a substantial drive last week. Donald Oswald retains his leadership by an eyelash, so to speak, over Miss Mary McWilliams—they're almost co-leaders. Mrs. John Kopka moved into third spot at the expense of Jerry Barton. She and Barton are literally breathing on the necks of the two leaders with Mrs. Braden, Joe Hayden and Mrs. Herron right along with her. A "climb" of subscriptions could well make a leader of any of the above mentioned.

There was movement, too, in the lower bracket which by the way is made up of several potentials for the major prizes and with more than two weeks to go those in the top spots cannot rest on their present laurels since a winner could well spring from this group. Among those worthy of mention are John Naser and Mrs. Hamilton Moore. All other contestants are forging ahead at a rapid pace. Next week's standing will be watched with intense interest as it will reflect results obtained through this, "High-Gear", week.

This week known as "High-Gear" Week is one of the most important of the entire campaign. For the next several days contestants have the opportunity to swell vote totals by leaps and bounds by securing second payments to advance subscriptions to the full five-year limit.

Many people who have subscribed for one year might be interested to know how they can further help their favorite contestant. This can be done very easily by giving your favorite contestant the balance toward a five-year subscription. The votes turned in this way are known as "extension" votes, and the extended subscription has a tremendous vote value and this subscription is a money-saver for you, the subscriber. Energetic contestants will go all-out this week trying to amass large vote totals during "High-Gear" week. Your extended subscription could be the very one to determine the winner of the prize car. You, too, will be a winner since the extended subscription is a big-money-saver for you.

MARY McWILLIAMS

led all contestants for subscription sales for the week ending last Saturday night.

"Tap On Door" March On Dimes Set For Monday

In accordance with the emergency drive for funds to meet the needs of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis Tecumseh, Tecumseh Township, and Raisin Township will be ready to conduct the "Tap on Door" march of dimes and dollars next Monday, August 30, from 6 to 7 p.m., reports Mrs. Rolland Reister who is in charge of this area.

Four local organizations, volunteer firemen, CAP, and the Exchange and Rotary Clubs, will combine their efforts to make the "Tap on Door" a success in Tecumseh and Tecumseh Township while the volunteer firemen of Holloway will have charge of Raisin Township.

Besides the "Tap on Door" plan for funds, volunteer firemen have placed canisters in public places for contributions.

If you do not expect to be home during the specified hour Monday you may leave your contribution at the office of the chamber of commerce in the Sage Building on West Chicago boulevard. Make all checks payable to the March of Dimes.

It is the sincere hope of the National Foundation that all people will want to contribute to this emergency fund which is being conducted throughout the nation, Mrs. Reister pointed out.

Mrs Ted Golat is president of the larger area plan called the Tecumseh-Raisin Council and is assisted by Mrs. Chas. Stephenson as vice-president, Mrs. Purnell Osborne as secretary and David Dick as treasurer.

BOY SCOUTS TO SELL DAV FORGET-ME-NOTS

Tecumseh Boy Scouts will be on the streets Friday and Saturday, Aug. 27 and 28, selling Forget-me-nots that are the annual reminder fund raising of the Disabled American Veterans.

Earl Fritz is local chairman for this drive of which Rex Derr of Clayton is general chairman as well as county commander.

Tecumseh has no local chapter, the organization being county wide.

All funds realized are used for rehabilitation, much at county and city level.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Allen observed their 25th wedding anniversary August 18th at their home northeast of Tipton. They were united in marriage by the Rev. H.J.B. Marsh of Milan and settled at once in the home they still occupy.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Robert Hoag, 22, of Sidney, Ill. and Anita, 16, at home. The last nine years Mr. and Mrs. Allen have been owners and operators of the Farm store located one-half mile west of Clinton on US-112. They plan a trip to Niagara Falls following the Labor Day recess.

The Silver Lining

IN AN ADJOINING COLUMN is a shot of the two lads who captained the two church All-Star teams. There were a couple other kids in the picture too when it was taken but for some strange reason the heads of the other two were cut off. The kids who were operated on were "Big Train" Mayor Hanna and "Gabby" Ed Nelson who turned out to lend moral support and to pitch and catch the first ball thrown. Sorry, kids, your pic also did not get in. It was too dark to reproduce.

THE NEW MINISTER at the First Methodist Church is quite a ping pong player. In fact he's a champ. The Rev. Horace James holds the ping pong crown from Albion College.

JIM DENNISON who lives northeast of Britton brought in a stalk of field corn that had two tossels. He was born and raised on his farm and he says he has never in his 56 years seen a stalk of corn like it. Has anybody else?

JOHNNY DIXON, 8, has returned from his northern trip. He'll probably be mad as a wet hen about this because he didn't wait anything in the paper about it. Asked when he returned, he said "Yesterday night about 2 o'clock." He didn't say whether this was p.m. or a.m.

MRS. GUY T. POCKLINGTON was a delegate to the state Republican convention at Grand Rapids last week and not an alternate as was stated in last week's paper.

THAT WAS REAL SERVICE performed by the Clinton Fire Department Sunday. Firemen from Clinton arrived at the scene of the laundry fire exactly six minutes after they had been called!

THE BARTON CIRCUS, biggest and best on W. Pottawatamie street, played to a capacity crowd this year. At least the chairs were filled when all the 30 or more wrigglers sat down; which was seldom. Gate receipts—admission was a nickel—plus the profits from the popcorn, peanut and soft drink concessions reached the impressive total of $7. Now the polio emergency campaign is that much to the good.

This was the fourth annual showing of this popular event and while the animals turned temperamental that day and could not be exhibited, the bathing beauties were in excellent "form." One hula dancer was overcome with—of all things—stage fright, but the western rope act was very professional. Talent this season included the Holdridge Hot-shots, Dickinson Daredevils and Barton Braves with a couple of out-of-town assists.

THESE CONTESTANTS, thank goodness, are eager beavers. Seven of them wrote to a subscriber in Marion, Ohio. She renewed her paper, too, but she didn't tell Mack, the contest manager, to split the votes among the seven. Probably just as well, too, what with all this heat.

THE LITTLE TECUMSEH BOY, caught in mischief, was asked by his mother: "How do you expect to get into Heaven?" He thought for a moment, then replied: "I'll just run in and out and keep slamming the door 'til they say: 'For Heaven's sake, come in or stay out'. Then I'll go in."

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—The loss of our illusions is the only loss from which we never recover.—Ouida

Robert Eagan Died Monday

Robert James Eagan died Monday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at his home, 115 W. Logan Street where he had lived for 34 years. He had been in failing health since last November.

He was 69 years old, having been born February 15, 1885, in Kingston, N. Y., the son of Patrick and Dora Gray Eagan. With his wife, the former Amelia Stefen, he came to Tecumseh 39 years ago. He had been employed at Butler Motor Sales and the Tecumseh Products Co. until his health failed last fall.

In addition to his widow he is survived by two sons, Harold Pfeifer of Palmyra and Elwood Pfeifer, Pioneer, Ohio; one daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Ringman, Tecumseh; seven grandchildren; four great grandchildren; one brother, Frank Eagan, Yale, Mich.; one sister, Dorothy Gagel, New Jersey and five nephews and nieces.

Funeral services for Mr. Eagan will be held at 2 p.m. today at the Green Funeral Home, with the Rev. George W. Unsworth officiating. Burial will be in Lenawee Hills Memorial Park Cemetery in Adrian.

Bearers will be E. H. VanVleet, Robert Welch, Harry Schuch, Joseph Brown, Chester Beach and Clarence Beach.

When it comes to Protection ..it pays to have the BEST

When trouble arises along the way, it's too late to go home to get your dog. You'd better have him with you.

Dependable insurance is like that, too. It's one thing you can't get when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to buy better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST — and buy it today.

ROTARIANS HEAR PATROLMAN WESTGATE

Stan Westgate, Tecumseh policeman, explained the art of jiu-jitsu, the art of self defense without weapons, at the Rotary Club Tuesday night.

A retired sergeant of the Detroit police force, Patrolman Westgate taught 2600 policemen jiu-jitsu while he was with the Detroit department.

Speed, he said, is the most important item in the training. Footwork also is very important, he added.

Jiu-jitsu is based on putting pressure on certain nerves in the body.

FORD IS FIRST IN SALES

-by thousands

National new-car registration figures* for the first six months of 1954 prove that Ford leads the industry in sales! In fact, ever since car production has been free of restrictions, more and more new-car buyers have been swinging over to Ford. That's because Ford offers more things for more people than any other car. In today's Ford, for example, you get the matchless benefits of owning the only car in the low-price field with a V-8 engine (the new Ford Y-block V-8) . . . the only car in Ford's field with the smooth ride of Ball-Joint Front Suspension . . . the only car in Ford's field with truly modern styling . . . the only car in Ford's field with such high resale value.

SCHOOL

and secondary school hours as of last year since it is not practical or expedient to run a greater number of buses since the distances covered are so short.

The kindergartens will open at 9 a.m. and close at 11:15 a.m. and 1:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Two sections of kindergarten will meet at Patterson, two at Brownville and one in the morning at Central. Areas served at these locations will be announced next week as enrollments are not yet complete.

All elementary schools will open at 9 a.m. and close at 12:15 p.m. for the morning session and at 1:15 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. for the afternoon.

The secondary school will open at 8 a.m. and because of lack of classrooms, run continuously until 3:01 p.m. However, each child will have a noon hour sometime between 12:07 p.m. and 2:03 p.m.

West Branch will house grades one through three; Patterson—Kindergarten through six; Central—Kindergarten through six and High School—seven through 12.

All pupils must report at their respective schools at the proper time Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Tentative bus schedules will be announced next week as plans are not yet complete.

STAFF IS COMPLETE

At present the staff is complete even though two new resignations have been accepted this month. Mrs. Margaret Heimerdinger resigned to care for her son and Edward Shank resigned to accept a teaching position in Midland.

New teachers this year include Mrs. Dorothy Preston, kindergarten, Central; Mrs. Jeanne Callihan, second, Central; Mrs. Raeola Lasky, third, West Branch; Mrs. Rose Crawford, sixth, Central; Miss Marcelle Gillespie, music, elementary and secondary; Miss Michelina Ialacci, girls' physical education, elementary and junior and senior high school; Mr. James Howard, math and English, high school; Mr. Don Johnson, music, high school; and Mr. Henry Sherry, commercial, high school.

NEWMANS HONORED

Honoring their sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. George Newman of San Antonio, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sisson and Miss Agnes McIntyre held an informal reception Friday evening for about 75 relatives and friends. Among those attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Moore and John McIntyre of Detroit; Mrs. Clark Ford and Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Ford and children of Rockwood; Mrs. C. E. McIntyre and Mr. and Mrs. William McIntyre of Monroe, Ned Wood of Dundee, Mrs. W. D. McIntyre and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Sauers of Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cadmus and Mr. and Mrs. William Budwit and children of Holloway. Mr. Newman left for San Antonio Saturday after a week's visit while Mrs. Newman will remain for another week.

PAUL HOFFMAN DIES IN LUDINGTON

Paul Hoffman of Tallman, Mich., whose widow, the former Laurell Jones, lived at one time in Tecumseh, died July 23 at a hospital in Ludington after an illness of one month.

He was 59 years of age and was born in Gillett, Ark., marrying Miss Jones in Britton, Nov. 24, 1935. He was a member of St. John's Lutheran church at Pelton's Corners and had been a member of the school board of Holmes School for a number of years. He had been a farmer all his life.

In addition to his widow, Mr. Hoffman is survived by one son, Garland Hoffman, at home; three brothers, four sisters and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were conducted July 26 in the Lutheran church at Pelton's Corners by the Rev. A. C. Meier and burial was in Bachelor Cemetery.

PINK AND BLUE SHOWER

Mrs. Robert Roadarmel entertained Friday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Patton, honoring her sister-in-law, Mrs. Wayne Patton Jr. Twenty guests enjoyed the games which were the evening's entertainment and the prizes received were given to the guest of honor. A blue and pink shower brought Mrs. Patton many lovely gifts and the hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Roadarmel, the former Pat Patton, is living in the Pattor home while her husband, Lt. Robert Roadarmel, is serving overseas.

SEAGERS ATTEND SCOTCH GATHERING

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Seager and daughters returned last week from a five week's vacation trip to Nova Scotia. Thep spent three weeks at North East Margaree, Cape Breton Island. While there they attended the 'Mog," the traditional gathering of the Scottish clans during which there are contests between bagpipe bands, Highland dance exhibitions and speeches in Gaelic. One band which took part was made up of about 40 young girls who played the bagpipes and the drums. Lord and Lady Elgin came from Scotland for the "Mog," as Lord Elgin is present "The Bruce." Returning, the Seagers came from Yarmouth, Nova Scotia to Boston by boat.

ATTEND YEARLY MEETING

A group of the members of Tecumseh Friends church have been in Damascus, Ohio this week for Yearly Meeting of the church, and others will join them. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Escolme, Joe Hayden, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Chase and daughters, Caroline and Marjorie, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Meads and Ralph Comfort left Monday to spend the week. Thursday, Mrs. Perry Hayden and daughter Martha will go and Saturday Linda Johnson, Marion and Carolyn Comfort, Marjorie Martin and Marilyn Manley will go for over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Meads will go on to Cleveland to visit their daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Escolme will take a vacation of a week or ten days following the Yearly Meeting. Ralph Comfort is treasurer of the meeting.

Christian Science Services Listed

Christ Jesus' mission to reveal divine healing which overcomes sin, sickness, and sorrow in every age, will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Christ Jesus" will include the account as given in Matthew of Jesus' response to the followers of John the Baptist who asked if he was the Messiah (11:4,5): "... Go and show John again those things which we do hear and see: The blind receive their sight and the lame walk, the lepers are cleansed, and the deaf hear, the dead are raised up, and the poor have the gospel preached to them."

The following correlative passage will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (131:26-30):

If the outlet on your electric range doesn't work, it probably needs a new fuse. This fuse is usually found near one of the upper corners of the oven opening and can be seen when the door is open, say equipment specialists at M.S.C.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Gregory Dunbar celebrated his second birthday anniversary Friday evening when his mother, Mrs. Wayne Dunbar invited his cousins Keith and Kirk Crutchfield to his home for supper which featured a pretty birthday cake. Later Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar took the boys to a carnival in Deerfield.

Those from here attending the newly organized Lenawee County Rebekah Past Noble Grands Association in Adrian Friday evening were, Mrs. Earl Smith, Mrs. Ida Miller, Mrs. Bertha Brodock, Miss Pearl Smith, Mrs. Bill Beach, Mrs. Charles Fairbanks and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield. Mrs. Fairbanks was elected treasurer of the association.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Osterhout and Yvonne were Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Osterhout and family of Sand Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush and family of Tecumseh, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Newell and daughter of Deerfield, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osterhout and Mrs. Florence Osterhout. A turkey dinner was served honoring birthday anniversaries of Wendell Osterhout, Mrs. Bush and Larry Bush and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Osterhout, all which occurred during the week. In the evening a corn roast on the lawn was enjoyed.

Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Crutchfield and family were Mr. and Mrs. Claud Crutchfield of Manchester.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Gray were in Wauseon, Ohio, Sunday where they attended a surprise birthday party on Mr. Gray's cousin, Miss Bertha Gray on her 80th birthday. The party was given by Miss Gray's Sunday School class.

Mrs. Robert Mallock returned to her home Thursday from the University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunbar and Greg accompanied by William Cundiff Sr. and William Cundiff Jr. and Keith and Kirk Crutchfield spent Sunday afternoon at the Walbridge Park in Toledo.

Mrs. Louis Goldfine of Chicago, Mrs. Bertha Goldfine, Mrs. Robert Hart and Mrs. Minnie Hart all of Detroit called on Mrs. William Cundiff Thursday. Mrs. Cundiff and granddaughter, Jackie Filter of Tecumseh returned to Detroit with them and left Friday morning with Mrs. Louis Goldfine to spend a few days in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Lowe of Detroit and Mrs. Jennie Lowe of Ypsilanti called on Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Gripton Sunday.

Mrs. Ada Wilkes of St. Petersburg, Fla. and the Misses Arcelia McElroy and Jean Mitchell of Kenton, Ohio spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Royal McElroy. Mrs. Wilkes is spending the summer with relatives in Michigan.

FFA Officers Attend Camp

The officers of the Tecumseh chapter of the Future Farmers of America are attending the 4th annual regional leadership training camp. The camp is held at Wolf Lake, Jackson County.

The officers for the coming year who are attending the camp are: John Cadmus, President; Edward DeLisle, temporary Vice President; Charles Hendershot, Secretary; John Wilt, Treasurer; Gerry House, temporary Reporter; and Herbert Quigley, Sentinel. Paul Burns is the agriculture teacher and FFA Advisor.

There will be approximately 140 FFA officers from 32 local chapters in this FFA Region attending the camp with their advisors.

The object of the camp is to train the coming year's officers for their respective duties and to give them a better understanding of the FFA on the state level.

One of the state FFA officers will speak to the boys about the activities of the FFA on the state level, and Thomas Kenny from the state office of vocational agriculture will also speak to the boys and evaluate their activities while at the camp to make improvements for next year.

Besides officer and group meetings there will be calisthenics, swimming, boating, fishing, and softball for the enjoyment of the boys. Safety is stressed at all times during the three day camp and the buddy system is used while the boys are swimming or boating.

HARMONY HOMEMAKERS

The Harmony Homemakers who had suspended meetings for the summer held their annual picnic Wednesday. Because of rain they met at the home of Mrs. Joseph O'Pravil instead of in Adams Park as planned.

Talk of the Town

Jane Colgrove and Nicky Touborg spent the last two weeks with their grandmother, Mrs. George Monroe, at a cottage on Lake Michigan. They returned home Sunday. Margaret Touborg also came Sunday after a week's visit with her college roommate in Westfield, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Anton and children Marcia and George have returned from a three weeks trip through the north west which took them over nearly 7,300 miles of highway. They visited friends at Chaplin, Saskatchewan, Canada, stopped at Vancouver and stayed with friends in Tacoma, Wash. They visited Mt. Ranier and Mt. Hood, climbed Pikes Peak, swam in Great Salt Lake and enjoyed the other principal points of interest on their return trip through the north central states. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Young lived in the Anton home on Carson Highway in Raisin during their absence.

Judith and Joslyn Snook have returned from a week's visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Miller in Lima, Ohio. Over-night guests in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Snook, Friday, were Mr. and Mrs. Keith Mayberry of Cridersville, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Viele have returned from a two weeks vacation trip to northern Michigan. One week was spent at Copper Harbor and the second at Oscoda on Lake Huron.

Mrs. Rose Kankautas, mother of Mrs. Anna Baibak, has gone to Ludington, Mich., for an indefinite stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Deaner and family enjoyed a vacation weekend at Warren Dunes State Park near Benton Harbor. They also visited Mr. Deaner's mother in Benton Harbor. Mrs. Deaner's mother, Mrs. Myrtle Willard, who had been visiting her son Robert Willard in Grand Rapids returned home with them.

Deborah Jo Velandra, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Velandra, was christened Sunday, Aug. 15 at St. Elizabeth Catholic church. A family dinner party followed at the Velandra home, the guests being the God-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Velandra and family of Detroit and the baby's grandfather David Velandra, and Dorothy and Herman Velandra of Ottawa Lake.

Mrs. Robert J. Walters and Miss Bernice Ries of Blissfield were callers Wednesday on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Haughn and family. Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McMullen and son of Dundee visited in the same home. Little Terry Haughn is still confined to his bed most of the time following a bout with pneumonia.

Mrs. Julian Strong and Mrs. Schiller, the former Stella Pocklington and Pearl Wood of Ridgeway were co-hostesses to about 30 of their girlhood school friends Monday at the old Pocklington home. Among those who attended from Tecumseh were Mrs. Louis Schneider, Mrs. Purnell Osburn Miss Bertha LaPointe, Beth and Geneva Satterthwaite and Pearl Pocklington. A cooperative luncheon was served at 1 o'clock and the afternoon was spent socially in the "Do you remember when?" motif. Friends came from Hudson Dearborn, Flint, Deerfield and nearly every local community.

Linda Baldwin is spending ten days with her grandparents, Mr and Mrs. E. N. Baldwin in Howell. Her brother Tom is camping for a couple of weeks on Hubbard Lake near the Hammel cabin.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. King of Toledo were Sunday guests recently of Mrs. Anna LaPointe and daughter Bertha.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Shavalier and Mr. and Mrs. James D. Shavalier were in Muskegon Saturday attending the funeral of Roy Middaugh, an uncle of Mrs. W. B Shavalier. They stopped at Hopkins, Mich., on the way to call on Mrs. W. B. Shavalier's mother Mrs. Vern Mansfield.

Johnny Hammel, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hammel of Murray Drive, was taken to the University hospital at Ann Arbor Monday for observation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned Rosacrans and family are spending two weeks at Evans Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Touborg, Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Blanden and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Rohweder returned Sunday from a week at Lost Lake Woods near Alpena.

Mr. and Mrs. William Aebersold of Portland, have been spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Aebersold.

Mrs. John McColl will resume her teaching work in the Adrian schools Sept. 7. She teaches vocal music.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kopp of Hillsdale were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George Green Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Reo VanCamp and children of North Adams spent Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Sturtevant.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rosacrans entertained Miss Edith Ayers of Fairbank, Iowa, and Miss Helen Pence of McComb, Ill., over the weekend. They left Tuesday morning. Miss Pence is a cousin of Mrs. Rosacrans.

Wendell Cleveland of Lansing and Miss Donna Cleveland of Detroit spent the weekend with their mother, Mrs. Mary Cleveland at her home on Milwaukee road.

Miss Dorothy Pannone of Jackson is spending this week as a guest in the Wayne Patton home.

Miss Bess Pulver accompanied by her niece Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, left Monday forenoon for a vacation trip to Florida. Miss Myra Mangus will be in the Pulver home during their absence. Another niece, Miss Dorothy Truthruff of Marshall visited Miss Pulver over the weekend.

Miss Helen Perkins and her nephew and niece from Toledo called Sunday on Mrs. Ella Aten at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ted McConnell. The McConnells were in Detroit to see Cinerama.

Deborah and David Wells are here this week from Louisville, Ky., visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Perry Hayden. Their mother, Mrs. Ronald Wells is expected today and will remain for several days.

David Lott and Douglas McDowell accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Orville Laidlaw to Burt Lake for a weekend with Douglas' parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McDowell.

CAP Cadets Schedule Dance

A teen-age dance for the benefit of the Cadet Corp of the Civil Air Patrol will be given Sept. 11 under the sponsorship of the Patrol. It will be held at the Union Hall, with music by Driscol's orchestra.

This is to be a donation dance and proceeds will be used for the purchase of uniforms and equipment which will help in the training of this group of young men. It is the object of the cadet classes to develop a quick thinking corp who will function intelligently in case of a national emergency.

The dance will be chaperoned by officers of the squadron, with the idea of stimulating proper social contacts. Parents of boys and girls of high school age are invited and urged to attend in order that they may satisfy themselves as to the caliber of the teaching staff and the environment in which the students will work.

VISITING IN FRANCE

Mrs. Robert McKee, the former Madeliene Bitschenauer, is visiting in her native France. She left by boat last Friday, landing yesterday at LeHarve and going to the home of her parents in Mulhouse, Alsace Lorraine. She expects to be there until early October.

Mrs. McKee who came to America six years ago to make her home with an aunt, Mrs. Don Blesing, received her citizenship papers in June. She was employed in the office at Tecumseh Products before her marriage. This is her first visit to France since she left and besides her father and mother she has many other relatives there. The McKee's three months old son is being cared for by Mrs. Donald Covell.

SERVICES HELD FOR DIANE LUCELIA FOOTE

Diane Lucelia Foote, nine months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald G. Foote of 306 Outer Drive, Tecumseh died Sunday evening at the University hospital in Ann Arbor, five hours after she was admitted. Diane was born in Tecumseh Nov. 26, 1953.

Besides her parents the child is survived by a sister and brother, Patricia, aged 3½ and Gerald Larry, 2 years; two grandmothers, Mrs. Anna LaPoint of Toledo and Mrs. Emma Foote, Adrian and several aunts, uncles and cousins.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Collins Funeral home and were conducted by the Rev. Ralph Welton of Toledo. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Cards Of Thanks

Mrs. Harold Clark is discontinuing her sewing business and wishes to take this way to thank all the nice people who have patronized her in the past.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to relatives, friends, and neighbors, Women's Fellowship of the Clinton Congregational Church, Macon Women's Club, and W.S.C.S. of Macon Methodist Church for the lovely cards, gifts, and flowers. Also to Dr. R. T. Hammel, nurses, and nurses' aides of Herrick Memorial Hospital for their wonderful care during my illness. All were very much appreciated.

Mrs. Effie Kuder

On reading and filing the petition duly verified, of Wilford McCollum and Lillie M. McCollum, custodians of said child, alleging that the whereabouts of Walter Sutton, father of said child, is unknown and praying that G. Arthur Rathbun be appointed guardian of the person of said child for the purpose of consenting to his adoption and change of name;

IT IS ORDERED, that Monday, the 13th day of September next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for the hearing of said petition.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That a copy of this order be published in The Tecumseh Herald a newspaper printed and circulating in said County of Lenawee for three consecutive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

It is Further Ordered that service of a copy of said notice be made upon said Walter Sutton if he can be found in said county at least fourteen days previous to said date of hearing.

L. B. KUNEY,
Judge of Probate.

CANNON-BAKER

Hampers of white gladioli, palms and lighted candelabra formed the background for a formal wedding Saturday evening at eight o'clock in the Tipton Community Church, when Shirley June Baker became the bride of William Eugene Cannon.

The Rev. Gordon Blossom performed the single ring ceremony. Mrs. Harold Every offered an organ prelude and accompanied Miss Martha Hayden who sang, "Ave Maria" and "Ich Liebe Dich," before the ceremony and "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt at the altar.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester D. Baker of Tecumseh, Route 1 and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Cannon of Manchester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiant in her empire gown of candlelight, antique satin fashioned with an off shoulder neckline. The molded bodice was richly embroidered with opalescents and seed pearls. The long tapered sleeves came to the traditional points at the wrists. The fullness of the skirt was formed by unpressed pleats which flared to a graceful chapel train. Her fingertip veil of nylon bridal illusion fell from a crown of tulle embroidered with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of red rosebuds.

The attendants formed a picturesque background in their waltz-length dresses of wildrose pink taffeta and velvet. Tiny rosebuds sprinkled over the velvet bodice and matching velvet jacket were of the taffeta while the headbands were of velvet. They wore shoes to match the dresses and short white gloves. Their flowers were pink asters accented with satin leaves.

Cheryl Lynn Greenfield, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl. She was dressed like the other attendants and carried a small bouquet of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Charles Greenfield of Clinton, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Ely of Sylvania, Ohio and Mrs. James J. Cannon, sister-in-law of the groom.

The bridegroom asked his brother James J. Cannon of Manchester to be his best man. The other attendants were Bruce Baker of Fort Knox, Ky., brother of the bride, and Donald Fielder of Adamsville.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Baker chose a dress of old rose crystalette and a matching hat. Her corsage was of fleur Damour. Mrs. Cannon's dress was champagne brocade. Her hat was a fiesta shade and she wore a corsage of rubrum lilies. Both mothers wore black accessories.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church parlors where the decorations were in pink and white using garden flowers. The five-tiered wedding cake topped with pink rosebuds was cut by Miss Fran Helling of Muskegon and Mrs. Robert Karle poured. Mrs. Fred Feight and Mrs. Steven Kraycer presided at the punch bowls. Mrs. Robert Allen registered the 200 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Platt were assistant host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Cannon left for a trip through the eastern states. For traveling Mrs. Cannon was wearing a white wool dressmaker suit with black and turquoise accessories. She wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Cannon is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and attended Siena Heights College. She has been a teacher in Lenawee and Washtenaw schools and served nearly a year as an American Airlines stewardess. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

Mr. Cannon is a graduate of Manchester high school and of Michigan State College where he was affiliated with Phi Epsilon Kappa. After graduation he received a commission as a second Lieutenant in the Air Force. He will report to Lackland Air Base in San Antonio, Texas where he will receive pilot training.

LUCE REUNION

The first Luce reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 22, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Luce of Tipton. There were 45 in attendance at the potluck dinner served at 2:30.

A business meeting was held with Ralph Luce being elected president for the coming year. Those attending from away were Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Luce, and Mrs. Fanny Luce all of Napoleon, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. James Ladd and family from Erie, Mich., Mrs. Juanita Baker and family from Adrian and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Luce and family from Liberty Center, Mich. with several attending from Tipton.

The reunion will be held in August again next year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Luce of Liberty Center.

PYTHIAN SISTERS

The Pythian Sisters met Wednesday afternoon for a social meeting with Mrs. Howard Kronberg as hostess. The committee on entertainment and refreshments was Mrs. Fred Davis, Mrs. Paul Geiger, Mrs. Albert Hunt, Mrs. Rose Elwood, Mrs. Glenn Driscoll and Mrs. Zona Case. The next regular meeting will be held at the K of P hall September 8 at 8:00 p. m.

Thirty Knights of Pythias attended the baseball game in Detroit Sunday, going by chartered bus.

The Tipton Ladies Aid will serve their monthly dinner in the church basement at 5:30 Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Mary Elizabeth and Ruth Elaine Titley were the weekend guests of Miss Sally Baker of Adrian.

There will be a special meeting of the Tipton Community Church board Thursday evening at 8 p. m. at the church, to plan for the annual church meeting to be held in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Berdell Williams entertained for the weekend, A/1c James Martin who is stationed at Wright Field, Patterson Air Base, Ohio. Supper guests on Sunday night were Mr. Ernest Graeb and Mrs. Byrdelia Hall and Mrs. Mary Hall and Karen.

TUESDAY EVENING CLUB

Mrs. Erwin Buss of N. Union street entertained the Tuesday Evening Club at her home last week. There was a short business meeting presided over by Mrs. Walter Pfister of Adrian and tables were then arranged for cards. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Luther Wood, Mrs. Flora Wood, Mrs. Homer Harkness and Mrs. Pfister. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Pfister on Vine St., Adrian. The Tuesday Evening Club was organized many years ago as a social group of the old Plymouth Methodist church in Adrian. Twelve ladies have continued meeting ever since.

LYLE HARPER SPEAKS TO METHODIST WOMEN

A one o'clock dessert luncheon preceded the meeting of the executive board of the W.S.C.S. of the Tecumseh Methodist church Tuesday at the home of the president, Mrs. Robert Bonner. Eleven members were present with Lyle Harper as a guest.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Carlos Jones and the group was then addressed by Mr. Harper who spoke on church attendance, the reorganization of church groups, cooperation and Christian love. Mrs. Walter Hizer, secretary of student work, reported on letters and cards sent to students and service men. Mr. Harper urged participation in this activity and at his suggestion the group voted to send copies of the magazine "Power" to all church young people who are away from home.

It was also voted to resume study groups this fall and to observe "Quiet Day" Oct. 27 which comes during the World Week of Prayer. Secretary's reports were then turned over to Mrs. Don Martin, promotion secretary. The first regular meeting of the W.S.C.S. will be Sept. 8 at the church.

YOU AND YOUR MONEY

So You're Going To Buy A House

BY DR. LAWRENCE S. RITTER
Assistant Professor of Economics
Michigan State College

Owning a home, while it is often desirable, is not always a wise financial move. The most important elements involved in buying a house are the purchase price, the cost of maintenance, and the location of the property.

The last factor is most often neglected, but it is of major importance. For as towns and cities grow, various once-pleasant neighborhoods deteriorate and properties located there decrease in value. On the other hand, formerly inexpensive areas increase in value while, of course, some areas remain relatively stable. It is not an easy task to guess the areas which are most likely to increase rather than decrease in value.

The cost of maintenance is also a factor which is often neglected —or at least underestimated—by the prospective home buyer. Interest on and amortization of the mortgage, taxes, various forms of insurance, and the cost of repairs and maintenance must be added to the heat and light bills to reckon the true monthly cost of owning a home.

The National Housing Agency recently estimated that a man making less than $4,000 a year should not attempt to bby more than a $10,000 home, assuming that he makes a ten per cent down payment and thus has a $9,000 mortgage to carry.

You should be certain you can stand this fixed drain on your income before you assume it.

The purchase price is something which most people consider most carefully and on which they have the most accurate information. But even here they would do well to consider the value of the home several years from the date of purchase. For it is not impossible that they would want to sell because of the necessity of moving or because of changing family size and needs.

And here elements of risk enter, such as the possibility of a drop in real estate values due to a depression, or an excess of house building, over which the individual has no control.

It is quite possible that owning your own home may be a wise financial move. But be sure to take all the pertinent elements into account when you make your decision.

Darwin McClure Wed In Detroit

A wedding of interest to many in Tecumseh took place recently in the Berkley Methodist church in Detroit when Darwin Lloyd McClure of Tecumseh and Jacquelyn Ann Donaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bonnye L. Donaldson of 3325 Oakshire Blvd. were married.

The Rev. Andrew T. F. Butt performed the double ring ceremony and the bride was attended by her sister-in-law, Lucille Donaldson, as matron of honor and by her cousin Mrs. Betty Thompson as bridesmaid. Jane Gay Clark, God-child of the bride was the junior bridesmaid. The groom's brother, Daryle McClure was his best man and LeRoy Donaldson and Orville Thompson brother and cousin of the bride were the ushers.

Miss Donaldson's bridal gown was of nylon tulle over satin, ballerina length and made with bodice and jacket of chantilly lace. Her finger tip length veil was held by a beaded crown and she carried white roses, carnations and stephenotis with spray of ivy.

Her attendants all wore Nile green tulle and taffeta, made like the bride's gown except for their short sleeves. Their flowers were pink roses and pink larkspur for the matron of honor and yellow roses and stephenotis for the bridesmaids, fashioned in colonial bouquets.

The bride's mother wore a two piece dress of light blue with white accessories while that of the groom's mother was of navy blue sheer with white. Both had corsages of white roses.

The bride has been employed in the H. A. Powell photographic studios in Detroit and the groom, who is the son of Mrs. Serena McClure and the late Clifford McClure of N. Maumee St., Tecumseh.

City Streets Are Improving

Drive around Tecumseh some Sunday afternoon, or any other time, for that matter, and you will see the change that is taking place in city streets.

The change, all for the beautification and improvement of Tecumseh, is in the improvement of city streets, particularly curb and gutter.

So far about 2 miles of streets have had curbs and gutters this summer and about one-half mile is in the budget for the remainder of the year.

In addition, about five miles of city streets have had seal coating this summer. This comes entirely from city funds.

The curb and gutter, however, is a cooperative plan with householders on a street petitioning the city for the work. The city pays 40 per cent of the costs and the property owners on the street pay 60 per cent of the total cost with each property owner paying on the basis of footage in front of his property.

This plan, one of the finest bits of cooperation between home owners and municipal government, is commonly called a three-year plan. Individual property owners pay one-third of the cost when the work is done and if they want, the remainder is addd to their taxes. Many folks this summer, however, have been so tickled to get the work done that they have paid cash for the whole job.

Property owners are still petitioning for the curb and gutter work and the city has almost enough petitions to carry the street crew through next summer and into the autumn of 1955.

It won't be too many years before all of us can point with pride at all our city streets.

Ed Nelson, city manager, complimented Tecumseh home owners on their cooperation in the curb and gutter scheduling.

We second his motion and add this: The desire on the part of both the city and home owners to improve the city through better streets can make us all proud to be residents of Tecumseh.

Beautify The Boulevard!

While we are writing on the subject of city improvements, let us add this:

The boulevard approaches to Tecumseh are the finest of any city in the state, but they still could be improved.

They could be improved by some kind of planting program, whether shrubs or flowering plants.

This seems to be a natural project for the garden club to get its teeth into. We would like to see some kind of program geared to beautification of the boulevards started.

Support This Program

The organizing and playing of teams in the midget softball league this summer was a new athletic program for Tecumseh that should catch on.

The kids really had a time and during the one night game under the lights the parents of the kids really had a time, too.

This playing under lights for young kids was a great experience—one they will long remember. They have had a taste of an athletic program that can be widened.

It can be carried over into other sports, particularly basketball. But a basketball court is needed. Perhaps Central School gym can be used and maybe even Patterson School gym.

Anyway, the broadening of the church league program is something worthy of support and effort. It gives a lot of kids a chance to play ball and, if the leadership is there, it gives them a chance to learn many fine points in getting along with others.

The Door Is Still Open

If you build a better mousetrap, somebody said, the world will beat a path to your door. But nobody has, in the last 130 years.

The simple spring-type trap, mounted on a block of wood invented in 1853, hasn't been excelled.

However, people are still trying. One mousetrap manufacturer gets an average of three new ideas a week.

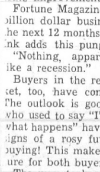
Realty Views

Probably you've noticed the forecasters of "doom and depression" have thrown in the towel. They're whipped! The American public has proved again that it can't be scared into hard times. Business is looking up!



The stock market is now hitting a 25 year high. Investors see good times ahead.

As further proof, U. S. News & World Report in a July issue says, 'Business in 1955 will show moderate improvement over 1954."

Fortune Magazine predicts a 10 billion dollar business upturn in the next 12 months. And Printer's Ink adds this pungent comment: "Nothing, apparently, recedes like a recession."

Buyers in the real estate market, too, have confidence again. The outlook is good. The buyers who used to say "I'll wait and see what happens" have now seen the signs of a rosy future. They are buying! This makes a bright picture for both buyers and sellers.

The way to be sure times remain good is to keep on doing business.

One more word of advice: Let us help you buy or sell real estate. Okay?

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Silence and beauty together make a powerful impact upon the human soul. Half animal and half spirit, man can respond to the brutal or to the angelic in his nature. Comparative stimuli are decisive. Covetousness, pride and lust are powerfully stimulated by conditions of modern life. Keeping up with the Joneses is utterly consuming for many a family. Seductive advertising is continuously inflaming desire for things and ever more things. The competitive struggle is producing weariness and sheer exhaustion of body and mind and soul.

Silence and beauty are urgently needed by this generation. Enter into the mood of John Muir the mountaineer: "Now come the solemn, silent evening. Long, blue, spiky shadows crept out across the snow-field, while a rosy glow, at first scarce discernable, gradually deepened and suffused every mountain-top, flushing the glaciers and the harsh crags above them.

"This was the alpenglow, to me one of the most impressive of all the terrestrial manifestations of God. At the touch of this divine light, the mountains seemed to kindle to a rapt, religious consciousness, and stood hushed and waiting like devout worshipers. Just before the alpenglow began to fade, two crimson clouds came streaming across the summit like wings of flame rendering the sublime scene yet more impressive.

"How glorious a greeting the sun gives the mountains! To behold this alone is worth the pains of any excursion a thousand times over. The highest peaks burned like islands in a sea of liquid shade."

Take thyself to beautiful places, and be quiet!

V.F.W. POST AND FAMILIES HELD PICNIC SUNDAY

The annual picnic of the Hall-Slater Post and Auxiliary of the V.F.W. and their families last Sunday was a great success. One hundred and fifteen gathered at Vineyard Point Park for the noon potluck dinner. Lloyd Stites and George Downard of the post and Mrs. John Braden of the auxiliary were the committee of general arrangements. Mrs. Downard and Mrs. Stites had charge of the games and Mrs. Grenval Spangler of the tables.

Door prizes were awarded to Mrs. Harlan Boyes, Philip German, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mueller, Waldo Mohr and Mrs. Braden. Games were arranged for the children during the afternoon and ice cream was served.

RESOLUTION

The following preamble and resolution was offered by Councilman Smith and supported by Councilman Kelso.

WHEREAS the Council has been petitioned to vacate an alley described as belonging in the South Line of Muscody Street 132 feet from the West line of Evans Street, and running South for 138 feet, and being 12 feet in width; and

WHEREAS it is anticipated that there will be objections to the vacating of said alley.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

1. That 9:00 p.m. at the regular Council meeting on September 27, 1954 be designated as the time and place when opponents and proponents of such vacation may be heard.

2. That the City Clerk be instructed to cause this Resolution to be published in the Tecumseh Herald on the following dates so that all interested parties may have notice thereof:

August 26, 1954
September 2, 1954
September 9, 1954
September 16, 1954.

Motion Smith and seconded Kelso the resolution be adopted. Motion carried unanimously.

SUBSCRIPTION CONTEST WHEN EXTRA VOTES ARE GIVEN

EXTENSION SUBSCRIPTIONS

IN ACCORDANCE WITH RULE 17 OF RULES & REGULATIONS AS ORIGINALLY ADVERTISED

Here's How To Get Maximum Votes:

Extended or second payment subscriptions to The HERALD count for extra large votes in the big "Everybody Wins" subscription contest, fast nearing the end.

For example, a certain party bought a yearly subscription in the early part of the contest and now wishes to extend that subscription for another four years at the $7.50 extension rate now in effect, for the purpose of boosting his or her favorite candidate.

Since a one year subscription earned 3,000 votes, this extension for four years would earn the difference of 17,000 votes. Also the first two years earned 8,000 votes so the three year extension (for only $5.00) to complete five years would earn 12,000 votes and, if the original subscription was turned in during the contestant's first week in the contest, it would also earn the additional 25,000 extra special votes allowed as stated in the opening announcement of contest.

In addition to this are 50,000 extra votes for each "club" of $20 turned in.

So if you and a couple of dozen other good friends like yourself would extend your original one-year subscription to the five-year limit you would earn for your favorite contestant the tremendous total of over one million votes which would go a long way toward winning that new Buick Special which is first grand prize.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

BY OWEN J. CLEARY, SECRETARY OF STATE

During July, the Division of Driver Services working with information forwarded by local courts and enforcement agencies, suspended or revoked the licenses of 739 drivers. This brings to 4,866 the total of such suspensions and revocations in the current year. In addition, 314 others were placed on probation agreements or merely instructed on safe driving practices. Also, 964 letters were sent to drivers advising them a continuation of conviction reports would jeopardize their driving privilege.

Seven new Examiner Supervisors were employed—bringing the total to 21 men now in the field. This new group went through two weeks of classroom instruction and one week of field work before assuming their duties on July 26th. Five of the new men were sent to the Detroit office bringing the total there to six with a supervisor to handle Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties. Three of the men formerly assigned there were transferred to out-state posts, bringing the total to fifteen men with a supervisor in Lansing to handle 80 counties. This made necessary some adjustment in their respective territories.

Conviction reports reaching the central files is increasing month by month, Cleary said, as a result of better cooperation in reporting by courts, justices, and enforcement agencies. Also, work is about to start soon on revision of the central files which will enable the Division to handle this incoming information much more efficiently.

The increase in manpower, better reporting, and more efficient handling of information all tend to place the department in a favorable position to work more closely with local authorities in effecting improved and uniform driver license examinations, and also with the local courts and enforcement agencies in correcting or removing the bad drivers from the highways.

Va., Mrs. Lena Moiles, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryan and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Bryan and children. Forty-three gathered at the Knights of Columbus hall for the 49th reunion of the descendants of Samuel and Melissa Bryan. It was also the celebration of the 46th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Bryan, who were hosts for the occasion.

Piano solos, duets, vocal solos and guitar selections by the younger members of the family entertained the group during the afternoon and Frederick Bryan showed movies of the three preceeding reunions and of the fiftieth wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan.

Robert Bryan, Frederick Bryan and Mrs. Floyd Bryan were re-elected as officers of the group and the golden reunion celebration next summer will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bryan which is the original Bryan family farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John DeFoe and two daughters who have been guests of Mrs. DeFoe's mother, left last week for their home in Nashville, Tenn. During their stay a family dinner was held at the Lindsley home. The guests included Mrs. Barbara Pfalz of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrison and Miss Ethel Lindsley of Clinton and Ellsworth Lindsley of Saline.

The Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Osborn of Mt. Pleasant called Wednesday on Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan. Mr. Osborn, who teaches at Mt. Pleasant Junior College and has a pastorate at nearby Rosebush, is the son of Will Osburn, who formerly lived in Tecumseh.

Schneider Heads For National Legion Convention

Headed by state commander Kent T. Lundgren, Menominee 146 Michigan American Legion delegates, their friends and families, left last week for the 36th annual national Legion convention in Washington, D. C., August 30 through September 2.

Included among the Michigan contingent is Louis Schneider of was recently elected by Legion 115 S. Union St., Tecumseh, who members of his Congressional district to represent them in official expression on national business matters that will affect some three million Legionnaires worldwide.

The first time a national Legion convention has been held in the nation's capital, it is expected more than 150,000 will crowd the Capital City in one of the largest Legion gatherings in a decade.

The Michigan Legion is sponsoring a candidate for national commander at this year's convention; he is J. Addington Wagner, Battle Creek attorney, past state commander and presently chairman, national Americanism commission.

President Eisenhower will share the spotlight with Dr. Konrad Adenauer, chancellor of the Federal Republic of Germany, in addressing the opening session of 3,510 national delegates.

Other notable speakers will include Francis Cardinal Spellman; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman Joint Chiefs of Staff; Walter B. Reuther, president CIO; Henry Cabot Lodge, US ambassador to United Nations; Miss Maurine Walker, president national education association; and Harvey Higley, administrator, Veterans Administration.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

Retirement, that rosy mirage that lies just over the next hill of busy middle age, has sometimes turned out to be a desert waste. For the suddenly idled oldster may find too late that he does not care for either golf or finger painting. No such specter of boredom, however, haunts 76 year old Walter Norris, who came back to Tecumseh this week to visit his boyhood town. After at least two successful careers he retired, eleven years ago from one of them, the insurance business, to find almost too many fascinating hobbies waiting to keep him young.

He brought one of them with him, or rather it brought him, an almost unbelievably tiny French automobile in which in some mysterious fashion he manages to telescope his lean six feet of height. He has driven a Renoir safely over much of Europe and the United States and is as enthusiastic about it as the parent of a precocious child. In addition to all its other virtues, he says "You never have to back up, you just turn around."

But the car is merely a minor interest. Managing the fund raising drives for the various agencies of his home borough of Staten Island in New York City has been his principal activity for these past eleven years. During that time he has been volunteer manager of "over the top" community chest and many other campaigns notably those for YMCA building and maintenance needs. Mr. Norris is not a wealthy man and to the average citizen this would seem a "hair-shirt" existence, but his insurance training and experience has made it a science to him and master-minding a successful campaign is a satisfying way of using his talents for the public good.

He became impressed with the importance of YMCA work during his early years with the US army in the Philippines and elsewhere. Altogether he spent 19 years in various phases of military service. Retired as a major at the end of World War I, he remained in Europe for a year with the American Red Cross. Probably it was then that he fell in love with the Renoir car.

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. James Norris, whose farm home was in Raisin on what is now called Centennial Road. He attended local district schools and later taught in some of them. Although he considered Tecumseh his home town, he graduated from "The Raisin Valley Seminary," the Quaker school that afforded higher education to so many excellent students of that day. His only remaining relative in the vicinity is a nephew, Arthur Eaton.

Mr. Norris' home is on Park Lane, Grymes Hill on Staten Island and has what he describes as a "million dollar view" of the ocean. There he finds time for another hobby, gardening, his specialty being azaleas which he has collected from far and wide. A recent article in the Staten Island Advance says Walter Norris epitomizes the value of hobbies, especially those that contribute to the community. Retirement to him has not meant stagnation.

Services For Mrs. C. M. Bigelow Held Saturday

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon, August 21 at the Macon Methodist church for Ruby Elizabeth Powers Bigelow, wife of Clayton M. Bigelow of Macon. The Rev. Edward Escolme and the Rev. Alvin Brazee conducted the service and Mrs. Herbert Morden and Mrs. Charles Gorton Jr. sang "No Night There" and "Back of the Clouds" accompanied by Mrs Carl Thomas at the organ.

Mrs. Bigelow was born in Manilla, Iowa, Jan. 3, 1888, the daughter of David and Gertrude Powers and lived there until she was 15 years old. With her family she then moved to Fremont Mich., where she graduated from high school. Completing a normal school course she taught for three years and, August 6, 1913, was united in marriage with Clayton Bigelow in the Congregational church in Big Rapids. They lived near Big Rapids and in Newaygo county coming to their present home in 1923.

Active in the life of the community, she was a member of the Macon Methodist church, the Tecumseh Grange, Lenawee Pomona Grange, the Macon Farm Bureau, Macon Community Club and Macon Women's Club.

Mrs. Bigelow is survived by her husband; two sons, Charles H Bigelow of Beulah and Clayton P. of Sault Ste. Marie; six grandchildren; one brother, Harvey Powers of Macon, four nephews, two nieces and many other relatives.

Bearers were George Westgate and Thomas Hardy of Fremont, James DeYoung of Grand Rapids, Ray Hendershot, Brooklyn and Ray Smith and Ralph Halladay, Macon. Burial was in Macon cemetery.

Relatives who attended the services from away were Mrs. Jessie Bovay and son, Lansing; Mrs. Lura Fulkerson, White Cloud; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wright, Pontiac; Mrs. Effie McNaughton, South Bend, Ind.; Clifford Bigelow, Big Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Avery Bigelow, Beulah; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Klingbeal and daughter, S. Bend, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schneider, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coglin, Farmington and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Beverstock, Milwaukee, Wis.

Those attending from Tecumseh included Mr. and Mrs. Don Heesen, Mrs. Hilda Will and Miss Mary McWilliams.

You get a 3-way bonus in the car that's soaring to new success

WHAT has happened in the automobile business this year is something that you should take to heart — as a personal benefit to yourself, and as a sure way to pick a winner.

It is simply this: Buick has moved into the charmed circle of America's three top sales leaders — a circle once dominated only by the so-called "low-price three."

In plainer words — Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these so-called "low-price three." And this has come about because of Buick's advanced year-ahead styling, great V8 power, big-car room and comfort — all for prices starting right close to the lowest. So you reap a worth-while 3-way benefit.

1. You get the look of tomorrow — today

In Buick today you get the modern styling other cars will reach in the future. For here you get true year-ahead beauty — long, low glamor lines, sports-car grace, and that spectacular new panoramic windshield that most other cars won't have till 1955.

2. You get the bigger allowance of our volume business

The tremendous sales volume that has brought Buick into the leadership circle of the "Big Three" means that we can offer you a higher trade-in allowance on your present car when you buy a new Buick. That's the simple reason why we can make you a better deal right now.

3. You get more resale dollars when you trade —

With Buick so advanced in style this year it's a sure thing Buick will stay in style for years to come, as other cars catch up. So the new Buick you buy today brings you a higher resale price at trade-in time later. Drop in — see and drive this tomorrow-styled Buick — and get in on Buick's big 3-way bonus right now.

Now's the time to make your buy because —

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

THIS NEXT WEEK HUNDREDS of little ones again will be trudging back to school and crossing busy streets. Remember this as you drive and give the kids a brake.

MONDAY IS A HOLIDAY that honors the laboring man. But what about the laboring woman? I still say there is no more important work on this earth than that of being a successful mother and home-maker. Let's also remember mothers, bless their hearts. How they labor!

SOME WHERE NORTH of Gaylord are 15 pounds of flesh. They were lost by Earl Green, popular elementary school supervisor. He reports that most of the meat came off his middle as he worked on his cottage during the summer. Earl says his wife worked too but she didn't lose any weight. If the lost pounds are found, finder may keep same. Earl doesn't want them back.

EARLIER THIS SUMMER FRANK PROCASKA lost his prize pig in a fire that destroyed his father's barn on Pennington Rd. Frank, 14, has had a reserve champion pig for two years and members of his 4-H Club, the Macon Rangers, wondered how they could help the lad have a champion again. They wondered until they came up with the idea for a benefit ice cream social. The social will be held at the Tecumseh Grange on Burt street Friday night beginning at 7 p.m. If you want to enjoy the real, old-fashioned goodness of an ice cream social and contribute something tangible for a swell lad, go to the social. Your contribution will help Frank to have a pig to exhibit in the Lenawee County Fair.

A YOUNG "CIRCUIT RIDER" will return to his studies this month at Duke University. Lyle Harper, who supplied at the First Methodist Church this summer, left Tecumseh Tuesday for his home in Yale, Mich., and later in the month he will go back to Duke where he is a senior. Lyle certainly left his mark here. A lot of folks will miss him. The Lining wishes him the best in his pre-ministerial studies.

MAYBE YOU CAN'T take it with you, but where can you go without it?

ONE OF THE BIGGEST best-sellers of all time is a government publication, "Infant Care." Written years ago by the mother of five; 20 million copies sold and still going strong.

THE CUSTOM WHICH WE call "Dutch treat" in our country is called "American treat" by the Dutch, who say it's not theirs at all!

A YOUNG SHAVER RIDING A bicycle whose legs were hardly long enough to touch the pedals was talking to himself as he labored along. He was saying: "This Cadillac sure is hard to handle. Maybe I should have bought a smaller model."

IF PHEASANTS SEEN SUNDAY are an indication of the number of birds that will be available when the season opens next month hunters in these parts will be licking their chops. We saw 10 in a short six-mile drive, six on Rogers Highway and

It's The Final Burst Of Speed That Wins

Polio Gets $2000 From Fund Board

Tecumseh's Community Fund Board has authorized a $2000 grant to the local chapter of the March of Dimes.

The grant was given in place of a house-to-house "tap on the door" drive which was scheduled Monday evening. The drive was called off locally.

Board members point out that early next month the regular community fund drive will be held and that the purpose of the "give once for all" drive would be lost if a separate drive were to be held for polio.

The polio grant came from the community fund's emergency fund.

Volunteer contributions to the March of Dimes emergency drive, however, may still be sent to Mrs. Rolland Reister, local chairman of the Tecumseh March of Dimes.

Guy Nemire, Former Banker, Buried Monday

Guy Edward Nemire, who for much of his adult life resided in Tecumseh, died last Thursday evening at his home, 426 East Maumee street in Adrian.

For nearly 24 years he was associated with the Tecumseh State Bank which since its reorganization has been the United Savings Bank.

The son of the late John E. and Viola Maidlow Nemire, he was born Nov. 26, 1885, at Ottawa, Ohio, attending the Ottawa public schools and the Crawfis College near Ottawa, for two years.

In 1903 the family moved to Tecumseh, purchasing the farm on Milwaukee road just east of the airport.

Dec. 8, 1904, he married Miss Eva B. Rector of Tecumseh.

He was telegraph operator at Tecumseh Junction for three years, then entered the banking business which, with investment work, occupied most of the remainder of his life.

During the war he was chief clerk of the Lenawee office of the Price Administration for two years, resigning in protest against what he considered unfair treatment of the farmers regarding gasoline allotment for farming operations.

Mr. Nemire was a life member of Tecumseh Lodge F. and A. M. and was past master of the Blue Lodge. He had been a member of First Presbyterian church in Adrian since he moved there in 1946.

Surviving are his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Curtis Ashley of School Will Re-Open Next Tuesday

NEW SCHOOL AND CONVENT—This is the new St. Elizabeth's School and below is the new convent.

For the first time in the history of Tecumseh Catholic children will have their own school when the new building opens next Wednesday.

Classes will include the first through the eighth grade. When the $110,000 school opens it will have 120 students.

Hundreds of persons turned out Sunday for the housewarming dinner. The school will be dedicated Sunday, Sept. 26.

Sisters who will teach in the school are living in the nineroom convent.

Tecumseh Public and Parochial Schools are ready for the re-opening of school next Tuesday. St. Elizabeth's, however, will not begin until Wednesday.

Public schools this year will have 1650 students and 120 students will enter the new parochial school on north Union street.

Elementary children who are new to Tecumseh Public Schools are requested to enroll at Central School principal's office Tuesday, Sept. 7, at 9 a.m. Elementary schools will be in session a full day on Tuesday. Schedules are 9 to 12:15 and 1:15 to 3:30 except kindergartens which are 9 to 11:15 and 1:15 to 3:30 (except Patterson morning kindergarten from 9:15 to 11:30).

Book rental fees are $4 for children in grades 1 through 6 and are due Tuesday.

Central School fees are due Tuesday morning and Patterson and West Branch School fees Tuesday afternoon.

Kindergarten fees will be collected at all kindergartens on Wednesday. Fees for work books if needed will be collected at a later date.

Children through the second grade may buy milk at school as in years past. The fee is 30c per week, payable in advance.

All junior and senior high school students are to report to the new gym at 9 a.m. Tuesday, Sept. 7.

Students are to pay the textbook rental fee of $4 for junior high pupils and $5 for senior high pupils at this session. After the book fee has been paid, class schedule cards will be issued by class advisors. Pupils will be free for the rest of the morning after they have received their schedule cards.

New students who have not already enrolled will enroll at this Tuesday morning session. Such students who wish to enroll in algebra or foreign languages must first pass a prognostic test. These tests will be given Tuesday morning at 10:30 in the study hall. Pupils not having passed these tests will not be admitted to these classes.

Tuesday at 1 p.m. students will report to their respective home rooms for an orientation and organization period. The regular schedule of classes will begin Wednesday at 8 a.m.

Tuition rates for pupils living outside District No. 7, Tecumseh Public Schools, will be $102.70 for children in grades kindergarten through sixth, and $114.30 for children in the seventh through the twelfth. Tuition must be paid by all pupils living outside District No. 7, half by Nov. 15 and the balance by March 15 of this school year.

For further information concerning the re-opening of classes call Mr. Hart at the high school or Mr. Green, elementary supervisor, or Mr. Kaiser, principal of Patterson School.

138 Kindergariners Begin School Careers Tuesday

One hundred and thirty-eight bright and shining kindergarten students with scrubbed faces will begin their school careers in the public schools this year.

In general, kindergarten pupils have been selected by areas to be served and, wherever possible, preference has been given to parents as to morning or afternoon sessions.

These are the areas served:

Brownville, a.m.—children brought by bus in the area from Monroe road, Russell road, Occidental road, Blood road, Carin road, Paul's Trailer, and M-52 North.

Brownville p.m. — All children in area on north Union north of 600 block, Brown, Herrick Park and private tuition pupils.

Central a.m.—Children brought by bus from area of Murray Drive and children walking from area east of Pearl, north of and including Ferris Trailer Park north to Brown street.

Patterson a.m. — Children brought by bus from area of south Union, west Patterson, west Cummins, south Pearl, Hiawatha, Muscody, south Evans, Park, Green road, and Orchard Lane and west Pottawatamie.

Patterson p.m. — Children

Business hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Legion To Honor Dr. Hammel At Sept. 16 Banquet

Plans for a community banquet in honor of the memory of the late Dr. H. H. Hammel are being completed by the American Legion.

The dinner will be held in the Legion Hall Thursday, Sept. 16.

Plans also have been completed for presenting two memorial plaques in memory of the Tecumseh medical doctor. One will be placed in Herrick Memorial Hospital and one will be placed in the Legion building.

The plaques have been donated in honor of Dr. Hammel by his many patients and friends.

The banquet is limited to 250 persons and the ticket committee announces that tickets will be available after next Monday.

Tickets for the banquet may be purchased from Vern Manwaring, Harold Easton, George Green, Jr., or at Bancroft Cleaners or at the Legion building.

Speaker for the occasion will be announced as soon as plans are completed.

PLANS PROCEED FOR BAND FESTIVAL

Clare Camburn, band director of the annual Band Festival, reports that plans are developing for the Sept. 28 event.

Mr. Camburn, who is the moving spirit of this community affair, is in touch with all the schools in Lenawee county and finds that most of them are making preparations for their part in the massed bands concert.

As usual it will be held in the bowl of the Recreation Field and will begin at 8 p.m.

The theme of this year's program will be "America, the Beautiful."

BRAZEE ELECTED

Don Brazee, Tecumseh High School teacher, is the 2nd vice-president of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He succeeds Edward Shank who resigned from the club. Mr. Shank, who also was a local high school teacher, will be teaching in Midland.

Stores Close

Most Tecumseh stores will be closed next Monday in observance of Labor Day.

The HERALD office also will be closed.

There is no special program planned locally.

Correspondents are reminded that because of the short week, their copy should be in early Tuesday morning.

Your cooperation will be appreciated.

Methodists Honor Lyle Harper

To show their appreciation of the work he had done for their church during the summer, the congregation of the Methodist church entertained Lyle Harper, student pastor, at a family potluck supper Monday evening. Seventy-five were present including a group of baseball boys he had coached.

No program had been planned but group singing followed the dinner, led by Mr. Harper and a purse from the gathering was presented to him.

Mr. Harper left Tuesday for two weeks at the home of his parents in Yale, Mich., after which he will resume his college work at Duke University.

As Mr. Harper left, the new pastor and family, Rev. and Mrs. Horace James and their two children moved from Williamston into the newly remodeled parsonage.

SEEK REPLACEMENT

A replacement for Edward Shank who resigned to teach in Midland has not been secured and perhaps it will be necessary to discontinue the trade and industrial education program for this year since Mr. Runk will be busy teaching shop all day.

However, every effort has been made to secure another shop teacher and will continue until school starts.

Mrs. Margaret Schwartz of Clinton will replace Mrs. Shirley Whelan who resigned last week.

These Determined Contestants Prepare For Finish Fight

Here Are Leaders for Major Prizes in Contest; Today's Standing Indicates Some One of This Group Will Win the New Buick When Contest Ends Saturday; It's Now or Never for These Enterprising Folks

By ROBERT W. McKAY
Contest Manager

Riding high on the threshold of victory with the thoughts of "now or never" hovering in their minds, contestants in the HERALD $5,000 prize subscription contest are passing the three-quarter mark and entering the last stretch of this thrilling competition.

Since Monday of this week, a tense and determined group of competitors have been reporting their subscription collections at an ever increasing tempo in their drive to capture one of the major prizes. Mindful that time is fleeting and few days remain before close of contest, Saturday, September 11, contestants have been working feverishly to amass vote totals sufficient in size to assure them the ownership of the grand capital prize Buick V "8" sedan.

Most entrants are still factors and any one of the more aggressive contestants in the lower brackets can finish the winner of one of the major prizes, so close is the vote count with subscriptions counting in such large vote figures.

This weekend ends open balloting and the opportunity to get BIG VOTES now being issued on all subscriptions. During the final days of the contest, ending Saturday September 11, the sealed ballot box will be placed in the United Savings Bank where contestants themselves will deposit their subscription collections. This obviates the possibility of ANYONE knowing the progress being made by the various contestants. At closing of the contest the appointed judges will claim the ballot box, count the votes therein, credit the contestants, and determine the winners. Prizes will be awarded immediately after their decision.

To friends and well wishers of contestants we point out that it may be physically impossible, through the last days and hours of the competition for that friend, relative or acquaintance, to find time to reach you. Contestants will find it impossible to reach everyone they would like to contact personally. They all have lists of unredeemed promises. Is your name on such a list? If so, now is the time to redeem that promise by placing a call to that contestants's home or to call the Contest Department of the HERALD with your subscription, new or renewal, to be credited to that favorite.

SECRET BALLOTING DURING LAST WEEK OF CONTEST

No subscription whatever will be accepted through the Contest Department of the HERALD during the entire last week of the big "Everybody Wins" prize subscription contest.

Instead, a sealed ballot box will be placed in the vaults of the United Savings Bank in downtown Tecumseh Monday morning, and through the five and a half remaining days of the race contestants themselves will place their final collections and reserve votes in ballot box, to be opened and counted by contest judges Saturday noon, September 11.

By so doing, no one other than contestants themselves will know their exact voting strength (might be more or might be less than anyone could properly guess) which prevents any possibility of favoritism and assures fairness to the minutest degree.

SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. JOHN P. JUNKIN

Graveside committal services for Mrs. John P. Junkin, who died last Sunday in Minneapolis, Minn., were held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 at the Frazier family lot in Brookside Cemetery.

Catherine Bailey Junkin was born in Detroit 73 years ago, the daughter of John and Margaret Frazier Bailey. Her mother was born in Tecumseh and Mrs. Junkin was a cousin of William Wright and had visited in Tecumseh many times. She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Douglas Gibson of New York City; a son, John P. Junkin, Minneapolis and five granddaughters.

The family arrived from Minneapolis by plane Wednesday morning and the services were conducted by the Rev. Peter Carroll of the Adrian Episcopal church.

Adrian, a granddaughter, Jean Ashley; a grandson, John Ashley who is now in military service, enroute to Korea; four aunts, Mrs. Mel Nutter of Findlay, Ohio; Mrs. Alice Conly of Mt. Cory, Ohio; Miss Fanny Maidlow of Toledo; and Mrs. Lydia Sands of Findlay; and one uncle, Charles Nemire of Flint.

Funeral services for Mr. Nemire were held Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Green Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. Robert McCachran, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Adrian.

Masonic services at the grave were in charge of Howard Wilson, Sr., Howard Wilson, Jr. and E. H. McConnell.

Bearers were Reese Maidlow and Alva Nickerson of Ottawa, Ohio; Everett Nemire, Findlay, Ohio; Nubert Plankenhorn, and Dan Green of Mt. Cory, Ohio, and William Nemire of Flint.

The phrase, "there's a cheese for every taste and pocketbook," is substantiated by the fact that Americans consumed about 27 per cent more cheese per person last year than before World War II.

four on Pocklington Rd. All of them were of the delicious "broiler" size. Of course, when the season actually begins hunters may not even see one.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—I do not choose to be a common man. It is my right to be uncommon—if I can. I seek opportunity—not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for dole. I prefer the challenges of life to the guaranteed existence; the thrill of fulfillment to the stale calm of Utopia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my dignity for a handout. I will never cower before any master nor bend to any threat. It is my heritage to stand erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for myself, enjoy the benefit of my creations and to face the world boldly and say, "this have I done." All this is what it means to be an AMERICAN. — Dean Alfange

District Nurses Meet Sept. 9

The Lenawee District Nurses Association will have its first meeting of the year at the Eagles Hall in Adrian Sept. 9 at 8 p.m.

This is a joint meeting with the Tri-County Central League for Nursing which consists of the counties of Lenawee, Monroe, Washtenaw and Livingston.

The program will consist of a dramatization of nursing care of a patient in a hospital which is to depict how the nursing team works in the hospital in the interest of the patients — work which is always carried on behind closed doors and which the patient or the general public never sees.

Taking part in this play will be a doctor, nursing director or floor supervisor, registered nurse, practical nurse, nurse aide, public health nurse, orderly, technician, clerk, social worker, the patient's family, and of course the patient himself. People representing these various nursing personnel will be members of the Lenawee District Nurses Association, members of allied groups and members of the League of Nursing in Ann Arbor.

This meeting is open to the general public—anyone engaged in giving nursing service in the hospital or home, as well as the consumer of nursing service.

Special invitations have been sent to the Practical Nurses Association of this county, and guides, Hospital Auxiliaries, and other allied groups.

Refreshments will be served.

FFA Honors Larry Patterson

There were five members and the advisor representing the Britton-Deerfield chapter of F.F.A. at the Fifth Annual Regional Leadership training camp at Wolf Lake Boy Scout camp.

We were fortunate to have the regional treasurer elected from our group. He is Larry Patterson our chapter treasurer.

The five members who attended were Larry Patterson, Harold Rhora, Ronald Croll, Dick Cox and Donald Moore. Our advisor Mr. R. Spaulding took a very active part in the camp. He was in charge of entertainment on Tuesday night, and was co-advisor of the reporters' group.

Discusses Ads

Advertising is salesmanship in print.

This was the concise definition of advertising given by Al Russell advertising executive of Tresco, Inc., who spoke at the Rotary Club Tuesday night.

Generally, advertising, he said, is a tool to help sell goods. It is the fastest and cheapest way to reach the greatest number of people with a message.

Two types of advertising — trade and consumer — were discussed. Small business advertising, he said, comes under consumer advertising which is often called retail advertising.

The various media used in advertising also were explained and the importance of public relations — make sure your customer likes you — was stressed.

Large companies, he said, do billions of dollars worth of advertising annually but there is a tremendous volume of advertising done by small businesses.

He also pointed out that small business advertising can be done by how the store looks, the courtesy of clerks, and the selection of stock.

MISS BROWN ARRIVES HOME FROM EUROPE

Miss Mary Brown arrived home Sunday after spending the summer in Europe. She was one of a party of 36 who as a study group toured the British Isles, France, West Germany, Spain, Italy, Switzerland and Holland. They crossed the Atlantic by air and made the remainder of the trip by chartered bus. Besides the usual sightseeing, they attended Shakespearian plays at Stratford-on-Avon and concerts, grand opera and ballet in France, Germany and Italy. They visited the famous Blue Grotto of Capri, ascended high on the Yung Frau in Switzerland, saw a bull fight in Madrid and were granted an audience with the Pope while in Rome. Miss Brown will resume her teaching work in Grosse Pointe after Labor Day.

It's possible to save up to $5 per acre in tillage cost by using once-over cultivation without reducing yields on spring planted crops, say M.S.C. crops specialists.

Michigan Selects 3 FFA Groups For National Contest

Chapters from Williamston, Cassopolis and Sandusky were selected today in the 11th annual Michigan Future Farmers of America Best Chapter contest as the state's outstanding farm youth groups.

The chapter trio were named to represent Michigan in the Silver Anniversary national FFA competition at Kansas City Oct. 11-14. It was a repeat of last year's performance for the Williamston and Cassopolis chapters.

A total of 30 chapters from all sections of the state were presented with Gold and Silver Awards by A & P Food Stores which sponsors the year-long competition based on chapter performance in cooperation with the Michigan FFA. All of the state's 223 chapters competed this year under a revision of contest regulations.

Awards were presented by Luke H. Kelly of Lansing, acting state FFA adviser, and Harold E. Mountain, A & P's division personnel director, during a luncheon program in a Detroit hotel.

In addition to the top three, 14 other chapters earned Gold Awards. They were: Pinconning, Mesick, Grand Blanc, Caro, Ovid-Elkton, Onsted, Midland, Ionia Wayland, Owosso, Tecumseh, Alma and Merrill.

Silver Awards went to the following 13 chapters: Kingsley Olivet, Oxford, Saranac, Stockbridge, Swartz Creek, Brown City, Allegan, Dowagiac, Colon, Chesaning, Charlotte and Bellevue.

Nearly 100 officers and advisers from the winning chapters started the day with a two-hour educational program supervised by Floyd C. Bouggy, A & P's division meat director. The program included demonstrations of meat grading and cutting, discussion on packaging and cost, quiz contest and a tour of facilities and operations. It was designed to supplement FFA school, farm and fair work with beef cattle.

After the luncheon presentations, the group cruised the Detroit River aboard an excursion boat, viewed industrial development and visited Bob-Lo Island.

Williamston became one of Michigan's three national chapter contest entrants through a combination of group and individual performances. Chapter members earned an average of $748 from their farming programs. One member was among four selected from the national membership of 363,000 as a Regional Star American Farmer.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. Vaughn Whited are having open house at the Methodist parsonage in Clinton Sunday afternoon. They will show some of their souvenirs and pictures they brought back from their trip to the Holy Land. Anyone interested is invited.

MACON W.S.C.S.

Mrs. Elfa Munroe was the August hostess to the Macon Women's Society of Christian Service. Twenty-five members and five guests were present. Mrs. Herbert Morden, president, conducted the business meeting and it was announced that another rummage sale will be held in October and the ladies were asked to collect articles for it. The committees for the annual church fair and supper to be held Oct. 1 are: Dining room, Mrs. Margaret Crittenden; kitchen, Mrs. Erma Sheward; bake booth, Mrs. Margaret Hall; fancy booth, Mrs. Rose Gilmore; aprons, Mrs. Rena Worden and Mrs. Bessie Robison; hostess, Mrs. Bessie Travis; tickets, Mrs. Lois Jordan and Mrs. Freda Mehler. It was decided to send for the "Trick or Treats" program kit for a Hallowe'en party in connection with the U.N.I.C.E.F. Mrs. Bessie Travis read the devotions and Mrs. Charles Gorton had charge of the program on a pageant of rural missions, with Mrs. Harmon, Mrs. Gilmore, Mrs. Travis, Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Moore taking part. Dessert was served at the close of the meeting.

Verl Sanch returned home Thursday from St. Joseph hospital, Ann Arbor, where he underwent surgery on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bock spent Thursday evening with their son Duane and family of Mooreville. They attended their grandson Raymond Bock's birthday party.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder were Sunday guests in Ypsilanti of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Carey and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Dearel Jenkins of Tecumseh were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howell.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore and sons and their nephew David Bruder of Lansing, spent Saturday evening visiting Mrs. Chalmer Bruder and children of Belleville.

Mrs. Edith Hampshire and grandson Dennis returned to their home in Chicago Thursday after spending ten days with her cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruder.

Mrs. Herbert Morden held an executive board meeting of the officers of the W.S.C.S. on Monday afternoon. Quarterly reports were finished and slips for the annual church supper were made out.

SGT. MARSH TRAINS IN PUERTO RICO

Marine Sgt. William A. Marsh son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin F Marsh of 412½ W. Chicago Blvd. Tecumseh, and husband of the former Miss LaWanda R. Carver of Russell, Ark., is participating in a large scale amphibious training exercise in the Puerto Rican area with the Atlantic Fleet Marine Force Training Group.

The exercise is designed to familiarize Marines with the latest fighting equipment and to test their combat readiness in full scale amphibious maneuvers. Units of the 2nd Marine Division from Camp Lejeune, N. C., and units of the 2nd Marine Aircraft Wing from Cherry Point, N. C. will participate.

After a six-week training phase the Marines will board ships and storm the beaches of the island of Vieques in an amphibious attack against aggressor forces dug-in on the island. Whiel in the area the Marines will visit cities in Puerto Rico and other Caribbean islands.

When you are buying "bargain" nylon tricot garments in 40-denier yard, tertiles specialists at M.S.C. advise you to check to see if the yard is of the twisted or untwisted variety. Although fabrics knitted of untwisted yarn may cost less, they don't wear as well and probably won't save you money in the long run.

Mrs. Otto Baaske Buried Saturday

Bertha Daisher Baaske, widow of Otto Baaske, died Wednesday, Aug. 25 at the Bauer Nursing Home in Adrian. She had been an invalid for more than a year due to a broken hip.

Mrs. Baaske was born in Plauen, Germany Sept. 18, 1870, coming to America when she was 16 years old. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Daisher who settled in Lenawee county on their arrival from Germany. In 1890 she married Mr. Baaske and they lived on farms in Blissfield and Madison townships before moving to Tecumseh in 1926, where their home was on West Pottawatamie street. Three years ago she went to make her home with her son, Otto H. and family. She was a member of the North Blissfield Lutheran church.

She is survived by her son, Otto H. of Tecumseh; a daughter, Mrs. Helen Swint of Jackson; two grandchildren, Arthur and Marilyn and two great grandchildren, Linda and Bruce Baaske, all of Tecumseh; two nieces and three nephews.

Mrs. Baaske was preceded in death by her husband in 1932, by two sons, Ernest and William; a daughter Elsie; a brother and a sister.

A prayer service was held at the Collins Funeral Home Saturday afternoon at 1:30 and the funeral was held at 2:30 at the North Blissfield Lutheran church, conducted by the Rev. William Weinlander. Mrs. Louise Prielipp and Mrs. Myrtle Prielipp sang a hymn as a duet during the service accompanied on the organ by Miss Sally Prielipp and flower girls were Charlene Prielipp, Shirley Pooley, Linda Townsend, Mineta Fergus and Nancy Dinse. Burial was in Brookside cemetery, Tecumseh, with Alvin Prielipp, John Morey, Arthur Schill, Fred Meyer, Otto Fisher and Harold Prielipp as bearers.

MAKES FOR SAFETY

In an attempt to eliminate hazards in crossing Evans street, all small children living east of Evans have been assigned to the Central Elementary School since traffic lights are now available on Chicago Boulevard.

Also, in the interest of safety a special bus has been provided to transport kindergarten children in the area from Evans west to Adrian street and south of the boulevard to the Patterson School. Kindergarten which will start at 9:15 and let out at 11:30.

All other kindergartens will begin at 9 and dismiss at 11:15, or at 1:15 and dismiss at 3:30.

All kindergarten children brought by bus will attend morning kindergartens and be transported home by noon or shortly afterwards.

School Gym Program Extended

This year marks the beginning of a full physical education program from the fourth through the twelfth grades. All grade children will receive half hour classes daily in separate boys and girls sections with a man teacher for the boys and a woman teacher for the girls. The classes are small since only one grade goes to the gym at a time and so the teacher is able to give each child individual attention and instruction.

From the seventh through the twelfth grades an hour daily with separate instructors and separate gyms for the boys and girls completes a well rounded program in physical education.

In addition, the usual sports for boys and girls will be carried out throughout the year.

Each boy and girl from the seventh grade through the twelfth will receive a clean towel twice a week. These towels are marked with the school name and it is hoped that, should parents or friends find that pupils are bringing them home, that they will return them to school immediately. The fee for the lock, locker and towel service is $1 per semester. Towels or locks not turned in will be charged for at the rate of $1 per unit.

IMPROVE PLAYGROUNDS

Playgrounds have been improved this summer and new apparatus installed at Patterson. Chains across Ottawa at the school limits during the school day will provide for greater safety for children using the Central playground. In the past certain unthinking individuals have seen fit to remove barricades and to drive through regardless thus making it dangerous for small children.

Read What Happened To Me

A lion met a tiger
As they drank beside a pool.
Said the tiger, "Tell me why
You're roaring like a fool."
"That's not foolish," said the lion,
With a twinkle in his eyes
"They call me king of all the beasts
Because I advertise."
A rabbit heard them talking,
And ran home like a streak.
He thought he'd try the lion's plan,
But his roar was just a squeak.
A fox came to investigate —
Had luncheon in the woods.

The Home Demonstrator

By JOSEPHINE BRIGHENTI
HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

The tenth Lenawee County Homemakers Camp which was held recently was a most successful event.

4-H Camp Palmer, Inc. is a beautiful wooded spot located on the North shore of Harrison Lake, 1 mile west and 1½ miles south of Fayette, Ohio.

The 11 cabins, each accommodating 24 people, other buildings include a recreation hall, dining hall, and two headquarters buildings, office, nurses quarters, registration and sleeping quarters for staff personnel, were all at our disposal.

We had plenty of room for our 50 full time campers.

The camp session was opened by Camp Chairman, Mrs. Bertha Marrow. Josephine Brighenti, H.D.A. welcomed the group.

Vesper service was conducted by Mrs. Eva Robey. It wasn't long before everyone knew each other. Mrs. Marian Barricklow and Mrs. Alice Raymond set us a real get acquainted Jamboree. Highlights of Extension in color were shown by Mrs. Richard Brittain. We all welcomed the snacks served by Mrs. Helen Pohl and Mrs. Betty Smith.

On Thursday, we had 87 who came in for one day plus 7 regular members making a total of 153 people at camp. We were pleased to have Miss Margaret Harris, Supervisor of the E. district and Miss Beatrice Frog, Supervisor of the W. district, both of whom are assistant State Home Demonstration leaders from Michigan State College, with us. It was like old home week to have Bea with us as she was a former H.D.A. of Lenawee County. We were pleased too, to have Mrs. Tynni Hammell, H.D.A. from Lucas County, Ohio, as our guest. It was interesting too, to note that Bea, Tynni, and I orginally came from the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and Margaret Harris used to be Assistant State leader in the U.P. several years ago.

We learned quite a bit from Dr. Randolph C. Downes, who besides teaching at the U. of Toledo, is the Director of the N.W. Historical Society in Ohio. Dr. Downe's talk was in keeping with the theme for the day, "Know Your Neighbor." He spoke on South of the Michigan Border. We learned many interesting things about our neighbors to the south. Besides the farms, farm products, industries, educational institutes, and public services, Dr. Downes told us many human interest stories. We learned from Dr. Downes that the land we are now occupying used to belong to Michigan—Ohio stole it. In the early days the boundary between Michigan and Ohio was a strip south of Lake Michigan to Chicago.

In 1835—three good Democratic Ohio politicians turned up in Washington and asked for this piece of land to go to Ohio. It was put in writing and Ohio received the property. It was as simple as that. To solace Michigan—the "no account" wilderness of the Northern Peninsula was given to Michigan.

Wherever they are—I hope those Ohio politicians faces are red—Little did they realize that they were giving Michigan a choice part of "God's Country."

The remainder of the day's entertainment was furnished by Lenawee County's Home Ec. Extension members — Mrs. Cloyd Lusk favored us with several beautiful piano selections. Mrs. Wilma Godzina and Mrs. Clara Smith brought the house down with two specially prepared comedy skits.

The evening's entertainment was in charge of Mrs. Marguerite Vogel and Mrs. Archie Wallace.

Soap sculpturing was enjoyed by all members. There were several excellent creations. The first prize going to Mrs. Claude Raymond, second, Mrs. Dorothy Toubback, third, Mrs. Yvonne Kuney, fourth, Mrs. Dean Barricklow, fifth, Mrs. Paulene Hoag. Honorable mention went to third Mrs. Nancy Mitchell, second, Mrs. Marguerite Judson, first, Mrs Eunice Bailey

Two very fine movies of interest to hobbyists were shown. One film on Lennox China loaned to us by the Berndt Jewelry was beautifully portrayed.

For years it was commonly known that Lennox China is one of the finest American made chinas. We can stand up proudly and show American China with any other make from England, France, Italy or elsewhere.

The other film enjoyed by violet enthusiasts was the one on "How to Grow African Violets and Gloxinias."

In charge of flag raising and lowering was Mrs. Richard Stock. Mrs. Ann Heiser was in charge of vesper services and snacks were served by Mrs. Ruth Rychener and Mrs. Dorothy Kopke.

Everyone enjoyed the camp crafts which were taught by the members of the camp committee.

Copper tooling was taught by Mrs. Blanche Broderick and Mrs. Opal Burger. The results were outstanding. The array of pictures, name plates, planters were lovely.

The copper jewelry was taught by Mrs. Bertha Marrow and Jo Brighenti assisted by Mrs. Lydia Argue, was novel.

The ladies had fun making earrings, bracelets, and necklaces similar to those made by the Egyptians years ago. Many new designs, however, were created. It is surprising what a little ingenuity will do.

The third craft making copper on enamel jewelry—was our newest experiment. This was taught by Mrs. Doris Brittain, Mrs. Helen Delke, and Mrs. Evelyn Rouget. Craftint's new visible kilns invented by Mr. A. H. Edgerton, whose heating unit is made by our own H. W. Tuttle Co. were easy and simple to operate. At first we didn't know how many people we could take care of so we thought we would offer this craft to full time campers only.

Twenty-eight full time campers made one article, a pair of earrings, cuff links, a brooch or a tie clip the first day.

The designs were all original. The ladies were delighted with their handwork. On Friday I asked for 23 volunteers, coming one day only, if they would like to enamel on copper, so along with 5 full time members, this made a total of 28. They went to work, the results were most gratifying.

On Saturday the remaining full time campers made jewelry for themselves. The instructors worked overtime because several of the ladies wanted to make extra pieces of jewelry.

This visible kiln is unique, it has many possibilities.

On Friday, our total number at camp was 121 including the regular staff, Russell Lenthold, Camp Manager; Barbara Brian, song leader; Forth Ware—Life Guard and Swim instructor; June Neimeyer in charge of conservations; Jim Cox, cook and two of his helpers. We had a good time eating.

We had a fine time singing, swimming, and taking early morning and afternoon hikes.

Help your neighbor was the theme for Friday. Miss Annette Wegner was chairman for the day.

We were very happy to have as our guests Mrs. E. T. Armstrong, head of the Lenawee County A.R.C., Mrs. Eugene Schmidt, R.N. who has had many years experience not only nursing in hospitals in the United States, but who has had 26 months service in the Army. She saw service in Africa, Italy and Germany. She gave us a very fine and timely talk on services the Red Cross has to offer for women to help themselves, their families and their friends.

The R.N. and First Aid classes are eligible to all—12-15 members can form a group and see Mrs. Armstrong for instructions.

We need to look out for ourselves, whether it is for every day use or in case of an attack. All women, in fact, everyone, should be alerted to what they can do for Civil Defense.

We cannot know too much. If one person from each family knew what to do in an emergency—we could be better taken care of.

For recreation and pleasure we were favored with several lovely vocal selections by Mrs. Ruth Bowes accompanied by Mrs. Elen Day.

The evening vesper service conducted by Mrs. G. O. Zics was lovely, in the setting on vesper hill.

The evening ended with a bang—Arden Retuson, State Recreation leader from Michigan State College put everyone through her paces. Square dancing calls and music filled the air. It was an especially fine evening for all. Snacks served by Mrs. Audrey Diver and Katherine Gilsa whetted the appetite.

Saturday was fun day for all. Mrs. Helen Wood was chairman for the day. 70 campers and seven staff members enjoyed the day with us.

Pauline Hoag had an extra special duty at flag raising time.

We all enjoyed the interesting talk on Fragrance of Fashion presented by Norman Schell, owner of Machelles in Adrian.

Linda Burkhart, a member of the Clever Clover 4-H Club presented fine piano selections.

Saturday night, Family night was extra special. About 80 extra family members were present.

Guy Hill, Coordinator of H.S. Cooperation for M.S.C. was the speaker of the evening. He kept everyone chuckling all evenihg.

We were glad to have Herbert Borg, Assistant Director of Extension from M.S.C. and Louis Hall, County Agricultural Agent, with us.

Mr. Hall presented a trip to Europe on the Queen Mary — "Getting There is Half the Fun."

Pat Anderson and Sharon Thomas, members of the Bean Creek Valley 4-H Club furnished music for the evening.

Making new friends and renewing acquaintances added to the pleasure of all who attended the 1954 camp session.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to everyone who assisted in any way in making our camp session a success.

Best wishes are extended to the Camp Committee: Camp Chariman, Mrs. Harold Broderick; Secretary, Mrs. Ernest Rouget; Treasurer, Mrs. Bertha Marrow, Mrs. Cleo Burger; Co-Recreational Chairman, Mrs. Albert Smith; County Chairman, Mrs. Robert Delker; Past County Chairman, Mrs. Richard Brittain.

We will be looking forward to meeting old and new friends again at camp in 1955.

TO WED IN BATTLE CREEK

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Carson of Battle Creek are receiving announcements of the approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia to Thomas Martin Payette of Grand Rapids. The ceremony will take place Saturday, Sept. 4 in the First Congregational church chapel in Battle Creek. Miss Carson, who is a graduate of Michigan State College is the granddaughter of Mrs. D. J. Carson and the late Mr. Carson who lived in Tecumseh for several years. Mr. Carson was manager of H. Brewer and Co. and later owned the Heesen Foundry. Her mother will be remembered here as the former Garland Kellog, a teacher in the Tecumseh schools.

REPUBLICAN "FIRST" TEAM PICKED FOR BIG BATTLE

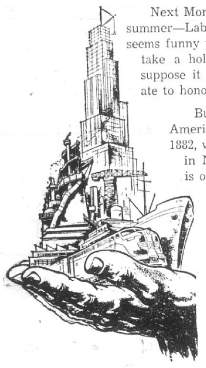
A Salute To Labor



Next Monday is the last holiday of summer—Labor Day. At first glance it seems funny to have almost everybody take a holiday honoring labor. We suppose it would be more appropriate to honor work by working.

But Labor Day has been an American holiday since Sept. 5, 1882, when it was first observed in New York state. Today it is observed in all states.

The idea behind Labor Day when it was first suggested in 1882 was to have an annual holiday which would be "representative of the industrial spirit—the great vital force of the nation."

This suggestion came from Peter J. McGuire, then president of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners. He thought the most desirable date for the holiday would be the first Monday in September since it came about mid-way between Independence and Thanksgiving Days.

Today, 72 years later, American workers—and this includes all of us who labor for our daily bread whether we are men in the shops, the white-collar workers or professional men—have achieved the world's highest standard of living, along with the highest records of productivity, income and benefits.

This is a rough survey of the technological progress made in the last two generations: the average employee today can produce more in 40 hours than his father of a generation ago produced in 60 hours; and he is able to produce five times as much in 40 hours as his grandfather did in 60 hours.

Of course, this does not mean that workers today are any better men or that they work any harder. Fact is, with constantly improving techniques and equipment, we today don't have to work as hard as our fathers and grandfathers did.

We work less hours and with less effort and, the survey also shows, we have five times as much in way of material goods, although we may have some where along the line lost some of the basic points of finer living and values.

This technological advance is the essence of human progress and history has not witnessed its equal in the recorded annals of man.

So this Labor Day let us again salute all those who labor; and while we are relaxing on this American holiday think of the historical significance of Labor Day and of the technological advances that have given us the leisure time that we tend to take for granted.

Letters Must Be Signed

Another unsigned letter from "a reader" was received this week. The letter treated the subjects of making the city more beautiful and the need for facilities for young people.

Both ideas have merit; but the HERALD cannot publish letters that are not signed.

A writer of a letter to the editor can have his or her name withheld but a name still must be signed to the letter.

This newspaper welcomes letters on subjects of general interest but, remember, please sign your name.

It's Possible

America stands on the threshold of a new power age—and by 1975 it is possible that much of our routine work will be done by electronic robots.

There may be small robots to cook and wash in the home; cross-country conveyor belts, electronically monitored highways where motorists can set an automatic pilot and enjoy a nap while cruising along.

Impossible? That's what skeptics were saying only 25 years ago about transoceanic passenger flights, TV and miracle drugs like penicillin!

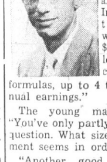
"How much can I afford to pay for a house?" a young fellow asked recently. "I make $350 per month."

"That's a good question," I replied. "Several yardsticks are available. For example, the Veterans Administration formula.



Under it, the total purchase price should not exceed 2½ to 3 times the annual income. In your case, the maximum would be about $10,500. Some leading agencies use higher formulas, up to 4 times your annual earnings."

The young man grinned. "You've only partly answered my question. What size monthly payment seems in order?"

"Another good question," I said. "Again using a common yardstick, your monthly housing cost (including mortgage principal and interest, taxes, insurance, fuel, and a small reserve for maintenance) should not exceed 35% of your income; other formulas round it off at one week's earnings. In other words, in your case after deducting income tax and other withholdings, you have about $320 per month. The total housing cost should not run more than around $75.00."

"That's the kind of information I wanted," the young man replied. "My wife is going to meet me here in a few minutes."

May we help you in buying a house too?

SHOP IN TECUMSEH FRIDAY NIGHTS!

Read Label When Buying Your Raincoat

Girls who are starting to collect a school wardrobe for fall probably have "raincoat" down on that shopping list.

Clothing specialists at Michigan State College offer these tips to help you select the kind of rainwear you want:

If the label says "waterproof," you'll know that the fabric has been treated to shed water completely . . . even in a driving rain. Plastic coats and "slickers" come in that class. But, remember . . . that treatment also closed the "pores" of the fabric so no air can penetrate. And some people find this type hot and uncomfortable.

"Water repellent" raincoats are comfortable because they maintain their porous quality. They have been chemically treated to make them resistant to wetting. They shed water satisfactorily except in a prolonged, hard rain.

The M.S.C. clothing specialists urge you to look for a close, firm weave if you buy a water repellent raincoat — whether made blend of fibers. Look, too, for the blen dof fibers. Look, too, for the tag that indicates whether the water repellent finish is durable or non-durable.

A non-durable water repellent finish would mean you must have the finish restored with each dry cleaning or laundering — an expensive process.

Take time to read the labels before you buy—your raincoat is a year-round investment.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

Once in time God's own life was lived out in the flesh, and the One who thus revealed the Eternal was executed as an enemy of the community. Jerusalem, the holy city, the site of the temple, the seat of authority in religion, murdering good men! Little wonder that Jesus broke down and cried over the city!

Amos and Jeremiah and the Suffering Servant, and in the near future Stephen and Peter and Paul! How long, O Lord, how long! Men entrenched in authority blindly stone the innovator as a threat to the status quo from which they derive privilege and prestige. Arrogance closes their minds to the possibility that the prophet may be speaking words of truth and redemption.

Fear of change, apprehension over the consequences of a new message, often cause men of religion to become cruel and ruthless in removing the source of the threat. Sometimes ecclesiastics stone the prophets, while often it is found that some of them merely stand by, indifferent to the fate of the pioneer and not sufficiently concerned to go to his aid.

It was this combination that led to the crucifixion of our Lord —blindness, arrogance, fear, indifference. He went about doing good, but because his goodness was different it was suspected. So intimate and vital was his relationship to God that he spoke with authority, but his words were condemned as blasphemy.

He challenged men to worship God in spirit and in truth, knowing that out of the heart spring the issues of life, but his message was looked upon as a menace to the institutions of the day. His character was Godlike, but he was accused of being the very devil, Beelzebub, the prince of demons.

Is it I, O Lord, is it I? Is it we, O Lord, is it we? Have mercy upon us, O God, have mercy upon us.

State Fair Salutes Dairy Industry

The importance of the dairy industry of Michigan will be told in a special $12,000 exhibit at the 1954 Michigan State Fair, September 3 through 12.

One of the objects of the exhibit will be to show the versatility of milk products. For instance, there will be several hundred kinds of cheese on display and an attractive counter of ice creams in unusual molded forms.

The various steps of the dairy industry, from the cow to the bottle of milk on the doorstep, will be depicted along with rather astounding facts about the industry.

Michigan, with 864,000 dairy cows, ranks 8th in the Nation in total milk production, 7th in the amount of milk bottled, 4th in evaporated milk production, and 6th in butter and ice cream.

Income from dairy products is the largest source of farm income in Michigan. This is in spite of the fact that the average cow eats 3 to 4 tons of hay, 1/2 to 1 ton of grain and pasture from 1 to 2 acres in a year's time.

Smiley Burnette Stars In Lenawee County Fair

Smiley Burnette, America's No. 1 cowboy comic, appearing at the Lenawee County Fair, Adrian, Michigan September 24 and 25 brings a laugh filled show that will keep young and old alike screaming with laughter from start to finish.

Smiley, who has appeared at fairs for many years, is the holder of many appearance records. He has made some 4,000 personal appearances these past 22 years, and once played to a crowd estimated at 17,000 at a Pancake festival in Villa Grove, Ill.

He has traveled some 2½ million miles making these appearances and has traveled over 500,000 miles during the time since 1946.

On August 7 at Fowlerville, Michigan, Smiley broke all existing attendance records for a one night stand in the grandstand, turning away several hundreds after standing room only was available.

This famous star of Columbia Western pictures has made over 170 pictures and has written some 300 songs. Many of these hit songs will be included in his program during his stay in Adrian.

Smiley started his professional career in Carthage, Ill. as a child receiving $3 for his share.

After much moving around with his parents, who were both ordained ministers, Smiley turned to radio and was the one-man show at WDZ Tuscola, Ill. From the radio station he was hired by Gene Autry and went to WLS for several months, and from there he and Gene went to Hollywood, July 1934, and started making motion pictures.

Although Smiley has been on the circuit for 22 years he is working harder than ever but enjoying it more than at anyother time in his fabulous career.

When talking to him one immediately realizes that he gets as much enjoyment out of making people laugh as people enjoy laughing. His entertainment is paced so that anyone that brought any cares with them will certainly lose them when he starts his jokes, gags and imitations.

Plan now to bring the whole family and enjoy a terrific evening of fun with your favorite comedian, Smiley Burnette.

Christian Science Services Listed

The ability, power, and sinless perfection which characterize man's real nature in God's likeness will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" includes the following pasages from the King James Version of the Bible (Ephesians 4:7,-13):

"But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ . . . Till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fulness of Christ."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be among those read (258:21): "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God."

The Golden Text is from Genesis (1:27): "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him."

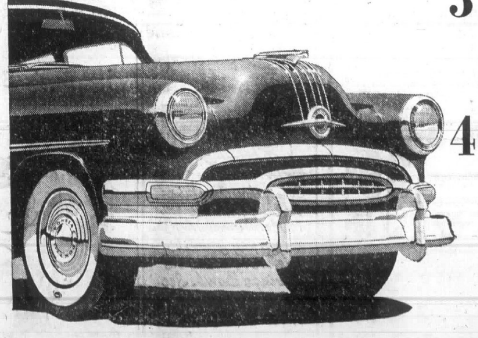
4 Important Reasons why you should buy a PONTIAC

RIGHT NOW!

1 Pontiac is One of the Greatest Cars Ever Built!

Match today's Pontiac with America's finest cars and you'll get a dramatic picture of Pontiac value. First of all, Pontiac is big—bigger, in fact, than many cars costing hundreds of dollars more. Pontiac is beautiful—with its distinctive Silver Streak styling. Inside, you'll find genuine fine-car luxury and appointments—along with the roominess and comfort that come only with a long wheelbase. But the big surprise comes when you test Pontiac's performance. See how alert it is to every demand in traffic, how it handles and corners almost without effort, how it takes to the open road with plenty of power to spare and saves money every mile.



2 Pontiac has the Best Resale Value in its Price Class!

Along with all its fine-car size, luxury and performance, Pontiac has a very special attribute no car at any price can beat—its unsurpassed reputation for year-in, year-out dependability. Pontiac's carefree, economical long life and its proved record of amazingly low maintenance expense are so widely known and acknowledged that it commands the highest resale value in its price class. Because Pontiac is America's most desirable used car, your original investment comes back in greater measure when you trade, making ownership cost even lower.

3 Pontiac is Priced Just Above the Lowest!

After you've convinced yourself of Pontiac's value, after you've considered all the good things you've heard about its dependability—see and compare it dollar-wise. Despite the fact it's a fine car in every sense of the term, it's priced so near the lowest that if you can afford any new car you can afford a Pontiac.

4 We'll Make You a Deal You Can't Afford to Miss!

Right now we're making such liberal trade-in allowances that you just can't afford to pass up the greatest opportunity you ever had to become a fine-car owner. Come in and get the facts.

Is That So!

By Clara Waldron

TECUMSEH ON WHEELS

"Mr. and Mrs. Typical Tecumsehite and family have left for—or returned from—a trip to Maine or Mexico, Manitoba or Miami." So runs the news. Going somewhere is so much a part of our summer pattern that it takes a fairly ambitious trip to rate mention anymore. Some of them are airborne, a few on the high seas, but the great majority are on wheels. Casual, blue-jeaned, at-home-on-the-road trips. And to the younger generations the family car, that fantastically efficient mechanism which makes it all possible, is taken as a matter of course.

And perhaps the most fantastic part is the fact that it has all taken place within the experience of many who can remember when such a summer exodus was beyond the wildest imagination. The first motor driven vehicle ever seen in Tecumseh was in 1899. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yeager had made the perilous trip from Wauseon, Ohio, to visit the Clarence Conklins and after due announcement had been made, they paraded the streets of the village so everyone might have a chance to see the wonderful "horseless carriage."

That same year R. T. Mead, who then lived on Green Road in Raisin, bought a Foster Steamer, made in Rochester, N.Y., which if it did not belong to Tecumseh proper, introduced the vicinity to the pleasures and perils of driving without a horse. In 1901 P. W. A. Fitzsimmons, assisted by "Boly" Satterthwaite, drove his new Locomobile from Norwalk, Ohio in two days. Tom Lowry probably had the next. His cousin Ed thinks it was an "E.M.S." but has no idea what the letters stood for. He does remember that the C. A. Slayton family had a one cylinder Olds about the same time and Don Bowen bought another Steamer which it took him and Will Ingersoll two days to drive from Ypsilanti. The steam gauge broke and they expected to be blown up at any moment.

Those next few years were a period of divided loyalty. Lenawee had fine horses and it was proud of them. They, and their owners, resented the new contraptions that began to rattle and puff over the roads, striking terror to horse and driver alike. Even the mildest family driving horse became a potential danger when faced with what seemed to be his own buggy charging at him under apparently diabolical power. Ordinances were passed to govern the menace. On signal, the motorist had to stop and help lead the horse past—thus transferring the danger to his own luckless shins.

One woman made it a practice to call Mr. Fitzsimmons whenever she contemplated driving to town, to learn if he would be on the road. Oddly enough one of the first Fords was owned by the town's veterinarian, Dr. C. A. Waldron. It was a three-seater, red, and with enough brass fittings to make a down payment on a Packard, and when it stalled, as it did on every other hill, what a perfect target it was for the hail, "Hey, Doc, get a horse!" Probably the most frustrating situation of all was when you drove a horse one day and a car the next—both of them temperamental!

Even a short journey in those early cars was hazardous, a long one was a prayerful undertaking. One trip to Chicago in 1918 took two days and was made across Ohio to take advantage of the few miles of Lincoln highway that had been paved. There were no garages and every driver was his own mechanic. Now no layman can possibly understand that precision miracle he drives and fortunately he does not have to.

Perhaps you think your vacation car did not have all the comforts and refinements. But if you had braved the road in one without a starter, a windshield wiper, demountable wheels, water proof top or heater and then acquired all those—believe me brother—that's luxury.

Gerald VanValkenburg, who recently returned from a month's training at a surveying school at Jackson, Wyo., conducted for engineering students of the U. of M., has gone to Gladwin, Mich., where he will be student engineer with the highway department until the opening of the University. He will graduate after one more semester as a civil engineer and is specializing in highway construction.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Miller and family have moved from Adrian to 108 S. Democrat street.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon circled northern Michigan last week and visited three of their children. They spent a few days with the Vaughn Curtis family at their cottage on Silver Lake near Lake Michigan, some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoag in Saginaw and with Mr. and Mrs. Chris Anderson and family at Flint. They returned home Sunday evening.

The Silver Lining

Look for the silver lining
Whenever a cloud appears

CONDUCTED BY BOB WARREN

LEON WILLIAMSON WAS KIND ENOUGH to bring in these clippings from the Chicago Tribune:

What may be a portrait of Tecumseh—and, if so, probably the only existing one of the famed Shawnee Indian chief—has turned up in a collection of paintings at the National History museum.

Evidence that the oil painting of an Indian in white man's garb may be the eloquent and politically ingenious chief has been found by George I. Quimby, for 12 years curator of North American archaeology and ethnology at the museum.

"Such a painting would fill a gap in history," Quimby said, "as no true portrait of the Indian warrior and statesman, called the most extraordinary Indian character in history, ever has come to light."

Of the 35 paintings, 33 were executed by George Catlin and another by Chester Harding. Both are widely known as painters of Indians, Quimby explained, but both arrived in the midwest too late to paint Tecumseh, who died in battle Oct. 5, 1813.

This leaves the 35th painting, which is unsigned, to be the Tecumseh portrait, Quimby reasoned. The Indian generally has been depicted by a composite based on a pencil sketch made about 1808 by Pierre Le Dru, a French trader at Vincennes, Ind.

To this, some 50 years later, were added Tecumseh's cap, medal, and uniform of brigadier general in the British army. He was so commissioned when he led some 2,000 warriors of allied tribes against the United States in the War of 1812 as part of his effort to resist white encroachment.

Tecumseh was killed in the war in battle against forces led by William Henry Harrison, who later became President. Earlier, Tecumseh's most famous defeat had been at Harrison's hands on Nov. 7, 1811, in the battle of Tippecanoe, after the Indiana governor and the Indian chief failed to come to terms on an Indian peace offer for the white man's withdrawal.

The controversial painting, acquired with others by the museum in 1894 and stored until Quimby this year began preparing them for exhibition and reference, orginally was owned by Gen. William Clark, of the famed Lewis and Clark expedition and onetime superintendent of Indian affairs for the western regions.

"Clark had fought against Tecumseh," said Quimby. "He had many Indian contacts; he collected paintings of Indians and commissioned several artists to paint them."

The possible Tecumseh portrait was one of 35 Indian paintings bought from Miss Emily O'Fallon of St. Louis, a grandniece of Clark. At the time, Miss O'Fallon wrote that a painting was of Tecumseh was among the 35.

OPENING OF SCHOOL this week reminds me of the tingling excitement that accompanied the anticipation of my first day in a Hillsdale County country school. I really got duked out for the occasion, with a new pair of overalls, a new matching wamus, new blue denim shirt and a new pair of work shoes "just like dad's," and none of the more than 1700 children beginning school this week, no matter how fine their mothers have outfitted them, will be any prouder than I was of my new blue denim suit that sunny Sept. day. Of course, since it was the opening of school days, I also had school supplies that included a pencil box loaded with pencils, a ruler and crayons and a Big Chief writing tablet. Although it was 29 years ago this week, it seems like it was yesterday—this day that always will be remembered as one of the biggest thrills of my life.

A TEACHER'S COLLEGE has come out with a report that today's children cry more and behave worse than those of a generation ago. No wonder—those others weren't children, they were us.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING. One of the contestants, an enterprising young man, sold subscriptions to the HERALD as Christmas gifts.

A YOUNG KANSAS BOY, 6 asked his mother if he could spend his 50c for some comic books. His mother agreed but told him to take along a penny for the tax. The lad returned with four comic books—and a box of thumb tacks.

DALE MADDEN WHO SPOKE to Rotarians and Exchangeites this week told this little yarn to develop the point that leaders need enthusiasm: according to the principles of aerodynamics, a bumblebee is not properly built to fly. But the bumblebee, because nobody has told him that he can't fly, keeps right on flying. Dale proved his point.

THOUGHT FOR THIS WEEK—Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace. Where there is hatred, let me sow love; where there is injury, pardon; where there is doubt, faith; where there is despair, hope; where there is darkness, light; where there is sadness, joy. — St. Francis of Assisi

HELP TO MAKE HISTORY—These young students helped to make history Tuesday when they enrolled in the new St. Elizabeth's School. This is the first year Tecumseh has had a parochial school. Sister Anne Xavier, O.P., enrolls Tony Nichols for the first grade as his sister, Susan, a second grader, and Billy Westfall, a first grader (with his mother, Mrs. R. Westfall) wait for their turns. WELCOME PASTOR

All members of the congregation and friends of the Methodist church are included in an invitation of an open house to be held in the church parlors Friday evening from 7 until 9.

The reception is a welcome for the new pastor and his family, the Rev. and Mrs. Horace James.

ENROLL IN HOWE

John A. Purcell, 316 W. Pottawatamie street, and Ross F. C. Hadley, 618 north Maumee street will enroll today at Howe Military Academy, Howe, Indiana.

Robin Hoods

Two Tecumseh archers won firsts in the state target championship matches held in Plainwell Sunday and Monday.

All members of the Lenawee Conservation Club, these archers won firsts: Sandra Hall, junior girls; Gary Cameron, junior boys.

Also placing in the different events were Harold and Gary Hall of Tecumseh.

1550 STUDENTS ENROLL

As of noon Tuesday 1550 students had enrolled in the Tecumseh Public Schools for the coming school year.

This count is about 100 short of what school officials anticipated.

GIVE TO POLIO

Tecumseh Eagles took up a collection Saturday night and as a result they gave $14.74 for the emergency polio drive.

Wagner, Herrick To Present Plaques Citing Dr. Hammel

The two commemorative plaques which are to be given to the Legion Home and to Herrick Memorial hospital in honor of the late Dr. H. H. Hammel, will be presented by J. Addington Wagner, Past Commander of the Department of Michigan and Past National Vice-Commander and by Ray W. Herrick.

The presentation will be made Thursday evening, Sept. 16, at a public banquet at the Legion Home.

Kent T. Lundgren, Commander of the Department of Michigan also will be present.

Dinner will be served by the ladies of the Baptist church at 6:30 p. m. and tickets are now on sale.

The plaques will be on display soon in the window of the chamber of commerce.

32 Indians Prepare For Grid Opener

Thirty-two Tecumseh High School gridders are working out daily under the direction of Coach Lester Runk and Carl Hale, assistant, in preparation for their first football game against Addison here Friday, Sept. 17.

Seven of the 32 Indians are returning lettermen. They are Bill Brown, Jim Bowser and Denny Farley, ends; Bill Scutt, tackle; Bob Benham, guard; Chuck O'Neill, center; and Tom Neitling, quarterback.

Coach Runk is also counting on these reserves from last year to help carry the Indian load this year: Jimmy Jackson and Ray Nichols, tackles; Bob Manley, guard; Ray Larned, center; Gary Marsh, fullback; and Ritchie Davis and John Cadmus, halfbacks.

THEY ALSO MAY HELP

Dale Daniels, a guard and tackle; Leroy Betzoldt, a halfback; and Marvin Yoakum, a tackle also may be able to contribute to the Indian cause, although none of these players took part in football last year.

Using an unbalanced line with a single wing and some tight T, the Runkmen naturally will be out to improve on their record of last year and, for that matter, for the past two years.

The Indians have had a win famine for two seasons now, having lost all their games. Last year's record was 0 and 8.

COACH COMMENTS

Asked to comment on the team's chances this year, Coach Runk was non-committal. He said:

"Our team will have fair size on the line but we will be very small in the backfield.

"We are doing everything possible to develop overall team speed.

"Our prospects this year are little better than last year. If we are to have a winning season, the boys up from last year's junior varsity are really going to have to come through.

"We were badly weakened last week when two boys from the varsity and two boys from the reserve squad were declared ineligible for accepting prizes in a recent golf tournament. One of the boys was considered a sure backfield starter and he would have been our best defensive back."

Herald's Big Contest Ends Saturday Noon

An Open Letter To Contestants

It has been a genuine pleasure to work with such a fine group of enterprising contestants in the HERALD'S big prize subscription contest, now in its final stages and which comes to an official close this Saturday noon, September 11.

All participants have shown commendable spirit of sportsmanship. Their most excellent results achieved, individually and collectively, are accomplishments showing rare ability and we feel sure the experience gained the past few weeks will prove of inestimable value in the years to come.

We only wish it were possible to award a beautiful automobile to each and every active contestant but to do so, of course, would eliminate that vital element of competition that makes any race.

The contest will soon be over. To the winner congratulations! To those who must of necessity accept secondary awards, we can truthfully say they "fought the good fight" and special recommendations are due those who have been game to the finish.

The climax Saturday noon!

Six and one half weeks of hard work and anxious uncertainty culminates in the closing scene promptly at the stroke of noon this Saturday, September 11, at which time the HERALD subscription contest officially ends and the most aggressive contestants will claim the magnificent prizes offered by this newspaper, headed by that beautiful new 1954 Buick "8" sedan, valued at $2422.44.

For more than six weeks the various contestants have been busily engaged in accumulating their vote totals for the final count. During this time the HERALD contest has attracted the keen interest of all residents in the county and the nearby area. Progress of the contestants has been followed with as much enthusiasm as a sports fan follows the fortunes of his favorite.

With the race in its final stage, contestants are imbued with high hopes and ambition to win first honors—and their supporters are lending a hand to help their choice "over the top."

The "will to win," coupled with relentless activity during the remaining time of contest can make any one of the leaders a major prize winner. The end is but a few hours away — MAY THE BEST CONTESTANT WIN.

Contracts Let, Water Supply To Be Increased

Councilmen have let contracts for a new well and well house which will be built on Newburg road.

Dunbar Drilling & Supply Co. of Delta, Ohio, will install the pumps and electrician equipment; Archie G. Shufelt, Inc. and Guy Dryer of Hillsdale will lay the water mains and build the well house.

The new well and house, which will add 400,000 gallons of water per day to the city water supply, will be completed this autumn.

BELDING APPOINTED

Guy Belding was re-appointed to a three-year term on the Cemetery Association by action of the council Tuesday night.

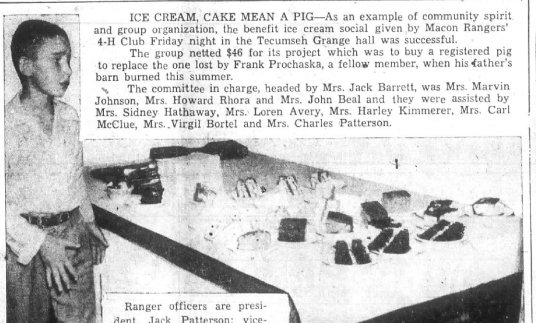
ICE CREAM, CAKE MEAN A PIG—As an example of community spirit and group organization, the benefit ice cream social given by Macon Rangers' 4-H Club Friday night in the Tecumseh Grange hall was successful.

The group netted $46 for its project which was to buy a registered pig to replace the one lost by Frank Prochaska, a fellow member, when his father's barn burned this summer.

The committee in charge, headed by Mrs. Jack Barrett, was Mrs. Marvin Johnson, Mrs. Howard Rhora and Mrs. John Beal and they were assisted by Mrs. Sidney Hathaway, Mrs. Loren Avery, Mrs. Harley Kimmerer, Mrs. Carl McClue, Mrs. Virgil Bortel and Mrs. Charles Patterson.



Ranger officers are president, Jack Patterson; vice-president, Kenny Bortel; secretary, Shirley Bortel; treasurer, John Wilt; and reporter Larry Patterson.

Tecumseh?

Boy, 14, Held For Striking Cabbie

A 14-year-old Macon boy is held at the county children's home for probate court action after he admitted to sheriff officers that he struck an Adrian cab driver on the head with a steel bar.

The incident occurred August 17 in Tecumseh. Channing June, the cab driver, took the boy and his older brother, 16, to Tecumseh from Adrian.

When the boys got to their destination, the older boy got out first and the boy held hit the driver in the head. The 14-year-old told deputies that he did not rob June but he had planned to.

The steel bar was found in a local driveway.

RIDGEWAY BOY WINS

James Dean of Ridgeway was one of the winners at the state 4-H Club show at MSC last week. He won for his dairy records.

4 Caddies Ruled Ineligible For High School Sports

Four caddies have been declared ineligible for the fall semester in high school sports. One of these boys, Val Spangler, has been considered by Coach Lester Runk as a key man in football and by Coach Victor Lawson as a varsity guard in basketball.

The others, Jon Weakley, Gary Williams and Ronald Gurtzweiler, are inexperienced but would have participated in either varsity or reserve football and basketball.

The loss of these boys to high school athletics is a severe blow to the local high school, Supt. James McDowell reports.

The handbook of the Michigan High School Athletic Association which makes and enforces the rules of eligibility for high school athletics reads as follows: No student shall be eligible to represent his high school who: (1) has received money for participating in athletics, sports, or games listed in Section B; (2) has received money or other valuable consideration for officiating in interscholastic athletic contests; or (3) has signed a contract with a professional baseball team.

A student will render himself ineligible under this Rule if he violates its amateur provisions only in the following activities: baseball, basketball, boxing, cross country, football (11 man, 8 man, or 6 man), golf, ice hockey, skiing, soccer, softball, swimming, tennis, track or wrestling.

Under the term money or valuable consideration is included such items as a sweater, athletic equipment, wearing apparel, watches or any similar article or merchandise, as well as membership or privileges in clubs, or organizations, or personal services.

If a student accepts any medal, ribbon, badge, plaque, cup, banner, picture, ring award, other than the regular letter award of the school, when any part of the purchase price is paid by the student, donated, paid by the school, or raised through individual or group action, it is regarded as a violation.

All boys have been repeatedly warned in high school by the superintendent and principal as well as by the coaching personnel against accepting any kind of gift for athletics.

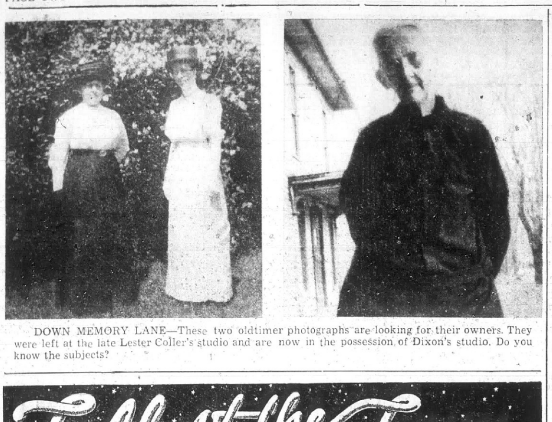
This is the third time boys have been declared ineligible for accepting prizes for golf.

Although warned to check with the coaches, principal or superintendent, these boys recently declared ineligible, accepted prizes for a member-caddy tournament this summer.

Parents who have boys in school should take particular care that their sons do not violate the amateur practice rule.

High school authorities can only warn, they cannot prohibit a boy from accepting a prize.

Last spring, Supt. McDowell said, those boys interested in athletics met to have these rules explained and signed a slip acknowledging that they understood the rule.



DOWN MEMORY LANE—These two oldtimer photographs are looking for their owners. They were left at the late Lester Coller's studio and are now in the possession of Dixon's studio. Do you know the subjects?

Talk of the Town

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rice will leave Saturday morning by air on the first part of a trip to Europe. They will fly to London and from there will go by train, boat and air to France and Switzerland, leaving for home by air from Geneva. They plan to be gone about two weeks.

R. W. and Virginia Dixon and sons Ronald and John spent Labor Day vacation with Mr. Dixon's sister and brother-in-law Jim Coleman at their cottage on Londo Lake near Hale, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Harris and Mrs. Percy Heidenreich spent the Labor Day weekend at their cabins at South Branch. Mr. and Mrs. Ned Lanning are occupying the E. H. McConnell cabin for a couple of weeks and Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Calhoun and family flew to South Branch to be their guests for the day.

Miss Margaret Lowry returned Sunday from a month's visit with her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones in Hendersonville, N. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Humble have received word of the birth of a son to their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin E. Humble of Richland Center, Wis. The baby was born Monday. The Franklin Humbles also have a daughter.

The Rev. Edward C. Dickin and family spent part of last week in Martin River, Ontario as guests of Mr. Dickin's sister.

Three members of the Clifton (Pete) Holmes family were patients at Herrick Memorial hospital early this week. Mr. Holmes had undergone surgery the previous Friday; Sunday his daughter, Mrs. Robert Baird a hospital nurse entered as a medical patient and Monday his son Bobby was operated on for acute appendicitis.

Robert Bailey, who has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey since the close of summer school, left last week for Sault Ste. Marie to resume his teaching work. He teaches fourth grade.

Miss Alice Montgomery returned Monday to Monroe where she will teach again this year. She had spent the summer with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery and at Wamplers Lake. Miss Gertrude Montgomery will leave soon for Ypsilanti where she is a teacher in the Normal School.

Norbert O'Hara came Saturday from Quantico, Va., to spend the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Hara. He is attending marine officer's training school there. Mrs. O'Hara, who is still at their home in East Lansing, was also here and they were joined on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schultz of Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Myra Mangus, who has for some time made her home with Miss Mary McWilliams, has moved to an apartment in Clinton.

Mrs. Carl Bassett and children Robert and Carol Ann have arrived home after spending the summer with Mr. Bassett in Charlevoix, where he is engaged in construction work.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Batts of Kalamazoo were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John McColl Wednesday. Mr. Batts, a member of the Kalamazoo College faculty is studying for his doctorate in ornithology at the University of Michigan this summer. Mrs. Batts is Mr. McColl's cousin.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. John McColl were Miss Cecelia LaFountain and Miss Cleo Loyd of Adrian, both members of the Adrian Public Schools' faculty.

Little Jane Beal of Ann Arbor spent last week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royce Beal visited in Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn VanDenbergh were guests of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sauer in Sturgis, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Glenn Large who entered Herrick Memorial hospital Thursday for surgery returned home Monday afternoon. Mr. Large's mother, Mrs. Anna Large and daughter Bernice of Clayton assisted in the home during her absence.

Earl Brown of Riverside, Calif., was in Tecumseh several days last week renewing old acquaintances. He was one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Brown who lived on W. Cummins street and he graduated from high school with the class of 1910.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Seager entertained Mrs. Seager's father, George H. Watson of Grand Rapids over the Labor Day weekend.

Mrs. C. M. Voss of St. Johns is visiting her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Voss for several days.

Mrs. Lawrence Drewyor and Miss Ardis Drewyor spent the holiday weekend at Havre de Grace, Md., visiting Mr. and Mrs. Larry Drewyor.

Mrs. T. Rentschler regrets to state that she will not be available to plan meetings for the Over Fifty group this year. Until different arrangements can be made there will be no meetings.

Sally Rentschler has returned from Gray, Maine, where she spent the summer as one of five private students of William Kincaid, first flutist of the Philadelphia Orchestra, Inc. She is now the house guest of Harriet Whallon in Akron, Ind., for a few days.

Margaret LaLonde Is Bride Of Donald VanCamp

At ten o'clock Saturday morning in St. Elizabeth Catholic church, Margaret LaLonde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon LaLonde of 34 Mill street became the bride of Donald Van Camp, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. George VanCamp of W. Logan street.

Father Thomas Collins officiated at the double ring ceremony and "Ave Maria" and "On This Day" were sung by Wallace Whiting, with Mrs. Ben Hammack at the organ.

Two sisters of the bride were in the wedding party. Mrs. John McKenzie was her sister's matron of honor while Wilma LaLonde was flower girl. Marilou Burleson, Mary Ann Coogan and Virginia Gregory were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of nylon net over taffeta in yellow, melon pink and aqua respectively and both Mrs. McKenzie and Wilma LaLonde were in cornflower blue. All their dresses were floor length, made with tiered skirts, ruffled, strapless bodices and double stoles.

Miss LaLonde's brunette beauty was enhanced by her bridal gown of lace and nylon tulle over satin, made with a fitted bodice and wide portrait neckline, embroidered with iridescent sequins. A full lace peplum fell over the tiered tulle skirt which ended in a chapel train.

Yellow rosebuds combined with white Fugi mums and white maline formed her cascade bouquet while those of her attendants were of cream pompoms arranged with tulle to match their gowns.

Gordon LaLonde gave his daughter in marriage and John McKenzie assisted Mr. VanCamp as best man, while Harold Anderson, George VanCamp and Duaine Murphy were ushers.

Mrs. LaLonde wore a powder blue nylon dress with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of crimson rosettes. Mrs. VanCamp's dress was a nevy two piece and her accessories were pink as was her corsage.

At 7:30 Saturday evening a reception for 200 guests was held at the American Legion Home, featuring a four tiered wedding caek.

Mr. and Mrs. VanCamp left for a week's trip through northern Michigan, the bride wearing a dress of tiny black and white checks and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride, a graduate of Tecumseh high school with the class of 1954 is employed at Wright's Drug store, while the groom, an employee of Tecumseh Products Co. also graduated from Tecumseh High in 1950.

Their home will be in Tecumseh at 216½ N. VanBuren.

ATTEND SERVICES FOR RICHARD LEWIS

A group of Tecumseh people attended the funeral services for Richard Lewis which were held at the Burden Funeral Home in Jackson Tuesday afternoon. Besides his immediate family, it included Mrs. H. M. Butler, Mrs. Harold Butler, Mrs. Richard Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lewis and family and Thomas Rutherford. Mr. Lewis, a veteran of World War II had been employed by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and was a member of the United Rubber Workers CIO and of the Moore Lodge. The Rev. Dallas Berry had charge of the services and burial was in Hillcrest Memorial Park in Jackson with fellow workers from the Goodyear Co. as bearers.

Madden Explains Leadership Key

The common denominator of leadership is the ability to handle men.

This was the introduction of a speech given by Dale Madden of the Leadership Training Institute who spoke to members of the Rotary Club Tuesday night and to members of the Exchange Club Wednesday night.

Tracing the careers of several business and political leaders, he said they were outstanding leaders because they could speak effectively and they knew how to get along with people.

They understood people, he continued, because they had a genuine interest in and an honest sincere appreciation of people.

Actually, he added, this is the substance of the golden rule in action.

The "key" to leadership, he concluded, can be summed up with K for knowledge; E for enthusiasm (a good leader must be excitingly enthused in a project) and Y for yourself (a good leader must believe in himself.)

Mr. Madden was invited to speak here by the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring a Dale Carnegie Course in Tecumseh this fall.

A demonstration of the course will be given in the Legion Building next Monday night at 7:30.

The public is invited to attend and refreshments will be served at this exploratory meeting.

Yes, just one evening is all we're suggesting. That's all it will take for you to discover the magic methods Dale Carnegie uses in helping men and women develop confidence and new abilities and skills in Effective Speaking, Leadership and Human Relations.

Please accept this as a warm invitation to be our guest at a Demonstration Meeting of the famous Dale Carnegie Course.

People who come to such a meeting always find it an enjoyable and thrilling experience—even if they decide the Course is not what they are looking for. We are altogether willing to admit that we don't have what is best for every person.

However, Dale Carnegie training has proved the best for the most people. Almost a half million men and women in many fields have taken the Course with gratifying results. It's certainly worth your investigating.

And again, this takes just one evening of your lifetime!

Betty Bird And Raymond Smith Wed Saturday

Betty Bird, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Bird of 109 N. Ottawa St., was married to Raymond L. Smith, son of Mrs. Ethel Smith of Northville, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. B. O. Bashore in the Baptist church and the couple was attended by Delora Fletcher and Robert Bird, brother of the bride.

The bride wore blue, trimmed with white and rhinestones and her accessories were navy. The bridesmaid's dress was aqua and navy and both wore corsages of gardenias and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Bird's dress was pink taffeta with black accessories, Mrs. Smith's rose print and their corsages were of carnations and roses.

Following the ceremony a reception for 50 friends and relatives was held at the home of the bride's mother. The bride's sisters, Mrs. William Radar and Judy Bird assisted, Mrs. Radar cutting the three-tiered cake and Judy registering the guests, who came from Sylvania, Lyons and Wauseon, Ohio; Elizabethtown, Ky., and from Jasper, Morenci, Northville and Adrian.

The new Mrs. Smith attended Tecumseh schools. They will make thir home in Northville.

Just before winning the 1954 National Professional Golfer's Association title July 28, Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich., and other finalists took a "milk break" to toast each other's health.

Harbert's victory over defending champion Walt Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., came on his ninth try for the PGA title—he said afterwards it felt like the 90th. It was the first time he has won a national golf title.

Raising their glasses of milk in the club house at Keller Golf Course, St. Paul, Minn., are l. to r., Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt, Harbert, and Burkemo.

Promotion of the "milk break" is a part of the national campaign to promote the sale of dairy products, according to Charles E. Stone, secretary-manager of the American Dairy Association of Michigan.

"Watch Out For Kids"

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Clair L. Taylor, today announced the opening of a statewide traffic safety program aimed at reducing accidents to school children.

Right after Labor Day 1½ million children will return to school. The superintendent said 140,000 of these will be attending school for the first time and motorists must remember that this is a brand new experience for these children.

According to Dr. Taylor, there will be a record number of children and cars on the highway and unless we redouble our safety efforts sheer mathematics will give Michigan the blackest traffic record in years.

Commenting on the personal responsibility of adults, Superintendent Taylor said, "I want to urge every motorist to do one thing this year and that is upon sight of any child repeat the September campaign slogan, WATCH OUT FOR KIDS. At any rate we know there is a parent at home anxiously awaiting the safe arrival of every one of these children.

The prime responsibility rests with the motorist because no parent can be at the side of each child all day. The few minutes required to slow down for children is a small investment that will pay a rich dividend and it will protect a valuable possession, your drivers' license."

Superintendent Taylor added, "This program is sponsored by the Michigan State Safety Commission and the Michigan Traffic Safety Federation. Special assistance is being given by the Michigan Oil Industry Information Committee and it is a fine example of coordination and cooperation between public and private agencies working together through the leadership of the Commission to save lives on Michigan highways."

Nurses Meet Tonight At 8

There will be a joint meeting of the South Central League for Nursing, comprising Lenawee, Monroe, Washtenaw and Livingston counties with the Lenawee District Nurses' Association tonight at 8 p.m. at the Eagles Hall, Adrian.

Members of the Herrick Memorial Hospital staff are putting on a skit "The Nursing Team in Action," with assistance from the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

Those taking part are: Mrs. Ruth Browne, Miss Mary Alice O'Reilly, Mrs. Hazel Coller, John Wallace, Robert Hamilton, Mrs. Hazel Kappler, Mrs. Eve Bowen and Mrs. Doris Whitney. The skit has been directed by Mrs. June Macbeth.

Eastern Star Plans Initiation Sept. 23

Tecumseh Chapter No. 51, Order of Eastern Star, met last Thursday evening with 50 members and guests present.

The meeting was opened by the officers with the following members serving as substitute officers: Mrs. George McCombs, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Driffell, soloist; Mrs. LaVern Russell, Martha and Mrs. Kenton Hunt, marshall. Mrs. Hunt was appointed to fill the marshall's station for the remainder of the year.

A memorial service was held for three Past Grand Patrons and Mrs. Anna Hardenburgh.

Two invitations have been received for receptions and anyone desiring reservations may contact Mrs. Owen Partridge or the secretary, Mrs. Agnes Harris. A reception and dinner honoring the Worthy Grand Matron, L. Grace Richards will be held Saturday, Oct. 23, at the Flint Armory, reception at 6:30 p.m. A reception and dinner honoring the Worthy Grand Patron, Dr. Grant E. Born, and Genevieve M. Born, Grand Committee Woman will be held on Saturday, Oct. 30, in Petoskey, Mich., reception at 5 p.m., dinner at 6:30 p.m.

There will be a special meeting for Tecumseh Chapter held on Thursday, Sept. 23, for initiation. The degree work will be put on by the Past Matrons and Past Patrons of this chapter. A practice for this meeting has been scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 19 at the Masonic Hall, from 2 to 4 p.m.

The fall meeting of the Lenawee-Monroe Association will be held in Palmyra Sept. 30.

The Worthy Matron expressed her thanks to the members of her chapter for making it possible to complete the main project for this year, which was to purchase and make new velvet drapes for the East.

Out-of-town guests present at the meeting were Mrs. Walters and her mother, Mrs. Luce, from Muskegon; Mrs. Viele from Lansing; and Mrs. Elizabeth Clark from Glendale, Calif., who is warder of her chapter and treasurer of the Southern California Association.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served at attractively decorated tables in the dining room by Mrs. Harry Curry, Mrs. Ivan Maynard, and Mrs. Donald LaBounty.

Ypsilanti Mental Hospital Is In Need Of Aides

Persons interested in volunteer work at the hospital may contact the Social Service Department at the hospital by calling Ypsilanti 2040, Ext. 216, or writing Ypsilanti State Hospital, Box A, Ypsilanti, Michigan.

The idea of citizen volunteers, both men and women, in State mental hospitals is not new, according to officials at the Ypsilanti hospital. The program has been in use in other states and in other Michigan mental hospitals. The volunteer program at the Ypsilanti institution is scheduled to start September 1st.

Volunteers are being sought from Wayne, Washtenaw, Lenawee, Monroe and Hillsdale counties which are served by the hospital.

Activities of volunteers will include working with patients through music, crafts, painting, drawing, weaving, leatherwork, dancing, sewing, knitting, reading and other recreation. Volunteer work not only is planned to promote more happiness among the patients but also to help interpret the function of the mental hospital to the community.

The hospital is interested in recruiting any civic group or individual who can give a few hours or a day or so a week of his time. Any person more than 21 years of age and who is not related to a patient or an employee of the hospital may volunteer.

Thompson Meets With Treasury Men

John R. Thompson, vice-president and cashier of the United Savings Bank will attend a special meeting with U.S. Treasury officials and other Lenawee County bankers next Tuesday in the Hayes Hotel in Jackson to discuss America's sound money program and the importance to Michigan citizens of stepped-up sales of U. S. Savings Bonds in peacetime.

Treasury authorities and other leaders at the meeting will emphasize the vital role of savings bonds in the economic strength of our nation. Speakers will be Arnold Rauen, U. S. Treasury liaison officer, Delmar V. Cote, Michigan State Director of U. S. Savings Bonds; and Miss Janet Kennedy, Assistant Supervisor of Savings Bonds for the Federal Reserve Bank, Detroit.

The meeting was called by Noble D. Travis, Vice President of the Detroit Trust Company, who is Chairman of Michigan's U. S. Savings Bonds Committee.

Following the buiness session, Carl F. Speeth, president, Jackson City Bank and Trust Company and R. W. McCutcheon, executive vice president, The National Bank of Jackson will be hosts for supper at the Hayes Hotel.

Cheese, an important protein food, fits especially well into summertime menus, say home economists at M.S.C. As you know, it can be used without cooking—or even if you do use it in cooked meals, it never needs to be cooked long nor at high temperatures. Chunks of cheese combined make a good addtion to vegetable salads, too, the home economists remind you.

Living With Peace Of Mind

By KIRBY PAGE

The Holy Bible is a record of God's revelation to man. There are two sides to revelation: the revealer and the receiver. The record of the revelation is written down as understood by the receiver.

The Bible is an inspired book. Its writers wrote under inspiration from the living God. By inspiration is meant a direct prompting from the Eternal. The Bible is not a dictated document. Its writers were not mechanical instruments in the hands of God. The revelation of God was recorded by free moral agents, not by robots or puppets or mechanical typewriters.

God's revelation is received through human minds, human emotions, human consciences, human wills. The Supreme Being created human beings in his own image, thus endowing them with the faculties needed for intercommunication. He speaks to us through our minds. His love is responded to by our emotions. He prompts us to action by moving our wills.

When we read in the Bible that God said thus and so, we must not conclude that these words are a verbatim record of audible sentences spoken by the Eternal. Rather, they were written down as the result of thinking, feeling, praying. They were inspired in the high sense that God was near at hand, seeking to make clear his purpose, endeavoring to win their loving obedience. Inspiration is more exalted than dictation. Man is more than a typewriter, he is a precious child of his Father God.

God is the same, yesterday, today, and forever. But man's understanding grows and we must therefore recognize the progressive understanding of God's revelation recorded in the Holy Bible. And the pre-eminent revelation in our Lord provides the key for the understanding of the maturity of every passage in it.

Bixby Hospital Building Fund Exceeds $854,000

Gene D. Olsen, president of the Emma L. Bixby hospital board of trustees, today announced that the hospital's building fund now exceeds $854,000 in pledges, and that cash payments totalling $404,000 have been received.

"This week marks the completion of our first year's efforts to bring a new hospital with modern medical treatment facilities to the people of Adrian and Lenawee county," Olsen said. "We are pleased to report this progress, but at the same time we realize the job that began 12 months ago is not yet completed."

Olsen pointed out the Board feels confident that additional support will be forthcoming to reach the one million dollar goal. He added that $695,000 must be at hand in cash before construction can begin. The Board has been assured by the Office of Hospital Survey and Construction at Lansing that 41 per cent of the construction costs will be made available when the required $695,000 is on hand to commence construction.

Since the drive for funds for a building addition was undertaken in September of last year it is fortunate the plans could be changed to permit the construction of an entirely new hospital building. This new hospital will be located on a tract of land just north of Riverside Drive and east of the junction of Riverside and Budlong street.

Just one evening of your lifetime!

Yes, just one evening is all we're suggesting. That's all it will take for you to discover the magic methods Dale Carnegie uses in helping men and women develop confidence and new abilities and skills in Effective Speaking, Leadership and Human Relations.

Please accept this as a warm invitation to be our guest at a Demonstration Meeting of the famous Dale Carnegie Course.

People who come to such a meeting always find it an enjoyable and thrilling experience—even if they decide the Course is not what they are looking for. We are altogether willing to admit that we don't have what is best for every person.

However, Dale Carnegie training has proved the best for the most people. Almost a half million men and women in many fields have taken the Course with gratifying results. It's certainly worth your investigating.

And again, this takes just one evening of your lifetime!

Musings On Labor Day

Gee, it sure is nice to have a day off and to think on a lot of things that need to be thought on; for example—

You hear a lot of folks brag about Tecumseh and what it has to offer but you never quite realize the magnitude of this until you show visiting relatives the town, its new schools, hospital, library, churches, "the swimming hole," its industry, its new homes and its tree-lined streets. After such a trip around you wonder whether you enjoyed the sight-seeing trip more than your relatives did . . . .

Sort of wondered when we ever will get permanent bleachers around the recreation field and when the harriers will have their own track. Both are in the planning stages and patience is a great virtue but . . . .

And how many of you have noticed how badly stop signs are needed on some of the streets that cross Pearl, Maiden Lane and other north-bound streets? Some day a couple of cars are really going to get messed up without these signs . . .

We all like fine wide streets but is it really worth it to cut down stately trees such as was done beside the Presbyterian Church on Maiden Lane. Was this actually progress???? . . . .

Wonder when this crazy talk of the HERALD becoming a daily newspaper will cease? Wonder if those who think about a daily newspaper realize how much investment is necessary to change to a daily to say nothing about adding to the staff and increasing the revenue?

Nothing is impossible but this change to a daily newspaper is the next thing to it . . . .

Wonder if one day Tecumseh will have its own secretary of state's office. Lord knows, the city is big enough and we have enough car owners to warrant having the office here . . . .

And we wonder when the 1596 home phones and the 355 business phones will be converted to dial . . . .

Will Tecumseh some day have a new city hall? Could a new city hall have a niche set aside to preserve Tecumseh's "ancient" history? Wouldn't East Branch School be an ideal site for a new city hall and historical museum? . . . .

Wonder if Tecumseh ever will have a Northland shopping center off the main drag?

Wonder when the chamber of commerce will receive its money from the city for the parking lot? We also wonder when the chamber will receive the support necessary to maintain itself and to promote the finer points that Tecumseh has to offer . . . .

Wonder who started the rumor that a new industry was coming to town? . . . .

Wonder how the Community Fund will make out in its drive next month? . . . .

Wonder if the Scout cabin and the park around it can be policed up and improved? . . . .

Wonder if Tecumseh will continue to grow and to prosper and to progress as much in the next 10 years as it has in the past 10 years? . . . .

Wonder who else is wondering about Tecumseh today . . . .

Wonder how wonderful it is to have a day off to wonder . . . .

This Bird Is Busy

The birth registration reached an all-time high of 181,518 births in Michigan last year, Michigan Department of Health provisional figures indicate, but 1954 is well on the way towards passing even this record.

For the first six months of 1954, the State Health Department continues, 87,915 births have been registered, an increase of 6,012 over 1953.

This increase in births is running way ahead of 1953 figures compared with '52, the State Health Department adds. The total yearly increase in 1953 over the previous year was only about 4,900.

The State Health Department says that the birth increase is part of a trend that started before World War II. And since 1940, when there were 99,106 live births registered, the number of births has nearly doubled, they add.

However, during that time the sex ratio has stayed approximately the same. Of the 1953 live births registered, 51.4 per cent were males and 48.6 per cent females.

"There's more to selling a home than merely showing people through it," I mentioned to the Clarks, when I was talking to them about selling their house.

"Like the time an older couple asked to see some close-in places," I continued. "They looked at a comfortable home that seemed to meet every requirement, except the floor squeaked badly in a spot or two. The lady told the owners she just wasn't interested and we left. The next afternoon, the owners were surprised to see the same couple back again for a second look."

"I can believe that," Mr. Clark said.

"Yes," I said, "the older couple wanted to inspect the house once more. In the meantime, I had told them how easily the squeaks in the floor could be eliminated. They bought the house that day—squeaks and all."

"Quite a story," Mr. Clark remarked. "But I can see your point. An alert Realtor can show prospects how to overcome annoying features."

"It's all part of our business," I said. "Can we put our experience to work for you?"

"Sure," Mr. Clark replied. "Sure."

Tecumseh BOOK SHELVES Library

By Mrs. Conrad Fessender

Once more the school doors are open wide. Again the Public Library is preparing for a busy season. We want to welcome all the teachers and to invite them to come and see what the library has to offer.

To teachers, we offer the opportunity of selecting a collection of books for use in their classrooms. These collections may be taken out for six weeks.

We also want to invite the teachers to bring their classes to the library for a visit. Last year some classes visited us every few weeks. Sometimes we would have a story or learn about the library. All we ask is that you let us know when you are coming.

The library and librarians are here to serve you. Make use of the library and its materials. We feel that we are also important in the education of Tecumseh boys and girls. The library opens to them many worlds of ideas, both factual and fictional.

Let us know how we can serve you and we will do our best to fulfill your needs.

TIPS FROM COUNTY AGENTS

Activities ranging from archery to softball, and exhibits, all the way from horses to home economics, will greet visitors to the 39th Annual 4-H Club State Show now in progress on the Michigan State College campus.

The show has more than tripled in size in the 13 years it has been held at M.S.C. Before 1942 it was held at the Detroit State Fairgrounds.

James Pelham, Lenawee county 4-H Club agent, urges parents to attend this year's show to see the work done by the members of the state clubs, as well as that done by their sons and daughters. All the daytime and evening programs are open free of charge to the public.

Competing in the livestock division will be young owners of dairy and beef cattle, sheep and swine. These animals will be on display in Macklin Stadium and the livestock pavilion. The horses will be housed in the riding horse barn.

Exhibitors in the poultry and rabbit division will have their projects in the northeast corner of Macklin field. The handicraft and conservation exhibitors will show their wares in demonstration hall.

Crop and garden displays will be set up this year in the auditorium building along with the home economics displays.

Four-H Club talent from all over the state will provide entertainment Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the auditorium, according to Kenneth Ousterhout, assistant 4-H Club State Leader. He advises parents and other visitors to attend early to asure themselves of a seat.

Last year, the 4,000-seat auditorium building was filled and people had to be turned away for the evening programs.

Keep your seed wheat in a sack or a bin until you're sure the Hessian fly will give you no trouble.

The fly-free date for Lenawee county is September 21, according to word from Ray Janes, Michigan State College extension entomologist.

The Hessian fly is one of the insects that attacks wheat in both fall and spring. The insect's larvae (maggots) feed beneath the leaf sheath, usually next to the ground. That's the reason the fly is dangerous.

The fly overwinters in the "flaxseed" stage on the wheat. Maggots that come out of the "flaxseed" in the spring become the flies that lay the eggs for the spring generation.

The only way to control the insect is by planting wheat in the autumn after the late summer generation of the insect has died off. That prevents damage to the wheat in the fall from the maggots and buts down on the number of flies overwintering for the spring generation.

Janes advises farmers who have been having trouble with Hessian fly to plant their wheat later than the fly-free date—if the wheat can make enough growth before its dormant period. A late fall, he explains, sometimes upsets the calculations on the fly-free date and some flies continue to lay eggs.

Observing the fly-free date also helps avoid damage from some other insects, Janes says.

Want a low-cost, comfortable home that can be expanded as the family grows?

You can get plans for such a house at the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State College, or from the Lenawee county extension office.

The houses include one-story frame, concrete block, and brick structures. They have a concrete slab floor with moisture protection.

New bedrooms can be added easily. Some plans call for full length windows that can be removed and a door frame set in its place.

There are efficient U-shaped kitchens. There is a work clothes closet and laundry for washing up and shedding work clothes without messing up the bathroom or kitchen.

Ask for a folder that describes the plans. Then you can pick out the one that suits your need.

If you're planning on doing some concrete construction on the farm, this is an ideal season for the job.

Concrete is more easily worked and it cures better in temperatures of between 50 and 70 degrees.

Too many people in Lenawee county don't help their concrete cure properly. Michigan State College specialists recommend a curing period of five to seven days. And they advise covering a newly laid concrete floor with sand, straw, or burlap to keep it wet for that long. The concrete needs water to gain its top strength.

Old burlap bags or tarpaulins can be draped over walls, or other vertical concrete work, and kept wet for five to seven days.

A recent Michigan State College publication gives details on working with concrete. It's called Extension Bulletin 323, "Concrete and Concrete Masonry Construction on the Farm." Authored by Agricultural Engineer T. J. Brevik, the publication can be obtained at the county extension office or by writing to the bulletin office at Michigan State College.

Showers can be saved if gardens and flower beds are covered with mulches. Mulches of peat moss, grass clippings, manure, straw, sawdust or leaves will hold moisture and check weeds.

Joseph T. Cox, extension landscape architect at Michigan State College, notes that florists are using ground corn cobs also for a successful mulch. The cobs are light, porous and weed-free. A four-inch-thick layer will keep weeds down and let air and water through.

Cox cautions against mixing mulch with surface soil for danger of the fibers robbing plants of nitrogen before the material is broken down by bacteria. A pound of complete plant food for each 100 square feet of ground will help after mulching. This is to feed soil micro-organisms, not for plant use.

Mulch after a rain or after soaking the ground, Cox advises. If weeds do escape through, they will be easier to pull. Spread mulch at least three inches thick—then you can let the ground rest until next spring. The soil will be protected from beating winter rians and in the spring the garden area will be ready to turn under and increase humus of the soil.

Sand or clay, garden soil will be better if mulches and plant foods are applied each year.

You'll always be glad you bought a Chevrolet now!

YEAR AFTER YEAR, MORE PEOPLE BUY CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER CAR!

You'll stay proud of Chevrolet's lasting good looks

Other low-priced cars just don't have the air of quality you see in Chevrolet. And if you like Chevrolet's looks now, you'll like its looks always. For there's fine design in those clean and smoothly curved lines (no "boxy" look about Chevrolet!). And fine design, you know, never really goes out of style.

You save when you buy and when you trade

Even so, Chevrolet is priced below all other lines of cars. (That's possible because Chevrolet builds the most, and can build 'em better to sell for less.) And at trade-in time, you'll be ahead again from Chevrolet's traditionally higher resale value!

You'll enjoy exclusive features for finer motoring

Here's the only low-priced car with Body by Fisher. Here's the highest-compression power of any leading low-priced car, for more ginger in the going and more miles out of the gas. Here are the biggest brakes and the only full-length box-girder frame in the low-price field. Only Chevrolet gives you that smoother, softer Unitized Knee-Action ride—and it's even the only car in its field with Safety Plate Glass in all windows of sedans and coupes!

You'll get a special deal right now

Right now, we're in a position to give you the deal of the year on a new Chevrolet. Come in and let us show you how much you'll gain by buying now!

TRUMPETS OF SUMMER

Mother nature is kind to the spring gardener—or perhaps he has just forgotten the autumn kinks in his back by the time the bulbs come thrusting up out of the soil, seemingly of their own volition. The perennials too, with a moderate amount of weeding, hoeing, spraying and dusting, reward last years efforts. But the flowers of high summer have to be earned, earned by spring foresight and summer sweat and sunburn.

By late August, when cooler nights and unremitting work and watering are bringing compensation in the massed brilliance of such show-offs as the dahlias and zinnias, none are more prodigal in repaying past efforts then those trumpets of summer—the morning glory. Then every sunrise turns the rustiest back fence and the shabbiest trellis into a thing of beauty and a joy—if not forever at least for a few lovely hours each morning.

Lately the trend in morning glorys has been towards the Heavenly Blues and their splashes of azure sky are sprinkled over the most unexpected places. A flower pot on an alley roof sends spirals up the supporting post of a bird house and out in the country the four posts of a windmill derrick bloom with color. As a table bouquet they are unorthodox but rewarding. You may use all the rules of flower arrangement but morning after morning they will come up with an entirely new display of their own, individual and probably a lot better than the one over which you labored.

Beautiful as they are, it would be unfortunate if the Blues were to crowd out the other colors for only butterfly wings have more irridescent hues. If they were all developed from that pernicious bind weed, the wild morning glory, then our everlasting thanks go to some nameless Burbank.

A Bulletin On Apples Is Offered

"A" is for apples in Michigan right now as growers prepare to harvest the 1954 apple crop.

Homemakers find lots of uses for this versatile fruit the year around. And any homemaker looking for more favorite apple recipes will be interested in obtaining the Michigan State College bulletin "Another Way for An Apple A Day."

The 12-page bulletin was prepared by Roberta Hershey, Extension specialist in foods and nutrition at M.S.C.

Recipes for apple stuffing, apple chutney, apple fritters, Dutch apple pie, spicy apple torte — these and 20 other tempting apple recipes are included in the bulletin.

Miss Hershey has also included information about apple grades, sizes and weights that will be helpful when you shop.

A chart of apple varieties is also given which lists the characteristics of the different varieties and the uses for which each is best suited.

"Another Way for An Apple A Day" is available free on request from the Bulletin Office, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Harvest Moon To Herald Falls's Arrival, Sept. 23

Official opening of autumn and the shining Harvest Moon will be among September's astronomical activities, according to University of Michigan's Miss Hazel M. Losh.

As associate professor of astronomy, Miss Losh explains that the Harvest Moon scheduled to appear September 12, at 3:19 p.m., is that occuring nearest the autumnal equinox.

"The autumnal equinox is scheduled to begin at 8:56 a.m. on September 23 when the Sun crosses the equator on its way South," she points out. This is the day the Sun rises and sets at the east and west points of the horizon and the day and night will be said to be equal, she adds.

This is not strictly true, though, the professor says. For as the sunlight enters the atmosphere, it comes into a more dense region and its light is bent so that it appears to be "lifted" making the sun visible before it comes above the horizon and after it sets.

Among September's constellations, will be the legendary and famous Pagasus, Andromeda and Perseus, rising in the east and north east just after sunset. Easiest to identify is "The Great Square of Pegasus" or the "Big Diamond," marked by four stars equidistant apart.

"The northeast corner star of Pegasus is really a star of Andromeda," Professor Losh continues, "and its four bright stars stretch in a line parallel to the horizon. Legend says the constellation is the image of the heroine Andromeda chained to a rock by the sea where she awaits death, until rescued by Perseus.

Above Andromeda's third star is the Great Nebula, a universe similar to our own Galaxy or Milky Way system, Miss Losh states. "It is the most distant object seen by the human eye unaided," she adds.

Close to, and north of, Andromeda is the gallant hero, Perseus, a rought K-shaped figure with the downward side of the letter pointing to the small group of stars, The Pleiades, and the upward ending with Algol or "The Demon."

"The Demon" consists of two components, one bright and one dark, which revolve around each other causing an eclipse every three days and giving the impression of a blinking star, Professor Losh explains.

Among September's planetary configurations will be Venus in the West, which, although bright, will not reach its greatest splendor until October. Miss Losh also mentions Mars, the conspicuous planet in the southern evening sky. Saturn will be low in the southwest and by the end of the month, bright Jupiter will be rising in the northeast around midnight.

Christian Science Services Listed

The practical value of understanding God as the source of all true substance will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Substance."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (301:17-20): "As God is substance and man is the divine image and likeness, man should wish for, and in reality has, only the substance of good, the substance of Spirit, not matter."

From the Bible will be read the following passages from Psalms (37:3-5): "Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed. Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart. Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass."

Child Safety Training Must Be Continuous

"Child traffic safety education is a continuing process and is the responsibility of all of us," according to Sgt. Claude Bartell, commanding officer of the Clinton post of the Michigan State Police.

Sgt. Bartell offered his comment in connection with the current statewide child safety campaign being conducted by police agencies and safety groups.

"Children should be taught the rules of safety as soon as they are able to understand, but these rules must be repeatedly emphasized and kept in their minds as they grow older for they will forget and they will be careless," the Sergeant said. "Furthermore it is extremely important for older persons to set good examples as the children do what grownups do."

There were 100 child pedestrian deaths in Michigan in 1953 and 18 were killed riding bicycles. In addition, 3,600 children were injured.

"Most child pedestrian deaths in the 5 to 14 year age group occur in residential areas," the Sergeant said. "Crossing between intersections accounted for 56 per cent last year. Other frequent causes were stepping from behind parked cars and walking unsafely or playing in the roadway.

"Bicyclists lost their lives entering highways without stopping, swerving, riding double, stunting and riding at night without proper lighting equipment."

Sgt. Bartell pointed out that the slogan of the campaign, "Watch Out For Kids," is directed to drivers. They are asked to remember that children often do the unexpected and they should help do their safety thinking for them. "Drivers are not always at fault in accidents, but whether they are or not does not bring back a dead child or relieve the pain of an injured one," Sgt. Bartell said.

Here's the car that's changing History
The sales standings of a generation have been changed—by Buick. For Buick today is outselling all other cars in America—regardless of price class—except two of the so-called "low-price three." And each month's sales figures strengthen Buick's new position.

Here's the 3-way Bonus you get in Buick today
1. Advanced styling—styling you know is sure to show up on other cars in the years to come. So you know you have in Buick the car that's sure to stay fresh and new-looking long into the future. And that means you'll be way ahead at trade-in time.
2. Better Buy—for just a few dollars more than you'd pay for one of the so-called "low-price three," you get in Buick a whale of a lot more power, room, comfort, ride steadiness and solid durability—plus the new-day styling that includes the broad panoramic windshield.
3. Top Allowance—with our great and growing sales volume, we can—and do—share our success with you in the form of a higher trade-in allowance on your present car. Drop in, see and drive Buick the beautiful buy—and see for yourself how our volume business means a far bigger allowance for you.
Here's the price that proves Buick's the Buy
$2227.88* delivered locally!
*2-door, 6-passenger SPECIAL Sedan, Model 46D, illustrated. Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice. Even the factory-installed extras you may want are bargains, such as: heater & defroster . . . only $81.70.

Crusader Speaks At Friends And Tipton Church

"Formosa — Communism or Christianity" will be the topic of guest speaker the Rev. Norman Cook at the Tecumseh Friends Church Sunday, Sept. 12, at 7:30 p. m.

He also will be guest speaker at the Tipton Community Church Sunday Sept. 13, at 10:30 a. m.

The Rev. Cook, Executive Secretary of Orient Crusades, went to Formosa three years ago as a result of Madame Chiang Kai-Shek's plea for missionaries. She wanted the 600,000 Chinese Nationalist Soldiers to hear the gospel. With other Orient Crusades workers, the Rev. Cook visited army camps, army hospitals, high schools, and colleges reaching these soldiers and other refugees.

As player-manager of the "Venture for Victory Basketball Team" he participated in the most unique method of evangelism known to Christian missions. Christian athletes selected from six mid-western colleges toured the Orient these past two summers. They played 169 games (won 167) in five months time. They preached and played to more than 700,000 persons, distributed more than a million tracts, and saw many thousands indicate their desire to know Jesus Christ.

THE REV. COOK

The team was entertained by the brother of the Emperor of Japan, lunched with President and Madame Chiang Kai Shek, was welcomed by admirals, generals and ambassadors, and was awarded the Freedom Foundation Award by Vice-President Nixon for the contribution that the basketball team made toward the democratic way of life in the Far East.

LOCAL COUPLES RETURN FROM WESTERN TRIP

The Rev. and Mrs. B. O. Bashore, who with Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Bailey have been spending several weeks in the western United States, returned home last week. Most of their time was spent in California and the northwest and on the way they stopped at Lewistown, Mont., which was the home town of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward Erickin. They visited Glacier National Park, drove as far up Mt. Ranier as could be reached by car experiencing a drop from 93 to 58 degrees in a few minutes and traveled down the Columbia River highway, stopping at the famous Manppert Rose Gardens.

They reached San Francisco by way of Glacier Lake, Grants Pass and the Redwood highway spending some time at logging camps and seeing the tallest tree in the world. The rest of the tour included Los Angeles and Long Beach where they visited relatives and a visit to Catalina Island and to the Ghost Town built at Knotts Berry Farm. From San Diego the group went for a day in Mexico and through the Imperial Valley to Texas where they found drought conditions very disastrous. The return trip was through the central states after which they visited the Carlsbad Caverns.

The Rev. Bashore announces that church services will resume as usual next Sunday at the Baptist church.

FORMER RESIDENT DIES IN ANN ARBOR

Seeber L. Wyman, a former resident and business man of Tecumseh, died at his home at 402 Orchard Hills Drive in Ann Arbor Monday afternoon. He had been in failing health for some time but death came unexpectedly as he was sitting on the lawn.

Mr. Wyman was born at Weston, Oct. 6, 1875, the son of Alonzo P. and Eliza Holloway Wyman. In 1899, he married Mable Capp of Morenci and in 1949 they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. He taught in the county schools for four years and then attended Ohio Northern University where he earned a degree in pharmacy. He was a pharmacist for 53 years, 21 of which were spent in Tecumseh with the C. A. Wright and Son Drug store. While in Tecumseh the Wymans lived at first on N. Pearl street and later on S. Union in the house that is now owned by Mrs. Hilda Will.

He was a member of the First Congregational church in Ann Arbor, the Washtenaw County Historical Society and the Tecumseh Masonic Lodge.

Besides his widow he is survived by one son, Dr. John Wyman, a daughter Mrs. Alice Phelps and four grandchildren all of Ann Arbor and a brother Roy Wyman of Park Ridge. A son, Howard died in 1924 while the family lived in Tecumseh.

Funeral services for Mr. Wyman were held Wednesday at 3:30 p. m. at the Muehlig Funeral Home in Ann Arbor, the Rev. Leonard A. Parr officiating. Burial was in Forest Hills cemetery, Ann Arbor.

RICHARD LEWIS BURIED IN JACKSON

Richard Dean Lewis, 27 years old, died at 12:45 p.m. Friday at Foote hospital, Jackson. A native of Tecumseh Mr. Lewis moved to Jackson 15 years ago.

He is survived by his widow and three children, Ricky, five, Carol Sue, four, and Judy Kay, 18 months, all of Jackson; his mother, Mrs. William Butler, and his father, Lyle Lewis, both of Tecumseh; two brothers, Ned of Jackson and Keith of Tecumseh; a sister, Joan of Lansing; three half-brothers and four half-sisters.

The funeral was held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the Burden Funeral Home in Jackson. Burial was in Hillcrest Memorial Park.

NEARS COMPLETION OF TRAINING

Pvt. Richard G. Hubbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hubbard, 512 Outer Dr., Tecumseh is nearing completion of basic infantry training at Fort Leonard Wood with a unit of the 6th Armored Division.

After induction into the Army at his home station, Pvt. Richard G. Hubbard processed through the 504th ASU Reception Station at Fort Leonard Wood where he received his initial Army clothing, and took the basic qualification and aptitude tests to determine his assignment in the Army after completion of basic training.

In the first eight weeks, he is being taught the basic elements of military life, how to defend himself individually and with a unit, how to live with other soldiers, basic training techniques, and other fundamental facts important to his success in the military service.

Upon completion of the eight-week infantry training cycle here with the famed "Super Sixth," he will receive a leave before beginning eight weeks of advance basic training, either at Fort Leonard Wood or another training installation.

V.F.W. AUXILIARY TO SPONSOR BOWLING TEAM

At the September 1 meeting of the V.F.W. Auxiliary which met in the Post rooms, it was voted to sponsor an Auxiliary bowling team this winter which will bowl every Friday night. The president announced that the next meeting, Sept. 15 would be annual inspection night and that Mrs. Wyman Campbell of Milan, president of the sixth district, would be the inspecting officer. All committee chairmen are requested to be present with their notebooks brought up to date.

It was decided to have a general cleaning of the post rooms Monday evening, Sept. 13 and all members of both Post and Auxiliary are asked to take part, bringing their own cleaning equipment.

Witnesses Plan Jackson Conclave

Jehovah's Witnesses have again selected Jackson for their semi-annual circuit convention to be held September 10-12, Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of the Tecumseh congregation said here today.

Two Jackson congregations will be hosts to 20 others from south central Michigan as Michigan Circuit No. 6 convenes for the meet. Tecumseh will send about 40 delegates.

"In this time", said Mr. Ball, "when thinking people are becoming more and more alarmed at the trend of world events it becomes increasingly important to understand these events in the light of Bible prophecy.

"This three-day gathering is strictly a Bible affair", explained Mr. Ball, "and is designed to give the delegates and visitors alike knowledge that will enable them to put the Bible alongside current happenings, to know what to expect, and what course we must take for the safety of ourselves and loved ones".

The principal speaker will be C. W. Barber, district minister from Brooklyn, New York. Convention officials estimate that more than 1700 will be present for this Sunday lecture, "Is Civilization's End Near?". Mr. Barber has lectured in this area on three previous occasions.

All meetings will be at the Jackson County Building and are free with visitors welcome at all sessions.

Eugene Kohnert, 2407 Welch Blvd., Flint is in charge of the physical arrangement while M. D. A. Davey, likewise of Flint, Circuit minister of Michigan No. 6, is directing the platform activities and arranging the program of talks and demonstrations.

Mr. Davey advises that there will be six sessions starting at 7 p. m. Friday, September 10 and climaxing with Mr. Barber's talk Sunday at 3 p. m.

A new feature of the assembly will be a motion picture Saturday evening entitled, "The New World Society in Action". This was prepared in response to international interest raised when a popular national magazine declared Jehovah's Witnesses to be the "Fastest growing organization in the world".

The film features the international headquarters of the Watchtower Bible Society at Brooklyn, N. Y. where more than 400 Jehovah's Witnesses work to produce Bibles and Bible helps in some 100 languages. The picture demonstrates how the distribution of these Bibles at less than cost in 143 countries by Jehovah's Witnesses is made possible.

Mr. Barber will narrate portions of the picture and will discuss major features of it following the showing.

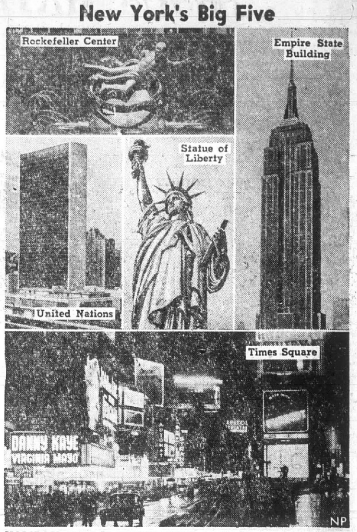
New York's Big Five



HOLIDAY TIME IS NEVER OVER in the big city. From the Labor Day Weekend through Indian Summer, as the new schedule of events and activities takes shape, big town excursions more than ever make for exciting holidays. New York's Visitors Bureau, which plans to welcome thousands of visitors during this period, announced its recent survey showed that the top five most popular sightseeing attractions are the Statue of Liberty, Rockefeller Center, the United Nations, the Empire State Building and Times Square.

They Shall Have Music

A very fine program will be provided both in instrumental and vocal music at the elementary and secondary level.

In addition to the usual classes in music, the band director will meet with all fifth grade pupils interested in band five days a week from 8 until 8:40 a.m. and such pupils living outside our district will be brought on the high school bus trips.

The sixth grade pupils will receive their instruction during the school day as at the secondary school level.

Vocal music instruction will be provided during the regular school day.

Pupils desiring to take private instrumental or vocal music lessons must do so during certain specified times.

Fourth through eight grade pupils may leave school for such purposes once a week during their gym period only; pupils 9 through 12 from study hall only.

Vets Should Apply Now For Schooling

The Veterans Administration has issued a warning to Korean veterans planning to enter college this fall to apply now for school applications. By applying now, college-bound veterans may avoid delay that may develop during the Fall Enrollment peak.

Guy F. Palmer, Regional Manager, said that many thousands of Michigan Korean veterans are expected to enroll in colleges next month. The VA will have to handle this increase in addition to the normal load of veterans already in school, job and farm training programs.

The Veterans Administration Regional Office is located at 310 East Jefferson Street, Detroit; and other Michigan offices are situated in Flint, Grand Rapids and Lansing.

INSIDE THE CAPITOL

By CLAIR L. TAYLOR
Superintendent of Public Instruction

Reorganization of school districts is going on at a pace unequaled in the history of Michigan. In 1930, there were 6,700 school districts in the state; 20 years later in 1950, the number was down to 4,918. Districts were joining together at the rate of about 110 per year.

This year 1954 the number in operation is 4,237 or a reduction of about 700 in four years. Actually, since January 1, districts have been disappearing at the rate of one per day.

There are several raesons for reorganization; the first one is the Area Studies Act passed by the Legislature. This Act sets up machinery for citizens to study their own educational problems at the local level. This act of the Legislature has proved to be a most constructive step in developing sound economic and efficient school districts. There are several other reasons why the reorganization program is going ahead.

A few years ago, towns, villages and city schools were out searching for children to fill their buildings. Today, with enrollments going up at the rate of 70,000 per year, parents are finding it difficult to locate schools that will accept their children.

Another reason for reorganization is the fact that there is more interest in education among all citizens. G.I.'s who returned from World War II discovered there was a difinite edge in favor of the boys who had a high school education and an added advantag for those who were college trained. These G.I.'s today are parents of children. They are demanding better schools than they had for themselves.

Business and industry, too, are setting higher educational standards for their employees. They are scanning the graduating classes of both high schools and colleges to find bright and able young people. Many employers will not hire a boy or girl without at least a high school diploma.

Michigan is taking a little more time in the reorganizing of its school districts, but it is my belief we are doing it on a sound educational basis, preserving strong local control of the school districts. Michigan is on the march and in the end its children and youth will be the winners.

"Some people seem to be so afraid of losing their religion that they won't take it to work with them."

Lace dresses are headliners in ... fashion picture. If you decide to make your own, remember the beauty of a lace dress lies in the design of the lace itself—not in the design of the dress. For this reason, you'll be wise to choose a pattern that is designed especially for lace, or else select one that has few seams, advise clothing specialists at Michigan State College.

Serve cheese fingers with salads or a special treat to the family or guests, suggest foods specialists at Michigan State College.

To make them, cut bread in finger shapes. Brush with a mixture of 2 tablespoons of melted butter, cooled, and one beaten egg. Roll fingers in grated American cheese and brown lightly under the broiler.

Ford is first in sales

Ford is first in sales because it's first in value! It is the only car in the low-price field that offers ... a V-8 engine ... Ball-Joint Front Suspension ... Trend-setting Beauty!

With Ford Dealers selling more cars than any other dealers : : : with Ford sales up 48% when the industry as a whole is selling fewer cars . . . with more people buying more Fords than ever before, there can be little doubt that today's Ford is your best buy, too. For what other car at Ford's price offers you V-8 power? What other car at Ford's price brings you Ball-Joint Front Suspension and trend-setting beauty? And what other car at any price returns you so high a share of your money at trade-in-time as Ford? The answer is simply this: no car at any price brings you so much of what you want most as does Ford. Test Drive the Ford of your choice and see!

BUTLER MOTOR SALES

135 WEST CHICAGO BLVD. PHONE 289 - TECUMSEH

DETAILS of the FINAL COUNT

In order to maintain strictest secrecy as to the number of votes and subscriptions turned in by each individual contestant during this week — the final week of the HERALD'S big automobile prize contest — the race will be brought to a close with a sealed ballot box, thereby preventing any possibility of favoritism and insuring fairness to the minutest degree.

At the beginning of this week, a ballot box was placed in the vaults of the United Savings Bank, and at this place contestants themselves will place their final collections and subscriptions in special envelopes provided for the purpose instead of reporting to The HERALD contest department as heretofore.

IMPORTANT NOTICE: All subscriptions placed in sealed ballot box must be accompanied by full amount to cover in the form of cash or post office money order. However, personal checks not to exceed $10 will be accepted, providing no two checks are signed by the same party. This ruling is made in fairness to all contestants and will be adhered to strictly.

AN INVITATION TO CONTEST JUDGES

Members of the advisory board are requested to be present at the United Savings Bank shortly before the closing hour of contest — 12:00 o'clock Saturday noon, September 11th — for simple instructions before making final count and naming winners.

Contest closes at the stroke of noon at which time contest judges will take charge of ballot box and the seals will be broken and contents counted and checked at the HERALD office.

There will be no waiting or unnecessary formalities. Winners will be announced by judges immediately after count and prizes will be awarded then and there on the spot.

PERSONNEL OF ADVISORY BOARD IS AS FOLLOWS

H. H. Hanna, Mayor of Tecumseh; Robert Wallace, President of Britton; W. G. Waldron, Tecumseh Township Supervisor; Mills Swick, Macon Township Supervisor; Herman Titley, Franklin Township, Supervisor and Chairman of Lenawee County Board of Supervisors; Russ Garno, Chairman Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce; Neville Hart, Tecumseh High School Principal; John Thompson, Vice-President United Savings Bank; the Rev. Edward Escolme, Pastor Friends Church.
